CONSTRUCTION CONTINUES

Mesa Court, Verano Additions Will Provide More Housing

Apartments and dorms presently under construction on campus will be available for student housing next fall.

Additions to Verano Place and Mesa Court and a Mets Court dining room should provide facilities for all these interested in on-campus housing, according to Mrs. Elvina Sumner, housing and food administrator.

The present 100 apartments at Verano Place will be doubled. Twenty-five percent of the new apartments will be furnished.

Priorities for the apartments will be given on the following basis: married graduate and undergraduate students, single graduate students, single undergraduate living in Verano Place, faculty and staff, UCI seniors, and UCI juniors. Single undergraduates presently living in Verano Place may apply for space there next year. Reassignment to Verano Place will be at the discretion of the Dean of Students and the office of Housing and Food Services.

Beginning July 1, 1967, all apartments will be rented on a month-to-month basis with one quarter minimum. Costs have not yet been determined, but the cost of the singles may rise. At present costs are $100 for a one-room apartment, $120 for a two-room, two-person apartment, and $150 for a two-room, three-person apartment. Mesa Court facilities will grow from the present 500 accommodations to 800 next fall. Eventually Mesa Court will facilitate 1200 students. The Mesa Court Commons, which will accommodate all Mesa Court residents, is being built to accommodate the projected figure.

Each new unit will have 40 students, or 10 of the 100 apartments. The allotment of the dorms to men and women has not yet been determined, but Mrs. Sumner foresees some changes. Applications for housing will determine the final arrangement.

Priorities for Mesa Court will be decided on the basis of present residence; present UCI students not now in residence; and new students admitted to UCI. Mesa Court will be entirely for undergraduate students.

Mrs. Sumner urged students not presently in residence to apply. She stated that enrolled students are given preference in housing over new students. However, they must come in the Housing Office and make their reservations.

Residence forms for students presently living on campus may be obtained from resident advisors (RA's). Other students may make reservations in the Housing Office.

Two Senators Resign From 'Sandbox' Senate

The senators resigned Monday night after a motion was made and seconded calling for the abolition of the student Senate.

Chairman of the Senate Don Cline accepted the resignations of Jim Bell, representative from Fine and Greg Hofman, representative at large, after Senators dismissed their proposal with an 18-to-5 vote.

Senators Pat Kennedy (biological sciences), Lloyd Norris (at large) and Peter Herman (humanities) also voted in favor of the move to dissolve the student organization.

UCB Schedules Summer Quarter

Continuing students at the University of California may apply for Summer Quarter 1967 at UC Berkeley. The first summer quarter to be offered with full quarter credits.

UCB plans to accommodate 9,000 students this summer with an increased load of one class. This replaces the two six-week sessions of the past.

Information for the summer quarter was delayed due to uncertainties concerning the amount of the University budget. Officials fear this last minute release may affect the enrollment, since prospective students did not receive needed information until this week, only five weeks before application deadline, May 1.

Students may not take the usual summer load of one class. Under the new system, a full academic load has to be carried.

A catalog of offered classes is available at the Registrar's Office. Only those classes available for the summer quarter may be also be obtained in departmental offices and in the library.

The quarter begins June 22 and ends September 6. Regular quarter fees apply. The Registrar's Office may be contacted for further information.

Trustees Vote To Move CCM

Trustees of the California Col- lege of Medicine in Los Angeles have voted to move the college to UC Irvine. Trustees declared that in the long run it would be a good medical school. However, but a spokesman for the CCM said the move would be "some years off." The move of the CCM from its present location in Los Angeles was the subject of a special meeting held at the hospital was a subject of controversy for the last two years. The UC Board of Regents is expected to give final approval at its next meeting at UC Riverside, April 20.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich said that it would "take at least three seasons" to accomplish the move. This period would include the time needed for the planning and building of facilities in which the college can operate. Money for this project was included in the Proposition 2 bond issue, but these funds have been held up until a solution for the problem was found.

"For the good of CCM and for the development of medicine at Irvine, this was something that had to be done," said Chancellor Aldrich.

Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs J. W. Pettsom, who has studied this has concluded that the University of California in the long run is a good medical school. The only way to be a good medical school is to be part of an existing university campus.

No mention of a report which would have the CCM affiliates with the Orange County Medical Center.

CAST MEMBERS of the Repertory Theatre production "Six Characters in Search of an Author" will give their last two performances Friday and Saturday night. From left to right are featured Penny Marenthal, BettyTesman, Bob Gunton and Ricky Harris.

