ANTEATERS IN SEASON OPENER AGAINST UC SAN DIEGO
AT CAMPUS HALL SATURDAY EVENING.

Basketball jumps into the limelight on the University of California, Irvine campus this weekend as the Anteaters of coach Dick Davis open the 1968-69 campaign against the University of California, San Diego. Game time is scheduled at 8:15 pm.

The Anteaters enter the new season hopeful of bettering last year's record of 20-8 - a chore in itself but certainly not an impossible task. Coach Davis has four starters returning from last season, plus two other letter winners, several outstanding junior college transfers and excellent help up from the freshman squad.

Returning letter winners include Mike Heckman, Nick Sanden, Jeff Cunningham, Jim Farley, Charlie Howenstine and Dave Pontius; while the JC newcomers are Steve Sabins (Glendale), Mike Barnes (Riverside), John Glavinovich (Fresno), John Farwell (Rio Hondo) and Gene Zech (Loyola and Santa Ana). Top frosh prospects are Keith Dean, Bob McCormick, Steve Schlesinger and Ed Burlingham.

Currently, Davis is running a starting five that includes Cunningham and Sanden at the forward slots; Heckman at center and Barnes and Sabins at guard. The front line is the same unit that functioned well together last year and they should even be better this time around. Heckman is one of the finest 6-6 shooters around and Sanden and Cunningham could play for anybody. Barnes and Sabins are newcomers at the guard posts for Davis but the head mentor feels that both newcomers are capable of doing the job. Barnes will probably be the play maker on the court, while Sabins will be the outside scoring threat.

Davis will probably have his deepest squad - depth wise - that he has had at UCI.

A couple of the positions aren't out of reach of several others on the squad. Backup men in the front line look like Glavinovich, Zech, Pontius, McCormick, Burlingham and Farwell. Other guard candidates include Dean, Howenstine, Farley and Schlesinger.
Duplicating or bettering a 20-8 season isn’t easy to do and it surely won’t be easy for the Anteaters this season. With the likes of Boston College, Providence, Rhode Island, San Diego State and Fresno State on their schedule and facing two talented tournament fields, the Anteaters will have their hands full.

In the pre-season practice sessions, the Anteaters have looked very impressive. The club may run more than it has in the past, with scooters like Barnes and Cunningham spearheading the break. But Davis still likes to work for the good shot and if the easy bucket isn’t available on the break, the Anteaters will go into their patented offense and start looking for the good shot.

This will be the fourth season of basketball for UCI and during the first three seasons the Anteaters have combined to win 50 contests and lose only 30. Last year they advanced to the Far West NCAA "College Division" Playoffs and lost in the finals to Nevada Southern. The 1968-69 route will be extremely difficult but the Anteaters seem to be growing better with age.
The mighty University of California, Irvine Water Polo squad raced to an easy 12-6 win over Fullerton Junior College Tuesday evening and ran its record to 20-1 for the year.

Ed Newland's Anteaters, faced powerful UCLA on the Bruin's home court Saturday morning and hope to repeat the feats of an earlier 7-5 win over the Uclans.

Last weekend the Anteaters continued their prowess by romping to the championship in the Gold Coast Championships at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Newland's blasers crushed UC Riverside 16-0, downed Oregon 13-1, bopped UOP 9-1, edged UC Santa Barbara 4-2, and slammed Pomona 14-0.

All-American, Ferdy Massimino, continued his excellent play in the two-day affair and was voted the most valuable player of the Tournament.

The only loss suffered by the Anteaters this season was to powerful San Jose State on the northerners home pool. Newland's club dropped a hard fought 7-6 decision to San Jose State. At the time, San Jose was unbeaten, but since have lost to Long Beach State, a team the Anteaters whipped earlier in the season.
Dr. Raymond H. Thornton, acting chairman and recreation sports director, has been named as chairman of the department of physical education and director of athletics at the University of California, Irvine.

Thornton, 37, succeeds the late Dr. Wayne Crawford, UCI's first athletic director and P. E. department chairman who died May 29 after a lengthy illness. Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., said Dr. Thornton's appointment is effective immediately.

Thornton has served at UC Irvine three years as recreation sports director and one year as tennis coach and formerly was on the physical education staff nine years at UC Santa Barbara as intramural director and football, tennis, swimming and water polo coach.

As an undergraduate, Thornton lettered in tennis and football. He played defensive end on Compton Junior College's Junior Rose Bowl and national championship team in 1948 and Western States Conference championship team in 1949. He also played championship tennis at Compton and went on to play on the CCAA doubles championship team at UC Santa Barbara in 1952.

Thornton played end at UC Santa Barbara in 1952 and returned as football line coach in 1955 after completing his master's degree work at Long Beach State College. At UCSB he was head assistant football coach four years under Ed Cody, now backfield coach for the Chicago Bears, and a year each under Bill Hammer and Jack Curtice.
Ray Thornton, appointed director of athletics

While continuing his studies toward the doctorate, Thornton became chairman of the department of physical education at Enterprise Junior High School in Compton, 1954-55, and assistant director of recreation, health and athletics for Compton Union High School District, 1957-58. He obtained the PhD in physical education from the University of Southern California in 1966.

His technical work has included studies on athletic program financing, football injuries, nutrition and human performance and intramural programs in secondary schools.

He is a member of the National Football Coaches Association, the American College of Sports Medicine and Physical Fitness, National College Physical Education Association, and the American and California Associations for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the California Association of Health, Physical Education and Athletics.

Thornton resides at 3163 Bonn Drive, Laguna Beach, with his wife, Elizabeth, and two children, Todd, 9, and Darcy, 8.

A sports instructional program for boys and girls 8-15 years old will be held in three two-week sessions this summer at the University of California, Irvine.

Enrollment is now open, but is limited to 40 children in each two-week session. Applications may be obtained from the physical education department at UCI, according to Dr. Raymond Thornton, director.

Each session will meet daily, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until noon. The sessions begin June 17 and end July 26. Instructional classes will be offered in basketball, badminton, gymnastics, paddle ball, swimming, tennis, and table tennis. Fee is $20 per session.
Darrell Millner, senior guard, was named varsity basketball captain and Mike Heckman, junior center, was voted the most valuable cager last night (April 4) at the annual UC Irvine sports awards banquet sponsored by the Big I Boosters.

Millner, from Monrovia, was a floor leader and defensive standout for the Anteaters averaging better than 11 points per game and pacing the team in free throws with 78 percent. Heckman's 19 point average and 11 rebounds per game were tops for UCI. Both players were key factors in the Anteaters' 20-8 season which took them into the NCAA regional playoffs.

Doug Christie, the other senior guard for UCI, who hails from West Covina, won the most improved player award.

Steve Schlesinger of Chatsworth, who is expected to fill Millner's shoes at guard next year, was named captain of the freshman basketball squad which posted a 15-9 season. Dennis D'Autremont, burly forward from La Crescenta who averaged 17.5 points per game, was chosen as most valuable frosh player.

The UCI swim team, which placed third in the NCAA college division finals in Atlanta, Georgia last month, honored two standouts. Mike Martin, the "fabulous freshman" from Corona del Mar, was chosen best conditioned swimmer at the awards banquet -- and small wonder! Mike scored 53 points in the NCAA finals, winning the 500 yd. freestyle in record time, placing second in the 1650 yd. freestyle with a new school mark, finishing third in the 200 yd. freestyle and helping the Anteaters to third and fourth place in two relays.
uci annual awards banquet

Bob Sharp, butterfly swimmer from Buena Park, was named the most improved.

In varsity water polo a pair of Corona del Mar athletes captured top honors. Bill Leach, senior, was named captain, and Martin, freshman, won the coveted "heads-up" award. The water poloists were rated as one of the best collegiate teams in the country with an 18-4 record.

Kurt Mengel, of Santa Monica, was chosen as freshman water polo captain. Rich Eason, of Huntington Beach, was the "heads-up" winner.

UC Irvine's eight-man golf team opens a 17-match schedule against a strong Redlands University team at Redlands Country Club, Thursday, March 14.

Coach Tim Tift's UCI Anteaters will depend largely on freshmen, with only two lettermen and one senior on the squad.

Highlights of the schedule are the all-University of California tournament hosted by UC San Diego, March 18-19, on the new Lomas Santa Fe course, and home and home matches with the talented USC Trojans.

Steve Cutler, freshman from Huntington Beach High School, will be No. 1 man in the Redlands opener. Robert Allan, a 3-handicap player from La Crescenta High School, also a freshman, is No. 2 man.

In the third spot is Chris Wilson, senior letterman from San Bernardino, with a 7 handicap. Jim Bragstad, freshman from Buena Park, with a 5-handicap, has been named to play No. 4.

The other four places on the UCI squad will be held down by three freshmen Richard Kearns of Villa Park, Kurt Mengel of Santa Monica and James Weeks of Marina High, Huntington Beach; and a sophomore Terry Zito of Tustin.

A 10-man swimming team from UC Irvine flies to Atlanta, Georgia this week to compete in the NCAA college division championships at Emery University, March 21-23.

The Anteaters hope to match their strong performance of a year ago when they went to the final relay event before losing the title to UC Santa Barbara.

Coaches Al Irwin and Ed Newland, who are accompanying the squad, are confident UCI will finish among the top 10 schools in the country.

Cal State, Long Beach is favored to edge San Jose State, University of Texas at Arlington and UC Santa Barbara for top honors.

Biggest hope to score important points for the Anteaters is Mike Martin of Corona del Mar, who is entered in the 200-yd, 400-yd and 1650-yd freestyle events and in three relays.

Other outstanding UC Irvine competitors making the cross-country flight are:

- Mike Childers, Buena Park, backstroke and freestyle.
- Bob Dowell, Dublin, Calif., butterfly and relays.
- Richard Eason, Huntington Beach, freestyle and relays.
- Steve Farmer, Newport Beach, freestyle and relays.
- Pat Fergus, Anaheim, freestyle and relays.
- Bill Leach, Corona del Mar, freestyle and relays.
- Pete Stys, Laguna Beach, breaststroke and relays.
- Bob Sharp, freestyle, butterfly and relays.
- Bob Wilhite, Costa Mesa, 1-meter and 3-meter diving.
The top intercollegiate handball players in the western part of the United States will be hosted at UC Irvine, March 22-23, in the West Divisional Intercollegiate 4-Wall Tournament.

All undergraduates of all universities, colleges and junior colleges from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast have been invited to compete, according to Henry H. Burke, UC Irvine handball instructor.

Entries close at 12 noon, Thursday, March 21. Competition commences at 1:00 p.m., Friday, March 22, with an estimated 50 entrants. There will be no admission charge.

Three divisions of play are open: A singles, B singles, and doubles. Players can enter only one event.

Winners of the tournament at UCI will be eligible for a three-day trip to St. Louis, Mo., to participate in the National Intercollegiates being held in conjunction with the Open U.S. Handball Association championships, May 2-4.

Coach Dick Davis made the NCAA College Division Pacific Coast basketball tournament with his UC Irvine Anteaters in his first year as a head coach, but Davis is no stranger in the winner's circle.

The 37-year-old, quiet-spoken mentor came to the brand new Irvine campus as freshman basketball coach in 1965 rated as one of Southern California's finest high school coaches. During a seven-year span at Glendale High School, Davis' teams recorded 147 wins and 34 losses for a percentage of .810.

Davis surpassed this brilliant performance in his two years as freshman and junior varsity coach at UCI with 41 victories and only eight defeats for a percentage of .835.

His 19-7 record this year gives him a lifetime 231 wins and 54 losses and a percentage of .810—so he has maintained the pace he set as a high school coach.

Davis became a full-time member of the UC Irvine physical education staff in the fall of 1966 and replaced Danny Rogers as head basketball coach in July 1967 when Rogers decided to enter private business after leading the Anteaters to respectable 15-11 records in each of his two seasons at the helm.

Davis faced a considerably more difficult schedule this year, but for the first time the Anteaters had experience and bench strength.
In their 19-7 season performance this year the relatively small but quick Anteaters reflect the trademark of all Davis-coached cage teams—sound fundamentals, poise, patience, and good discipline on the court and the bench. Davis' teams invariably possess excellent basketball sense and mirror his character and unselfishness in their team play.

A native of Laguna Beach, Davis was a four sport participant in high school there, played basketball at Orange Coast College and went on to become an All-American volleyball player at UCLA.

He was graduated from UCLA in 1956 and earned his master's degree there in 1961.

Davis married the former Sheila Wadman of Beverly Hills in 1960. She is also a graduate of UCLA. The Davis' have a one-year-old son, Jeffrey.

With a 17-6 record and hopes of being selected as an at-large team in the NCAA college division playoffs, the UC Irvine basketballers prepared today to wrap up their schedule with three games on the road.

Coach Dick Davis' UCI Anteaters play at UC Santa Barbara Thursday night (Feb. 22), travel to California Lutheran College in Thousand Oaks Saturday (Feb. 24), and wrap up the season at Cal State Fullerton Friday (March 1).

The Anteaters won two of their three "crucial" home games last weekend and came within an eyelash of making it a clean sweep. UC Riverside fell, 95-85, Friday night. UCI scored one of its most stirring victories in its short three year history Saturday by edging powerful Nevada Southern, 82-81, in overtime.

Turnovers, a cold hand at the foul line and a strong Fresno State defense cost the Anteaters a 77-71 overtime loss Monday night.

With all their troubles, UCI came within two seconds of winning the game in regulation time. With the score knotted at 66-66, Mike Heckman rimmed the hoop with a 12-foot jump shot with three seconds on the clock, then rebounded and sank a six-footer just after the buzzer sounded.

Davis will start Heckman at center. The 6'6" junior from Glendale leads the team in scoring with a 19 point average and in rebounding with 12 per game.

At forwards will be Nick Sanden of Santa Ana, 6'3" junior, and Jeff Cunningham of Tustin, 6'3" sophomore. Both are hitting at a 15 point clip.

Starting guards will be a pair of seniors, Darrell Millner, 5'11'', from Monrovia and Doug Christie, 6'2'', from West Covina.

Coach Tim Tift's UCI frosh will accompany the varsity for preliminary games. Although handicapped since mid-season by the loss of their big forward, Bob McCormick of Covina, who is recuperating from an appendectomy, the young Anteaters have compiled a 14-8 season mark.

Here's how UC Irvine compiled its 17-6 record:

UCI 77 - Cal State Long Beach 69
UCI 80 - at Redlands 78
UCI 93 - "valley State 97
UCI 72 - at Westminster (Utah) 75
UCI 105 - at Cal Western 90
UCI 96 - Cascade (Portland) 72
UCI 82 - Occidental 77
UCI 81 - Univ. of San Diego 72
UCI 85 - Cal State LA 98
UCI 98 - Rhode Island 84
UCI 77 - at Westmont 76
UCI 67 - Univ. of San Diego 61
UCI 79 - at UC Riverside 71
UCI 84 - at Cal State LA 82
UCI 90 - Westmont 87
UCI 71 - at Chapman 63
UCI 86 - at Valley State 80
UCI 84 - at Nevada Southern 98
UCI 88 - Chapman 62

UC Irvine's tennis varsity will seek its third victory in as many dual matches against San Fernando Valley State Friday (February 2) at 2 p.m. on the home courts.

Led by Jody Rush, talented southpaw letterman and number one singles and doubles player, the Anteaters trounced UC Davis, 5-1, in a match shortened by rain and blanked UC Riverside, 9-0, in their first two outings.

Irvine hosts the all-University of California tournament, February 9-10-11. The Anteaters also play University of Wyoming at home, April 3, and host Arizona State (Tempe), May 4.

Although the schedule this year is more difficult, Coach Myron McNamara expects UCI to maintain the winning habit in tennis which marked the first two seasons in the history of the new school. McNamara has seven letterman who are eligible for the varsity under recently revised NCAA rules.

Rush, a junior who is playing his last year of eligibility is from College Station, Texas. Last year he scored wins over Steve Tidball of UCLA, Doug Verdieck of Redlands and Garth O'Malley of Arizona.

The number two singles spot may be taken over by Robert Moore, a freshman from North Hollywood High School. Small but wily, Moore has lots of tournament experience.

Battling for the number three position is Craig Neslage, a sophomore from Phoenix, who attended Arcadia High School in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Three other promising sophomores are Earl O'Neill from Wilson High School in Long Beach, Lary Lawrence from Santa Monica High School, and Steve Teal from Fullerton High School.

Just how far the team goes this season may depend on Gayle Dukelow, two-year letterman who has a chronic elbow ailment. Dukelow is a product of La Mirada High School.

Others who are expected to improve and contribute a share of the victories in both singles and doubles competition are Ray Sokolowski, junior from Santiago High School in Santa Ana, Robert Payan, freshman from Fullerton High, Jeff Williams, sophomore from Costa Mesa High, Joel Heiser, freshman from Inglewood High, and two northern Californians, Peter Clark and Skip Brizzalara.

Unprecedented balance and bench strength are evident in the 15-man basketball squad announced today by Coach Dick Davis to represent the University of California, Irvine in the upcoming season. Davis selected the Anteaters' varsity cage roster after three weeks of drills.

There is optimism out at the UCI ranch, although only five lettermen are available, three of whom are seniors. Davis hopes to make up for lack of exceptional height by stressing quickness, a fast-breaking offense and a pressing defense.

The Anteaters, who play a much tougher schedule than in their first two years in which they posted identical 15-11 marks, will depend on these five lettermen for experience and stability: Mike Heckman, 6-6, junior center (Glendale High); Nick Sanden, 6-3, junior forward (Santa Ana High); and three guards, Darrell Millner, 5-11, senior, Doug Christie, 6-2, senior (both Mt. San Antonio JC), and Charlie Brande, 5-11, junior (Orange High School).

Heckman could be the key man for a successful season. He is regarded by Coach Davis as one of the fastest 6-6 centers in the country. Heckman will be moved to forward occasionally. He’ll be replaced at center by Steve Parker, 6-6, junior (Pierce JC), or Jeff Mill, 6-5, sophomore (Long Beach transfer from UC San Diego).

Other strong candidates to break into the line-up at forward are: Bill Coon, 6-3, junior (Santa Ana High), Jeff Cunningham, 6-3, sophomore (Tustin High), Jim Farley, 6-2, junior (Orange High), Dave Fontius, 6-3, junior (Newport Harbor High), and Bill Roley, 6-3, junior (Laguna Beach).

Jim Splittgerber, 5-10, senior, may make a comeback at guard after riding the bench most of the past two seasons with a bad knee. Other experienced players at guard are Alan Gladstone, 6-1, junior (Cypress JC), and Charlie Howenstein, 6-0, junior (Inglewood).

The Anteaters open a 26-game schedule at home on December 1 against Cal State, Long Beach.

The mythical Orange County water polo championship will be at stake Saturday when the UC Irvine Anteaters host Cal State, Fullerton at 10 a.m. in the final home game of the season.

Coach Ed Newland's UCI seven has a 12-4 season record, including a 9-5 win over Fullerton Junior College.

The Anteaters will play without Ferdie Massamino, their second highest scorer, who is recovering from pneumonia. Pat McClellan, who tallied five goals against UCLA in the Anteaters' last game, is the leading scorer for the season with 52 points.

The UCI water poloists take to the road next week for games at San Diego State, Tuesday, and at Cal State, Long Beach, Friday. Their final appearance will be in the West Coast Tournament at Santa Barbara, Saturday, November 11.
With six major teams added to their basketball schedule, the young Anteaters of the University of California, Irvine point for their third winning season with the start of daily practice sessions Monday (Oct. 16).

Coach Dick Davis is confident this UCI squad has better balance and depth. But the tougher schedule poses a challenge to improve on the identical 15-11 records posted by the Anteaters in their first two years.

Davis is making his debut as varsity coach, succeeding Dan Rogers, after directing the UCI freshmen to 42 wins in 50 games the past two seasons.

Twenty-two varsity candidates will greet Davis Monday for six-days-a-week drills through November in preparation for the opening game, December 1, at home against Cal State Long Beach. Davis has the "problem" of selecting the 15 who will make the squad.

Beefing up the schedule are Rhode Island University, Cascade College of Portland, Cal State Los Angeles, UC Santa Barbara, Occidental, and Fresno State.

"Our team is not exceptionally big," says Davis, but we have the quickness to overcome any handicaps in size."

Five lettermen are returning, including Mike Heckman, 6-6 center-forward, who is expected to have an outstanding season. Other veterans are Nick Sanden, 6-3, forward, and Doug Christie, 6-2, Darrell Millner, 5-11, and Charlie Brande, 5-11, guards.

Five junior college transfers bring added depth and one or two may crack the starting lineup. Biggest men are Steve Parker, 6-6, Pierce Junior College; and Jeff Mill, 6-5, UC San Diego. Other prospects are Jim Clark, 6-3, Mt. San Antonio; Alan Gladstone, 6-0, Cypress; and Charlie Howenstein, 6-1, Southern California College.

Coach Tim Tift will begin practice with 16 freshmen candidates, including 10 talented student-athletes who won high school honors.

The powerful varsity water polo team at the University of California, Irvine, making a strong bid for national honors, tangles with three major opponents this weekend in a trip to northern California.

Coach Ed Newland's UCI seven has compiled a 9-1 season record, losing only to UCLA, 6-4, in the All-University Tournament. It was the 39th consecutive win for the Bruins over a three year period.

UCI faces Stanford University in Palo Alto Friday at 3:30 p.m. The Indians led by Greg Buckingham, two-year All-American, are slight favorites. The Anteaters are an even choice in games Saturday against highly rated Foothill Junior College at 10 a.m. and De Anza Junior College at 3:30 p.m.

Pat McClellan leads the UCI scorers with 39 points followed by Ferdie Massamino with 17.

"Our best play makers have been Mike Martin and Bob Nealy," said Coach Newland. "Most pleasant surprise has been Bill Braly, goal guard, whose play in the cage has improved 100 per cent over last year."

Earlier this week UCI downed San Diego State, 12-6.

The UCI freshmen dunked UC San Diego, 15-2, in their most recent game to remain unbeaten with eight victories. Next frosh encounter is a preliminary to the varsity game at USC, Tuesday, October 24 at 4 p.m.

The Anteaters will not make another appearance in the home pool until Saturday, October 28, at 10:30 a.m. against Cal Poly Pomona. UCI will have another chance to end the UCLA victory string when they host the Bruins Tuesday, October 31, at 3:30 p.m.
The UCI Squash Club team captured a 3-2 decision over the University Club of Los Angeles in the opener of a 16-game schedule in the Southern California Squash Racquets Association.

The players are composed of students, faculty and staff of the University of California, Irvine and residents of nearby Orange County communities.

Practice sessions are held Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9:45 p.m. on the Irvine campus courts. Individuals interested in participating are requested to report to William Ashcroft on Wednesday evenings.

The University of California, Irvine water poloists put their 5-0 season record on the line this week against two strong opponents in the home pool and in the All-University Tournament at UCLA.

The unbeaten Anteaters face Cal State, Long Beach in the UCI pool Thursday (Oct. 12) at 8 p.m. The visitors will be out to reverse a 10-6 loss by Coach Ed Newland's seven in the UCI Tournament two weeks ago.

UC Davis invades the UCI pool Friday (Oct. 13) at 3:30 p.m. The Anteaters are favored to win this one.

UCI is rated third behind UCLA and UC Berkeley in the All-University water polo event, Saturday (Oct. 14) starting at 9 a.m. in the Bruins' pool.

Newland will stay with the starting line-up he has called on all year: Bill Leach and Steve Farmer, forwards; Pat McClellan, center forward; Mike Martin and Bob Nealy, guards; Ferdie Massamino, center back; and Bill Braly, goal guard.

The Anteater jayvees, also sporting a 5-0 season mark, host Chaffee JC Tuesday (Oct. 10) at 3:30 p.m. and visit Golden West JC Wednesday (Oct. 11) for a 3:30 p.m. match.

Big guns for the UCI jayvees have been Dale Hahn (Sierra High School), Rich Eason (Marina) and Eric Little (Estancia).
UCI's water polo Anteaters, led by All-American Bob Nealy and 1966 most valuable player Bill Leach, host the Fullerton Junior College Hornets in Irvine's water polo opener of the season at 8 p.m., Wednesday, September 27, in the Campus Hall swimming pool.

The opener will serve as a prelude to the talent-laden UCI Water Polo Tournament on Saturday, September 30, when USC's Trojans and Cal State Long Beach's 49ers--two perennial polo powers--lead a field of six teams in competition for the tourney championship.

First year head coach Ed Newland is cautiously optimistic about the chances of his Anteaters moving up in the "unofficial" national water polo rankings this year, not so much because he doubts their ability, but due to the extremely difficult schedule.

In addition to a possible meeting with USC in the UCI tournament--the Trojans were No. 2 last year--Newland's forces meet No. 1 ranked UCLA at least once, and maybe twice, No. 3 Stanford and No. 4 Long Beach twice.

Nealy and Leach, both two-year lettermen at UCI from Corona del Mar, are responsible for much of the optimism Newland has when he calls the 1967 edition "potentially, our best polo team in three years."

There are other reasons for the rosy outlook. They come in the form of sophomore numeral winners Ferdie Massamino (Fullerton), Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) and Mason Philpott (Downey); junior letterman Bob Sharp(Buena Park) and goalie Bill Braly (Corona del Mar); and three freshmen from Corona del Mar high school's 1966 CIF champions, Pat McClellan, Mike Martin and Bruce Reynolds.

uci's 1967 water polo opener

Massamino was the leading scorer in '66 as a freshman, and figures to be an offensive key again. Philpott was the frosh MVP last year and Farmer continues to improve, particularly on offense.

Leach is Newland's "old head" on the squad and the unquestioned team leader. He ranks as one of the best defensive players on the squad, and has a hard left-handed shot. Nealy is an expert shooter and will be out to prove his third-team All-American selection in 1965 was no fluke.

McClellan, named the best high school water polo player in the country in 1966, is a big, strong competitor who likes offense. He is--as a freshman--one of the main reasons for the bright polo outlook at Irvine.

Martin, like McClellan, is a freshman who is being counted upon heavily by Newland. If the two perform as expected, UCI could be a serious challenger for one of the nation's top spots.

The pairings in the UCI Tournament are as follows: first round, USC-bye; UCI vs. Cal State Los Angeles (9 a.m.); UC Santa Barbara vs. San Diego State (10 a.m.); Cal State Long Beach-bye.

If the favorites advance, the second round should be UCI vs. USC (11 a.m.) and UCSB vs. Long Beach (noon). There are losers brackets matches in mid-afternoon and the championship match at 3 p.m. followed by the losers bracket finals at 4 p.m.

