Classroom Resources and Curriculum

Art/Write

Using work from the UAMA permanent collection, art/write is a free online program for high school teachers. Here teachers will discover a variety of lesson plans that can be used to inspire writing with high school aged students. Using artwork as a starting point, students will develop skills in careful observation, critical thinking, analysis of ideas and events, and creative thinking.

Curriculum

Looking for lessons for your classroom? We have three new lesson plans for you to use in your curriculum.

Interested in other museum resources for your classroom but cannot find what you need on our website? We will work with you to develop exactly what you need, whether it is pre- or post-field trip activities or classroom resources to supplement your curriculum using art from our collection!

Connect and Create

Visit our new resource table in the UAMA lobby! There are new ways to interact and connect with our collection. You will also find a binder with a printed copy of all of our new curricular resources to help you plan lessons and classroom collections as you visit the museum.

Art reach

Bring the Museum to your classroom! With our School Artreach program our educators bring the art museum experience to you. The lessons include inquiry based looking strategies, critical thinking, and creativity. Each lesson involves an art making project. Currently we are offering Arizona State History (Grade 4) and Art and Literacy (Grades 2-8)