CONSTRUCTION CONTINUES

Mesa Court, Verano Additions Will Provide More Housing

Friday Concert Features Pianist

The second "Friday One O'Clock Concert" will feature a piano recital. Pianist Linda Shannon will play selections by Webern, Liszt, Debussy and Rachmaninoff. The recital. Pianist Linda Shannon will play selections by Webern, Liszt, Debussy and Rachmaninoff. The recital will start at 6:30 p.m. at 400 Center.

The Anaheim construction firm, one of eight builders, offered to build the university's five major campus addition for $3,176,000. A UCI spokesman said the firm's low bid will be forwarded to the Board of Regents for final approval and contract award.

The local spokesman said the contract should be awarded by mid-May. The new classrooms and laboratories are planned to open for about 900 students in the spring of 1968.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.

J. B. Allen and Co., Anaheim, emerged as the apparent low bidder for the six-story physical science building at Irvine.

The Anaheim construction firm, one of eight bidders, offered to build the university's five major campus addition for $3,176,000. A UCI spokesman said the firm's low bid will be forwarded to the Board of Regents for final approval and contract award.

The local spokesman said the contract should be awarded by mid-May. The new classrooms and laboratories are planned to open for about 900 students in the spring of 1968.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.

The science building, designed by Long Beach architect Kenneth S. Wing, contains 50,000 square feet of space. It will be the largest single project now under construction in Orange County.

Cartoonist Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strips B.C. and Wizard of Id, will be a guest of campus Tuesday. Mr. Hart, who will be visit- ing California for four days, was invited to come to the campus by the Arnhil. Al- though UCI is the largest single project under construction, Mr. Hart has never been formally thank- ed for the invitation, nor has he ever seen this campus.
University Photography Contest Offer $250 Prize To Students

The University of California is sponsoring an All-University photography contest. Entries registered in the Fall, Winter or Spring quarters of 1966-67 are eligible for the contest.

Entries will form the basis of an exhibition to be shown at the 1968 All-University Student Arts Festival.

Judges will be for entries reflecting the individual character of each campus. Photographs should not be mounted. Landscapes, etc., which are specifically representative of a campus of the University.

Judging will be made in two phases. Entries from each campus will be judged on each campus by a panel comprised of at least two faculty members from the campus and two students together with members of the staff and the community. The panel will select 10 entries to be entered in the All-University contest and determine the winner of the $50 prize for that campus.

The 10 entries from each campus will be judged by a state-wide panel appointed by the Intercampus Cultural Exchange Committee and composed in the manner of the campus panels. This panel will award the $250 All-University prize.

Each entrant may submit no more than three photographs. Photographs should be black and white. Three copies of each photo should be submitted. One should be mounted for exhibition, and two un-mounted for distribution to campus and statewide publications.

Deadline for submitting photographs is June 15, 1967. Judging will take place during the summer and winners will be notified by mail.

For further information contact the UCI Arts and Lectures Office, 400 RSS building.

Geneva Pays Their St-Bents For Studying

The idea of paying students to go to school because society needs their skills has long been a standard dream, and in Switzerland the canton of Geneva has voted it into law. Starting this spring, all regularly enrolled university students, except foreigners and those who have flunked and must repeat, will receive about $70 a month plus a special allowance for books and supplies.

Students in such fields as medicine and physics will receive a $46 allowance.

Although the system sounds ideal, at least for students, it did not exactly meet with overwhelming popular approval. In civil elections, the proposition received 16,997 "yes" votes and 13,222 "no" votes — out of 163,415 registered voters.

Apparently 81 per cent of Gen- eva's citizens are not interested in governments' paying their children to school.

An editorial in Geneva's leading newspaper declared: "To pretend that the state should arbitrarily take over the national duties of a father and assume his expenses is an error — an error, no doubt, that millions of American fathers dreamed of..."

---Parade Magazine (2-26-67)

NEWPORT A & W Drive In and Coffee Shop

MacArthur at East Coast Highway
Corona del Mar

---SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER---

ANTEATER

50c

regular 99c

Present this coupon when ordering.
Keeping with the style of the Binney House, this Model-A characterizes the anticipated elegance of the structure which soon may belong to the Associated Students. The side of the home is pictured above.

Juke Box Controversy

by AMANDA SPAKE

Probably the greatest single prosperity among student today is not the draft. It is not his indiscipline over the United States' involvement in Vietnam. Rather, Irvine students are occupied with the ever-increasing dilemma surrounding the Great Juke Box Controversy.