A 23-game freshman basketball schedule for 1967-68, rated as the most difficult in the history of the University of California, Irvine, was released today by Director of Athletics Wayne Crawford.

The schedule for newly-appointed freshman coach Tim Tift, formerly of Dominguez High School, includes seven home and home series against UC Riverside, Loyola University, UC Santa Barbara, San Fernando Valley State College, Westmont College, Chapman College and the University of San Diego.

Single encounters are set against USC, Cal Lutheran College, Cal State Long Beach, Cal State Fullerton, Redlands University and Cal State Los Angeles in addition to a three-game set in the pre-Christmas Whittier College Tournament.

The yearling Anteaters will perform on the Campus Hall home court 10 times during the season and will play 10 single dates on foreign hardwood, as well as the three games at Whittier College.

UCI fielded a freshman team in 1965-66 and a junior varsity squad in 1966-67. The combined two-year freshman, jayvee record is an outstanding 41 wins and eight losses.

Tift is enthusiastic about fresh cage prospects for the Anteaters' third intercollegiate sports season.

"We hope to have eight or ten of Southern California's finest high school student-athletes on board when classes start in October," Tift said, "and from all indications, these boys should give us a real solid team."

Varsity basketball coach Dick Davis also is optimistic about freshman prospects. "If all who have indicated an intention to enroll at UCI this fall do so, we should have the best freshman basketball team since we started athletic competition in 1965."

The schedule is as follows:

The second annual University of California, Irvine Summer Sports Instructional Program for boys and girls, ages 8-15 inclusive, will be held at UCI's Campus Hall from June 19-July 28.

Dr. Raymond Thornton, recreation sports director, will serve as program director. The program is being sponsored by the UCI physical education department, and will include instructional classes in golf, gymnastics, swimming and tennis.

There will be three, two-week sessions: June 19-June 30; July 3-July 14; and July 17-July 28. Enrollment in each session is limited to 40 children. Sessions will meet daily, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

UCI students and staff members will serve as instructors for the six-week program. Dr. Thornton will teach the golf classes, John Potter the gymnastics, Pat Stelzner the swimming and Skip Conde the tennis.

Enrollments will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Fee for each session is $20 per child, which includes instruction, lockers, towels, sports equipment and insurance. Children are expected to provide their own personal items.

Further information about the program may be obtained from the UCI physical education department, Campus Hall, telephone 833-6931, area 714.

Makoto Sakamoto, four-time United States national men's champion and former Olympic gold medal winner, headlines an outstanding array of gymnasts who will perform in an AAU-sanctioned gymnastics exhibition on Friday evening (May 19) at 8 p.m., in UCI's Campus Hall.

The exhibition will be presented by the Associated Students of the University of California, Irvine. Proceeds will be donated by ASUCI to the Southern California Gymnastics Association and eventually will be used to provide transportation for members of the U.S. gymnastics team to the Pan American games this year and to the Olympics in Mexico City in 1968.

In addition to Sakamoto, the roster of Olympians, collegians and high school performers includes USC's Bob Lynd, three-time NCAA and two-time AAU champion in the all-around; national junior champion Steve Hug, a 15-year-old schoolboy from Van Nuys; Pasadena's Danny Garcia; and Juan Sanchez, Cal State Los Angeles.

Four UCI gymnastic team members and two Corona del Mar High School gymnasts will add local flavor to the exhibition. The four Anteaters are John Potter, Paul Boulain, Ron Craig and Pat Vanderhoof. The Sea King entries are Bryan Casserly and Gordon McCollom.

The program committee is headed by Robert Beckner, chairman of the SCGA and recently appointed coach of the 1968 Olympic team, and Richard Beckner, gymnastics coach at UCI. Miss Anne Dryden, director of social events for ASUCI, is coordinating the program with the AAU.

Master of ceremonies will be Larry Banner, captain of the 1964 United States Olympic gymnastics team.

Tickets will be available at Campus Hall on Friday evening. The admission price is $1 for students with identification cards, $2 for adults.
Four members of the University of California, Irvine tennis team will make their final appearances of the 1966-67 season as they represent the Anteaters in the NCAA District 8 college division regional tournament on May 11-12-13 at Cal State Los Angeles.

The foursome will include senior Harvey Klyce (San Rafael), sophomore Gayle Dukelow (La Mirada), freshman Earl O'Neill (Long Beach), and freshman Craig Neslage (Phoenix, Arizona).

Missing from the list is No. 1 Anteater Jody Rush, a junior transfer from Pierce JC. Rush is ineligible to compete in the NCAA regionals because of a junior college transfer rule that prohibits participation by non-graduated JC transfers in NCAA championship events.

Coach Myron McNamara is not optimistic about his team's chances to grab the regional title without Rush. The southpaw whiz from College Station, Texas was one of the big reasons the Anteaters compiled a fine 13-5 season record against some of the finest small college and university-level competition in the West.

Whether UCI qualifies for the national championships in Chicago with an outstanding performance this week at Los Angeles is academic, since the Anteaters will not make the trip to the Midwest due to final examinations and finances.

All four team members will compete in the singles competition at Cal State Los Angeles, and the doubles teams will by Klyce-Dukelow and O'Neill-Neslage.
In sports parlance, Saturday's (April 29) crew races between the Anteaters of the University of California, Irvine and the Pirates of Orange Coast College have all the earmarks of "grudge matches."

UCI, a budding crew power, and OCC will be trading strokes in three 2,000 meter sprints down the North Lido Channel of Newport Bay as the Anteaters of coach Dewey Hecht close their regular season prior to the San Diego Regatta and Western Sprints Championships in May.

The freshman eight-oared shells will start the morning's action at 9 o'clock, followed by the junior varsity boats at 9:30 a.m. and the varsity boats at 10 o'clock.

This will be the fourth time in two seasons that the Anteaters and Pirates have opposed each other in crew, either in dual races or in regattas and championship sprints. OCC won the first, UCI the second, OCC the third, and if the normal succession follows, it should be Irvine's turn.

Actually, the Anteaters appear to have an edge in the jayvee shell, the Pirates will be favored in the frosh sprint and the "best boat" race is a tossup.

The Anteater varsity is anxious to redeem themselves after a sound defeat at the hands of UCLA's powerful varsity last week. Hecht's freshman shell is undefeated in three tries, the jayvees are 2-1 with a one-length defeat by the Bruins and the varsity boat is 1-1.

The races will start at the east end of Lido and finish near the Arches Marina at the extreme west end of the channel.

Edward Newland, assistant water polo coach at the University of California, Irvine, during the past year, has been appointed head water polo coach at UCI, according to an announcement today by Director of Athletics, Wayne Crawford.

Newland, former water sports coach at Corona del Mar and Newport Harbor high schools before coming to UCI in October 1966, will succeed veteran Al Irwin, who brought the Anteaters to national prominence in water polo in two short years.

Irwin, assistant director of athletics and director of aquatics, will continue to coach the Irvine swimming team. He will assist Newland in water polo in addition to devoting more time to his varied duties as assistant athletic director.

Newland will assume the head coaching duties in water polo effective July 1, 1967. The 39-year-old native of Los Angeles is a graduate of Occidental College and John Muir Junior College. He majored in political science at Occidental.

His four-year coaching record, 1962-1966, at Corona del Mar was outstanding. Newland's water polo teams there won 57 and lost only five in the first three years of the sport, while his swimming teams swept the Orange and Irvine League "A", "B", and "C" division championships for four consecutive years.

Newland coached and taught at Newport Harbor from 1955-62. He was assistant swimming coach under Irwin there in 1955-56, then took over the head coaching duties in 1956 when Irwin moved to Orange Coast College. Ed also became water polo coach for the Sailors in 1959.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific Water Polo Association and a member of the American Swimming Coaches Association. Newland, who lives in Newport Beach, is married and the father of three children.

Newland also coaches the Corona del Mar Swimming and Water Polo Association teams. The association has a strong AAU program and its teams annually rank in the top five in the United States.
Four members of the University of California, Irvine tennis team will compete in the annual Ojai Valley Tennis Tournament, Southern California's gigantic tennis extravaganza, which starts tomorrow (April 27) and continues through Saturday (April 29).

UCI's top-ranked team member, Jody Rush, and freshman Earl O'Neil are coach Myron McNamara's two entries in the college division singles pairings. Harvey Klyce and Gayle Dukelow will be the Anteater team in the college division doubles action.

Kathy Nethery of Newport Beach will be Irvine's lone entry in the open college division women's singles competition.

The tournament, contested at various sites in the Ojai Valley, will bring together more than 800 tennis players in 24 divisions. There will be men's and women's pairings within each division.

The Anteater entries will compete in early round action -- 8 a.m. -- at the Ventura College courts on Thursday, and if victorious, again on Friday. Finals in all divisions will be held on Saturday at the Ojai Center courts.

Rush, on the basis of his 1967 record, will be considered as one of the top 10 singles entries in the college division. Some of his toughest competition should come from Dean Tenero and Garth O'Malley, University of Arizona; Doug Verdieck, Redlands University; Fred Suessman, Cal State Long Beach; and John Rolph, Cal Western.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The April 21 tennis match between UCI and Redlands University, which was postponed due to rain, has been rescheduled for Thursday, May 4, at 2 p.m. on the Anteater courts. Redlands is the defending NCAA college division tennis champions. #  #

Coach Dick Sweet and his University of California, Irvine sailing team survived the "cut" and will be among the top six teams competing for the Southern Series Pacific Coast sailing championship, Saturday, April 22, in Alamitos Bay. The Anteaters will serve as hosts for the regatta.

The original 13-team Southern Series field was trimmed to the top six teams after the final series of elimination regattas last weekend at Arches Marina in Newport Beach.

UCI finished sixth in the 13-team field, edging out UCLA for the final position in this weekend's championships at Alamitos Bay Yacht Club. USC finished at the head of the list in the eliminations, San Diego State was second, Orange Coast College was third followed by Cal State Long Beach, UC Santa Barbara and UCI.

Sweet will be using skippers Dane Schuck and Carl Reinhardt in Saturday's regatta. Olivia Gates and Elaine Baker will serve as crews. As usual, the races will be in Lehman-10 dinghies.

There will be a skippers meeting at 10 a.m. and the first of 10 scheduled races will begin at 11 a.m. No race will start after 4 p.m.

Skipper Jerry Leitch will not participate in the championships this weekend, but will be ready for duty when the eliminations for the national sailing championships are held the following weekend, April 29-30.
A tennis rematch with defending NCAA college division champion Redlands University will close out the home schedule for Coach Myron McNamara and his University of California, Irvine netters on Friday, April 21, at 2 p.m.

The Anteaters, currently 10-4 on the season, have had rain problems of late and matches with Cal State Los Angeles, San Diego State and Cal State Fullerton have been washed out in the past two weeks.

Redlands defeated UCI, 5½-3½, in an earlier match at Redlands, but McNamara and his young squad--four freshmen, one sophomore, one junior and one senior--are ready for a fine effort against the talented RU squad of coach Jim Verdieck.

UCI's Jody Rubh, Earl O'Neill, Harvey Klyce, Craig Neslage, Gayle Dukelow and Steve Teal are due to carry the singles attack against Redlands. The Anteaters dropped the singles matches in the first meeting at Redlands, 4-2, and will be attempting to reverse that score on Friday.

The top Redlands performers are Doug Verdieck, Steve Peacock, Goose Nelson and Greg Parkerson. Those four along with Paul Jamison and Ron Reis will be Coach Verdieck's probable selections in the singles matches.

The dual meet will serve as a spirited entry for both teams into the giant Ojai Valley Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament on April 27-28-29 in Ojai. McNamara has nominated Rush and O'Neill in the independent college division singles championships and Klyce and Dukelow as a doubles team in the same division.

Kathy Nechery has been entered in the women's singles championships, also in the college division bracket.
Crew, tennis and golf are the order of the day on Friday and Saturday, April 7-8, as athletes of the University of California, Irvine get set for the first of four spring sports weekends during April.

Crew coach Duvall Hecht's sparsmen will start their second season with freshman and junior varsity races against the University of California, Santa Barbara at 9 a.m. on Saturday in the North Lido Channel, parallel to the Pacific Coast Highway.

Hecht's varsity crew will work out during the UCI-UCSB races, but will not be active in intercollegiate competition until the following weekend against Cal State Long Beach. UCSB has no varsity crew, so Hecht decided to have a varsity workout while the Anteater Frosh and Jayvees meet the Gauchos' two crews.

Coach Myron McNamara's young tennis team will be attempting to improve on its 7-4 record with three matches within a 24-hour period. The Anteater netters journey to Cal State Los Angeles on Friday for a rematch, and then return home on Saturday to host Cal Western and the Air Force Academy Falcons in a doubleheader.

The match against Cal Western starts at 10:00 a.m. with the Air Force following at 2:30 p.m. The Falcons also will be in their second match of the day, having faced Claremont Mudd at 8 a.m. Air Force has six returning lettermen led by Charlie Hoskins and a new coach in Major Dick Watson.

McNamara is expected to make one change in the UCI lineup, inserting freshman Steve Teal, Anaheim, in the starting singles rotation, replacing freshman Lary Lawrence.

Coach Dick Davis' golf team, 2-5 for the season, participates in a triangular match against Pepperdine and Whittier Colleges at the Hacienda Country Club in Whittier today (Friday, April 7). Match time is 1 p.m.

The Saturday crew races in North Lido Channel will be standard 2,000 meter sprints (slightly more than 1 1/2 miles). The freshmen boats of UCI and UCSB will race at 9 and the junior varsity boats at 9:30.

Assistant crew coach Kent Fleming's Frosh boat will include coxswain Dave Rosenfeld (Fullerton); Wayne Atwell (Orange); Joe Benjamin (Santa Ana); Joe Ney (Santa Ana); Scott Morlan (Encino); Dave Coulter (Tustin); Wyn Hack (Campbell); Bruce Richards (San Bernardino); and bow, Tony Goodrum (Costa Mesa).

The jayvee boat includes coxswain Boris Buzan (Laguna Beach); John Adsit (La Crescenta); Dennis Ettlin (Santa Ana); Roland Buchanan (Newport Beach); Ron Briggs (Costa Mesa); Ron Schwartz (North Hollywood); Stuart Gibson (Huntington Beach); Dave Bartrug (Westminster); and bow, Mike Kemp (Inglewood).

Crew fans will have an added treat if they arrive early for the races. Orange Coast College and UCLA also will be competing in 2,000 meter sprints, starting at 8:45 a.m. along the same course.

Danny Rogers, 32-year-old head basketball coach during the first two years of the University of California, Irvine's intercollegiate sports history, has decided to leave the coaching profession and pursue a career in private business.

Dr. Wayne Crawford, director of athletics at UCI, made the announcement concerning Rogers' decision today, adding that Anteater assistant basketball coach Dick Davis will succeed Rogers. The change will be effective July 1, 1967.

Crawford praised Rogers, a graduate and former All-Pacific Coast cage star at USC, for being largely responsible for the rapid development of a strong basketball program at Irvine.

The Anteaters won 30 and lost 22 under the personable Rogers as they recorded identical winning season marks of 15-11 in both 1965-66 and 1966-67.

"We are extremely sorry to see Danny leave Irvine," said Crawford, "and we certainly wish him every success in his new venture in the business world.

"His fine efforts in coaching and recruiting have been gratifying, both in terms of the caliber of play against first-class competition, and the type of student-athletes who have represented this institution in athletic competition," continued Crawford.
uci Rogers' resigns

Davis' freshman and junior varsity cage teams at UCI compiled an impressive 41-8 record in his two seasons as Rogers' assistant. Davis has been a full-time staff member for one year, having served on a part-time basis during the 1965-66 season while teaching at Newport Harbor High School.

"I have entertained the idea of a business career for some time," related Rogers. "I have some interesting prospects, but have made no decision as yet. UCI has been very good to me. I'm comforted that Dick (Davis) will continue the beginnings of what I think is a fine basketball program."

Rogers' coaching career spanned seven years, including two at Newport Harbor High, three at USC as assistant under Forrest Twogood and two at UCI. His career coaching record is 108 wins and 54 losses.

Although this was Danny's second year as cage coach at Irvine, he has been associated with the school for three years. In 1964-65, before the University was open for instruction, he served as campus representative and worked with the office of student affairs.

Rogers was graduated from Mark Keppel High in San Gabriel, where he played basketball for four years. He went on to spark Fullerton JC to the state championship in 1954 and climaxed a two-year stay at USC by being named captain and most valuable player of the 1957 Trojans.

Davis expressed surprise at Rogers' decision, but added, "I know he will be a success. We will miss him at UCI. He was an excellent head coach and a good friend."

Rated as one of Southern California's most successful high school basketball coaches, Davis came to UCI from Glendale High where his teams won 147 and lost 34 during a seven year span.

The 36-year-old Davis is a native of Laguna Beach, where he was a four-sport participant in high school. He played basketball at Orange Coast College and was an All-American volleyball player at UCLA, where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees.
The University of California, Irvine tennis team, inactive for the past two weeks, returns to the courts for two matches this week against the powerful Cal State Long Beach 49ers and the defending NCAA college division champions, Redlands University.

Coach Myron McNamara and his young netters host Cal State Long Beach tomorrow afternoon (March 28), at 2 p.m., and then travel to Redlands on Friday (March 31), at 2 p.m. for the first of a home-and-home series with the NCAA champions.

"Long Beach represents a formidable obstacle for us," commented McNamara. "They already have defeated Redlands in dual meet play this season, and the 49ers have five outstanding tennis players on their six-man competitive squad."

Leading that fivesome is Fred Suessman, who was a near victor twice against UCI's top-seeded Jody Rush in the recent Southern California Intercollegiate Tennis Tourney in Pasadena.

Rush was fortunate to defeat the 49er aces, and if that is an indication of what the Long Beach team can do, the Anteaters may be in plenty of trouble.

UCI's season record is 6-2, with the two losses identical 7 1/2 - 1 1/2 defeats at the hands of Stanford and UC Berkeley on the team's three-day trip of Northern California earlier in the month.

McNamara is hoping that his four freshmen, led by Earl O'Neill, Long Beach, will show continued improvement against the tough competition Long Beach and Redlands will provide.

The present seedings, unofficially, on the Anteater team have Rush in the top spot and O'Neill in second a shade ahead of senior Harvey Klyce—a recent bridegroom. The foursome of Craig Neslage, freshman from Phoenix; sophomore Gayle Dukelow and freshmen Steve Teal and Larry Lawrence are bunched for fourth, fifth and sixth.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The March 27 tennis match between UCI and the University of Arizona has been cancelled.
A Cinderella story that had only the final chapter missing!

That's the proud ending to the 1966-67 swimming season for the University of California, Irvine Anteaters after a stirring, NCAA college swimming and diving championship that still has collegiate water sports enthusiasts buzzing.

UC Santa Barbara won the 1967 national collegiate team title Saturday night in the City of Commerce's Aquatorium, 255-1/2 to 246, but the charge of the runner-up Anteaters of UCI will be remembered for a long time.

Coach Al Irwin's squad, down by 32-1/2 points to UCSB going into the final evening's seven-event program, scored 103-1/2 points in a record-shattering single night performance that scared the daylights out of the Gauchos and had a non-partisan crowd roaring its approval.

The second place finish erased any doubts, if there were any, about the fact that the Anteaters had built a national swimming power of Orange County student-athletes in two short years.

UCI, striving for a story-book ending to its first-ever competition in an NCAA tournament in any sport, inchéd to within one and one-half points of the leading Santa Barbarans, 223-1/2 to 222, with one event remaining, but Costa Mesa sophomore Bob Wilhite's first place finish in the 3-meter springboard diving added 16 points to UCI's team total of 206.

Poetically, Irvine's three seniors were on deck for the 800-yard freestyle relay finale, Dave Belknap (Fullerton) and All-American water poloists Pat Glasgow (Corona del Mar) and Bob Nealy (Corona del Mar).

There was some doubt as to whether Glasgow and Bill Leach (Corona del Mar) could bounce back in the relay with their usual speed after finishing two-three in the finals of the 66-lap, 1650 yard freestyle two hours earlier.

Belknap had been busy as well, winning the championship finals of the 100-yard freestyle in :48.9, after having to swim two heats in the afternoon to make the elite top-six in the 100.

UCSB moved to an eight-yard lead after the first leg of the 800 relay and increased it during the fourth leg. UCI's tired foursome finished third, behind the Guachos and San Jose State.

During the three-day championships, UCI rewrote a major portion of its school records, 10, and established one NCAA record in the 400-yard freestyle relay—which had to be the most exciting event of the meet.

Belknap, sophomore Bob Sharp (Buena Park), Nealy and freshman Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) put the Anteaters in national ink with their record-breaking 3:14.9 in the 400-yard relay, .9 of a second better than Cal State Long Beach's record of 1966.

The 103-1/2 point outburst started with Glasgow and Leach's 25 markers in the 1650 freestyle. Glasgow, incidentally, accounted for 42 points in the meet, fourth best behind double record-breakers Dave Gray of UCSB and Dick Nesbit and Doug Russell, both of Arlington State.
Belknap and Farmer added 20-1/2 in the 100-yard freestyle as Dave finished first and Farmer tied for seventh. It was at this point Anteater followers could see possibilities for a championship.

Pete Stys (Laguna Beach) snapped the school record as he won the consolation finals (seventh place) in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:20.7, accounting for seven more points.

Sharp edged out Valcom Bears of Oneonta for third place in the 100-yard butterfly finals for another 11 points. The big red-head bested his UCI record of :54.6 with :53.5 in the preliminaries and 53.9 in the finals.

Wilhite then doubled his 3-meter diving lead in the finals, winning first place with a 410.50 score, good enough for another 16 points.

Nine of Irvine's 15 team members scored all but two of the 246 points. That ninasome included Glasgow, 42; Belknap, 37; and Nealy, 25; junior Leach 33; and sophomores Sharp, 23-1/2; Wilhite, 27; Stys, 12-1/2; and Dave Smith (Newport Beach), 9; and freshman Farmer, 30.

Glasgow's third place finish in the 200-yard butterfly championship was the least expected Anteater finish of the meet. The all-purpose senior broke Sharp's school record twice, with 2:04.4 in the prelims and 2:03.8 in the finals.

UCI defeated UCSB in a dual meet, 62-42, earlier in the year but didn't quite have the depth to win against the Gauchos 18-man squad in the championships, where 12 places in each event score points.

Mark Nelson, former San Gabriel High School and Glendale Junior College basketball performer, closed out an excellent two-year cage career at the University of California, Irvine last week as the Anteaters defeated University of San Diego, 70-64, to record their second consecutive 15-11 season.

Nelson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Nelson, 1008 Valencia, Alhambra, was a tower of strength for UCI and Coach Danny Rogers as the 6-5 1/2, 220-pounder held down the pivot position in Irvine's first and second seasons of intercollegiate competition.

Mark finished the 26-game UCI schedule with an average of slightly under 10 points per game. He captured the team rebounding and assist crowns for the second straight year and was rated the best passer.

That summary of Nelson's statistics gives a complete picture of his real worth to a vastly improved 1966-67 Anteater basketball team that waded through an extremely difficult schedule to equal its 1965-66 record.

Rogers has referred to Nelson as "the one who keeps us in the tough games when we need board strength, defensive effort on opposing big men and court sense."

Nelson was regarded as the most unselfish player on the team, foregoing the chance at being a high scorer for the sometimes unnoticed role as rebounder, feeder and defensive demon from his "high post" position.

Mark was the team's Most Valuable Player in 65-66, and is a favorite to be so honored again when this year's Anteater cage edition is honored at an annual banquet March 29 in Newport Beach. He also was named to the All-Orange County College basketball team last week.
UCI's Nelson

He had his finest rebounding game of his UCI career against small college powerhouse Nevada Southern last month as he pulled down 22 rebounds and scored 13 points in Las Vegas' Convention Center.

His finest offensive effort also came against Nevada Southern, in the opening game of the year at UCI when he scored 17 points.

Nelson seemed to be better against the best as witnessed by the defensive "clamps" he put on San Fernando Valley State's high scoring center, 6-6 Mark Cooley. Nelson held the veteran to 13 total points in the first two UCI-SFVSC contests when Cooley was averaging more than 23 per game.

The big economics major will be missed on the UCI campus when 1967-68 rolls around, for he not only was a leader on the basketball court, but in campus activities as well.

Next stop, Commerce, California... and the NCAA college division swimming championships!

That's the event the Anteaters of the University of California, Irvine have been waiting for since October 1965.

"If we're not ready now, we never will be," was the flat appraisal from swimming coach Al Irwin as his 17-man squad went through final preparations for the three-day, 18-event championships, March 16-17-18.

Five seniors, two juniors, six sophomores and four freshmen compose Irwin's fine squad which compiled a 9-3 dual meet record, including the spectacular 73-31 pasting of defending NCAA swimming champion San Diego State.

The three losses were at the hands of USC, UCLA and UC Berkeley.

From all indications, 13 team members will be in for most of the work, and this doubling up could cause the Anteaters some problems. Despite a slight lack of quantity, UCI will go in with plenty of quality.

Leading UCI into its first NCAA tournament competition in any sport will be seniors Dave Belknap (Fullerton), Bob Nealy (Corona del Mar), Pat Glasgow (Corona del Mar), Randy Howatt (Corona del Mar), and Dave Kelly (Anaheim).

Belknap scored 115 points to lead the Anteaters during the regular season. He was followed by Jon Van Cleave's 110 points and Glasgow's 97. Van Cleave is the only member of the team who is not eligible to compete in the collegiates.

Sophomores will have a great deal to say about how UCI fares at Commerce. Second-year men Bob Wilhite (Costa Mesa), in one and three-meter diving; Dave Smith (Newport Beach), in backstroke, freestyle and relays; Bob Sharp (Buena Park), in butterfly and medley relay; and Pete Stys (Laguna Beach), in breaststroke and medley relay are key figures for Irwin.

Junior Bill Leach (Corona del Mar) also is being counted on heavily in 500 and 1650-yard freestyle events and medley and freestyle relays.

Freshman speedster Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) will team with Smith and Belknap in the sprints and relay events.

Sophomores Pat Fergus (Anaheim) and freshman Rich Charnley (Santa Monica) will be alternates in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events. Freshman Ferdie Massamino (Fullerton) is extremely doubtful because of an injured back and sophomore Gary Springer (Costa Mesa) probably will not compete in the distances.

The first twelve places in each individual and relay event will score points.

The preliminaries and finals for each event will be held on the same day. The Thursday schedule includes the 500-yard freestyle, 200 individual medley, 50 freestyle, one meter diving, and 400 medley relay. Prelims are at 1:00 p.m., the finals at 8 p.m.

