Special News Release

December 10, 1991

AGRICULTURE & GREEN INDUSTRY COMPUTER EXPO '92, a one-day educational seminar and trade show for nurserymen, landscapers, and farmers will be held Monday, April 6, 1992, at the Doubletree Hotel in Ventura, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the University of California Cooperative Extension.

More than 20 vendors will exhibit various types of hardware and software including pesticide-use reporting, pest management, irrigation management, business and personnel management, greenhouse environmental control, landscape design, and video imaging.

Pre-registration for the educational sessions is $30 for either the morning or afternoon session or $40 for both. Continental breakfast, lunch, refreshments, and handouts are included in the cost.

An additional $10 will be charged for late or at-the-door registration.

Industry professionals and university specialists will cover the two lecture-style sessions, which will run concurrently with the free trade show.

Computer fundamentals and agri-business or landscape business management will be offered in the morning. Pest, irrigation, and environmental management or landscape management and design will be offered in the afternoon.

"There will be ample opportunity for everyone to participate in hands-on demonstrations in the trade show," Julie Newman, program coordinator and farm advisor with the Ventura Cooperative Extension, said.

"A drawing for prizes will also be held for qualifying participants during the afternoon reception."

She also said: "Statewide participation is expected and everyone in the agriculture and green industry, including suppliers and educators, is encouraged to attend."

All University of California Cooperative Extension programs are open and available to all without discrimination.