I go into the snack bar below the Commons about four days a week. But was not until last week that I became aware of a seemingly pressing problem of the juke box.

I had gone into the snack bar one day last week to get a coke with a friend of mine. We sat down at a table when she suddenly stood up and screamed, "It's back. Look it's back!"

Thinking she was having some sort of fit, I tried to calm her down. But she quickly ran to the juke box and began running her fingers over the buttons, carelessly, "I've got to play something," she yelled. "Give me a dime. How about B & M?"

"Fine," I said, somewhat stunned and fumbling for a dime.

We heard Bb, "Now what's going on," I asked. The juke box been in the snack bar all the time?"

She stared at me, "Of course it hasn't! Didn't you know that... Oh no! Her face had become twisted with fear. "Now what's wrong," I asked.

"Look whose coming. Has she got it with her?"

"What are you talking about? Got what?"

"The key. Has she got the key?"

"What key?"

"The key to the juke box. Here she comes, She's going over to it. She's opening it. Oh no! She's turning it down."

The music had become barely audible. Louise Henry from the Activities Office was marching away from the juke box with a triumphant look on her face, key in hand. I suddenly realized the problem. We both were very grave.

"Does she do that everyday?"

"Everyday," my friend answered on the verge of tears.

"The only item it's loud enough is between 11:30 and 8:30 a.m."

"Only then?"

"Yes."

"Because they can't work in the Activities Office with it loud. It's louder in there."

"Oh, I'm sorry," I said, thinking I should say something consoling. "I imagine everyone is upset about it."

"Yes," she said. "But what can we do? We certainly can't control the music."

"Sit-in front of the juke box perhaps."

---

ASUC Scouts 50-Yr.-Old House For Possible Activities Center

by KC WESTBORG

It's big. It's old and it's goofy: And it may soon belong to the Associated Students. A 50-year old house with a warren-like location on the Balboa Peninsula has been offered to the university by its present owner. A family "bedroom," the Binney House built in 1914 as a family beach house.

The owners, however, have chosen not to sell a tract in favor of two separate living units. Since they no longer have a use for the home, it will be demolished unless an outside concern can take it over.

The father of grad student Vinz Heatly is a realtor who has been handling the property. He learned that the family would give the house to Irvine, if the school would cover moving charges — roughly a 55-$50,000 project. Vincent approached members of the administration on the matter, and "higher ups" were considering the possibility of using the structure. Should the university accept the gift, the nine-bedroom building would be transformed into an Associated Student Body building. Facilities would be utilized for ASUC offices for student activities and meeting rooms.

Keeping of where to locate

(Continued on Page 9)

---

On Campus with Debi Murdoch

REQUIEM FOR A SQUARE

You, like any other lovable, clean-living, freckled-faced American kid, want to be a BMOC. How can you make it?

Well sir, there are several ways, none of which will be easy.

You're too purdy to be an athlete, too lazy to be a valedictorian, and too hairy to run for Homecoming Queen.

As for becoming a best-dressed man, how are you going to buy clothes with a miser for a father?

Are you licked then? It's a tough one to make BMOC. Yes, there is! And you can do it! Do what? This:

Become a hippie! Get cool! Get altruistic! Get an Identity Crisis! Be one of the Others!

Till it's over, to become somebody, simply follow these five simple rules:

1. Read all of Sidle in the original draft.
2. Have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.
3. Wear a 30-year old suit, or a 1930's Sherman.
4. Go to a happening, and see what happens. Then eighty more naked men pierced ear. Then eighty more naked men around the bush, hangup, isn't it, baby?
5. Double your pace, simply follow these five simple rules.

---

Prof Scores With Budget Speech

by DEBI MURDOCH

David C. Denten, assistant professor of philosophy at UCI, drew apparently mixed emotions from local sounding boards on a speech presented at the Huntington Beach Exchange Club two weeks ago.

Cases of indigestion appeared between the lines as "metropolitan Orange County's watchful newspapers" covered the presentation, emphasizing Denten's accusation of (could it be true?) cultural depri-vation in the county. No mention or interpretation of the accusation was attempted.

On the other hand, the other community groups made no mention of the county's depri-vation, in covering Dr. Denten's speech. Underlining the threat to OC "magazine" male felt by looking ladder higher, the media's coverage characterized by Dr. Den-ten as a much more constructive individual.