On Friday, the events are as follows: 200 butterfly, 200 freestyle, 100 breaststroke, 100 backstroke, 400 individual medley and 400-yard freestyle relay.

The final day's schedule includes the 100 freestyle, 200 backstroke, 200 breaststroke, 100 butterfly, 1650 freestyle, three meter diving and 800 freestyle relay.

Dale Finney, 6-3 forward on the University of California, Irvine basketball team, retained his "Mr. Offense" title for the second consecutive year as he led the Anteaters in seven offensive departments this season and equaled two other individual scoring marks, according to figures released by the UCI Athletic News Service.

The 200-pound senior from Santa Ana JC and Santa Ana High paced UCI in scoring average per game, total points, field goals made, field goals attempted, free throws made, free throws attempted and free throw percentage.

Finney also tied his single game scoring record of 30 in the 82-74 triumph over Chapman College, and his 12 free throws in that same game also equaled a single game record set by Scott McKowen last season.

Mike Heckman, 6-6 1/2 versatile sophomore from Glendale, was the top Anteater in field goal percentage, .478, otherwise Finney would have made a clean sweep of every offensive department. Heckman was third in scoring, 11.4 points per game and 296 points, and second in rebounding, with 200.

Senior Mark Nelson, 6-5 1/2 center from Glendale JC and San Gabriel, paced the team in rebounding for the second straight year, capturing 285 in 25 games as compared to his 1965-66 school record of 300 in 26 games. Nelson wound up in a three-way tie for the most assists, 45.

Guard Tom Bryan, Costa Mesa junior, duplicated his scoring runner-up finish again this campaign as he hit for 306 points and a 12.2 average in 25 games. He had the second best field goal percentage, .441, and also repeated as the personal foul leader, committing 83 for a new school record.
uci basketball scoring roundup

Junior Darrell Millner tied for the lead in assists with Bryan and Nelson and was runner-up in free throws made and free throw percentage. He was the free throw leader most of the year, but made only 19 of 45 in the final six games. Darrell cracked two individual marks, making 18 consecutive free throws during a four-game span and being credited with eight assists in a single game at Cal State Fullerton.

Finney's leadership figures were as follows: average points per game, 14.0; total points, 364; field goals made, 134; field goals attempted, 315; free throws made, 96; free throws attempted, 122; and free throw percentage, .787.

Although Nelson's season rebounding total was slightly less than a season ago, he surpassed his individual game total of 18 when he hauled down 22 in the Nevada Southern game at Las Vegas. That game saw the UCI team pick off 80 rebounds, a new team single game record.

UCI also set a new season team rebounding total, 1053 to 997.

The Anteaters fired 109 shots goalward in the 87-77 loss to Nevada Southern, the most field goals attempted in a game in two years. No game scoring marks fell, but the season high was 98 points at Cal State Fullerton and the low was 60 points, in the second Chapman victory.

A record number of free throws were made and attempted in the 81-66 win over UC Davis. UCI hit on 35 of 43 charity attempts to break the previous high of 29 of 36.

UCI set new team marks for most personal fouls in a season, 552 vs. 505; in a single game, 30 against Cal State Long Beach and Nevada Southern to eclipse the old mark of 26; and fouls by two teams in a game, 57, with Long Beach. The Anteaters also committed a game record low in fouls, 10, in the 60-59 Chapman win.

Team season highs also were established in free throws, 532 vs. 475, and in assists, 253 vs. 224.

The collegiate basketball season of 1966-67 is history for the University of California, Irvine Anteaters.

Coach Danny Rogers, in review and summation, labeled the second basketball campaign a success, yet disappointing because UCI wasn't able to improve on its opening year record of 15 wins and 11 losses.

Rogers and his Anteaters finished in a flat-footed tie with that first year won-loss record, 15-11, which goes to show how misleading figures can be.

"There are practically no grounds for comparing this year's team and the 1965-66 one," said Rogers. "This squad had more ability, more depth, better defense, better firepower, more experience and superior rebounding."

Why the same record? Take a look at that record, or more specifically, take a look at the teams the second-year Irvines took on to arrive at that record.

There were no breathers like Cal Tech (twice), LaVerne, Cal Baptist and Biola as in 1965-66. Instead, the substitutions for those five games on the 66-67 schedule included Portland University (twice), San Fernando Valley State College (three times) and Cal State Long Beach (three times).

The zenith of the season, in Rogers' opinion, was the decisive, 81-66, win over UC Davis in Aggietown. "There is no doubt this was our finest game of the year, from any aspect. We had excellent defense, bench help, rebounding, poise and consistency to go with a 'working offense' that night."

Strangely, the UC Davis victory came the night after one of the three most disappointing Anteater performances, the 88-75 loss to Cal State Hayward on Friday the 13th of January. That loss probably provided the impetus for the Anteaters to move on from their 7-7 record to a winning year.

Rogers ranked UCI's finest wins, in addition to the Davis game, as follows:
No. 2...96-76 over San Fernando Valley State, avenging two earlier defeats.

No. 3...70-64 in overtime against San Diego University in the finale.
No. 4...82-74 against Chapman College; UCI's first win over the Panthers.
No. 5...87-55 blitzing of Hastings, Neb., College in the Pomona Tourney.
No. 6...90-73 rout of Cal State Long Beach in Campus Hall.

At the other end of the scale, the low point of 1966-67 was the 78-61 drubbing at UC Riverside. Rogers termed that one a "nightmare." He ranked the loss in Santa Barbara to Westmont as the No. 2 disappointment, believing that his Anteaters were looking ahead to the upcoming rematch with Nevada Southern at the time. The aforementioned defeat at Hayward was No. 3.

UCI played four overtime games, winning two and losing two.
The two overtime defeats came in the first two outings, 75-65 double overtime and 84-80 single overtime losses to Nevada Southern and Cal State Long Beach, respectively.

Rogers will continue to schedule some of the West's finest small college cage teams in the future. The 1967-68 season, although tentative, will include an eight-team UCI tourney, Irvine's participation in the "Pomona Tournament of Champions," a home attraction with University of Rhode Island and a probable home-and-home set with Nevada Southern.

Returning veterans such as 6-6 1/2 Mike Heckman (Glendale), 5-11 Darrell Millner (Monrovia), 6-2 Nick Sanden (Santa Ana), 6-5 Fred Kern (Pomona), 6-2 Doug Christie (West Covina), 5-11 Charlie Brande (Orange) and possibly 6-2 Tom Bryan (Costa Mesa) will form the nucleus of a fine basketball team.

Jayvees 6-3 Jeff Cunningham (Tustin), 6-3 John Farwell (Whittier), and 6-3 Dave Fontius (Newport Beach) also will be in the thick of things when practice begins in October 1967.

The University of California, Irvine has been approved for NCAA college division membership in District 8, and the Anteaters are eligible to compete in collegiate sports championships sponsored by the NCAA, effective immediately.

Announcement of the membership approval came today from UCI Athletic Director Wayne Crawford after receipt of a telegram from the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Kansas City, Mo.

Crawford was extremely pleased with the good news, and Coach Al Irwin and his swimming team are elated. "This is great," commented Irwin, "now we'll be able to compete in the NCAA swimming championship in Commerce."

Irwin's powerful swimming forces have been on pins and needles awaiting the NCAA's approval on the membership application since their spectacular dual meet victory over two-time defending college division swimming champion San Diego State, 73-31, two weeks ago.

"It was entirely possible the acceptance could have been delayed, and our swimming team wouldn't have had the chance to even compete for the title this year," Crawford commented.

As it turns out, the Anteaters now are eligible and will enter the championships as one of the top four or five entries, along with San Diego State, UC Santa Barbara, University of Pacific and San Jose State.

The championships will be held March 16-18. Nearly 50 schools and more than 250 competitors were represented at last year's championships in Illinois.

UCI applied for membership in October 1966, but the application could not be acted upon until the school was fully accredited by the accrediting commission for senior colleges and universities.

Irvine was notified of full accreditation in late January 1967, and the application for membership was then circulated to district member schools for approval.
Coach Dick Sweet and his University of California, Irvine sailors will be out to equal or better their last performance as they take part in the third of six Southern Series Regattas this Saturday, March 3, in San Diego Bay.

UCI finished second in last weekend's regatta which it hosted in Newport Bay, and the rapid improvement of UCI skippers Jerry Leitch and Dane Schuck has Sweet in an optimistic frame of mind.

The six series are designed to serve as elimination races for the Pacific Coast Championship Regatta, April 22. The bottom half of the field of 12 teams will be eliminated, while the top half will have the honor of competing in the PCIYRA-sponsored regatta.

This week's regatta is expected to draw from 12-14 entries, and if good sailing breezes couple with the rising temperatures it is expected to be—weatherwise—the most pleasant regatta to date. UC San Diego is the host school.

USC is the regatta favorite, but San Diego State, Orange Coast, Cal State Long Beach and UCI should be in the thick of the first place battle.

Olivia Gates and Elaine Baker will serve as crew in the Lehman 10's for Anteater skippers Leitch and Schuck.
Carlton Oaks Country Club in San Diego will be the scene of the second golf match for the University of California, Irvine linksmen, Friday, March 3, as they meet a San Diego State team which has a past history of quality.

UCI dropped its first match of the season to Loyola University of Los Angeles, and will be inactive after the SDS match until the All-University of California golf tournament on March 20-21 at Spy Glass Hill in Monterey.

Coach Dick Davis has made the switch from basketball to golf and will be coaching the UCI golf team in its 17-match schedule. Santa Ana Country Club will be the Anteaters' home course, but they will meet Redlands and Chapman at the Irvine Coast Country Club.

Ron Chamberlain (Del Mar), Craig Porterfield (Santa Monica), Chris Wilson (San Bernardino), and Jim Sheridan (Tustin), are UCI's top four team members at the present time.

Davis lists Terry Zito, Steve Dale and Biff McIntosh, all of Santa Ana, as three others from the 14-man squad who are in the running for one of the six team positions for match play.

Challenge matches on an intra-squad basis will be in store for starting team candidates after San Diego and before the All-UC Tourney in Northern California. This will give Davis an opportunity to more closely evaluate the individuals before he selects his traveling squad for the tournament.

This will be the second season of intercollegiate golf competition for UCI, and the first as golf coach for Davis. Last year's linksmen had a 1-16 record.

Mike Brearley, the University of California, Irvine graduate student who captained England's first-ever "under-25" cricket team in international matches in Pakistan, became the second cricketer since World War II to make more than 300 runs in a day when he accomplished the feat against a North Zone team at Peshawar.

The 24-year-old UCI research assistant in philosophy made 312 runs in a five and one-half hour batting stint for the Marylebone Cricket Club team. The feat is regarded as at least as difficult as hitting four home runs in a baseball game, and has been accomplished by only three other cricketers outside England.

His "triple century" performance was hailed by the London Times and the MCC captain was reported to have "batted with the grace of a master, excelling with cover drives, lofted pulls and square cuts."

Brearley led the MCC representative team in runs per inning, making an average of 132.16. His average was more than double that of the next highest batsman on the 14-man team.

The native Londoner will return to the United States, and UCI, in March to continue his studies toward a masters degree in philosophy. He is a graduate of Cambridge University, where he also captained the cricket team.

The matches between MCC and the Pakistan zone teams were well attended with the final match in Karachi drawing the largest crowd, 40,000, on the next to last day of the six-week tour.
The University of California, Irvine's tennis team takes not one, but three, giant steps into the world of university division tennis competition this week against Stanford, UC Berkeley and San Jose State.

Coach Myron McNamara's freshman-laden squad will meet the trio on a three-day trip into Northern California. UCI faces Stanford in Palo Alto on Thursday, Berkeley there on Friday and San Jose in San Jose on Saturday.

UCI will take with it a perfect 4-0 dual match record compiled against college division competition, and how the Anteaters will fare is an unanswered question.

McNamara is pessimistic about the Anteater chances, but is not counting his rapidly improving squad out of any of the three matches.

"We may come back with a 4-3 record, or we could be 7-0, but regardless, this trip will be extremely beneficial to us," claims McNamara, who likes nothing better than to take on the best.

Win or lose, the Stanford, Berkeley and San Jose matches can't help but give UCI plenty of added playing experience against top flight competition.

The Berkeley Bears are a known quantity, since they won the All-UC tennis tournament at Santa Barbara last month. UCI finished third in that tourney, but feels it has a chance against the Chuck Darley and Corky Meinhardt-led Bears.

McNamara will take his top seven players on the three day trip. Those seven include four freshmen, one sophomore, one junior and one senior.

Top-ranked Jody Rush (Pierce JC) is the junior, Harvey Klyce (San Rafael) is the senior, Gayle Dukelow (La Mirada) the sophomore and Earl O'Neill (Long Beach), Craig Neslage (Phoenix, Ariz.), Larry Lawrence (Santa Monica) and Steve Teal (Anaheim) are the freshmen.

The UCI wins have been against Orange Coast College, San Diego State, Cal State Los Angeles and UC San Diego.
The second annual University of California, Irvine diving championships will be held in the Campus Hall swimming pool on Saturday, March 4, according to an announcement by Al Irwin, UCI director of aquatics.

Irwin has extended invitations to more than 20 colleges and universities in Southern California to send divers to the one-day event which will be held in accordance with NCAA championship springboard competition rules.

The diving will consist of preliminaries, semifinals and finals in both one and three-meter competition. The preliminaries start at 10 a.m. Approximately 20 divers competed in last year's championships.

Divers participating in the finals will be required to perform 11 dives, five of which are required. The remaining six are optional but must include at least one from each of the following groups: forward, back, reverse, inward and twist.

Irwin said that junior colleges representing the Eastern Conference, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Cerritos, Los Angeles Valley, El Camino and Glendale have been invited to attend in addition to USC, UCLA, UC Santa Barbara, Pomona, Claremont, Cal State Long Beach, San Diego State and Cal Poly Pomona.

Sophomore Bob Wilhite and Rick Ruiz, both of Costa Mesa, are expected to be UCI's entries in the meet. Wilhite, named Platform Diver of the Year in 1966 by the Southern Pacific Division of the AAU, has one loss in collegiate springboard competition this season.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.
International competition and a cross-county rematch!

That's the bill of fare for an Orange County audience at the University of California, Irvine's Campus Hall on Wednesday, February 22, when the Anteater varsity basketball team hosts the touring Japanese Olympians.

UCI's Junior Varsity will meet Orange Coast College, undefeated leaders of the Eastern Conference Junior College race, in a preliminary game which could stand on its own merits as a top attraction.

The Anteater juniors nipped OCC, 60-59, in an early season come-from-behind finish and the Pirates have been waiting for the chance to avenge the loss at the hands of Coach Dick Davis' fine team.

Irvine's varsity basketballers will have their hands full with the Japanese team, which will have an experience advantage on the Anteaters. The Olympians originally were scheduled for just the UCI contest in Southern California, but because of the success of their tour of the Western United States, they have added matches with Cal State Los Angeles, Cal State Long Beach and UC Riverside.

Tickets for the George Washington Day doubleheader are on sale at UCI's physical education and student activities offices, Orange Coast College and through the Big I Boosterettes, women's auxiliary of the Big I Boosters Club.

General admission tickets are priced at $1 for adults and 50¢ for all students and children. The Boosterettes have 400 special reserved seats available at $2.50 each. Proceeds from the doubleheader will go to the UCI intercollegiate athletics fund.

The preliminary game is at 7 p.m., the main event at 9 o'clock.
Washington's Birthday, 1967 promises to be one of the most memorable days in the University of California, Irvine's brief athletic history—both from an international and intercollegiate athletics viewpoint.

That's the day of the basketball doubleheader in UCI's Campus Hall pitting the Japanese Olympic team against the UCI varsity in the main attraction and Orange Coast College versus the Anteater Jayvees in a revenge-studded preliminary game.

If that isn't enough, then add, potentially, one of the finest small college dual swimming meets in Southern California history matching the NCAA defending champion San Diego State Aztecs and Coach Al Irwin's powerful UCI Anteaters, and you have the makings of international and collegiate competition at its best.

The February 22 parade of events will go as follows:

Swimming: San Diego State vs. UCI at 3:00 p.m.

Basketball: Orange Coast College vs. UCI Jayvees at 7 p.m.

Basketball: Japanese Olympians vs. UCI Varsity at 9 p.m.

UCI Director of Athletics Wayne Crawford said that tickets for the basketball doubleheader are going at a brisk pace, and may be obtained on the campus at the physical education and student activities offices. General admission ticket prices are $1 for adults and 50¢ for college students and children. Reserved seat tickets at $2.50 each also are available in limited numbers at physical education.
uci Washington's birthday attractions

Off-campus ticket sales of reserved seats are being handled by the Big I Boosterettes, the recently formed ladies auxiliary of the Big I Boosters. Information concerning the availability of these tickets may be obtained from Mrs. William Krumpholz, 675-2290, or Mrs. Tony Hewitt, 644-0770.

A supply of general admission tickets is also available at Orange Coast College.

Crawford said the doubleheader is a benefit performance and is in addition to the regular home schedule; consequently, season tickets, ASUCI privilege cards and complimentary passes will not be honored for this attraction.

"The only passes which will be honored for the doubleheader are those of the working press and radio," said Crawford.

The swimming meet between San Diego State and UCI starts at 3 p.m. in the Anteater pool adjacent to Campus Hall. There is no admission charge for the swimming activities.

UCI edged out the Aztecs for second place in the Golden Coast Championships recently, but Irwin feels SDS will be much tougher for the Anteaters in dual competition.

Orange Coast College's Pirates and Coach Dick Davis' jayvees also have a score to settle. UCI edged OCC, 60-59, early in the campaign and when the Japanese Olympic team was contracted for the February 22 date, the Pirates-Anteater jayvee preliminary was scheduled. It's a natural rivalry.

UCI's jayvees are 15-3, and apparently enroute to 20 or more wins, while Orange Coast is undefeated in Eastern Conference competition and has an 18-5 mark.
With its chances of any NCAA playoff berth eliminated by the stunning upset loss Tuesday night to Westmont College, the University of California, Irvine's basketball team heads for Las Vegas and a Friday, February 10, rematch with sixth ranked small college power Nevada Southern.

Southern downed the Anteaters in the season opener, 75-65, in double overtime and has been rolling ever since, to the tune of 14 wins and three losses. The Rebels' latest conquest was 69-62 against San Diego State's fourth ranked Aztecs.

Coach Danny Rogers and his UCI squad have won five of the last seven games and have played their best basketball of the season lately—with the exception of the "flat" performance against Westmont.

Mark Nelson, 6-5 1/2 center, has been sensational of late and sophomore forward Mike Heckman seems to be feeling at home on the starting five and scoring exceptionally well.

Guards Tom Bryan and Darrell Millner are both in double figures offensively, and senior forward Dale Finney has been a picture of consistency and his defense is better than its ever been.

All this, plus the fine UCI bench strength adds up to a vastly improved and confident group of Anteaters who will attempt to derail Coach Rolland Todd's muscular group of athletes in Las Vegas' Convention Center.

If UCI is to have any success against Nevada Southern, that success must be predicated on the ability to stop high scoring forward Elburt Miller. The 6-4 Miller is the third best small college scorer in the country, averaging 32.8 points per game. (more)
He ripped the Campus Hall nets for 34 the first time he set foot on the UCI campus in December. Miller has scored under 20 points in only one game all season. He twice has hit 41 and 40 once.

The Anteater forward line of Finney-Nelson-Heckman and the reserve forwards, Eldon McBride, Fred Kern and Nick Sanden, will have to be ready for another Valley State performance on the backboards or the likes of Jumpin' Clyde (6-4) Dawson, Vic (6-6) Morton, Jerry (6-4) Chandler and Miller will have a field night.

UCI will continue to play its control style, looking for the occasional fast break "cinch" basket, but keeping the tempo down to prevent damaging ball turnovers.

Defensively, it will be the same tight man-to-man, half court pickup which has been successful recently, with the emphasis on Mr. Miller.
"We're a sacrificial lamb this week."

That, with no coaching crying towel in evidence, was University of California, Irvine swimming coach Al Irwin talking about his team's Saturday, February 11 dual meet with the USC Trojans, defending NCAA university level swimming champions.

To make matters worse, if that's possible, the Anteaters will invade the home waters of USC in an attempt to grab 20-25 points of a possible 104 dual meet total, according to Irwin's prognostication.

The prohibitive underdog role will be an unusual one for Irwin's fine swimming team, but the UCI mentor is philosophical about the USC meet. "We are considerably overmatched in this one, but our team will go all out to get as many points as possible."

"We schedule meets of this type so our athletes face the cream of the swimming crop. It encourages our boys to give that extra effort in the face of almost insurmountable odds," continued Irwin.

In two seasons of swimming competition, the Anteater swimmers have compiled a dual meet record of 22 wins and only three losses and already are considered a small college swimming power. Those losses have come at the hands of UCLA and UC Berkeley this season and to the Trojans in 1965-66.

UCI is 5-2 so far in 1966-67 dual meet competition, and has two second place finishes in the All-University of California Relays and the seven-team Golden Coast Swimming Championships.

It took two relay disqualifications in the Golden Coast championships to nudge Irwin's Anteaters out of first place, which went to host UC Santa Barbara by a 130-111 score.

San Diego State, small college NCAA swimming champions last year, was third behind UCI and in fourth place was University of the Pacific. SDS had 94 points compared to UOP's 87.

The two disqualifications which cost UCI the Golden Coast crown were first place in the 400-yard butterfly relay and second place in the 400-yard breaststroke relay.

Dave Belknap, senior sprinter from Fullerton, is the leading UCI point-getter to date, with John Van Cleave, senior sprinter from Whittier, right behind him.

Diver Bob Wilhite, Costa Mesa, continues to sparkle in each meet and certainly has the best winning percentage.

Sophomore Dave Smith, Newport Beach, cracked the Golden Coast meet record in the 100-yard backstroke, 59.5 seconds, and has shown excellent improvement.

Irwin said the squad is still in weight training, and he expects the UCI times to improve considerably after this training is shelved in about two weeks.

That will be about the time San Diego State invades the Anteater pool on February 22 for what promises to be one of the finest dual meets in Southern California small college history.
The University of California, Irvine's junior varsity basketball team ran its winning streak to 10 and its season record to 14-2, Saturday night at Campus Hall with a stunning 71-64 victory over the University of California, Santa Barbara Frosh.

Freshman forward Jeff Cunningham and sophomore guard Greg Gaylord paced the Jayvees win against UCSB with 21 and 19 points, respectively. The UCSB squad had a front line that averaged 6-5 1/2 and a victory against the same USC team that blitzed UCI earlier.

Coach Dick Davis termed the game, "our best effort of the season."

This week's activity will be heavy, in both quantity and quality, as Coach Davis' quintet sets sights on the 20-victory season that eluded them on the final night of the 1965-66 season.

The junior Anteaters will be facing three tough foes on foreign courts starting with Westmont College's freshmen Warriors in Santa Barbara on Tuesday and finishing with the USC Frosh on Saturday night at Cal State Los Angeles gym.

A rematch with UCSB's Frosh is slated between the Westmont and USC battles. That rematch will be on Thursday, February 9, in Santa Barbara.

The junior Anteaters will need a few more efforts like the UCSB one for that 20-victory season to become a reality. UCI has nine games remaining, including the three this week plus Orange Coast College's powerful Pirates.

Orange Coast bowed to the Anteaters, 60-59, early in the season, but have been very successful since and currently lead the Eastern Conference junior college race with an unblemished record.

After a fifth place finish in the first intercollegiate Southern Series regatta last weekend at Alamitos Bay, the University of California, Irvine's sailing team journeys to UC Santa Barbara on Saturday, February 11, for the second Southern Series regatta.

USC was victorious in the first meet, scoring 67 1/2 points in eight races. UCI's fifth place finish came as a result of 56 points and a "fine first meet showing," according to UCI sailing coach Dick Sweet.

UCI was leading the 10-team field after four races, but a foul on skipper Jerry Leitch eliminated UCI in the fifth race, giving the Anteaters a zero. They bounced back and scored well in the remaining races for the fifth place finish.

This week's regatta will be held in the bay near the Santa Barbara pier. Lehman 10' dinghys once again will be used, as will be the case in all six of the Southern Series regattas.

Dane Schuck and Leitch will be the UCI skippers at UCSB, alternating in the eight or ten race schedule.

Scoring in the series is based on 10 1/4 points for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc., rather than the reverse scoring method.
The University of California, Irvine's tennis team makes its 1967 debut on Tuesday, February 7, against Orange Coast College in the opener of an ambitious 20-dual meet, two-tournament schedule.

Director of Athletics Wayne Crawford labeled the schedule "much more difficult than in our first year, but in our tradition of seeking the highest level of competition commensurate with the abilities of the student-athletes who are attracted to UCI."

UCI's first season tennis record in dual matches was 12-3.

Myron McNamara, former member of the Junior Davis Cup team and National Public Parks champion, will start his first season as tennis coach at UCI. McNamara is currently the managing tennis professional at the Irvine Coast Racquet Club. He was vice president of Jack Kramer's World Tennis operation for six years and director of the Riviera Tennis Club in Los Angeles from 1962 until he accepted his present position at Irvine Coast in January 1966.

UCI's netters step up to university division level competition in many cases and compete in the University of Arizona and All-University of California tourneys. This is in addition to many of the Southern California rivalries established in Irvine's first year of action.

Stanford, UC Berkeley and San Jose State will provide a severe test for McNamara's squad on a three-day, Northern California trip in early March and Arizona and the Air Force Academy will be attractive home dates for UCI.

The All-UC Tournament at Santa Barbara on February 9-10-11 will be the next order of business for UCI after the opening dual meet with Orange Coast.

UCLA is a prohibitive favorite in the tourney; however, McNamara has hopes for a second place finish ahead of Berkeley and UC Santa Barbara.

The 1967 Anteaters should be considerably improved, in anticipation of the difficult schedule.

La Mirada sophomore Gayle Dukelow and Marin County JC senior Harvey Klyce are the top two returning lettermen for UCI. Dukelow was 11-1 in singles matches and 11-0 in doubles last year, while Klyce was 12-3 and 11 1/2-2.

Four freshmen and one junior—in addition to Dukelow and Klyce—seem to be in contention for the top spots, according to McNamara.

Junior Jody Rush, Pierce JC transfer, and freshman Earl O'Neill, Long Beach, have to be considered the most outstanding of the group, based on the challenge intra-squad matches that have been going on since the start of practice in early January.

Rush's credentials are outstanding. At Pierce JC in two seasons, he was undefeated in dual meet singles matches. Jody and Gene Cantor defeated Mexico's fine amateur doubles duo of Rafael Osuna and Joaquin Loya-Mayo last summer in the Balboa Bay Club Tennis Invitational.

