

Task 12: Complete Your Senior Project Self-Evaluation.

Senior Project: Life-Ready Leadership in Action

Senior Project Self-Evaluation

“We learn best by doing, but we learn even better by reflecting on our doing.”

After you have completed your 40-hour project and your research paper, you will have the chance to reflect on what you accomplished and what you learned through the experience of doing your Senior Project. The process of completing the Self-Evaluation will provide you this chance. When completing the Self-Evaluation, take your time and put some real thought into your reflection about your experience. Use as much detail as possible when completing the Self-Evaluation. The thoughts and details you record will be very helpful in preparing for your Senior Project Presentation. Below is an outline of what is required in your presentation.

- Introduction:
  - Introduction of Self
  - Attention Getter
  - Preview of Main Points
- Presentation Body:
  - Description Project: What did you do get complete your 40 hours?
  - Community Connection: How did your project connect to a career exploration and/or a community service? Who did you choose as your mentor and how did he/she help you?
  - Academic Learning: What was your thesis statement and what did you learn from your research?
- Conclusion
  - Learning Stretch: How did grow from doing your project? How did your project change you? What would you do different with another chance? How did it influence your future career plans? What were your most memorable moments?