Dr. Denten, who was graduated from Harvard University with honors and earned a Ph.D. in philo-sophy at Oxford University, En-gland, had a reason for suggesting cultural deprivation in the county. His speech, also presented at the Laguna Beach Democratic Club meeting March 27, was geared to illustrate the positive aspects which can be integrated into a commun-ity by a quality institution of learn-ing in its midst.

His final objective in such a pre-presentation should be easily recog-nized in an excerpt from the speech.

"This remarkable magnet is now in danger of being turned off. For a savings of a few percent in state support, the entire 'capital' of the University is being put in jeopardy. If UC loses its reputation for well-supported, high-quality, polit-ically independent education, it will lose in powers of attraction. Currently UC is 45th in the na-tion in faculty salaries; that it can survive at all with this low salary rating is testimony to its great attractiveness across the land."

Denten continued, "This attractive university system of California indicates through lack of support and threats of interference, that it is not willing to maintain excel-lence in education, and if this hap-pens even being first in the nation in salaries will not keep UC mag-nificent."

As so often is the case, those who could benefit most from a man like Denten are too shrewd to listen to him. The support of such a locale for the aspirations of such an internal de-privation" is heart-warming.

---

South Coast Repertory

A MOON FOR THE MISBEGOTTEN

Thursday through Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Special UCI student discounts available Call 673-9664 for reservations

---

Information

---

On Campus with Debi Murdoch

REQUIEM FOR A SQUARE

You, like any other lovable, clean-living, freckled-faced American kid, want to be a BMOC. How can you make it?

Well sir, there are several ways, none of which will be easy.

You're too purdy to be an athlete, too lazy to be a valedictorian, and too hairy to run for Homecoming Queen.

As for becoming a best-dressed man, how are you going to buy clothes with a miser for a father?

Are you licked then? It's a tough one to make BMOC. Yes, there is! And you can do it! Do what? This:

Become a hippie! Get cool! Get altruistic! Get an Identity Crisis! Be one of the Others!

Till it's over, to become somebody, simply follow these five simple rules:

1. Read all of Sidle in the original draft.
2. Have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.
3. Wear a 30-year old suit, or a 1930's Sherman.
4. Go to a happening, and see what happens. Then eighty more naked men pierced ear. Then eighty more naked men around the bush, hangup, isn't it, baby?
5. Double your pace, simply follow these five simple rules.