Freshmen Craig Neslage, Phoenix, Ariz.; Larry Lawrence, Santa Monica; and Steve Teal, Fullerton, are in the midst of the battle for the six singles and three doubles positions.

Six of those seven probably will get the singles matches assignments in the opening meet. The doubles pairings are somewhat undecided, but Rush and O'Neill appear to be a team, as do Dukelow and Klyce.

Swimming, basketball, sailing and gymnastics are on the weekend (February 3-4) intercollegiate sports calendar for athletes of the University of California, Irvine as February athletic activity for the Anteaters gets underway with a bang.

The top home attraction will be basketball, when Coach Danny Rogers' quintet seeks revenge for two losses at the hands of San Fernando Valley State College. UCI faces the Matadors at 8:15 on Friday evening in Campus Hall.

Coach Al Irwin's swimming squad will be in Santa Barbara Friday and Saturday for the second annual Golden Coast Invitational Swimming and Diving Championships.

Anteater swimmers won the UCSB sponsored championships last year in competition with 10 other teams; however, this year's 11-team field includes San Diego State, NCAA college division swimming titlists in 1965-66.

In addition to UCI, San Diego State and UC Santa Barbara, the other entries include University of the Pacific, San Fernando Valley, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Cal Poly Pomona, Redlands, Whittier, Claremont and Cal State Los Angeles.

After a 40-day lull, Coach Dick Sweet's sailing team returns to collegiate competition in the first of six Southern Series regattas, this one sponsored by USC at the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club.

UCI sailors will be up against San Diego State, Cal State Long Beach, USC, UCSB, UCLA, Orange Coast College, Occidental and UC San Diego in the Southern Series races.

Coach Richard Beckner's gymnastics team will be testing its first dual meet competition as it opposes UCSB in Santa Barbara. The Anteater gymnasts took part in the UC Berkeley clinic in December, but have not yet faced meet competition.
Not to be outdone, Coach Dick Davis and his junior varsity basketball squad will be seeking their 13th and 14th victories of the year, against only two losses, in a pair of home games.

The Jayvees meet Valley State in a preliminary game Friday evening at 6:30, and then have the Campus Hall court all to themselves Saturday evening in a 7:00 date with the UCSB Frosh—the team that took a 20-game season away from the Jayvees in the final game of the 1965-66 campaign.

UCI's varsity basketballers will need one of their finest efforts to put down the fine Matadors from Northridge. SFVSC is 13-4 for the season, including 89-81 and 87-82 wins over the Anteaters.

Rogers' team is coming off its most decisive win in two years and may have the momentum to sweep Valley State. To a man, UCI felt it should have won the 87-82 game in the opening round of the Chapman Tourney.

Mark Cooley, Ben Williams and Ken Delpit will be the Matadors' chief threats. Burly Mark Nelson has controlled Cooley in two meetings, but Williams has torn the Anteaters apart—particularly on the backboards. Delpit took over for veteran Stu Schreiber when an injury shelved Schreiber in the early minutes of the first SFVSC-UCI game, and he has been outstanding since.

Mike Heckman, UCI's 19-year-old, 6-6 1/2 sophomore forward, will get the defensive assignment against 24-year-old, 6-5 Williams and Darrell Millner will be on Delpit.

Since Rogers Chucked his full court press and "gimmick" defenses in favor of the more conventional half court press plus a tight man-to-man, the Anteaters have become a solid defensive unit and they will need to be against Valley.

The Golden Coast Invitational swim meet features eight individual events, ranging from the 25-yard freestyle for divers only to the 1,650-yard freestyle, and seven relay events plus 1-meter and 3-meter diving.

Irwin terms the meet "one of the finest in the country." Although times are not expected to be exceptionally good, the meet could give some indication of how the Anteaters will fare against top-flight college level teams.

A Helms Athletic Foundation Award will be presented to the meet's high point winner. UCI's Bill Leach won the Helms award last year.

Due to the number of entries and limited time available, all events will be time trial finals, with the swimmers with the fastest entered times in the last heat.

The Friday portion of the meet gets under way at 2:30 p.m. Events on Friday are as follows: 100-yard butterfly; 100-yard backstroke; 100-yard breaststroke; 100-yard freestyle; 400-yard butterfly relay; 400-yard backstroke relay; 400-yard breaststroke relay; and the 3-meter diving prelims and semifinals.

Saturday's action will be in two sessions, one starting at 10:00 a.m., the other at 1:30 p.m.

The morning events are the 1,650-yard freestyle; 3-meter diving finals; 400-yard freestyle relay; 400-yard individual medley relay and 1-meter diving prelims and semifinals.

Saturday afternoon's final session will feature the 50-yard freestyle; 400-yard individual medley; 1-meter diving finals; 800-yard freestyle relay; 400-yard medley relay and 25-yard freestyle for divers only.
No rest in sight!

That's the prediction of University of California, Irvine basketball coach Danny Rogers as he casts a worried glance at the 10 remaining games on the Anteater schedule.

No rest in sight, might better by analyzed as no relief in sight, in view of the capabilities of the next five UCI opponents.

The rangy and improved Cal State Long Beach 49ers invade UCI's Campus Hall tonight (January 30) in the rubber match meeting of the season between the two squads.

Cal State edged UCI in overtime, 86-80, in the second game of the campaign, and then the Anteaters downed the 49ers in the consolation championship of the Chapman Holiday Tourney, 90-82.

Then in order, are San Fernando Valley State, two-time victor over the Anteaters, Westmont College in Santa Barbara and powerful Nevada Southern at Las Vegas, not to mention Chapman College at UCI on February 15.

Coach Dick Perry's 49ers are the immediate problem, and they will be just that. Cal State Long Beach, and particularly 6-6 forward Dick Nelson, have been steadily improving as witnessed by the narrow 86-84 loss to Fresno State and the 117-78 drubbing of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in CCAA conference action.

The 49ers meet Cal State Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley in weekend clashes before the Monday evening match against UCI.

Rogers is concerned about the readiness of guard Darrell Millner, who aggravated an old knee injury in the early minutes against Cal Western and was unable to continue. His absence certainly would cripple UCI's outcourt defensive ability.

UCI has worked on its zone offense in practice in an effort to prepare for Long Beach's anticipated zone defense. That zone had the Anteaters in knots for one half of the Chapman Tourney game, but they came back with a fine second half to win.

It would come as no surprise to Rogers if the 49ers show that zone again this time around.

The Anteaters will need to get top-notch performances from all front liners in the 49er battle to keep backboard control. Long Beach has seven players who stand 6-5 or better, UCI has only two--Mark Nelson and Mike Heckman.

Coach Dick Davis' jayvees shoot for their 12th win in 14 starts in the preliminary game, which starts at 6:30 p.m. The varsity contest gets underway at 8:15.

The University of California, Irvine and Cal Western University, both fresh from skirmishes against cross-county and cross-town rivals Chapman College and San Diego State, meet for the second time in intercollegiate basketball competition at 8:15 tonight (January 24) in UCI's Campus Hall.

Cal Western comes to Irvine for the first time with a 13-6 record, after a 53-52 loss to powerful San Diego State Saturday night, while the Anteaters are 10-7 following their 82-74 victory against Chapman.

Last season Cal Western stood UCI on its ears in the 82-67 victory at friendly Golden Gym in San Diego, and the Anteaters will be trying to gain some sort of revenge for that pasting.

The 1965-66 Westerners, rated as the best team in the school's history, compiled a brilliant 21-9 record. Coach Bob Kloppenburg's squad won its fourth straight District 3 NAIA title and was defeated by NAIA champion Oklahoma Baptist, 79-76, in the first round of play in the finals at Kansas City.

Gone from that fine team are Lem Lemons, Tim Cunningham and Steve Crowell--three all NAIA performers, but returning are the likes of Al Razutis, Rich Wasser and Dennis Grey.

That trio leads Cal Western in scoring with averages of 19.7, 16.3, and 13.2, respectively.

Cal Western's record includes victories over a fine Portland State team, 81-78; a resounding walloping of Redlands, 95-64; and a drubbing of UC Riverside, 69-56. On the other hand, the Westerners lost to Puget Sound, 70-67, and squeaked by Cal State Long Beach, 72-69.

That record lends itself for comparison, on paper at least, with UCI's victories over Puget Sound and UC Riverside and its even split in two encounters with Cal State Long Beach.

Junior Darrell Millner, Monrovia, and sophomore Mike Heckman, Glendale, will probably get the defensive assignments against 5-9 Wasser and 6-4 Razutis.

UCI center Mark Nelson, San Gabriel, also should have his hands full with Westerner pivotman Grey, a 6-8, 215 pounder who has been a pleasant surprise in this, his first year of varsity competition.

Coach Danny Rogers feels his team will have to play one of its finest defensive games of the season in order to keep the Westerners within range.

"They have a winning attitude and excellent personnel," said the UCI mentor. "We will have to be ready for an all-out effort to win."

Seventeen-game statistics show Dale Finney, 6-3 forward from Santa Ana, and Tom Bryan, 6-2 guard from Costa Mesa, still leading the Anteater scoring with averages of 14.8 and 12.1, respectively.

After splitting a pair of dual meets last weekend with Cal State Long Beach and UCLA, Coach Al Irwin's swimming team journeys to Northern California, this weekend for dual meets with AAWU conference member UC Berkeley and UC Davis. UCI will meet the Bears on Friday and the Cal Aggies on Saturday. Both meets will be held in the Berkeley pool.

Irwin looks for exceptionally tough competition from the Bears, a team which the Anteaters edged out for second place in the All-University of California Relays at Irvine in early December.

The Bears probably have a conditioning edge on UCI at the moment, and for this reason, Irwin feels his swimmers will be hard pressed to down the AAWU representatives in dual meet competition.

"They have had two or three conference meets since the holidays, and have been practicing continually as a team since the start of the season in December," noted Irwin.

"We had the final exams and Christmas break, and didn't require team workouts during the holidays. In fact, we didn't resume team practice until the first week in January, so this will be a factor in the early meets, especially against a team the caliber of Berkeley."

This will be the first time UCI has faced the Bears in a dual meet.

UCI completely dominated the meet at Long Beach against the 49ers and won 88-16. The powerful UCLA team downed the Anteaters the next day in the UCI pool, 69-35.

Junior Bill Leach and senior Pat Glasgow, both of Corona del Mar, were the standouts in the UCLA meet for UCI along with John Van Cleave, Whittier.

Leach tied for first in the 500-yard freestyle with the Bruin's Torrey Webb, tied for second in the 200-yard freestyle and finished second behind world record holder Ron Burton in 200-yard butterfly.

Glasgow placed second behind Burton in the 1,000 freestyle. His time was 10:58.7, while Burton's was 10:05.4.

Van Cleave was second to the incomparable Zach Zorn in the 50-yard freestyle. Van Cleave's time was 22.2, just .2 off his UCI school record performance. Zorn came in at 21.5.

Irwin indicated he will make a few changes in the entries for the Berkeley and Davis meets, but will stay—for the most part— with his normal starters.

He is holding senior Bob Nealy out of his favorite event, the 200-yard freestyle, due to an ankle injury. Nealy also is a doubtful performer in the 400-yard freestyle relay. His absence in the 200-yard will cost the Anteaters points, since only Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) will compete in that event.

The UCI entries for both meets are as follows:
(1) 400-yard medley relay: Dave Smith (Newport Beach), Pete Stys (Laguna Beach), Bob Sharp (Buena Park), and Dave Belknap (Fullerton).
(2) 1,000-yard freestyle: Glasgow.
(3) 200-yard freestyle: Farmer.
(4) 50-yard freestyle: Van Cleave and Nealy.
(5) 200-yard individual medley: Leach and Randy Howatt (Corona del Mar).
(6) 1-meter diving: Bob Wilhite (Costa Mesa) and Rick Ruiz (Costa Mesa).
(7) 200-yard butterfly: Sharp and Glasgow.
(8) 100-yard freestyle: Van Cleave and Belknap.
(9) 200-yard backstroke: Smith and Ron Myrick (Costa Mesa).
(10) 500-yard freestyle: Leach and Howatt
(11) 200-yard breaststroke: Stys and Dave Kelly (Anaheim).
(12) 400-yard freestyle relay: Farmer, Belknap, Van Cleave and Sharp or Nealy.
Dr. Wayne Crawford, director of athletics at the University of California, Irvine, has been elected chairman of the National College Physical Education Association's intercollegiate athletics section.

Crawford was elected to the post at the association's national convention in San Diego last week.

The NCPEA is made up of members from both college and university division level schools and is concerned— not so much with the sports themselves as in the case of the NCAA— but with administrative and related problems in athletics.

Three subcommittees or sections form the basic framework of the association. One is the section on intercollegiate athletics. The other two are physical education and intramural athletics.

As section chairman, Crawford will be responsible for presentation of the program at the 1968 national convention, to be held January 10-13 in Houston.

That program will include two sessions, "New Ideas on Development of Facilities and Equipment for Intercollegiate Athletics" and "Administrative Problem Solving Techniques."

Crawford participated in a panel discussion at the San Diego convention in which selected athletic directors from all sections of the nation presented their own views on a number of controversial issues facing collegiate athletics. Subject of the discussion was "Current Problems in Intercollegiate Athletics."
Dale Finney's back on top and guards Tom Bryan and Darrell Millner also are in double figures. That's the 13-game scoring outlook for the University of California, Irvine basketball team as the Anteaters prepare for a two-game weekend in northern California to battle Cal State, Hayward on Friday (January 13) and UC Davis on Saturday (January 14).

Finney wrestled the scoring lead away from Bryan in the Portland University series and Cal Lutheran contests and now has 188 total points for a 14.5 average. The 6-3 forward from Santa Ana has the most field goals, 71, and is the second best free throw shooter, with a percentage of .772.

Bryan's per game average is 12.8 and Millner's is 11.3. Millner dropped a few points as a result of his two-point output against Cal Lutheran, his poorest offensive night of the season.

Mark Nelson's average continues to slide slightly and the big center from San Gabriel is below the double figure plateau at 9.0 per game. Sophomore Mike Heckman also has a 9.0 average.

Cal State, Hayward--the UCI opponent on Friday evening--has a 3-8 overall record. This will be the first time the two schools have opposed each other in intercollegiate sports competition. The Pioneers have a new, 5,000 seat pavilion and are members of the Far Western Conference which includes Davis, Nevada, San Francisco State and Sacramento State, among others.

UC Davis, with a 1966-67 season mark of 9-2, tied for second place in the conference last season. The Aggies of coach Joe Carlson are stronger than a year ago, when they defeated the Anteaters, 66-61.

The University of California, Irvine's swimming team makes its 1967 dual meet debut against Cal State, Long Beach's 49ers Friday (January 13) in Long Beach and then entertains the powerful UCLA swimmers on Saturday (January 14) at UCI.

This will be the first action for the Anteater swimmers since the Pacific Coast Relay Championships in mid-December and coach Al Irwin is not particularly optimistic about how his squad will fare—especially against the Bruins.

"Our practice times have not been good," said Irwin, "but that's to be expected with the lack of practice since the holidays and final exams."

The meet in Long Beach will start at 3:30 p.m. and the Saturday meet against UCLA at Irvine will begin at 10:00 a.m.

UCLA brings most of the same strong swimmers who competed in the All-University of California Swim Relays at UCI on December 3, including world record holder Ron Burton, 1650 yard freestyle, and sprinter Zach Zorn.

The Webb brothers, Torrey and Russel, will give UCI plenty to worry about in the breaststroke competition as well.

Irwin expects his strength to come from the sprints and the 400-yard freestyle relay in addition to the diving. Pete Stys is the lone UCI hope against the Webb brothers in the breaststroke.

One event has been added to the normal dual meet schedule this season is the 1000 yard freestyle. Pat Glasgow (Corona del Mar), and Ferdia Massamino (Fullerton), will the the Anteater entries in the event, which will be second on the timetable.

With the addition of the 1000 yard free style, there will be 12 events in all. Two will be relays, nine are individual swimming events and the other is the one-meter diving.

The UCI entries for both the Cal State, Long Beach and UCLA meets are as follows:

(1) 400 yard medley relay: Dave Smith (Newport Beach), Pete Stys (Laguna Beach), Bob Sharp (Buena Park and John Van Cleave (Whittier).
(2) 1000 yard freestyle: Glasgow and Massamino.
(3) 200 yard freestyle: Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) and Bob Nealy (Corona del Mar).
(4) 50 yard freestyle: Van Cleave and Dave Belknap (Fullerton).
(5) 200 yard individual medley: Bill Leach (Corona del Mar) and Randy Howatt (Corona del Mar).
(6) 200 yard butterfly: Glasgow and Sharp.
(7) 100 yard freestyle: Farmer and Belknap.

Editors note: The UCLA meet is an addition to the original schedule, dated 11/24/66. Other additions and changes are as follows: Fresno State has been added for a dual meet at UCI on Saturday, January 28; Whittier College will join L. A. Valley to make the Friday, February 17 dual meet at UCI a triangular; and the Wednesday, February 22 dual meet against San Diego State will be at UCI, not at San Diego.
The Anteaters from the University of California, Irvine are coming to the San Francisco Bay area for the first time in their short two-year basketball history.

UCI will face Cal State Hayward on Friday night (January 13) and then travel to Davis for a Saturday evening meeting (January 14) with the Aggies. It will be UCI's first appearance against Hayward and its second meeting with UC Davis.

Anteater coach Danny Rogers, former All-Pacific Coast guard in 1957 while at USC, is in his second year at Irvine—co-holder of the newest UC campus title with Santa Cruz.

This is Irvine's second year of intercollegiate sports competition. The university is located three miles inland from the Pacific Ocean in Orange County near Newport Beach and has an enrollment of 2400.

UCI brings a 7-6 record with it to Northern California. The Anteaters have suffered four losses, two apiece to nationally ranked San Fernando Valley State College and powerful Portland University and a double overtime loss to Nevada Southern University in the season opener.

After its 1965-66 record of 15-11, UCI figured to be much improved in 1966-67. That supposition has proven true as the Anteaters have waged a fine battle against a considerably tougher sophomore year schedule.

In five of its six losses, UCI has outscored its opponents from the field but has lost the games at the free throw line, either through poor percentage shooting, fewer number of foul shots attempted or a combination of both.

The Anteaters, not particularly big as small college division teams go, utilize a high-post offense with fast breaks and a pressure defense which varies from a full court press to switching man-to-man.

Rogers pegs 6-5 1/2 center Mark Nelson as the key to the success UCI has enjoyed thus far in the cage sport. Nelson is the team’s best rebounder, led in assists and was third in scoring last season.

Guards Tom Bryan, 6-2, and Darrell Millner, 5-11, started slowly but have been UCI’s most consistent scorers in recent weeks. Their performance in the Chapman College Holiday Tourney was instrumental in the team winning the consolation championship.

Millner is the defensive phenom on the squad and almost always gets the defensive assignment against the opposition’s top backcourt scorer.

Forward Dale Finney, 6-3 from Santa Ana JC, was 1965-66’s top scorer for Rogers and he leads the point parade again this season.

The biggest difference in the 1966-67 Anteaters is their fine depth headed by 6-6 1/2 sophomore forward Mike Heckman, Glendale High. Heckman has come off the bench six times to score in double figures and he is second to Nelson in rebounding.

Senior forward Eldon McBride—a part-time starter last season—has given the Anteaters bench help, especially in games against Valley State and Cal State Long Beach. The 6-3 transfer from Antelope Valley JC is adept at springing loose on trap or screening plays.

Guards Charlie Brande, sophomore, and Doug Christie, junior, fill out "Rogers' reserves" to give UCI a real 10-man team.

Guard Tom Bryan has emerged as the basketball scoring leader for the University of California, Irvine after the first ten games of the 1966-67 Anteater cage season.

Statistics released by UCI show Bryan, Costa Mesa, with 140 total points for a 14.0 per game average, just one point ahead of last year's team scoring leader Dale Finney, Santa Ana.

Bryan's fine three-game performance in the recent Chapman Holiday Tournament vaulted the 6-2 backcourt performer into the team lead. Bryan scored 14, 19 and 21 points in games against San Fernando Valley State, Westmont and Cal State Long Beach to take the lead from Finney.

Finney, a 6-3 forward, scored 15 and 13 against Valley State and Long Beach, respectively, but had an off day against Westmont and could manage just four points—his season low for a single game.

Junior guard Darrell Millner, Monrovia, was sensational in the tourney and raised his average from 9.3 to 12.5 points per game. He scored 60 points in the three games, with his high being a 25-point blast against Valley State.

Millner also tops the Anteaters in free throws made, attempted and free throw accuracy. He has hit on 43 of 52 attempts from the foul line for a .827 mark. Darrell had 20 of 21 in the first four games of the season.

Forward Eldon McBride, Palmdale, is the most accurate UCI field goal shooter—based on those who have attempted 40 or more shots. The 6-3 senior has made connections on 22 of 40 shots for a percentage of .550.

Senior center Mark Nelson, San Gabriel, leads the rebounders with 116 in 10 games. The 6-5 1/2 pivotman also has the dubious honor of having committed the most personal fouls, 39.

Bryan has the most assists, 21, four more than Nelson.
The University of California, Irvine swimming team, inactive since the All-UC relays nearly two weeks ago---will compete in the second annual Pacific Coast Relays Championships on Saturday (December 17) at UCLA.

The eight-team swimfest will start at 10 a.m. and features the co-favored USC Trojans and the UCLA Bruins, UCI, Cal State Long Beach, San Diego State, Cal State Los Angeles, UC Santa Barbara and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

Coach Al Irwin's Anteaters will enter relay teams in each of the eight relay events and divers Bob Wilhite and Rick Ruiz in the diving competition.

Leading the UCI swimmers will be senior John Van Cleave (formerly of Cerritos JC and Sierra High School), senior Bob Nealy (Orange Coast College and Corona del Mar High School), senior Dave Belknap (Fullerton JC and High School) and freshman Steve Farmer (Newport Harbor High School).

Those four made up the relay team that won the 4 x 50 free style and 4 x 100 free style relays in the UC championships at Irvine earlier in the month. They are UCI's main threat for first place finishes in the talent-laden relay competition as the Anteaters shoot for third place behind USC and UCLA.

Irwin noted there are no "official" point standings at the conclusion of this meet; however, coaches use their own point calculations to determine approximate team standings.

"The main purpose of these relays," said Irwin, "is to give coaches the opportunity to use a large percentage of their teams in early season competition."

UCI at Pacific Coast Relays Championships

Irvine will employ 17 of its 24-man squad in the relays. Three freshmen, three sophomores and one junior are the only team members who will not participate.

Nealy, Van Cleave, Belknap and Farmer will make up the team for the two aforementioned relays and Wilhite and Ruiz will handle the diving duties. The other UCI entries in the six remaining relays are as follows:

4 x 100 butterfly: Bob Sharp (Tuenan Park High), Bill Crist (Cerritos JC and Anaheim High), Pat Glasgow (Orange Coast and Corona del Mar High) and Ron Myrick (Costa Mesa High).

4 x 100 breaststroke: Randy Howatt (OCC and Corona del Mar High), Pete Stys (Laguna Beach High), Dave Kelly (Cerritos JC and Anaheim High) and Mark Story (Corona del Mar High).

4 x 200 free style: Glasgow, Farmer, Bill Leach (OCC and Corona del Mar High) and Nealy.

400 yard medley relay: Dave Smith (Newport Harbor High), Sharp, Stys and Van Cleave.

4 x 100 backstroke: Myrick, Smith, Glasgow and Story.

4 x 200 individual medley: Sharp, Ferdie Massamino (Fullerton High), Howatt and Leach.

Darrell Millner, former Mt. San Antonio JC basketball performer, will be at a starting guard position for the Anteaters of the University of California, Irvine when UCI makes weekend appearances in the Pomona Invitational cage tourney.

Millner, a 5-11 defensive demon, put together his best all-round game for Coach Danny Rogers last weekend as UCI was notching its first victory of the brief season—after two opening season overtime losses.

Darrell completely throttled Cal State, Fullerton's high-scoring guard Roland Owens, allowing the All-American candidate just 12 points, while he banged home an equal point total for his best offensive effort of the three-game campaign.

UCI won that game, 82-72, and Millner was the unanimous choice for star-of-the-game. He also was voted college-player-of-the-week by Orange County coaches and sportswriters.

Rogers had nothing but praise for Millner's defensive work on Owens. "Owens had a hard time just getting ahold of the ball, let alone getting off a decent shot. Darrell's speed, quickness and 'fast hands' give him the physical attributes necessary to be an outstanding defender."

While his defensive work has been almost without fault, his offensive contributions have been less noticeable.

Rogers attributes Millner's offensive lag to be, in most part, due to the change over to UCI's style of basketball.

The UCI mentor feels Millner will show considerable improvement in scoring as he becomes "more confident" and at home with the Anteater high post offense.

"Darrell will get different shot opportunities in our offense and it's a matter of him becoming confident in these opportunities. Once he does this, his scoring should improve," concluded Rogers.

He was one of three Mt. San Antonio cagers to transfer to Irvine this year. The other two are Fred Kern, 6-5 forward from Pomona, and Doug Christie, 6-2 guard from West Covina.

Millner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Millner, 626 Hurstview Avenue, Monrovia, was all-league and all-San Gabriel Valley while a cage star at Duarte High School in 1964.

Millner appeared to open up--from an offensive standpoint--against Cal State, Fullerton. Future improvements in scoring, along with his already fine defensive work, should make Darrell a solid backliner for UCI in 1966-67 and 1967-68.
UCI will compete in intercollegiate gymnastics for the first time during the 1966-67 sports year, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Wayne Crawford, director of athletics at the University of California, Irvine.

The addition of gymnastics brings to eight the number of sports in which UCI will field teams for intercollegiate competition. Gymnastics is the only "new" intercollegiate sport added to the university's program this year. The other seven are water polo, basketball, swimming, crew, golf, tennis and sailing.

Crawford said that Richard Beckner will serve as coach for the gymnastics team.

Beckner, who was a gymnastic participant in the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne and the 1955 Pan American Games in Mexico City, is a graduate of Cal State Los Angeles. He has been a physical education instructor, biological science teacher and part-time athletic director in the Pasadena and Newport Beach school systems.

The UCI gymnastics schedule will begin with a dual meet against Cal State Los Angeles on Saturday, December 17 in Los Angeles. The team also will take part in the Christmas Clinic at the University of California, Berkeley.

The 1967 portion of the schedule includes a dual meet with UC Santa Barbara, three way meets with Cal State Long Beach, UC Berkeley; Cal Poly Pomona, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo; Fullerton JC, Cal State Fullerton; and Pasadena City College, Fullerton JC.

Also included are appearances in the Long Beach Invitational and the NCAA Regional Championships.

Coach Danny Rogers and the UCI Anteater basketball forces entertain Coach Alex Omalev and the Titans of Cal State Fullerton at 8:15 tomorrow night in Campus Hall in the first meeting of the season between the two Orange County schools--and one thing is for certain--one of the two will have its first victory of 1966-67.

UCI has dropped its first two games to Nevada Southern and Cal State Long Beach, both in overtime, and Cal State Fullerton has gone down to Cal State Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley State.

Rogers feels the Anteaters will have "to start attacking the defense with the high-post offense, rather than being attacked and put on the defensive by the opposition's defense."

UCI is certainly much stronger than last year, but the teams it plays this season are of the calibre to take full advantage of mechanical mistakes, either on offense or defense.

"We haven't been able to put everything together so far," remarked Rogers. "Our offense was off, the defense was on in the Nevada Southern game. At Long Beach, we had numerous lapses on defense and even though we scored 80 points, we weren't working as a unit on offense."

Forward Dale Finney's 14.5 per game average leads the modest scoring attack thus far. Center Mark Nelson (San Gabriel) is the second best scorer at 12.5 and leads in rebounding. Guard Tom Bryan has averaged 9.5 points, good enough for third on the team.
uci third basketball game

The Anteater bench strength will be headed by 6-3 Eldon McBride (Palmdale) who had an outstanding second half in relief of Finney at Long Beach and scored 14 points, 6-6 1/2 Mike Neckman (Glendale), 5-11 Charlie Brande (Orange), and 6-5 Fred Kern (Pomona).

Rogers has gone to his bench often and early and with little sacrifice in talent. His early season prediction as to the fine depth of the Anteater squad has been proven...and so has his prediction as to the toughness of the schedule.

Junior guard Darrell Millner (Monrovia and Mt. San Jacinto JC) will get the unenviable task of trying to stop the 28-point-a-game scoring of Titan guard Roland Owens, a bona fide All-American candidate, and at 5-9, one of the smallest.

Omalev will surround senior Owens with four other seniors in an attempt to break into the winning column. Two newcomers to the starting lineup probably will be forward Myron Brown and guard Ernie Clayton.

Coach Dick Davis' UCI junior varsity quintet goes for its fourth consecutive win in the 6:30 preliminary attraction against the Titan Frosh.

STARTING LINEUPS-VARSITY

Dale Finney (6-3) F Ray Calame (6-2)
Nick Sanden (6-2) F Myron Brown (6-3)

Greg Gaylord (6-2) G Tom Applegate (6-0)
UCI's basketball Anteaters, smarting from back-to-back opening season overtime losses to Nevada Southern University and Cal State Long Beach, hope to post their first victory of 1966-67 tomorrow night (December 9) when they host winless Cal State Fullerton at 8:15 in Campus Hall.

The Titans of Coach Alex Omalev also have dropped their first two games to Cal State Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley State.

They will bring 11 returning lettermen and three JC transfers for the season's first of at least two meetings with UCI. Guard Roland Owens, averaging 28 points per game, will give the UCI defense a real test. He is one of the best small college guards on the West Coast, and at 5-9, one of the smallest.

Coach Danny Rogers felt his squad did a good job defensively in the double overtime loss against powerful Nevada Southern in the home opener, but had a rough night from the field. Southern's zone defense caused the Anteaters problems; however, Rogers was pleased to see UCI bounce back from a 12-point deficit in the second half.

The defense was completely unstable against Cal State Long Beach the following night, and although the offensive output picked up considerably, the Anteaters were not playing as a unit.

"We have had far too many passing errors and offensive breakdowns in the first two games," said Rogers. "You just can't afford to make those kind of mistakes against the calibre of competition we're up against this year."

UCI's modest scoring output is led by 65-66 scoring champion Dale Finney, a 6-3 forward from Santa Ana. Finney has 29 points in two games for a 14.5 average, just a shade under his 15.3 mark of last year. He had a cold evening in the opener, but came back with 25 against Long Beach.

Center Mark Nelson, Glendale JC and San Gabriel high school, is second in scoring--26 points for a 13.0 average--and leads in rebounding. Sophomore forward Nick Sanden, Santa Ana, ranks third in scoring with an 11.0 average, and guard Tom Bryan, Costa Mesa, is fourth with 9.5.
UCI's Junior Varsity basketball team, with three victories in a row, hosts the Cal State Fullerton jayvees in a preliminary game tomorrow night (December 9) at 6:30 in Campus Hall.

Coach Dick Davis' small, but talented quintet scored three wins in as many nights last week against Loyola University, Cal State Long Beach and Orange Coast College.

The Saturday night, 60-59 squeaker over Orange Coast was particularly satisfying to Davis, since the Anteaters came from 13 points behind in the second half to win in the last few seconds on freshman Jeff Cunningham's 10-foot baseline jump shot.

The margins against Loyola and Long Beach were 78-60 and 91-71, respectively.

Forward John Farwell, 6-3 freshman from Sierra High School in Whittier, has emerged as the jayvees' top scorer after three games. Farwell had 13, 11, and 18 points—in that order—for a 14.0 average.

Cunningham, a 6-3 forward from Tustin High School, is averaging 12.3 per game, Dave Fontius, sophomore center from Newport Harbor High, is third best in scoring with a 10.7 mark and sophomore guard Greg Gaylord, Ontario, is fourth at 9.0.

UCI's starting quintet of freshmen Farwell and Cunningham at forwards, and sophomores Fontius at center and Gaylord and Jim Farley, Orange High, at guards, has shown well balanced scoring, excellent defense and good "court sense" in its three outings.

USC, the Cal State Fullerton Jayvee Tourney and San Fernando Valley State are on the junior varsity schedule in December.
UCLA's swimming team rates as a prohibitive favorite to win the third annual All-University of California swim relays at UCI's pool tomorrow (December 3) as Irvine hosts the meet for the first time.

UCI's swimmers are expected to battle Berkeley and Santa Barbara for second place. Heading the list of Anteater athletes will be Pat Glasgow and Bill Leach, free style; Pete Stys, breast stroke; and Bob Wilhite, diving.

Heading coach Bob Horn's Bruin squad will be 1500 meter free style world record holder Mike Burton. He won't have a chance to compete in his specialty Saturday--since all eight racing events are short-distance relays--but Burton undoubtedly will anchor one or two of the free style relay teams.

The five-team meet's morning session will get underway at 10 o'clock with one-meter diving, followed by the first of four relay events at 11 o'clock.
The first portion of the three meter diving will close out the morning session at noon.

In the afternoon, four more relay events plus the final three-meter dives will start at 2 o'clock.

In addition to UCI and UCLA, three other teams from the University's nine campus system will be represented--UC Berkeley, UC Santa Barbara and UC Davis

Irvine swimming coach Al Irwin listed UCLA's Zach Zorn, 100-meter free stylist; UCSB's King Evers, diving, and Mike Honig, breast stroke; and UCLA's Tore and Russ Webb, breast stroke, as a few of the outstanding swimmers and divers who will participate in the relays.
UCI's sailing team, coached by Dick Sweet, will compete in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association's Christmas Regatta. The regatta, to be held December 19-20 at Newport Beach, will be the final event on UCI's fall schedule.

Irvine placed second behind UC San Diego in the first all-University of California regatta recently at San Diego.

UCSD won the regatta with a low point total of seven. Irvine's 14 3/4 points were good enough for the runner-up spot ahead of UC Davis and UC Santa Barbara, who had 17 3/4 and 18 points, respectively.

UC San Diego hosted the event, which consisted of a three race series in Lido 14s on Mission Bay. The boats were supplied by members of the Mission Bay Yacht Club Lido fleet.

The Irvine "A" team was skippered by Jerry Leitch with Connie McClougherty and Carl Reinhart alternating as crew. The "B" team was composed of Reinhart as skipper and Maureen Beehler as crew.

Wind conditions for the regatta were light, but excellent race courses were set. Boats were traded each race and there were no fouls or protests. Most races were extremely close.

A perpetual trophy named the Clark Kerr Trophy was presented to the San Diego team at a presentation dinner following the regatta. The trophy will be retained by the winning school until next year's races, which will be hosted by Irvine.
Three lettermen who were the team's top scorers last year, one junior college transfer and a talented sophomore will form the starting lineup for the University of California, Irvine basketball team as it opens its 1966-67 collegiate basketball season at home tomorrow night (December 1) against Nevada Southern University.

The three returning veterans include most valuable player Mark Nelson, 6-6 1/2 center from San Gabriel high school and Glendale Junior College; Dale Finney, 6-3 forward from Santa Ana College who led UCI in scoring; and last year's team captain Tom Bryan, 6-2 guard from Costa Mesa high school and Orange Coast College. Nelson and Finney are both seniors, Bryan is a junior.

Darrell Millner, 5-11 guard who transferred to Irvine this year after graduating from Mt. San Antonio JC, will pair with Bryan to give the Anteaters experience and quickness at the back court positions. Millner, a junior from Monrovia, played high school basketball at Duarte.

Sophomore Nick Sanden, top rebounder and second best scorer on UCI's frosh team, completes the opening game lineup. The 6-2 forward from Santa Ana high school was brilliant in pre-season drills and edged out veteran Eldon McBride, Palmdale and Antelope Valley JC; transfer Fred Kern, Pomona and Mt. San Antonio JC; and sophomore Mike Heckman, Glendale high school.

In Nevada Southern, UCI will be facing one of the West's finest collegiate division teams. The Rebels were considered for an NCAA regional "at large" berth last season and have five lettermen plus three top JC transfers ready to shoot against Irvine.

Coach Rogers labels the fast-breaking Rebels as one of the most physically talented teams UCI will meet during its 26-game schedule.

"Their overall team speed is excellent, which accounts for the fast break offense we will have to defend against," commented Rogers, "and they will rebound and match muscle with practically any team on the collegiate division level."

The Rebels employ an organized, free-lance offense which Rogers feels is difficult to defense. The Anteaters will utilize the high-offense with fast breaking as the occasion demands.

Nevada's standouts will include two returning lettermen and three junior college transfers. Seniors Dixon Goodwin, a 6-2 guard, and forward Clyde Dawson, a 6-4 rebounding machine who also was the second best scorer for the Rebels last year are the veterans who will start.

The three JC transfers are center Vic Morton, 6-6 from Imperial Valley Junior College; guard Jerry Chandler, 6-4 from City College of San Francisco; and forward Elburt Miller, 6-4 forward from San Diego City College.

UCI's junior varsity meets the freshman team from Loyola University of Los Angeles in the preliminary game at 6:30 p.m. The Nevada Southern game will begin at 8:15.

UCI and Nevada Southern University meet on the basketball court for the first time in history Thursday night (December 1) when Irvine opens its second season of intercollegiate competition.

It will also mark the first coaching duel between Danny Rogers of UCI and Rolland Todd of Nevada Southern.

For two Californians to have spent so much time in basketball and have their paths cross as little as those of Rogers and Todd have crossed is somewhat of a rarity.

While this opening game is most important in the minds of Rogers and Todd, neither coach can be faulted if their minds wander a bit and they think about another night--13 years ago--when they opposed each other on the court in the state junior college championship game at Long Beach.

That was 1953. Rogers was a freshman guard on the Fullerton Junior College Hornets and Todd was a sophomore guard for College of the Sequoias at Visalia.

College of the Sequoias won that game 80-78, and the state title along with it. Todd's scoring and fine all-around floor play contributed greatly to the final outcome.

Rogers had an excellent game also, scoring 18 points, as Fullerton finished in the runner-up spot. Rogers was named to the JC all-state first team.

Ironically, Todd was a member of the Sequoia team that had been runner-up the previous year--1952. Rogers was to follow that pattern as he led Fullerton to the JC championship a year later, in 1954. Danny was selected as the most valuable player in the 1954 tourney and was first team all-state again.

uci Rogers vs. Todd

Todd went to Fresno State where he continued his brilliant playing, after a two-year Army hitch interrupted his collegiate career. He was captain and second leading scorer for Fresno during the 1956-57 and 1957-58 seasons.

Rogers' playing career as a junior and senior at USC was even more brilliant. He capped it by breaking Bill Sharman's single season scoring record and making the Pacific Coast Conference first team in 1957.

Both coaches played AAU basketball while attending graduate school at USC and Washington; Todd with the Buchan Bakers, Rogers with Lockyer's Markets.

Their career similarities ended in 1960 as Rogers began his coaching career at Newport Harbor high school and Todd went on to play professional basketball--briefly with the St. Louis Hawks and for nearly two years with San Francisco and Oakland of the now defunct American Basketball League.

Danny stayed at Newport for two years and spent three more at USC as freshman coach before coming to UCI in 1964. This will be his seventh year in coaching.

Todd begins his fifth season in the coaching ranks and, like Rogers, his second as a head mentor for his present employer. He previously had one year stops at Rainier Beach high school in Seattle, Riverside City College as assistant coach and freshman coach at Cal State Los Angeles. His won-lost record is 63-18, for a fine 78 per cent winning percentage.

Rogers and Todd even matched identical 15-11 records in their first collegiate head coaching seasons last year--Rogers at UCI and Todd at Nevada Southern.

On December 1, both will be attempting to start the season with a victory....with maybe just a thought or two about that other meeting in 1953.

More than 100 athletes—headed by the powerful UCLA contingent—will be on hand when UC Irvine hosts, for the first time, the third annual all-University of California swimming relays on Saturday, December 3.

Irvine swimming coach Al Irwin made the announcement of the upcoming relays yesterday (November 23) and said eight four-man relay and two diving events will be included in the meet. It will be divided into two sessions, one in the morning starting at 10 o'clock and the other in the afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock.

UCI and UC Santa Barbara will open the Anteater 1966-67 schedule the previous day, Friday, December 2, with a dual meet at the Irvine pool.

Five of the University's nine schools will send teams to compete in the relays. The list includes host UCI, UCLA, UC Berkeley, UC Santa Barbara and UC Davis, with an outside possibility that UC Riverside also will enter the meet.

Although the five schools have not submitted their final entries in each event, Irwin indicated the competition would be outstanding. UCLA is favored to win the relays; however, Irvine, Berkeley and Santa Barbara also are expected to field strong teams.

The previous two all-University relays were held at Berkeley and Los Angeles.

Some of the finest swimmers and divers in the West—and the nation for that matter—competing in the relays will include: UCLA's Mike Burton, world record holder in the 1500 meter free style; Zack Zoran, one of the world's best 100 meter free stylists; Torey Webb and Russ Webb, second and third place finishers in the AAU Indoor championships; and Stan Cole, a top NCAA butterfly stroker.

UC Santa Barbara's King Evers, NCAA collegiate division diving champion; Mike Honig, breast stroker who placed high in the intercollegiates; and sprinter John Mortenson.

UCI's Pat Glasgow, Bill Leach, Steve Farmer and Dave Belknap in free style sprints; Pete Stys in the breast stroke; Bob Sharp and Bill Crist, butterfly; Dave Smith in the backstroke; and Bob Wilhite, diving events.

Irwin said individual contestants will be limited to competition in three events. Schools are allowed to enter only one relay team per event, and no more than three divers in the two diving events.

Medals will be given for first, second and third finishers. The relay scoring will be 14-10-8-6-4-2 for first through sixth place and the diving scoring will be 7-5-4-3-2-1.

Members of the 1966 University of California, Irvine water polo team will be honored during a banquet at 7 p.m., November 28 at Reubens in Newport Beach, according to Director of Athletics Wayne Crawford.

Varsity and junior varsity awards will be presented, an honorary captain and most valuable player will be selected, and "Heads Up" trophy will go to the water poloist who earned the most "hustle" points.

Coach Al Irwin's powerful Anteaters closed out their second successful water polo season last week with a 7-6 victory over Cerritos College, and in doing so, finished with a 14-6 overall won-lost record.

The six losses came at the hands of the nation's top three collegiate water polo teams, UCLA, USC and Cal State Long Beach. UCI finished fourth in last year's national rankings behind those top three.

The 14 victories equalled the number of wins piled up by Irvine during the 1965 season, and included such victims as Cal State Los Angeles, Long Beach City College, Cal Poly Pomona, UC Santa Barbara, University of the Pacific, San Diego State, San Mateo, Orange Coast College, and Fullerton Junior College.

UCI placed second in the all-University of California championships at Berkeley behind UCLA and won the eight-team UC Santa Barbara West Coast Tourney.

Irwin labeled the '66 Anteaters as more experienced, defensively stronger and a better passing team than his 1965 water poloists.

The junior varsity compiled a record of 11 wins and two losses, losing only to Long Beach City College in its opening game and to the USC Frosh.

Varsity statistics revealed that freshman Ferdie Massamino, Fullerton; junior Bill Leach, Corona del Mar; freshman Steve Farmer, Newport Beach; and senior Dave Belknap, Fullerton, were the scoring leaders.

Massamino tallied 30 goals, Leach had 28, Farmer 23 and Belknap 22, including four in the final victory against Cerritos in what Irwin called Belknap's finest performance in four years of collegiate competition.

Best season shooting percentage among the regulars went to Farmer. He scored on 23 of 38 shots for a 60 per cent average. Massamino placed second best with a 54 per cent mark on 30 of 56 attempts.

As a team, UCI averaged 8 1/2 goals per game for a total of 170 in the 20-game schedule. Anteater opponents scored 116 goals for a 5.3 average.

"We're way ahead of last year's first game preparations."

Coach Danny Rogers, head basketball mentor at the University of California, Irvine was doing the talking as he tried to draw a bead on how ready his Anteaters are--and will be--for their 1966-67 season opener against powerful Nevada Southern.

That intercollegiate battle will take place in UCI's Campus Hall on December 1 as Irvine starts its 26-game schedule against Coach Rolland Todd's Wolves--one of three teams considered for a regional berth in the NCAA collegiate division playoffs last year.

UCI should be a considerably improved club this year with four lettermen, three junior college transfers and a flock of talented sophomores competing for starting positions.

"Competition--that's probably the big difference in our pre-season drills now versus last year," said Rogers. "We've got plenty of it at each position.

"This makes for a real good situation, and as a result, each player has been putting out considerably more to make the starting lineup."

Another obvious difference in the squad--other than the fact that UCI has more talent and depth this year--is their physical strength and condition.

Rogers credits much of this to the body building weight and exercise program his charges have been going through since the start of practice four weeks ago.
uci basketball

"We have devoted much more time to individual and team defensive drills, since we felt this was not one of our strong points last year," continued Rogers. "As a result, we are far ahead defensively."

This situation is necessary as he prepares the Anteaters for Nevada Southern and its "organized free lance" offense.

Rogers strongly intimated the offensive tactics will get plenty of attention from here on in to the season opener.

"One of the drawbacks in spending this much time on defense is the fact that our team offensive patterns and individual maneuvers haven't received much attention."

Standouts in drills have been leading scorer Dale Finney, a 6-3 forward from Santa Ana Junior College, and last year's most valuable player Mark Nelson, the husky 6-5 1/2 center from Glendale Junior College.

Finney appears to be in the best physical condition of his playing career and Nelson has dominated the backboards in scrimmages and game-type practice situations.

Two transfers from Mt. San Antonio JC also are in the running for starting assignments. They are Fred Kern, a 6-5 forward from Pomona, and Darrell Millner, a 5-11 guard from Monrovia.

Kern has been particularly effective as a rebounder and short range scorer. Millner continues to impress with his outstanding defensive alertness and quickness and improved outside shooting.

Letterman Eldon McBride, a 6-4 forward from Palmdale, and sophomores Mike Heckman, 6-6 1/2 center from Glendale; Charlie Brande, 5-11 guard from Orange; and Nick Sanden, 6-2 forward from Santa Ana, have been the other bright spots to this point.

Coach Al Irwin's powerful water polo team from the University of California, Irvine closes out its 1966 schedule against always tough Cerritos College Thursday (November 17) in the Falcon pool.

The Anteaters from UCI stretched their season's record to 13 wins and six losses after a hard-fought 6-5 win over San Diego State last week. A victory over Cerritos this week would equal the number of wins Irvine scored during its first water polo campaign in 1965.

Freshman forward Ferdie Massimino, from Fullerton, continues to lead the UCI scoring parade with 28 goals. He is followed closely by junior forward Bill Leach, Corona del Mar, with 27 goals and freshman forward Steve Farmer, Newport Beach, who has 23. Dave Belknap, senior from Fullerton, is the fourth best goal getter with 18.

Farmer leads this group of top scorers in shooting percentage, having hit on 23 of 38 shots for a 60 per cent average. Massimino's scoring percentage is 55, with 28 goals on 51 attempts. Leach is one notch under the 50 per cent mark on 27 goals in 55 tries.

Leading in assists are guards Jerry Kiel, former Cerritos athlete; Pat Glasgow, formerly of Orange Coast College; and Randy Howatt, also of OCC. All three are seniors and lettermen.

Irwin's 1966 squad continues to show more depth, better defense and improved team play. "This is a much stronger team than last year's," commented Irwin, "primarily because of experience."

Irwin singled out goalie Dave Kelly, an ex-Cerritos poloist and senior letterman, as probably the most improved player for UCI this year.
The top collegiate water polo teams in the nation are on the University of California, Irvine schedule this fall announced today by Wayne Crawford, director of athletics.

Rated number four in water polo after a 14-4 record in their first season, Coach Al Irwin's UCI Anteaters will take on the three teams ranked above them, UCLA, USC, and Cal State Long Beach.

"There is not an easy opponent on our 14-game varsity schedule" said Irwin, "but with no seniors on last year's squad and several fine swimmers coming up from the frosh, we should be improved." Irwin will be assisted this year by Ed Newland, former coach at Corona del Mar High School.

The Anteaters make their debut, September 28, at home against Fullerton J.C. in a night game and host the USC varsity and frosh the afternoon of September 30. UCI will also play at night in varsity and freshman games at home, October 6, against Long Beach City College and October 12, against Cal State, Long Beach.

The UCI freshman schedule opens September 24 at the Santa Ana College Tournament followed by 10 games. Steve Farmer, All-American swimmer from Newport Harbor High School, is expected to be a standout for the UCI frosh.

Athletes in five sports at the University of California, Irvine will receive recognition at the first annual spring sports awards banquet, Tuesday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the campus commons.

Coaches will present the awards to their respective teams at the banquet to which parents and their guests have been invited.

Coach Al Irwin's swimmers won 17 out of 18 varsity dual meets to lead the spring sports parade, followed by coach Ray Thornton's varsity tennis team which won 12 out of 15 dual matches.

The UCI sailing team under coach Dick Sweet finished fourth in Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Sailing competition.

UCI's freshman 8-oared crew won two out of three dual races, including a victory over the UCLA frosh, and captured the San Diego Regatta under the coaching of Duvall Hecht.

Coach Dan Rogers' golf team won its final match to escape a shutout for the season.

Wayne Crawford, director of athletics, will be the master of ceremonies.

During this first year the UCI Anteaters also competed in water polo, winning 14 out of 18 and in varsity basketball (15-11), and freshman basketball (19-5).
A fourth place finish in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Sailing Championships left the University of California, Irvine skippers and crews without a trophy today, but justified an optimistic outlook for next year.

UCI hosted the sailing event last weekend in Newport Bay which was won by Orange Coast College by a one-point margin over San Diego State. Cal State, Long Beach was third. Trophies were awarded for the first three finishes in the two-day competition.

On the bright side the young Anteaters in their first season outscored Stanford, USC and UC Santa Barbara who finished in that order behind UCI.

Coach Dick Sweet selected Skip Allan, skipper, and Marcia Lemon, crew, in class "A" and Bill Lilly, skipper, Connie McClougherty and Julie Roberts, crew in class "B".

The awards ceremony was held at the Balboa Bay Club.

Two consecutive victories will be the goal of the University of California, Irvine freshman eight-oared first boat Saturday (April 23) against the UCLA freshmen at Marina del Rey.

UCI second and third boats meet the UCLA second boat at 10 a.m. The first boats race will be at 10:30 a.m.

The UCI first frosh won their initial race last Saturday over San Diego State by two boat lengths in 6:41.5s. The Aztecs' reserves nipped the UCI 2nd and 3rd frosh boats in a preliminary race.

"The UCLA frosh crew will be as worthy an opponent as Orange Coast College to whom we lost April 2. It's a question of how much we have improved," said UCI coach Duval Hecht. The California Bears edged the Bruin yearlings by less than a boat length last week.

Larry Amling at bow and Dennis Ettlin at number seven oar were moved up to the first boat against San Diego State. Others in the UCI first boat were: Boris Buzan, coxswain; Peter Jungr, stroke; Richard Farrell, No. 6; Paul Ryan, No. 5; Walter Druff, No. 4; Mike Glassey, No. 3; Don Burns, No. 2.

UCI's second boat is composed of: Schuyler Bassett, coxswain; Ron Schwartz, stroke; Pat Skelly, No. 7; "Jingles" Kemp, No. 6; Burr Smith, No. 5; John Pinschmidt, No. 4; Doug Green, No. 3; Jeff Jarvis, No. 2; and Stuart Gibson, bow.

From Orange County the most direct route to Marina del Rey is via the San Diego Freeway to Jefferson Blvd. turnoff, west on Jefferson to Lincoln Blvd, north on Lincoln to Fiji Avenue (entrance to Marina del Rey), west on Fiji Avenue to dead end (restaurant parking lot). The boathouse is 150 yds. beyond the parking lot.

Undefeated on their new courts, the University of California, Irvine tennis players will attempt to reverse a loss to UC Riverside at home this week before entering the Ojai Valley Intercollegiate Tournament over the weekend.

Paced by Gayle Dukelow and Harvey Klyce who scored their sixth and seventh singles victories of the season, UCI downed Cal State, Fullerton, 7-2, and Chapman College, 6-3, last week in the first matches played on the recently completed courts at Irvine.

Coach Ray Thornton's UCI netters have captured six of nine dual match decisions. The Anteaters lost at UC Riverside, 5 1/2 to 2 1/2, in a previous meeting.

The Anteaters wind up the season with a match at Chapman College, April 26, and then host San Diego State, May 3, Cal Poly, Pomona, May 6, and Cal State, Fullerton, May 7. A postponed match with Santa Ana College will be rescheduled.

The University of California, Irvine freshman eight-oared crews are in their shells and working out by 5:30 a.m. each day during Easter week to beat the holiday boat traffic at Newport Beach and to prepare for their next race here April 16 against San Diego State.

Good performances by the UCI first and second freshman eights were not enough to overcome experienced crews from Orange Coast College, winners of both races in the UCI rowing debut last Saturday.

The OCC second frosh boat lost an early lead but put on a better sprint to win a close opening race of 2,000 meters in 6:48.5s. The OCC first freshman boat took a quick one length lead at the start and held it throughout to win in 6:36s.