---
Vietnamese Survival Is Real War Issue
by U THANT
(From statements made at recent UN press conference)
The present plight of the Vietnamese people should be the first, and not the last, concern of all concerned. I see nothing but danger in the idea, so audaciously fostered outside Vietnam, that the conflict is a kind of holy war between two powerful political ideologies. The survival of the people of Vietnam must be seen as the real issue. . . .
The increasing intervention by outside powers in the conflict . . . has tended to alienate the people of Vietnam from their own destiny. I do not subscribe to the view that South Vietnam is strategically vital to Western interests and Western security, whatever its political or ideological pattern may be, in the same way as — to give an extreme example — Yugoslavia, for instance, does not pose a threat to international peace and security.
I think I know the mood of the leader in Vietnam. I think that the leaders in Vietnam are very independent. They are obsessed with the principle of non-alignment, which, as you know, is one of the twin objectives of the Geneva agreements. If Vietnam is independent and militarily non-aligned, as I have been advocating, preferably with the guarantee of the big powers, including the U.S., then I do not see how this could pose a threat to international peace or security or how Vietnam could be strategically vital to the interests and security of the West. . . .
A Case For Honesty In American Affairs
Marshall Windmiller, Associate Professor of International Relations at San Francisco State College and KPFK commentator, expressed the moral imperatives that have led the Anthill to begin its examination of the Vietnam War:
"(Students) . . . are through with fairy tales, and they have no respect for anyone who refuses to tell it like it is, that is the heart of the problem. The American society today seems incapable of telling it like it is. It has to lie about everything from cold remedies to Communism, from hair spray to Vietnam. And it's not only the young people who are in the same box, and I sometimes know it too. On March 28 Walter Lippmann said it is frankly: 'In order to avoid the embarrassment of calling a spade a spade,' he wrote, 'newspapermen have tacitly agreed to talk about a credibility gap. This is a polite euphemism for deception, rather like our Victorian grandparents who spoke of limits when they were too shy to speak of legs. . . ."
"All of this is producing a reaction in America . . . The Spring Mobilization is more than just a protest against the war. Certainly Vietnam is its focus, for the war is not only one of the major excuses for governmental lying, it is also a drain on our resources of money, talent and energy. It is an attempt to turn all efforts toward the reform and improve American society. But beyond that, the mobilization is an effort to break through the mismas of lies and misrepresentations that determine the way too many Americans perceive the world. . . . It is an attempt to tell it like it is. It will attract all kinds of people. Some will be well-dressed, and some will be ragged, but all will be respectable, and some not so respectable. Some will be wise and some will be foolish. But in the gigantic marches and rallies that will be held simultaneously in New York and San Francisco on April 15, most of the people will be united and dedicated to one over-riding concern. It is a conviction that whatever constitutes the good society, it cannot be built on falsehood, and that before America can solve any of its problems, it must restore truth to a place of public honor and respect."
"Lack of good faith? . . . What about those personal letters I sent you?"
by JOHN FAY
The myopic preoccupation with "Communism" has been the source of our tragic and stupid foreign policy since the Second World War. It is because of our embarkation upon a global anti-Communist crusade that we are in places like Vietnam today. First, came the Truman Doctrine, which proclaimed our "alienable right to intervene in cases in which we deemed involved Communist expansionism. It was followed by the Eisenhower Doctrine, proclaiming our right to intervene in what were expressly civil wars if "Communists" were involved. Our last two Presidents have carried forth these doctrines. The remark Hubert Humphrey made at Stanford which caused the most indignation was to this effect: He said that "If President John F. Kennedy were alive today he would be doing exactly what the Johnson Administration is doing at this very hour." (New Republic, March 18, 1967, p. 34) This is not strictly so. President Kennedy favored more limited counter-insurgency operations in the Third World. Yet Kennedy differed in tactics, not ideology. If Kennedy had possessed Cold War orientation similar to the present administration's, Humphrey would have been correct.
Thus our anti-Communism has been bi-partisan and has never been fully debated. It has often been mindless. It has excluded consideration of many social and political conditions: anti-colonial and anti-American feelings, nationalism, the "revolution of rising expectations" (the revolution against oppression and poverty which was inevitable with the loosening of colonial bounds in World War III). In Vietnam, unlike many other countries, the leader of the post-war transformation happened to be a Communist — Ho Chi Minh. He was also a nationalist and a popular hero. The Viet Minh and the present-day NLF have contained significant neutralist, non-Communist elements. No administration, confronted with these problems, has let such complexities stand in its way. The U.S. proceeded to finance the French colonial war, to back despots like Diem and Ky, to break the Geneva agreements, to escalate our military involvement, to bomb whole sections of the country.
What interests me here, however, is not "How" we got involved, but "Who" is to blame for our involvement. Some would say I must only speak about "what" involved us. Our anti-Communism is after all an idea (though a very simple-minded one) and a pervasive social malaise. It is, as I have indicated, bi-partisan, infecting the entire body politic. But the notion that no one is guilty, that men can serve an impersonal idea and bear no responsibility, is repulsive. It smacks of the Nazi excuse of "only doing one's duty." To the extent we cooperate with the evils of the Warfare State and the Cold War, we . . .
Why Do Peasants Revolt Against The South Vietnamese Gov't?

by LESLIE LINCOLN

Why is it that a lot of South Vietnamese want to fight their government? Douglas Pike, an officer of the U.S. Information Service, has recently tried to answer this question in a book called Vietcong: The Organization and Techniques of the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam. He claims that the only people who choose to join the NLF are "draft dodgers, military deserters, the adventurers and Pike displays here a typical modern American attitude: that all people's problems are rooted in purely personal, rather than social, conditions; and that people who join movements are blaming their troubles on "society" when they should really be trying to solve them in a personal way. This is the view of most Americans who call all demonstraters "kooks," and of southern whites who call black protesters "crazy niggers." This is the view of Joe Pyne when he says that all you have to do to be happy in the U.S. is to go out and work for your "share"; this is the view of college doctors who suggest to kids who are messed up by the pressure from aggression, and we don't have the sense, we have the right to impose communism vs. freedom - with us on the side we are afraid of being beaten.''

Once upon a time the people of Vietnam had a chance to make a choice: they are little better off today. The Geneva agreements of 1954 provided for free elections reuniting North and South; President Eisenhower's successor said that 80% of the people voted for Ho Chi Minh. This, apparently, didn't fit our definition of freedom. The U.S. created government in the South headed by that fabled democrat, Ngo Dinh Diem, and the elections were simply nulled.
Soldier Comments On US Dilemma In Vietnam
by PETER E. CLECKAN
Assistant Professor of English

Several weeks ago I received a letter from an American field grade officer completing a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam. My friend's angle of vision is partial, limited, but it is also fresh and immediate. He speaks eloquently about an unspoken war: the Vietnamese war.