Coach Duvall Hecht's UCI crews will host the San Diego State frosh on North Lido Channel, Saturday, April 16. Races are scheduled at 8:15 and 8:45 a.m.
The cement is dry, the fences and nets are in place and the University of California, Irvine tennis team is ready to make its debut on the new campus courts against Chapman College, Friday, April 15, at 2:30 p.m.

The Anteaters have won four of seven matches on the road, with Gayle Dukelow and Harvey Klyce each accounting for five singles victories and teaming for five doubles wins.

Dukelow is a freshman from La Mirada High School where he was Suburban League champion. Klyce was a standout at San Rafael High School and won the Marin County title.

Other singles threats against Chapman are Ray Sokolowski and Ron Bush, each with four wins.

UCI has a busy schedule at home, now that the courts are ready, meeting Santa Ana College, April 18, and UC Riverside, April 19, at 2:30 p.m., before competing in the Ojai Valley Intercollegiate Tournament, April 21.

The Anteaters are coached by Ray Thornton and his assistant, Myron McNamara.

Water sports at the University of California, Irvine received a boost today with the announcement that Edward H. Newland has been named assistant varsity coach and freshman coach of Anteaters water polo and swimming teams.

Newland, who is now coaching at Corona del Mar High School, will begin his new duties at UCI, September 1, according to Wayne Crawford, athletic director.

Newland has compiled an outstanding record at Newport Harbor High School and at Corona del Mar High School, which opened in 1962 and has won the league swimming crown every year. Last fall Newland coached Corona del Mar to the Southern California CIF championship in water polo.

At the new Irvine campus, Newland will assist coach Al Irwin, in the same capacity he filled when he and Irwin were coaching at Newport High School in 1955. Irwin moved to Orange Coast College in 1956 and Newland became head coach.

Newland earned his BA degree and teaching credential at Occidental College.

This is Coach Al Irwin's evaluation of the first swimming season just ended at the new campus of the University of California, Irvine.

The Anteaters' mentor may be guilty of an understatement. UCI's mermen won 17 dual meets and lost one, 55-40, to the University of Southern California, defending national champions.

In outscoring opponents 1243 to 467, UCI included Cal State, Long Beach; UC Santa Barbara and Cal State, L. A. on its victory list.

Bob Nealy, John Van Cleave, Pat Fergus and Dave Belknap combined to swim the 400 yd. freestyle relay in 3:15.3, fastest time in southern California this year.

John Van Cleave's times of 22 flat in the 50 yd. freestyle and 48 flat in the 100 yd. freestyle also are outstanding.

Coach Irwin's boys won the Gold Coast Invitational at Santa Barbara, took second in the All-University of California championships, and were third in the Pacific Coast relays.

In the first annual UCI diving invitational, Bob Wilhite was first and team mate Don Stewart was eighth to give the Anteaters the team title.

Because this is the first year of competition at UCI, all of the best times for the season became school records. Having been established during a single season by a team with no seniors, the marks are especially meaningful.

Appointment of Myron McNamara as tennis consultant during the current season and as tennis coach for the 1966-67 season at University of California, Irvine was announced today by Wayne Crawford, director of athletics.

McNamara will retain his post as managing tennis professional at the Irvine Coast Racquet Club.

McNamara attended North Hollywood High School and the University of Southern California, where he played on the tennis team. He was a member of the Junior Davis Cup team and became National Public Parks champion.

From 1956 to 1962, McNamara was associated with Jack Kramer as vice-president of World Tennis and Tennis Tournaments, Inc. During this time he was also director of the Knudsen Creamery Company's community youth program.

When the Los Angeles Athletic Club organized the Riviera Tennis Club in 1962, McNamara was named director. He accepted his present position with the Irvine Coast Racquet Club January 1.

The UCI tennis team is midway in its first season with four wins and three losses under coach Ray Thornton, a member of the physical education staff. The team will play its first match at home on newly completed courts, April 7, against Santa Ana College.

The best intercollegiate divers in southern California will compete Saturday (March 12) at 10 a.m. in the first annual diving championships at the University of California, Irvine.

The competitors will perform the championship list of 11 dives from the three-meter board. Individual and team trophies will be awarded.

Among the favorites are Dan Zenki, University of Southern California; Pat Lane, Citrus College; Rusty McCarthy, L. A. Valley College; Bill Mellinot, Pasadena City College; Burton Senior, Bakersfield College; Roger Piffath, Riverside College; and Bob Wilhite and Don Stewart of the host school, UC Irvine.

Other entrants include: Don McDermott, USC; Rick Ruiz, Orange Coast College; Bill Ready, Fullerton College; and Ken Boyd, Rhett Lewis, Joe Schreiner, and Bill Dawson, San Bernardino College.

Diving referee will be Ray Reyes of Mesa Verde Country Club. Judges will be former Olympians Dr. Sammy Lee and Mrs. Paula Jean Meyers Pope.

The first swim meet on the Irvine campus pits the strong Fullerton Junior College team against the UCI Anteaters this afternoon (Tuesday) at 3:30 p.m.

The Anteaters set four school records last Friday in defeating Cal State, L.A., 85-15: Bob Nealy, 200 yd. free style, 1:52; Bob Sharp, 200 yd. butterfly, 2:08.7; Dave Smith, 200 yd. backstroke, 2:12.7; and Pete Stys, 200 yd. breast stroke, 2:27.8.

The Anteaters, unbeaten in dual meet competition, meet Santa Ana College Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the Santa Ana pool.

Having won three straight games for the first time this year, the University of California, Irvine cagers will try to extend their win streak to four tonight (Tuesday) against Biola College in the UCI gym at 8:15. The frosh preliminary is at 6 p.m.

Forward Dale Finney set a new individual scoring high of 30 points as the Anteaters got revenge for a previous loss by downing Westmont College, 100-87, Saturday. Tom Bryan, guard, chipped in with 27 points.

After dropping a 102-47 decision to the unbeaten UCLA frosh the UCI yearlings bounced back to vanquish the Westmont freshmen, 105-55.

The UCI varsity team has a 12-9 season mark and the UCI frosh are 14-4.

The Irvine teams play at UC Riverside this Friday night and return home to meet Cal Tech Saturday night.

The University of California, Irvine tennis team travels to San Diego State and Santa Ana College this week for matches after finishing third in the All-University of California tourney at Santa Barbara over the weekend.

Gale Dukelow reached the singles quarter finals for UCI and teamed with Harvey Klyce to gain the doubles quarter finals.

The Anteaters play at San Diego State today (Tuesday) and at Santa Ana College Friday.

"Angels, Anteaters and Orange County" is the lively title chosen by Bob Reynolds, president of the California Angels for his talk at the Big I sports luncheon, Tuesday, February 8, at the Saddleback Inn in Santa Ana.

The luncheon, featuring big names in sports, including coaches and athletes from the University of California, Irvine, is the first of a series of sports gatherings to be sponsored by the Big I Boosters.

The reception at 11:30 a.m. and the luncheon at 12:30 are open to Big I members, guests and all friends of UCI, according to William B. "Brack" Hale, chairman.

Reynolds is expected to bring some of the Angel players with him and to give an up-to-the-minute report on the new Anaheim Stadium and the team's prospects for the coming year.

Wayne Crawford, director of athletics, will outline future athletic programs at UCI. Basketball coach Dan Rogers and water polo and swimming coach Al Irwin will introduce some of their outstanding athletes.

LECTURES ON COMPUTING

The Computer Facility is sponsoring a series of Lectures on Computing which will discuss various topics about computing and computing capabilities at UCI both present and planned. In addition, other topics relating to interesting computer applications and techniques will be covered.

These meetings will be held on consecutive Wednesday afternoons starting February 2, 1966 from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. They will be held in the Fine Arts building, Room 1265. The speakers will be arranged by personnel from UCI and IBM Systems Research and Development Centers in Los Angeles.

The presentations on computer equipment are not intended to be sales oriented but rather a description of a specific system either installed or considered for UCI.

The following is an outline of topics to be covered in the Lectures on Computing:

Feb. 2: UCI's 1410 Computing System

A functional description of the machine and its internal structure as well as the programming systems that support it. A brief introduction to "remote-processing" and a description of the ways in which UCI uses this computer.

Feb. 9: FORTRAN Technical Session (assumes basic knowledge of FORTRAN)

A discussion of FORTRAN for the 1410 and how it differs from FORTRAN II. Control card preparation and the means of FORTRAN job submission will be included.

Feb. 16: Western Data Processing Center

A discussion of the facilities available at WDFC and how to use them.

Other topics a part of this series will be:

IBM System/360
IBM System/360 Programming Support
Hybrid Computation
Simulation
A new sports schedule begins at the University of California, Irvine this week as the Anteaters' golfers meet Pomona College Friday afternoon at Irvine Coast Country Club.

The six-man UCI team has seven other matches scheduled during February against Cal Poly, Pomona at Rancho San Joaquin; Claremont-Mudd at Rancho San Joaquin; San Diego State, away; Cal State, Fullerton at Irvine Coast; Pepperdine, away; UC Santa Barbara, away; and UC Riverside, away.

Candidates for the UCI team are competing this week at Rancho San Joaquin under the direction of Wayne Crawford, director of athletics, who will coach until Dan Rogers takes over after the basketball season.

Injuries continue to plague the University of California, Irvine basketball players as they prepare for the opening game in the history of the new campus against UC Riverside on the UCI court Wednesday, December 1, at 8:15 p.m.

UCI begins a 26-game schedule with three clashes at home, taking on Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Friday, December 3, and Pomona College, Saturday, December 4. Freshman preliminaries are at 6 p.m.

Coach Dan Rogers still is optimistic his UCI cagers can make their debut a winning one, even though UC Riverside has a center, Carl Rodwell, who towers 6-8 1/2, and the UCI roster resembles a casualty list.

The three men who appear to have the inside track for starting positions in the UCI front line all are suffering from various miseries. Mark Nelson, 6-6, all-conference center from Glendale College, is recuperating from a sprained back. Eldon McBride, 6-4, all-conference forward from Antelope Valley College, has a sprained ankle. Dale Finney, 6-4, all-conference forward from Santa Ana College, is sidelined with foot blisters.

The situation at the guard spots is even worse. A knee injury makes a doubtful starter out of Jim Splittgerber, 5-10, all-conference guard from L.A. Harbor College. Bob Johnson, 6-4, all-conference guard from Cerritos College sustained a forehead gash in practice, and John Driscoll, 6-1, from Orange Coast is limping with an ankle sprain.

On the brighter side, all except Nelson at center and Splittgerber at guard are expected to be in top shape for the UC Riverside opener.

In good health and making strong bids for the honor of starting the first basketball game ever played by UCI are: forwards Jeff Bland, 6-3, Orange Coast and Bill Brockman, 6-0, Newport Harbor; and guards Skip Allan, 6-0, San Marino; Tom Bryan, 6-2, Costa Mesa; Bob Lund, 6-2, Glendale Hoover; and Scott McOwen, 6-3, San Jacinto.

Coach Dick Davis has a promising freshman squad headed by: Mike Heckman, 6-7, second team Foothill League from Glendale; Dave Fontius, 6-4, first team Freeway League from Newport Harbor; Nick Sanden, 6-2, first team Sunset League from Santa Ana; Shawn Clark, 6-3, first team Olympic League from St. John Bosco; Bill Carroll, 6-4, first team Angelus League from St. Paul; Don Messerschmitt, 6-2, first team Eastern League from South Gate; and Jim Farley, 6-2, second team Freeway League from Orange.

Coach Al Irwin's water polo varsity at University of California, Irvine will be favored to capture the six-team tournament they are hosting in the UCI pool Saturday, November 20.

Led by Bob Nealy and Dave Belknap with 30 goals apiece, UCI compiled a record of 12 wins and 4 losses in dual meets, capped by a 17-1 triumph over San Fernando Valley State.

Claremont and Cal Poly Pomona open the tournament at 9 a.m., followed by Cal Tech and Pomona at 10 a.m. UCI meets the winner of the first game and Redlands takes on the victor in the second contest.

The championship match is scheduled at 3 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Favorites to win the tournament they are hosting, the University of California, Irvine varsity water poloists made final preparations today for the invasion of five visiting schools Saturday, November 20.

No admission is being charged for the tournament which opens in the UCI pool at 9 a.m. with Claremont vs. Cal Poly Pomona, followed at 10 a.m. by Cal Tech vs. Pomona.

UCI plays the Claremont-Cal Poly Pomona winner at 11 a.m., Redlands meets the Cal Tech-Pomona victor at 12 noon.

The losers will play consolation games. The championship match is scheduled for 3 p.m. and the consolation title game at 4 p.m.
Surprising interest in freshman water polo at the University of California, Irvine has prompted coach Al Irwin to organize a squad and arrange a schedule of games.

The UCI frosh will make their debut at home against the UC Riverside, Tuesday, October 19, at 4 p.m. The schedule, still being expanded, includes Claremont, Riverside City College, Santa Ana College, and San Bernardino College.

Others on the roster are: John Adsit, Crescenta Valley, Vance Blaisdell, Buena Park; Lloyd Charlton, Garden Grove; Steve Cohee, Santa Ana; Dave Follett, Corona; Rick Frost, Laguna Beach; Jim McCuistion, Newport Harbor; Jeff Nueroth, Garden Grove; Paul Poznanter, Anaheim; Bob Sharp, Buena Park; Dave Smith, Newport Harbor; Mike Turnbull, South Gate; George Witt, Warren of Downey; John Stringfellow, Garden Grove.

Coach Al Irwin's water polo squad took to the water this week in the swim pool at University of California, Irvine in preparation for the first intercollegiate athletic competition in the history of the new campus.

Classes begin on Monday, October 4, and Irwin must have his varsity squad ready for the opening contest against Cal Poly, Pomona in the home pool on Friday, October 8, at 4 p.m.

Several UCI workouts have been held in the Corona del Mar High School pool. A 15-man squad greeted Irwin, including four All-American junior college swimmers and the athlete of the year from Fullerton Junior College, Dave Belknap, forward.

The All-Americans are Pat Glasgow, guard, and Bill Leach, forward, from Orange Coast College; Bob Nealy, forward, from Fullerton Junior College; and John Van Cleave, guard, from Cerritos Junior College.

A turnout of 16 freshman candidates has prompted Irwin to arrange an informal schedule of frosh games. Bob Wilhite, CIF diving champion from Costa Mesa High School, heads the first year players roster.

The 15-game varsity water polo schedule includes contests against UCLA, UC Berkeley and UC Santa Barbara in the All-University tournament at UCLA on November 20.

Long Beach State College, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, and Foothill College also are expected to provide outstanding competition for UCI.

University of California, Irvine added to its coaching staff today with the appointment of Robert M. Allan, Jr., as coordinator of the UCI sailing program.

Allan, president of Cyprus Mines Corporation, is volunteering his services to the new UCI campus which has frontage on Upper Newport Bay.

Allan is a member of the United States Olympic Yachting Committee. He was one of the founders of the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association while attending Stanford University 25 years ago.

A champion dinghy and ocean racing skipper, Allan is staff commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

In announcing the appointment, Wayne Crawford, UCI athletic director, said that Allan is planning varsity sailing in national competition, a recreational sailing club, and physical education class instruction.

Allan's son, Skip, a national sailing champion in the Star class, is transferring from Stanford University to UCI this fall as a junior.

Roger Wagner, founder and director of the universally renowned Roger Wagner Chorale, will join the fine arts staff at University of California, Irvine as director of the university chorus, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr. announced today.

Wagner becomes one of several outstanding performers and artists on the fine arts faculty.

"The division of fine arts wishes to provide a program which combines the best of a liberal and professional education, each complementing the other. The objective of the program is to produce literate artists who are responsive to intellectual stimuli and who are committed to rigorous standards of professional involvement," said Dean Clayton Garrison.

Roger Wagner has conducted throughout the world, appearing in major European cities. This winter, in addition to his regular tour throughout the United States, he will conduct a special tour through Russia.

Dean Garrison announced two other appointments to the fine arts faculty, Maurice Allard and Tony DeLap.

Allard, concert baritone and faculty member at Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School, will work closely with Roger Wagner as assistant conductor of the university chorus. Allard has conducted the Chamber Singers at USC and serves as conductor of the summer concert series at Claremont Graduate School. He will assume his duties at Irvine upon returning from a six-week concert tour of Europe this summer.

DeLap is joining UCI's department of art as an assistant professor. He is a former commissioner of art in San Francisco and faculty member at the Davis campus of the University of California. DeLap's works have been exhibited recently in the "Responsive Eye" exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art and in the "Contemporary American Art" exhibit at the Whitney Museum in New York.
A long-awaited publication rolled off the presses this week -- the first catalog for the new campus of the University of California, Irvine.

Destined to be of future historical value, the 112-page illustrated volume for charter students contains a full description of UCI's academic program for 1965-66. Included in the catalog is information regarding members of the faculty, admission requirements, fees and expenses.

"Material contained in this 'first edition' represents the combined effort of a group of experienced scholars coming to UCI from many institutions of learning," Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr. said. "When permanent buildings were still on the drawing boards the faculty began to evolve a program with a fresh approach to learning while maintaining the quality and comprehensiveness which mark the University of California.

"These planners had, and will continue to have, an exciting responsibility as faculty and students develop new programs and explore new approaches and techniques for learning."

During UCI's initial year, instruction in the basic disciplines will be provided by the College of Arts, Letters and Science and by the Graduate Division. The first two professional schools will be the School of Engineering, beginning instruction this fall, and the Graduate School of Administration, which will offer a program in 1966-67.

The College contains five divisions: biological sciences, fine arts, humanities, physical sciences and social sciences. Goals of the divisions and departments are outlined in the catalog, along with degree requirements.

Dr. Clayton Garrison, dean of the division of fine arts, supervised production of the catalog. It was edited by Dr. Hazard Adams, chairman of the department of English at Irvine, and designed by Joseph Krause, art consultant.

Mailing of the catalogs and registration material will begin within the next few days to students who have been admitted for the 1965-66 academic year and have paid their advance deposit, according to Lyle C. Gainsley, registrar and admissions officer.

Others may obtain catalogs from the Office of Admissions for a nominal fee (50 cents).
Formation of the Big I Boosters to support the intercollegiate athletic program at the University of California, Irvine was announced today.

Twenty-six prominent Orange County residents comprise the board of directors, which includes several former athletes whose achievements made sports history.

The Big I Boosters will be similar to the Trojan Club at USC and the Sportsmen of the South at UCLA.

A membership drive is under way. Membership privileges include season tickets to all UCI home athletic contests and participation in meetings and other activities involving UCI's coaching staff and athletes, according to Richard L. Stevens, president of the Big I. Stevens may be addressed at P. O. Box 93, Irvine, California.

Among the former athletes on the board are football greats Marshall Duffield of USC and Clipper Smith of Notre Dame, and basketballer George Yardley of Stanford and the Philadelphia Warriors.

Other officers of the Big I are William B. Hale, vice president; Paul P. Marx, secretary; and Thomas A. Moss, treasurer.

During the first year of 1965-66, UCI will compete in basketball, crew, sailing, swimming, water polo, tennis and golf.

The Atomic Energy Commission has awarded a $77,000 contract to scientists at the University of California, Irvine for research on high energy, radioactive chemical reactions.

Dr. F. S. Rowland, chairman of the chemistry department, is principal investigator. The research is an extension of work he initiated while he was professor of chemistry at the University of Kansas.

Dr. Rowland will be assisted by two associates, Dr. George Miller of Oxford University and Dr. Yi Noo Tang, and a group of six graduate students who formerly worked with Dr. Rowland at Kansas.

The research will involve reactions of isolated atoms formed in atomic reactors with energies equivalent to temperatures of 100,000 degrees centigrade -- many times hotter than the surface of the sun.

Radioactive materials will be manufactured in reactors at General Atomic Corporation at San Diego, and returned to the campus, pending plans to locate a research reactor at UCI.

Dr. Rowland said that the study of high energy chemical reactions is pertinent to cosmic radiation, and to reactions occurring in rocket fuels and rocket reentry problems.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr., who once proclaimed he would "raise the Jolly Roger" to obtain the best possible faculty for launching the new University of California, Irvine, today released details of what he called "a remarkable achievement in recruiting."

The faculty which this fall will greet the first students on the Irvine campus numbers 114. Each was chosen for his ability and interest in both teaching and research and for the vision to create an academic program free from traditional restrictions.

The common denominator of UCI's faculty is its youth. Although ages range from 23 to 71, the average age is 37. The academicians have impressive records in their respective fields, and an aggregate of 81 doctorates. Eighteen others expect to complete their doctorates by the time school opens in the fall.

There are 26 professors, 15 associate professors, 41 assistant professors, 15 acting assistant professors and 17 other staff members. Seven of the faculty are women, including four assistant professors.

Recruiting ranged from coast to coast and overseas. Represented at Irvine are five UC campuses, 42 other major colleges and universities including five from abroad, several research institutes and private industry.

A glance at the UCI roster indicates its faculty's varied interests and backgrounds. There is, for instance, a violinist who conducted the Bombay Symphony, a librarian who was an advisor in Pakistan, a social scientist who addressed NATO leaders in Paris on the theoretical problems of command, a political scientist who was European representative for the Roper Public Opinion Research Center, a choreographer noted for his work on Broadway and in Hollywood, a physicist who is an authority on zero temperature phenomena.

"The basis for building a quality faculty is to attract top people to the key positions," Chancellor Aldrich said. "They, in turn, attract outstanding people to their staffs. This is the approach we have used successfully at Irvine."

Heading the faculty is Dr. J. W. Peltason, vice chancellor of academic affairs, who was dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Illinois. He earned his PhD at Princeton and is the author of several books on the American judicial system.

Dr. Ralph W. Gerard is dean of the UCI Graduate Division. He is an MD, a PhD and a member of the National Academy of Sciences. He was with the University of Chicago for 37 years and is internationally recognized for his research on the nervous system.

Dr. Richard C. Snyder, dean of the Graduate School of Administration, was chairman of the department of political science at Northwestern University and a director of the graduate training program in international relations.

Professor Robert M. Saunders is dean of the School of Engineering. A registered professional engineer with the State of California, he formerly taught at UC Berkeley and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In the College of Arts, Letters and Science the deans are:

Dr. Samuel C. McCulloch, humanities, a native of Australia, former dean of the College at San Francisco State; Dr. Clayton Garrison, fine arts, a successful choreographer and director, who was chairman of the department of drama and vice chairman of the division of humanities at UC, Riverside; Dr. James G. March, social sciences, an expert on organizations and decision-making, formerly professor of industrial administration and psychology at Carnegie Institute of Technology; and Dr. Edward A. Steinhaus, biological sciences, a noted invertebrate pathologist presently working on a $750,000 research grant from the U.S. Public Health Service, who was professor of invertebrate pathology and chairman of the division at UC, Berkeley.

Although the dean of the division of physical sciences has not yet been appointed, department heads have been named for mathematics, physics and chemistry.
Bids will be sought this week on a project at the University of California, Irvine to convert various unfinished areas of the natural science building to offices and laboratories.

Construction documents will be issued to prospective bidders on Thursday, June 17, starting at 10 a.m.

Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. June 30, in the UC Irvine Interim Office.

Estimated cost for the project is $220,000.

Monotonous tasks often cause people to pay less and less attention to what they are doing and may result in automobile accidents, guards falling asleep on duty and costly mistakes on assembly lines.

Such a loss of attention is related to the process of "habituation," that is loss of responsiveness to unchanging aspects of the environment.

Dr. Norman M. Weinberger of the Department of Psychobiology at University of California, Irvine will seek to learn what brain mechanisms underly habituation. He has been named principal investigator under a three-year, $54,917 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service for research on "The Neurophysiology of Behavioral Habituation."

Presenting various auditory stimuli to cats, Dr. Weinberger will investigate the electrical activity of the brain when the animal is first alerted, and changes in brain activity as the cat becomes accustomed to the event.

An additional study will be made of the brain activity of cats repeatedly interrupted by the same factor while pursuing a task. The experiments will also be extended to lower vertebrates such as amphibians and reptiles to study habituation on animals lower on the evolutionary scale and with less complex brains.

Two professors in the division of biological sciences at the University of California, Irvine have been named as members of the scientific advisory committee to the Marine Science Research Center at Santa Catalina Island.

They are: Dr. Grover C. Stephens, chairman of the UCI department of organismic biology, and Dr. Arthur S. Boughey, chairman of the department of population and environmental biology.

The appointments were announced by the University of Southern California, which through its Allan Hancock Foundation has assumed prime responsibility for planning, developing and operating the center.

Six other colleges and universities in southern California have appointed members to the advisory committee which will counsel on teaching and research at the center.

A marine biology laboratory is scheduled for completion in 1966 as the first unit of the center. The $2 million project is supported by a $500,000 National Science Foundation grant, matching funds by USC, and contributions of utility and site development valued at about $1 million by the Santa Catalina Island Company and the Southern California Edison Company.

The center will provide facilities for graduate education and research and is expected to accommodate interests of industry and government in marine sciences and engineering.

Three faculty appointments in the division of biological sciences at University of California, Irvine were announced today by UC President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

Named to the department of population and environmental biology were Dr. Robert H. Whittaker, professor, and Dr. Gilbert W. Bane, Jr., assistant professor. Dr. Donald R. Kaplan was appointed assistant professor in the department of organismic biology.

Dr. Whittaker comes to UCI from Brooklyn College of the City University of New York. For the past year he also has been with Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, studying the effects of radiation on pine-oak woodland. He received his BA from Washburn Municipal University in Topeka, Kansas, and after receiving his PhD from University of Illinois, taught at Washington State University, and was senior scientist at the biological research laboratory of General Electric's Hanford Works in Richland, Washington.

A graduate of San Jose State College, Dr. Bane received his MS and PhD degrees from Cornell University and has been associated with the Institute of Marine Biology at University of Puerto Rico since 1963. Dr. Kaplan was graduated from Northwestern University and comes to Irvine from UC Berkeley.

New concepts of individual student instruction will be developed in the social sciences at the new Irvine campus of the University of California under a $96,500 research and development grant announced today by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The program will be conducted at UCI by James G. March, professor of psychology and sociology; Julian Feldman, associate professor of psychology and economics; and Fred M. Tonge, associate professor of administration.

Professor March said one of UC Irvine's major academic goals is to develop student responsibility for a substantial amount of independent study on the undergraduate level and to provide the means for such study.

"We hope by this means to provide more time for professors to enter meaningful discussions and interactions with small groups of students," he said.

A wide variety of self-instructional media, including computer assisted programmed instruction, will be used to supplement conventional instruction in the social sciences and to enable individual students to progress at their own rate of learning.

One immediate application of the techniques under development will be an intensive program in mathematics and statistics for students transferring to the UC Irvine division of social sciences as juniors from other colleges.
IRVINE, CALIF. -- U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel returned to his native Orange County yesterday (Sunday, June 6) to present a major gift from his family to the library of the University of California, Irvine.

Senator Kuchel visited the 1510-acre campus near his birthplace 35 miles south of Los Angeles. He inspected the library and seven other major buildings nearing completion for the opening next September with 1500 students and a faculty of 120.

Speaking at a reception for 600 members of Friends of the UCI Library, Senator Kuchel announced the establishment of a "Kuchel Family Collection" with the gift of the 90-year back files of the Anaheim Gazette from 1870 to 1960, totaling 4,426 issues.

The Gazette, oldest newspaper in Orange County, was edited for 48 years by Senator Kuchel's late father, Henry Kuchel, who began his newspaper career on the Los Angeles Times, San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco Examiner before buying the Gazette in 1887.

In accepting the gift to the UC Irvine campus, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., commented: "A special debt of gratitude is due the Kuchel family for providing researchers this unique, unbroken historical record of life and growth of the area."

The back files will be available to historians on microfilm. Some portion of the collection will be displayed in the library with a plaque listing the Kuchel family names as donors, John E. Smith, University Librarian, announced.

A "rare" book presented to Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., of the University of California, Irvine by Friends of the UCI Library this week contained an unusual bookmark -- a check for $10,000.

The gift from charter members of the Friends of the Library will be used primarily for the purchase of a special collection of books, according to John E. Smith, UCI librarian.

A reception for charter members, now numbering over 600, will be held Sunday, June 6, at 3 p.m., at Irvine Coast Country Club, president B. N. Desenberg announced.

Mrs. Laurence K. Reynolds and Mrs. Frank J. Waters head the arrangements committee.
Dr. Clayton Garrison, dean of the division of fine arts at University of California, Irvine, has been advanced from associate professor to professor of drama, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

A member of the Irvine faculty since July 1964, Dr. Garrison was formerly at the UC Riverside campus. He also taught and directed dramatic productions at Palos Verdes College, California State College at Long Beach and UC Berkeley. He received his BA and MA degrees from the University of Southern California and his PhD at Stanford.

For the past two years Dr. Garrison has directed the planning of fine arts facilities and the recruiting of a staff which now includes John Coplans in art, Mehli Mehta and Colin Slim in music, Robert Cohen and Richard Triplett in drama and Eugene Loring in dance.

David Isaacs, who recently completed PhD studies at UCLA, has been appointed assistant professor of electrical engineering at the University of California, Irvine, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

A mechanical engineering graduate of Case Institute of Technology in Ohio, Dr. Isaacs received his MS from the University of Notre Dame. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, the Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, the Society of Industrial and Applied Mathematics and the Society of Sigma Xi.

Before starting his doctoral studies, Dr. Isaacs was a control systems engineer with the Marquardt Corporation and a design engineer for Waukesha Tool Company, Bendix Aviation Corporation and General Electric Company's Gas Turbine Division. During two summers of his doctoral studies he did research on guidance and control systems for the Douglas Aircraft Company. This summer he will be associated with the Autonetics Division, North American Aviation Corporation.

"Systems management technology is an important part of Orange County industry," said Professor Robert M. Saunders, assistant to the Chancellor for engineering. "Both students and the community will benefit from Dr. Isaacs' membership on the initial Irvine faculty through his broad experience in systems research and applications."
Two grants from the National Science Foundation totaling $15,100 to broaden the course of scientific study on the new campus were announced today by the University of California, Irvine.

Awarded to the departments of psychobiology and mathematics for the purchase of undergraduate instructional equipment, the grants will be matched with equal amounts by the University.

Project directors are Dr. James L. McGaugh, associate professor and chairman of the department of psychobiology, who will receive $10,000, and Dr. Bernard R. Gelbaum, professor and chairman of the department of mathematics, who will receive $5,100.

"Equipment acquired for the psychobiology department will permit the development of a unique program of undergraduate training in research techniques and procedures," Dr. McGaugh said. "Typically, such a program is available only to graduate students. Now advanced undergraduates interested in the neurophysiological bases of behavior will be taught the use of stimulators, electrophysiological recorders and other types of animal testing apparatus currently used in research laboratories."

The mathematics funds will be used to acquire a library of highly specialized journals and publications in microform, Dr. Gelbaum said. He pointed out that a "microlibrary" will make an enormous array of historically interesting and inspiring mathematical material readily available to students and can be located within the physical confines of the department.

The appointment of Dr. Martin M. Shapiro of Stanford University as associate professor of political science at University of California, Irvine was announced today by UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

Named as assistant professors in the division of social sciences, headed by Dean James G. March, were Isabel M. Birnbaum, psychology, who comes to UCI from the Institute of Human Learning at UC Berkeley; Howard L. Rosenthal, political science, a post-doctoral fellow in the Foreign Area Training Program and European representative of the Roper Public Opinion Research Center; and Myron L. Braunstein, psychology. Dr. Braunstein was originally trained as a mathematical psychologist and is presently with the Flight Safety Foundation in Phoenix, Ariz. He also has done research at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory and the University of Michigan.

New acting assistant professors are: John C. Weicher, economics, from University of Chicago; Joe T. Hart, Jr., psychology, from Stanford University; Ingeborg Powell, sociology, from UC Santa Barbara; Karl B. Radov, economics, from De Paul University; and Barbara K. Foley, sociology, from Stanford University.

The appointments are effective July 1.

Dr. Shapiro has been assistant professor of political science at Stanford since 1962. Previously he was an instructor at Harvard University, where he received his PhD. A graduate of UCLA, he is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Sigma Alpha, Phi Eta Sigma and the American Political Science Association.

A University of California, Irvine construction budget of $14.9 million for 1966-67 and the appointments of three architectural firms to design three new buildings have been approved by the Board of Regents, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

Included in the construction scheduled to begin at UCI in mid-1966 for completion in early 1968 are physical sciences unit I, $7.8 million, residential apartment unit III, $1.7 million; residential cottages unit III, $1.7 million, student health center unit I, $690,000 and headhouse and greenhouse unit I, $242,000.

Also approved in the UCI 1966-67 budget was $1.4 million for utilities and site development and for working drawings for the three buildings on which construction is scheduled to begin in mid-1967 for completion in early 1969. These construction funds will be budgeted in 1967-68.

The three new structures and the Los Angeles architects appointed to design them are: engineering unit I, Kistner Wright and Wright; fine arts unit I, W. L. Pereira and Associates; library unit II, A. Quincy Jones-Frederick E. Emmons and Associates.

Of the $14.9 construction budget for Irvine in 1966-67, the Regents earmarked $8.8 million from state funds, $4.4 million from loan funds, and $1.7 million from other sources.

Work is nearing completion on eight major structures and 10 residence cottages on the 1510-acre Irvine campus in Orange County, which will open in September with an estimated 1,500 students.

Site development has begun for physical sciences unit I which will house the physics and chemistry departments permanently and the mathematics department for an interim period. Kenneth S. Wing, Long Beach, is the executive architect.
Dean Samuel C. McCulloch of the division of humanities at University of California, Irvine will welcome 13 new members to his faculty, bringing his total staff to 30. The academic appointments, effective July 1, were announced this week by UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

Named as professor of English was Dr. Donald W. Heiney, who comes to Irvine from the University of Utah. A specialist in comparative literature, he received his BA from University of Redlands, his MA and PhD from University of Southern California.

Dr. John F. Adams and Dr. Harvey S. Gross, both from the University of Denver, were appointed associate professors of English, while Dr. Juan Villegas of Santiago, Chile, was named acting associate professor of Spanish. Since his arrival in the U.S. in 1963, Dr. Villegas has served on the faculties of Wabash College and University of Iowa.

Also announced were the appointments of Howard A. Appel, French; Daniel C. Dennett, philosophy; Paul Frizler, English; Richard O. W. Goertz, Spanish; John W. Huddleston, English; Vera T. Reck, foreign languages; Lucien A. Rico, French; Stanley W. Soderstrom, philosophy; and Otto Maurice Sorenson, German.
Three television networks - including one from West Germany - currently are producing documentary programs which tell the story of the University of California, Irvine.

ARD, one of two major networks in West Germany, has completed filming scenes of the UCI campus and a statement by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., for inclusion in a 45-minute documentary on higher education in America.

KNBC-TV is producing a full documentary on UCI, from its inception, to be broadcast about the time the new campus opens in September.

KNXT is producing a documentary on the statewide University of California which will include scenes of the Irvine campus and a statement by Chancellor Aldrich. Broadcast date is to be announced.
Shawn Company of Placentia, Orange County, has been awarded a $292,560 contract for landscaping at the University of California, Irvine, L. E. Cox, vice chancellor-business and finance, announced today. The firm was one of four bidders.

Cox said the contract provides for landscaping of about 20.2 acres of the 1,510-acre campus, including 12.2 acres at the gateway entrance and around the buildings, and eight acres of the central campus park.

The plans call for planting of approximately 1,300 trees, numerous shrubs and ground covers, including many flowering varieties, lawns, grading, and construction of walks, drains, irrigation system and outdoor lighting. All landscaping will be in keeping with the natural terrain and climate, Cox said.

Associated Landscape Architects, C. Jacques Hahn & J. Charles Hoffman of Sierra Madre, Robert Herrick Carter and Associates of Los Angeles, and Frederick U. Lang of South Laguna, are the landscape designers.

Nearly one-third of the "healthy" adult population is suspect, at some level, of neurosis or psychosis, Dr. Ralph W. Gerard, dean of the graduate division at University of California, Irvine told the Orange County Mental Health Association yesterday (Thursday).

"Even though mental illness was recognized and treated by Egyptian, Babylonian and Greek physicians long before the birth of Christ, its extensiveness has been recognized only recently," he said.

Psychiatry has made tremendous strides during the last half century, Dr. Gerard, guest speaker for Mental Health Week, informed his audience at Orange County Hospital.

"Earlier this century, attention was directed more toward the mental aspects, but researchers now are also intensely exploring the biological side. Both are involved in mental illness and must be understood for effective therapy," he said.

"All behavior depends on the structure of the brain. Tests have proven that even in learning, distinct changes take place at the cellular and molecular levels," Dr. Gerard explained. "Similar changes occur in mental illness. That is why certain drugs prove effective in therapy—they change the chemistry of the neural apparatus."

"Often the return to normalcy is of short duration. When this occurs, we know the nerves themselves have not been irreversibly damaged, but the brain probably has." Dr. Gerard, one of the country's foremost authorities on the brain and nervous system, holds both an M.D. and a PhD as well as numerous honorary degrees.

"Early diagnosis and treatment can often alleviate serious mental illness," Dr. Gerard stated, "but many unknown factors still must be discovered. Especially, each kind of mental disease must be identified so there is not a 'shotgun' or 'hash' approach.

"While many people blanch at the high cost of research, it is small compared to the money spent for mental hospitals in which thousands of people spend all or part of their lives," he pointed out.

"Research has already shown that mental retardation can be avoided in certain hereditary diseases if proper diagnosis is made during the first few days of an infant's life. Studies have also shown that infants with certain chemical or hormone imbalances cannot tolerate specific drugs, often administered routinely in hospitals.

"These discoveries are but steppingstones toward knowledge of 'what makes a schizophrenic' or causes bizarre behavior," Dr. Gerard said. "Until more investigation is done and the public is aware that much mental illness can be prevented, we will have waiting lists at our mental hospitals."
Appointment of Dr. Richard N. Baisden as director of University of California Extension at the new Irvine campus was announced today by UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr. and Dean Paul H. Sheats of UC Extension.

Dr. Baisden will have responsibility for all UC Extension programs in Orange County, now the site of the third largest Extension service in Southern California. Among the most diversified in the state, programs range from traditional classes to lecture series, conferences, seminars and lecture-discussion and discussion groups.

Dr. Baisden received his PhD degree in political science from the University of Chicago and served early in his career as consultant to the New Jersey State Constitutional Convention. He is author of the book "Charter for New Jersey," various publications on health insurance and is co-editor of "California's Future Economic Growth."

No stranger to Orange County, Dr. Baisden for 10 years supervised the Extension programs in this area emanating from UCLA. He has been with UC Extension 11 years, serving as assistant and associate director for Southern California and, since February, 1964, as associate dean for statewide program development.

Earlier positions included a research assignment in political science at Occidental College.

Dr. Baisden resides with his family in Lemon Heights.
The second annual All-University of California Alumni picnic will be held Sunday, May 16, from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the UC Irvine interim office grounds, San Joaquin Road at Campus Drive, one mile east of the Orange County Airport.

Walter E. Smith, president of the California Alumni Club of Orange County, said alumni of all campuses of the University and their families are invited to bring a lunch and participate. Soft drinks will be furnished.

Mrs. Herbert Wheeler, 236 Goldenrod, Corona del Mar, is picnic chairman.

UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., members of the faculty and staff of the new University campus will attend. Danny Rogers, UCI basketball coach, will organize games for children.

A feature of the event will be the opportunity to visit the central campus area and view the buildings and facilities which are under construction for opening this fall.
April 30, 1965

Dr. Richard C. Snyder, chairman of the department of political science at Northwestern University, will become dean of the graduate school of administration at the University of California, Irvine.

Announcement of the appointment, effective July 1, was made today by UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

The graduate school of administration is one of two professional schools which will be established when UCI opens this fall. The other will be the school of engineering. Combining the various fields in a core study of administration, the school will offer master's and doctoral programs, with specialization in areas of business, public and educational administration.

Professor Snyder is an authority in the theory of decision making and holds the Benjamin Franklin professorship in that discipline at Northwestern. He has held fellowships at the Center for Advanced Study and the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute.

He received the AB degree in social science and government at Union College, New York, and the MA and PhD degrees in public law and government at Columbia University.

He has taught at the American University in Washington, DC, Columbia, and Princeton University.

OAKLAND, Calif. -- Time and opportunity for preserving undeveloped land for parks is quickly slipping away in most California urban centers, Dr. Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., warned here today.

Speaking to a civic luncheon honoring the 30th anniversary of the East Bay Regional Park District, Dr. Aldrich pointed out that the state's growing population, combined with an increase of leisure time for the average family, is outstripping efforts by most urban centers to provide parks.

He praised the East Bay Regional Park District as a notable exception. Bay Area leaders, he said, had the foresight to begin 30 years ago to establish a string of regional parks which are providing easy access to outdoor recreational opportunities for the population of the Bay Area.

Former statewide dean of agriculture for the University of California and now chancellor of the University's new Irvine campus in Orange County, Dr. Aldrich said he has become aware that urban development not only is taking agriculture's best land, but also is failing to provide sufficient "open space" for people.

"Man has displayed in California -- more perhaps than anywhere else -- his infinite capacity to mess up his environment."

"The scars on our surroundings are readily apparent -- and we have well financed agencies, both public and private, still making them. The bulldozer, the tract, the concrete freeway, and the asphalt parking lot have become symbols of development," he said.

"While our cities are growing, so apparently is our desire to get out of them," Dr. Aldrich observed. He noted that population and leisure time both are growing at about the same rate, roughly 2 per cent a year, while (more) statistics measuring outdoor recreation time show it has been increasing by nearer 10 per cent a year.

"Californians have long been used to ample space and overwhelming scenic beauty. It comes as something of a shock that the time and opportunity for preserving 'undeveloped' land is slipping away.

"But it is growing clearer," Dr. Aldrich asserted, "that the environment where people thrive must offer more than ample food, clothing, and shelter. Man's spiritual comfort demands privacy and solitude at times, and a touch of the nature from which man came."

Appointment of Richard E. Figley, former U. S. Marine Corps colonel, as superintendent of buildings and grounds at University of California, Irvine was announced this week by L. E. Cox, vice chancellor—business and finance.

Figley received a mechanical engineering degree from Ohio State University and an MA in business from George Washington University.

A Marine Corps aviator since 1937, Figley received the George Washington honor medal of the Freedom Foundation and the distinguished service award of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. Elected to Tau Beta Phi, national honorary engineering society, he is also a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the Marine Corps Association.

While the new Irvine campus of the University of California still is in preparation for opening to its first students this fall, teams of post-doctorate biologists already are at work under the leadership of UCI professors on research which may lead to advances in science and medicine.

Their work is under the auspices of a series of federal research grants totaling $878,172. Due to UCI's proximity to the sea, much of the research is being carried out through experiments with marine animals.

Dr. Edward A. Steinhaus, eminent invertebrate pathologist and dean of the division of biological sciences, is principal investigator for a U.S. Public Health grant, totalling $750,000 over five years and dealing with diseases and abnormalities of invertebrates -- animals without backbones.

"Tumors in a clam or insect may seem unimportant to the layman, but to the scientist seeking the cause and prevention of tumors in man, the study of a similar disease in a lower animal may provide an important clue," Dr. Steinhaus said.

Post-doctorate researchers working in association with him are
Dr. Phyllis T. Johnson, Dr. John C. Harshbarger and Dr. Ronald L. Taylor.

Dr. Grover C. Stephens, chairman of the department of organismic biology.
His two-year U.S. Public Health Service grant of $40,000 is for the investigation of certain marine animals and their means of utilizing as food basic organic materials found in sea water.

He is assisted by Dr. Raghunath A. Virkar, a native of Bombay, India.
Dr. John J. Holland, chairman of the department of molecular and cell biology, is at work under a two-year, National Science Foundation grant of $50,000 to investigate virus infections of mammalian cells. He is assisted by Dr. Clayton Buck and Dr. Terry C. Johnson.

A fourth professor already at work on important research is Dr. James L. McGaugh, chairman of the department of psychobiology. His $38,172 U.S. Public Health Service grant is for the study of brain functions. He plans to engage a post-doctorate research assistant in the near future.

Dr. Steinhaus pointed out the importance of the research projects, not only to the advancement of science, but also to the advancement of education.

"These young men and women are continuing their education by applying knowledge they gained while earning advanced degrees. Their experience here in the research laboratories can be expected to qualify them as leaders and educators at the university level.

"By this means, Irvine -- while not yet officially open to students-- already is in process of training men and women for one of today's most sought-after professions -- university professors," Dean Steinhaus said.

Robert W. Heavey, former United States Foreign Service officer, has been appointed as chief security officer for the University of California, Irvine, effective May 3, L. E. Cox, vice chancellor—business and finance, announced today.

Heavey will be in charge of the campus police force and will establish cooperative policies with city and county law enforcement agencies.

During his 16 years with the foreign service, Heavey served as a regional security officer, organized and directed the only fire department in Seoul, Korea, directed security at 17 foreign service posts in Europe, and headed the administration and security forces of the United States Embassy in Leopoldville, Congo Republic.

He is a graduate of UC Berkeley with a degree in criminology.
Off-campus rentals within commuting distance of the University of California, Irvine are needed for listing by the University's newly formed housing office.

Apartments and houses are desired by many faculty members due to arrive in July. Rentals will be needed in September for married students and single students not living at home or in the residence cottages currently under construction on the campus.

We hope to have accommodations in all price ranges, said Mrs. Ellene J. Sumner, director of UCI's housing and food services. Listing in the housing office is provided without charge to either landlord or tenant, although facilities must meet minimum standards established by The Regents and the housing office.

Lighting, ventilating, heating, sanitation, fire protection and safety equipment must comply with city and state requirements.

The University respects the right of landlords to select their tenants from among those students and faculty who apply. However, no listings may be accepted which are restricted because of race, religion or national origin. This is in keeping with the University's general nondiscrimination policy, Mrs. Sumner said.

A detailed list of minimum standards for student rooms and apartments, together with applications for listing with the UCI Housing Office, may be obtained by calling 546-1500, Ext. 59, or writing the Housing Office, University of California, Irvine.

Two Santa Ana architectural firms have been appointed to design additional residence halls and residential apartments for the University of California, Irvine, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., and Campus Architect Coulson Tough announced today.

Grillias, Savage, and Alves, AIA, will design Residence Halls Unit II, which will provide housing for 300 single students and dining facilities for 1,200. To start construction in August 1966 for completion by August 1967, the project will bring total capacity of single-student residence facilities at UCI to 800.

Thomas and Richardson, AIA, will design Residential Apartments Unit II, consisting of 100 apartments. Construction is scheduled to start in October 1966 for completion August 1967. The firm already has under design Residential Apartments Unit I, also consisting of 100 apartments which are scheduled for completion by spring of 1966.

Bids for landscaping 20.2 acres of the University of California, Irvine campus have been taken under study, pending award of a contract, L. E. Cox, vice chancellor—business and finance, said today.

Bidders were: Shawn Company of Placentia, Kawai Brothers of Buena Park, Aka-Tani Landscape Co. of Culver City, and Roy C. Barnett of Riverside.

Plans call for landscaping the gateway entrance at Campus Drive, building areas and part of the campus central park prior to the campus opening this September.

Nearly 1,300 trees will be planted in the central campus area under the initial landscape program. The contract also includes grading, drains, walks, and irrigation system, lighting, and planting of numerous shrubs and ground covers, including many flowering varieties.

All campus landscaping will be in keeping with the natural terrain and climate.

Friends of the Library of University of California, Irvine will give a reception honoring new members Sunday, June 6, at 3 p.m. in Irvine Coast Country Club. Speakers will be Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr., UCI librarian John E. Smith and Adolph A. Kroch of Laguna Beach, internationally-known former Chicago book dealer.

More than 350 persons have become charter members of Friends since the beginning of the drive directed by Mrs. Laurence K. Reynolds, membership chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Alva Wilson of Laguna Beach and Mrs. Wilson W. Phelps of Fullerton have joined as patrons, highest classification of membership.

A non-profit corporation, Friends encourages contributions to build the library's collection and expand its facilities beyond the limits of the library budget. Two important goals are the creation of a distinguished reference and research center and the accumulation and preservation of material concerning the history and development of Orange County. Friends of the Library also will assist in arranging exhibits, lectures and other events to stimulate interest in books and the fine arts.

More than half of the founder members have indicated a wish to participate actively in the organization, including Mrs. Eugene Parker of Laguna Beach who has assumed the job of chairman of volunteers.

Other new members serving on committees are the Meses Robert Slater and George Friedl, Corona del Mar; Paul Gerhardt, Anaheim; Richard Loumeau and John Jacobs, Newport Beach; William Kitchens, Costa Mesa; William Coats, William Harsha and John Ferguson, Tustin; Theodore Nashman, Laguna Hills and Richard Wilson, Laguna Beach.

B. N. Desenberg of Corona del Mar is president of the Friends. Also on the board are A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, Paul D. Griem and Mrs. Reynolds of Laguna Beach and Mrs. Edward Mittelman of Fullerton, vice presidents; Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Peterson of Tustin, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Edward Shanbrom of Tustin, treasurer.

Membership in the Friends will remain open, according to Mrs. Reynolds. Anyone interested in joining may write Friends of the Library, University of California, Irvine.
Purdue University has invited Dr. James G. March, dean of social sciences at University of California, Irvine, to be its "Distinguished Visitor in the Behavioral Sciences" from April 26 to April 30.

Dr. March will present a formal introductory lecture describing "The Decision-making Process in Complex Organizations" Monday, April 26. Seminars on the subject will follow during the next three days.

Purdue has selected "men of considerable international renown who have made significant contributions both to their specialties and to the behavioral sciences generally" to take part in the series, sponsored by the Department of Administrative Sciences.

Dr. March, winner of the 1964 Pi Sigma Alpha award of the American Political Science Association, is professor of psychology and sociology at the University of California, Irvine campus which opens to its first 1,500 undergraduate and graduate students in September.

He is an editor for the Prentice-Hall series in mathematical analysis of social behavior and a member of the National Science Foundation advisory panel for sociology and social psychology. Noted for his research on the theory of influence and political power, organization theory and the theory of the firm, Dr. March has published widely and edited the "Handbook of Organizations" published this year by Rand-McNally.

Raymond H. Thornton of UC Santa Barbara will be in charge of intramural sports and recreation programs at the University of California, Irvine.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., today announced Thornton's appointment to the staff at UCI, effective July 1, as associate supervisor of physical education.

Thornton has served for nine years at UC Santa Barbara, where he directed the intramural sports program and was assistant football coach and head coach of swimming. In 1962 he was director of the first All-UC Intramural Sports Tournament, an annual event involving the intramural champions from all UC campuses.

At UC Irvine, Thornton will have responsibility for a varied program of intramural sports and recreation which is expected to involve a majority of the students throughout the school year, according to Dr. Wayne Crawford, chairman of the department of physical education.

Thornton, author of several scholarly articles on physical fitness, is a candidate for the PhD degree from the University of Southern California. He formerly was a physical education teacher in Compton.

Intramural sports to be offered at UCI during 1965-66 include touch football, basketball, softball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, archery, golf, handball, squash, swimming, water polo, sailing and table tennis. Women will participate in appropriate sports.

At the opening this fall, UC Irvine will have about 13 acres of outdoor athletic fields; tennis, basketball, volleyball and handball courts; competition-size swimming and diving pools; and a multipurpose gymnasium.
"Nine Campus News," a weekly radio feature program produced as a public service by KABC Radio in cooperation with the University of California, will be broadcast at 790 megacycles Sundays at 10:15 p.m., starting April 11.

The program will feature items of interest and importance from all nine campus of the University of California.

Among the items to be featured this Sunday will be the discovery of fossilized bones of a pre-historic whale by workmen excavating for the swimming pool at the new Irvine campus of the University in Orange County.

The University of California, Irvine has opened a major computer facility for experimentation in programmed instruction, research and administration, as part of a program to enrich student-faculty relationships, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., said today.

He named Dr. Fred M. Tonge, associate professor of administration, as director of the facility. Tonge is widely noted for his work in administration and computer sciences.

Cooperating in the program, the International Business Machine Corp. has installed a computer system at the new UC campus which is under development in Orange County, 35 miles south of Los Angeles.

The installation consists of IBM 1410-1440-1448 systems, designed to operate with as many as 40 terminals simultaneously. Plans call for enlargement of the system and its terminal capacity.

While the system is largely experimental, several courses are being planned to utilize computer assisted programmed instruction during the 1965-66 academic year. Eventually the system will permit hundreds and even thousands of students at a time to operate computerized teaching machines for pursuit of individual, programmed courses of study.

"Irvine's faculty is being encouraged to develop imaginative new uses of computers in conjunction with television, language laboratories and other modern electronic and mechanical instruments in their instruction and research. We also plan to apply computer techniques in the library and in administration," Chancellor Aldrich said.

"The potential value of computers will be explored to provide more meaningful relationships between students and faculty. We recognize this as one of the most critical problems facing higher education today," he said.

The chancellor explained that the computer can be expected "to help free the teacher from time-consuming and more routine aspects of instruction and permit him to give more of his attention to inspiration, motivation and intellectual interaction with his students."

"On the other hand," he said, "students will be urged to develop independent study techniques, including use of the programmed instructional materials, and to assume individual responsibility for their studies."

Dr. Tonge came to UC Irvine from a post as professor of industrial administration at Carnegie Institute of Technology. He also has taught at UCLA and Stanford University and has acted as a consultant to private industry in computer science.

He received the PhD in industrial administration from Carnegie Tech and is a graduate of Herbert Hoover High School in Glendale.

Dr. Tonge currently is recruiting a staff of computer programming experts to help the UC Irvine faculty in developing programmed instructional materials.

The Buzza-Cardozo greeting card company of Anaheim has granted $1,000 to the University of California, Irvine to establish a scholarship fund for undergraduate or graduate students in administration, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

James M. Day, company president, presented a check to establish the fund to The Regents of the University of California, giving preference to residents of Orange County.

Awards will be made on the basis of scholastic achievement and financial need to undergraduates preparing for admission or graduate students enrolled in the UCI Graduate School of Administration.

John Coplans, a former Royal Air Force pilot whose paintings now hang in museums throughout the world, will come to the University of California, Irvine on July 1 as assistant professor of art and director of the art gallery, Dr. Clayton Garrison, dean of fine arts, announced today.

Dr. Garrison said Coplans is a noted teacher and critic of art as well as an outstanding artist. He has edited and written for numerous art journals including "Artforum," "Art News," and "Art International." His work is represented at the San Francisco Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art in New York, among others.

A Londoner and graduate of Sandhurst, England's Royal Military College, Coplans left the service after World War II to study art in South Africa, London and Paris. He came to the United States in 1961 as visiting lecturer in design at UC Berkeley. He since has taught at UC Davis, San Jose State College, the California College of Arts and Crafts, and the California Institute of the Arts.

Dr. Garrison said the program in art at UC Irvine will provide studio experience in painting, sculpture, design and graphic arts, and a comprehensive introduction to the history and criticism of art.

He said Lawrence Alloway, curator at the Guggenheim Museum, regards Coplans as having "an exceptional ability to fuse" studio courses and lectures in art history and criticism. He also feels Coplans' "refusal to separate the art of thinking from the art of painting" is a "powerful example" both to art majors and non-art majors in his courses.

Colin Slim, concert pianist, musicologist and conductor of the University of Chicago Orchestra, will come to the University of California, Irvine as associate professor and chairman of the department of music.

Dr. Slim's appointment, effective July 1, was announced today by UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Aldrich, Jr.

A citizen of Canada, Slim embarked on his career in music as a concert pianist for the Canadian Broadcasting Co. and conductor of the Vancouver Junior Symphony. He subsequently entered Harvard University for graduate studies in music and obtained the PhD in 1961.

While at Harvard, he served as assistant conductor of the Harvard Glee Club and conductor of the Concord Orchestra. Upon completion of his studies, he was appointed to the faculty at the University of Chicago. There he organized the student orchestra of 87 players and participated in many musical events.

In addition to his teaching and performance assignments he has written scholarly works on the music of the Renaissance, including "Musica Nova," first volume in a series on "Monuments of Renaissance Music" and considered noteworthy in the world of music scholarship.

According to Dr. Clayton Garrison, dean of fine arts, Dr. Slim's accomplishments as a professional performer, scholar and teacher particularly suit him for leadership in music at UCI. He said the program in music at Irvine will provide intensive training in performance and musicianship, the theory of music, and the history of music.

The Lowell Berry Foundation of Lathrop, Calif., has donated $2,000 toward scholarships and establishment of an Interfaith Foundation at the University of California, Irvine, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

Chancellor Aldrich said the gift includes three $500 scholarships for undergraduates at UCI and $500 to assist in the organization of the Interfaith Foundation.

Checks for the funds were presented by Lowell W. Berry, chairman of the board of American Plant Food Corp., Galena Park, Texas. They were accepted by Chancellor Aldrich on behalf of The Regents.

He noted that more than 300 prospective students have applied for financial aid to attend UCI. The new campus will open with an enrollment of about 1,500 in September.

The Interfaith Foundation is being organized to enable the various religious denominations of the community to conduct programs designed to fulfill moral and spiritual needs of the campus.

Dr. Julian Feldman has been promoted to associate dean of social sciences at the University of California, Irvine.

An expert in the simulation of human thought by computers and in organizational decision making, Dr. Feldman came to UCI from the Berkeley campus in September 1964 as associate professor of psychology and economics.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., said that Dr. Feldman will advise Dr. James G. March, dean of social sciences on academic personnel in this division.

The Assistance League of Newport Beach has established scholarship and loan funds totaling $800 for students at the University of California, Irvine, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

Of the total, $300 will go to establish the George Lind Memorial Fund, in honor of the late Newport Beach architect. The fund will be used for emergency loans to students of architecture at UCI.

The remaining $500 will be used to establish the Assistance League of Newport Beach Scholarship for undergraduate students.

Checks for the funds were presented by Mrs. William R. Miller, scholarship chairman. Chancellor Aldrich accepted on behalf of The Regents of the University of California.

He noted that more than 300 prospective students at UCI have applied for financial assistance. The campus will open for instruction in September with about 1,500 students from freshman to post-doctorate levels.

Scientific discovery and advances in technology will have great impact on practice and education in electrical engineering during the next decade, according to Professor Robert M. Saunders of the University of California, Irvine.

Speaking to the International Convention of the Institute of Electrical Engineers in New York on March 24, Professor Saunders, who is assistant to the chancellor for engineering at the new Irvine campus of the university, advised that the future is bright for electrical engineers, if the profession continues to be dynamic and adaptable to new -- and as yet unknown -- products of research.

Citing his paper "Electrical Engineering Education in 1975," to be published in the IEE International Convention Record, Professor Saunders identified the factors which he believes will affect engineering education in the future: automation, the population explosion, expansion throughout the world of human expectations, continued world peace, and scientific discovery.

"The most potent and far-reaching factors affecting the profession as a whole will be those associated with scientific discovery and with the provision of quantitative models for environmental systems. In the realm of academic life, the current and future research into the educational processes, especially in terms of computer-aided instruction, have the potential of revolutionizing engineering pedagogy as it is known today," he said.

Although factors affecting engineering education a decade hence cannot be predicted with absolute certainty, it is possible, Professor Saunders said, to focus our attention on the overriding issues affecting (more) mankind, scientific developments and other factors which have a high probability of influencing the course of future events. Professor Saunders said he hoped his presentation would stimulate members of the profession to discussions which might help to identify other highly influential factors.

He warned that during the next decade electrical engineering as a separate discipline may lose its identity among other areas of engineering, but that it can maintain its distinct character, provided those practicing in the field continue to adapt to changes.

Professor Saunders developed his views through long association with engineering planning at the UC Berkeley campus and his present responsibility for outlining engineering developments at the new UC Irvine campus 35 miles south of Los Angeles which is due to open for instruction in September.

Dr. Gordon Shaw of Stanford University will become associate professor of physics at the University of California, Irvine on July 1, UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

University officials also announced two other appointments at UCI, effective July 1. Named as assistant professors were: Richard D. Campbell of The Rockefeller Institute, New York, in organismic biology; and Sheen T. Kassouf of Columbia University, New York, in economics.

An assistant professor of physics at Stanford since 1962, Dr. Shaw formerly was a research physicist at UC San Diego. He earned the BS in physics at Case Institute of Technology and the PhD at Cornell University.
Nine-year-old Heidi Hewitt of Corona del Mar is the youngest and one of the first fans for sports teams at the University of California, Irvine.

UCI athletic director Wayne Crawford reported today that Heidi was among 40 persons and groups who have pledged and donated a total of nearly $2,000 in financial assistance to outstanding student-athletes at the new campus.

Heidi sent $1 to UCI along with a standard gift form for University scholarship donations which had been sent to her parents.

Dr. Crawford has promised Heidi a chocolate ice cream sodd and a tour of the campus after it opens later this year.

"When our intercollegiate and intramural sports programs start, these contributors, including Heidi, will be invited to form team booster groups," said Dr. Crawford.

Financial aid to students will be determined by a faculty committee on the basis of scholarship, need and achievement potential.

Donations by athletic boosters are a part of an area-wide program for private assistance to deserving students in all fields of study at the new campus.

Students entering the University of California as freshmen must have obtained a "B" grade average in high school. But despite the high standard for scholarship, Dr. Crawford and his staff expect to field competitive teams next year in basketball, swimming, water polo, tennis, crew, and sailing. Other sports will be added in subsequent years.

UCI will open in September with an estimated 1,500 students and 120 faculty, and is expected to grow to a 27,500 enrollment by 1990.
Orange Empire National Bank has established a $500 scholarship fund at the University of California, Irvine, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., announced today.

A $500 check was presented by County Supervisor William J. Phillips and Bernardo M. Yorba, bank directors. Chancellor Aldrich accepted on behalf of The Regents of the University.

The scholarship is to be awarded to an outstanding undergraduate student at UC Irvine who is interested in a career in banking or a related field, with preference to a resident of Orange County.

Chancellor Aldrich said the gift is eligible for matching funds established by The Regents to encourage private scholarship donations to the new Irvine campus.

Appointment of Alexi A. Maradudin as professor of physics at the University of California, Irvine was announced today by President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

University officials also announced the appointments of four assistant professors: David A. Brant of Stanford University, chemistry; John R. Coplans of California Institute of the Arts, art; Jon S. Jacobson of UC Berkeley, history; and Arnold Lebow of New York University, mathematics.

The appointments are effective on July 1.

An advisory scientist to Westinghouse Research Laboratories, Dr. Maradudin previously served as a professor in research at the University of Maryland. He graduated with honors in metalurgy from Stanford University and earned the PhD in physics at the University of Bristol, England.

Bids will be sought next month on a two-part landscaping program for the initial campus buildings and central park at the University of California, Irvine, Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., said today.

Plans and specifications will be available to prospective contractors on March 22 at the UCI interim office. Bids will be opened on April 12 at 2 p.m. at the Newporter Inn, Newport Beach.

Total estimated cost for the project is $400,000. Part one consists of 12.2 acres of landscaping for the gateway entrance and the building areas. Part two is an eight-acre area of the campus central park.

Associated Landscape Architects, C. Jacques Hahn and J. Charles Hoffman of Sierra Madre, Robert Herrick Carter and Associates of Los Angeles, and Frederick M. Lang of South Laguna, are the designers.

Plans call for planting 1,300 trees in the initial landscaping phase, numerous shrubs and ground covers, including many flowering varieties; grading, construction of walks, drains, irrigation system and lighting. All landscaping will be in keeping with the natural terrain and climate.

As many as 500 single students will be able to reside on campus in modern, cottage-style residence halls when the Irvine campus of the University of California opens for instruction in September.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., today announced the award of a $352,948 contract to C. H. Leavell and Company, El Segundo, for construction of two additional residence hall units, bringing the total to 10 -- with 50 student capacity each.

The Leavell firm already is in progress with construction of eight cottages under a $1.5 million contract awarded last August. All 10 of the two-story, wood-frame structures are to be ready by September. Cost of the buildings is to be re-paid out of rental fees.

Meanwhile, the University rejected all bids for construction of eight married-student apartment buildings and ordered revised plans to permit the cost to come within the budget. New bids will be sought in the near future. The 100 apartment units are to be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1966.

The 1,510-acre UC Irvine campus, three miles inland from Newport Beach, will open to an estimated enrollment of 1,500 students, from freshman to post-graduate levels. Major academic buildings now are nearing completion. Students who do not reside on campus will commute from their homes throughout Orange County and the Southern California area.

Eugene Loring, one of America's leading choreographers, has been appointed as chairman of the department of dance at the University of California, Irvine, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

Loring is the first of several outstanding performers and artists who will join the faculty of the new Irvine campus of the University.

Located three miles inland from the Pacific Ocean near the resort city of Newport Beach, 35 miles south of Los Angeles, the campus now has $20 million in construction underway for its opening this fall. Fifteen hundred students are expected to attend the first year. The campus is planned to grow to an enrollment of 27,500 by 1990.

Announcement of Loring's appointment coincidentally was made on the same day (Monday, February 22) that CBS is scheduled to televise his production of "Cinderella." This is the most recent in a long string of successful productions by Loring for television, the movies, Broadway and the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera.

"Anyone listing the top half-dozen significant figures in the dance world today would include Mr. Loring," according to UCI's dean of fine arts, Dr. Clayton Garrison. "No university in the United States has a choreographer of this stature on its staff," he said.

"Our objective is to provide the artist a liberal education, as well as a knowledge of the various arts, and professional training in his chosen art form," Dr. Garrison related. "For the dance, the first step is to take this art form out of the physical education class where it is usually relegated."

Loring's education included study at the University of Wisconsin as a major in English. He went to New York to study dance and graduated from the School of American Ballet. He danced professionally under such noted choreographers as Fokine, Kirstein and Balanchine and performed as a featured dancer at the Metropolitan.

With Lincoln Kirstein and 11 dancers, Loring formed the Ballet Caravan, which in 1938 produced to Aaron Copland's music what is now recorded in the history of dance as the first American ballet, "Billy the Kid." At President Kennedy's request, Loring revived "Billy the Kid" with the Ballet Theatre Company for a White House production.

Moving to Los Angeles, he choreographed "Louisiana Purchase," "Great Waltz," "Fanny," and "Kiss Me Kate" for the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera. His "Kiss Me Kate" is scheduled for performance at the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts this summer.

As a businessman and educator, Loring has established the American School of Dance in Hollywood, where he also teaches with his staff of nearly 20. He has toured with his production "Dance is a Language" to colleges and universities throughout the country.

"Within five years, University of California, Irvine will be a tennis power in national intercollegiate competition."

That is the flat prediction by Dick Skeen, tennis coach of the new Irvine campus in Orange County which is preparing to welcome its first students in September.

"The excellent tennis facilities planned at UCI -- even grass courts are a probability -- will attract our share of the promising young boys and girls who have serious ambitions to compete on the eastern grass court circuit," said Skeen.

Skeen's forecast is based on more than three decades of experience as one of the country's great tennis players and teachers. As a player he won the national open in 1939 and was ranked second among the world's professionals in 1941. As a teacher he has developed 40 national and world champions, including Jack Kramer, Louise Brough, Pauline Betz and Gussie Moran.

Of equal significance is his knowledge of the talented young players in the area surrounding the Irvine campus 35 miles south of Los Angeles.

As tennis professional at the Balboa Bay Club, a position he will retain, Skeen is well along on a five-year program sponsored by the club to develop 20 selected student-athletes into nationally ranked players. Skeen began training this group of 12 to 15-year-olds some 15 months ago.

"Nearly all of these boys and girls have expressed interest in enrolling at Irvine. Most of them are outstanding students at nearby Newport Harbor and Corona del Mar High Schools. Two years from now Newport Harbor High School should have a tennis team that few colleges could defeat," said Skeen.

"With some entrance applications still to be received, we don't know who will make our first team. Several good prospects from other parts of the state have applied to UCI, including some high-ranking juniors. We also expect to attract some of the top players among the young women.

"Realistically, I have no hopes for a contending team the first year. We'll build for the future by scheduling other small schools and by entering several open tournaments," Skeen explained.

"The schedule for our first season in 1966 will be arranged next fall, when we will have a better idea of the level of competition in which we belong. Wayne Crawford, athletic director, has talked to UC Riverside, UC Santa Barbara, UC Davis, Cal State at Fullerton, Long Beach State, Cal Western, Redlands, Wyoming and Arizona State."

In his coaching at UCI, Skeen will borrow from the rigorous program he designed for the young potential tennis stars of the future.

Strategy and tactics Skeen learned in matches against Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry make his blackboard sessions authentic.

He quizzes his young students on their required reading from his private tennis library --- they have to read a book a month. He requires them to keep a scrapbook of clippings to develop a sense of pride --- and a card index on the play of their opponents.

"Grips, footwork and learning to deal with the ball," Skeen believes, "are mechanical. Almost anyone can do that. But knowing the wind, the weather, the altitude, the grade of the court, and knowing as much about your opponent's game as you know about your own --- these are the things that can cut the big guys down to size."

That will be Dick Skeen's challenge as he gathers the first tennis squad on the courts now being built at UCI in the rolling hills near Newport Beach.

The appointments of Dr. James J. Yeh of New York University as associate professor of mathematics and Dr. Howard S. Babb of Ohio State University as associate professor of English at the University of California, Irvine, were announced today by President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

University officials also announced the appointments of five assistant professors in the fields of biochemistry, history, sociology, economics, and mathematics.

The appointments all are effective July 1, 1965.

Dr. Yeh, who received the BS degree in physics from the National Taiwan University and the PhD in mathematics from the University of Minnesota, has taught at Minnesota, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Rochester and the Courant Institute at New York University.

Dr. Babb received the BA in English from Kenyon College, Ohio, and the PhD from Harvard University. He currently serves as associate professor and vice-chairman of English at Ohio State University, and is the author of "Jane Austen's Novels: The Fabric of Dialogue."

Named as assistant professors were: Daniel L. Wulff of Harvard, biochemistry; Kathleen A. Archibald of UC Berkeley, sociology; Duran Bell, Jr., of UC Berkeley, economics; Richard A. Lawson of the University of Michigan, and Keith L. Nelson of the University of Texas, history.

C. O. Reinhardt has been appointed as physical plant manager for the University of California, Irvine, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

Having served as senior engineer for the UCI architects and engineers office since 1963, Reinhardt now is in charge of maintenance and operation of campus buildings and grounds. Replacing Reinhardt as senior engineer is Lowell Dukleth from the Berkeley campus.

Reinhardt formerly was a captain in the U.S. Navy and served 23 years in civil engineering capacities. He holds the masters degree in civil engineering from the University of Illinois. He resides at 20152 Redlands Dr., Santa Ana.

Students who wish to attend the University of California, Irvine this fall as undergraduates must submit applications by March 1, according to a reminder issued today by Richard L. Balch, vice chancellor - student affairs.

UCI now has nearly $20 million in campus construction underway three miles inland from Newport Beach in Orange County. It is scheduled to open its doors to students for the first time this September.

Prospective students may obtain application forms by writing the UCI Office of Admissions at Irvine, California, or by calling at the UCI interim office, San Joaquin Rd. at Campus Dr.

Balch said applications already received are expected to give UCI an opening enrollment of more than 1,000 students. "We have no way of knowing exactly what to expect until after all applications have been received and checked for eligibility," he noted.

Information from applications to date indicates that nearly three fourths of UCI's "charter" first year undergraduate students will be freshmen, mostly graduates from high schools in Orange County and the southern Los Angeles County area. One fourth will be transfers from junior colleges and other collegiate institutions. About 50 to 100 will be graduate students, Balch said.

Applications in hand also indicate that about 60 per cent of UCI's students will commute to the campus from their own homes. Accommodations will be ready for about 400 students to live on campus in University residence halls. Additional housing on campus is in planning.

Balch said applicants will be notified of their eligibility about April 15, subject to completion of high school graduation requirements. At that time, applicants will be asked to post a $25 fee which will be credited to the incidental fee upon entering the University.

A whale has been found in the swimming pool on the Irvine campus of the University of California.

The whale (or perhaps it's a big sea lion) has been around awhile—perhaps 300,000 years. The swimming pool won't be completed until next fall when the first students enroll at the 1,500-acre campus now under construction in Orange County, three miles inland from the Pacific Ocean and 35 miles south of Los Angeles.

When workmen unearthed the huge skeleton, at the bottom of the swimming pool excavation, they alerted Professor Arthur S. Boughey, biological scientist and newly arrived faculty member from Southern Rhodesia.

After determining that the prehistoric skeleton had been severely damaged by the first scoop of a power shovel, Professor Boughey collected the fragments and agreed that construction of the pool should continue. Under the campus construction contracts all archaeological and anthropological finds must be reported to University officials.

"When I first heard the report of a whale in the swimming pool, I pegged it as a prank. Then I realized that our first students won't be here until September," said Professor Boughey.

"The fossilized remains were found in a layer of clay deposited by an invasion of the sea 60,000 to 300,000 years ago. It is an extremely interesting discovery, but we couldn't justify the expense of keeping the construction crew around while we dug up the entire fossil," he explained.

The campus site long has been a favorite area for archaeology students. Several months ago, before the bulldozers moved in, a group of students from UCLA (more) pitched camp for several weeks and uncovered a collection of artifacts from the remains of a village occupied about 2,000 years ago by the Gabrielino Indians.

Now that the whale has been uncovered, another page in Orange County history is being re-read. It concerns a stagecoach that operated between San Diego and Los Angeles in the 1860's. The story goes that one night near the campus the stagecoach was held up by five men who took $5,000 in gold and buried it in an oaken strong box somewhere on the land now occupied by the new University. Apparently, it has never been found. It will be understandable if workmen look a little closer when they dig into the soil for the next campus project.

Election of B. N. Desenberg of Corona del Mar as first president was announced today by the newly-formed Friends of the Library of the University of California, Irvine.

Other officers are: A. J. McFadden, Santa Ana; Paul D. Grien and Mrs. Laurence K. Reynolds, Laguna Beach; and Mrs. Edward Mittelman, Fullerton, vice presidents; University librarian John E. Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Peterson, Tustin, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Edward Shanbrom, Tustin, treasurer.

Friends of the UCI Library, a non-profit corporation, will launch a drive for charter members soon to enroll persons in Orange County and southeast Los Angeles who are interested in helping make the Irvine campus library a complete research center.

An important goal will be the accumulation and preservation of various materials touching on the history and development of Orange County---from picture post cards to old business and family records, Desenberg said.

During 1964 the UCI library received donations from eighty-five individuals and organizations, including papers and books of the late Miles H. Warner, county supervisor; a file of pictures and memorabilia of the Irvine Ranch centennial celebration, and prospectus material dating back to the 1920's used by the late S. H. Woodruff in the development of Dana Point.

More than two-thirds of the 90,000 volumes planned for the opening of the campus in September have been gathered by the UCI library staff.

"The Friends will encourage contributions to build the collections and to expand the facilities beyond the limits of the library budget. We hope to play a significant part in meeting the needs of the growing Irvine campus for research materials," said Desenberg.

Four new members have been appointed to the faculty of the University of California, Irvine, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr. The appointments are effective on July 1.

Named were Dr. Richard Barrutia, assistant professor of Spanish and director of the language laboratory; Dr. John D. Lindberg, assistant professor of German; Edgar T. Schell, assistant professor of English; and Albert O. Wlecke, instructor of English.

They will be part of a faculty of 105 members who are being signed in preparation for the UCI opening in September to more than 1,000 students.

Barrutia received the PhD in linguistics from the University of Texas and now serves as assistant professor of Spanish and Peace Corps language coordinator at Arizona State University. He has been awarded National Defense Education Act and John Hay Whitney Foundation fellowships.

Lindberg attended schools in Vienna and England and worked in international trade in Argentina before obtaining the PhD in German at UCLA. He is now an assistant professor at Pomona College.

Schell is working for the PhD in English at the University of California, Berkeley. He has worked as an instructor of English at Temple University and Mills College and was awarded the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and Advanced Graduate fellowships at UC-Berkeley.

Wlecke is a research assistant and is studying for the PhD at Michigan State University, where he also has been an assistant instructor. He obtained the MA degree in writing at Johns Hopkins University under a Gilman fellowship.

Through the newly-formed UCI Town and Gown, an invitation is being extended to women of Orange County and Southeast Los Angeles to participate in education and cultural activities with women associated with the new campus.

UCI Town and Gown is the outgrowth of the hospitality of a group of women living near the campus who hosted brunches for newly-arriving faculty wives to help them get acquainted.

More than 200 women attended a recent organizational meeting at Irvine Coast Country Club at which temporary co-chairmen were named: Mrs. Judy Rosener of "the Town," and Mrs. Leona Gerard of "the Gown." Other temporary officers are: Mrs. Dora Hill, treasurer; Mrs. Sally McCulloch, recording secretary; Mrs. Pat Balch and Mrs. Mabry Steinhaus, corresponding secretaries; Mrs. Suzanne Peltason, membership chairman.

To promote and support understanding between members of the University and the community, a program of events will be scheduled bringing together the UCI academic and administrative personnel with residents of the surrounding area.

At the next meeting to be held in May, open to all interested in membership, a permanent slate of officers will be offered by a nominating committee headed by Mrs. Evelyn Sherwood.

A tentative set of by-laws will be presented by a committee headed by Miss Agnes Blomquist.

The Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor donated a second annual scholarship for $350 to the University of California, Irvine, it was announced today by Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

The check was presented to UCI by Mrs. Byron Farwell, scholarship chairman. The group established a scholarship fund for the new campus last year.

Both donations will be matched by The Regents of the University of California under a policy of encouraging private scholarship donations to the University's new campuses. Including the Regents' matching funds, the Fine Arts Patrons scholarship fund at UCI now is credited with a total of $1,400.

"The Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor Scholarship" will be given to undergraduate students at UCI who have completed at least one year of study and who show exceptional professional and intellectual promise in the field of art.

Members of the Fine Arts Patrons have agreed to continue the UCI scholarship program on an annual basis by contributing one-tenth of their annual membership dues to the fund.

UCI will open in September to more than 1,000 students and expects to grow to an enrollment of 27,500 by 1990.

"One of our greatest needs at this time," Chancellor Aldrich said, "is for private scholarship contributions, such as this one by the Fine Arts Patrons, to provide educational opportunities for deserving students in all fields of study."

Dr. Henry Cord Meyer of Pomona College has been appointed professor and chairman of the history department at the University of California, Irvine, effective February 1, it was announced today by UC President Clark Kerr and UCI Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr.

An authority on modern German history, Dr. Meyer's book "Mitteleuropa" is a classic in the field and was awarded the George Louis Beer prize in 1956 by the American Historical Association.

He earned his BA at the University of Colorado, his MA at the University of Iowa and his PhD at Yale University and served with the Office of Strategic Services prior to joining the faculty at Pomona College in 1946.

Dr. Meyer has received numerous honors and awards, including a Ford Foundation Fellowship in 1952-53, a Guggenheim Fellowship and a Fulbright Research Award held jointly for study abroad in 1960-61. On several occasions he has lectured in Germany on modern America, under auspices of the U. S. Information Agency.

He also serves as an administrator for the Educational Testing Service and the College Entrance Examination Board and works with the Advanced Placement Program. He will continue this work after coming to UCI.

Dr. Meyer will move with his wife and three children from Claremont to Orange County this summer.