"I've tried to look at the entire situation as objectively as possible. My feelings can best be summed up by saying: 'As of today, I have 69 days to go.' This practice of counting days seems to be the foremost thought on everyone's mind. It's the foremost thought on everyone's mind. It's the foremost thought on everyone's mind. (How's that for ignoring their existence?) But the thought on most everyone's mind is to do the best he can for a year and then get the hell out of here. Let the next guy take over. I suppose that in a way, it's like you're around. When the operation is over, we've been free to choose their own way of life' (in the offi cial documents, we don't capitalize Communist. How's that for ignoring their existence?).

... Who Violated 1954 Geneva Agreements?

(Continued from Page 4)

Although the United States did not sign the Geneva Agreements, Bedell Smith, Under Secretary of State said the following at the close of the Geneva Conference: "The Government of the United States of America declares with regard to the aforesaid Agreement, that it will refrain from the threat or use of force to disturb them, in accordance with Article 2 (Section 4) of the Charter of the United Nations, dealing with the obligations of Members to refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force; and (2) in view of the renewal of aggression in violation of the aforesaid agreements with grave concern and as seriously threatening international peace and security.

According to our government in recent years there seems to be no Geneva agreement, one real, the other illusory.

Bedell Smith had added an important observation to the letter. For example, in an address to the National Bar Association on August 12, 1964 he stated, "For ten years, during the Eisenhower Administration, the Kennedy Administration and this Administration, we have had one constant aim -- the observance of the 1954 Geneva Agreements. Neither Bedell Smith nor the Geneva agreements made any mention of South Vietnam; rather they discuss our independent nation with a "military demarcation line" that is provisional and should not be interpreted as constituting a territorial boundary." The Geneva Agreements contradict a basic premise of U.S. policy that South Vietnam is the victim of external Communist aggression. Vietnam is legally and historically one nation which has been artificially divided because of violation of the Geneva Agreements. The only foreign troops there are those of the U.S. and its allies.

Today the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front are fighting for the very national sovereignty promised them under the Geneva Agreement after they had defeated the French. As Marvin Gettlemann points out in Vietnam: History, Documents, and Options On a World Crisis, to the Viet Minh, the Geneva Agreements meant that after more than a decade of war, the struggle for control of Vietnam would be transformed to a political plane where they felt certain of victory. As President Eisenhower points out in Mandate for Change, Ho Chi Minh was the only national political hero in Vietnam, and had elections been held as scheduled in 1956, he almost certainly would have won. Thus, it was in the North Vietnamese best interest to strictly observe the agreements that were essentially a face saving way for the French to turn over control of Vietnam to the Viet Minh.

Public Opinion Has Little Effect On Vietnam Policy

by NELSON POLSBY

Reprinted from the April Issue of Trans-action

(The results of the Stanford polls that is discussed in the following article will appear in next week's Anthill -- EDITORIAL DIRECTOR)

... Soon after the Stanford poll was published, commercial surveys began to turn up confirming evidence of a large body of public opinion willing to support American policy as a means to de-escalate the conflict. But by then, as reporters noted, the White House use of polls had diminished.

Public opinion polls, it is clear, could no longer be invoked in support of certain policy alternatives. In order to justify these alternatives, more compelling reasons of state had to be given. It is doubtless that public opinion was ever regarded as more than a very insignificant factor in the actual determination of policy. Therefore, subtracting public opinion from the rhetoric of justification in the Vietnam war must be considered an important aid to clarification of the premises upon which choices are being made.

From focusing upon what public opinion forbade the President to do, the poll's impact seems to have had the opposite effect. As Richard Rovere put it in The New Yorker: "The polls show that the majority that supports the President as a war leader would also follow him in almost any effort he might make toward negotiation, going so far as to approve, the Stanford survey reported, "forming a new government in which the Vietcong took part."

... So far as public opinion is considered, it appears that a considerable leeway exists for American policy makers.

LB comments on US Policy

by LYNDON B. JOHNSON

(The following are representative excerpts of President Johnson's April 1964 speech at John Hopkins which potted out the intentions of U.S. policy in Asia -- Editorial Director)

... "Tonight American and Asian are dying for a world where each people may choose its own path to change."

"This is the principle for which our ancestors fought in the valley of Pennsylvania. It is the principle for which our sons fight in the jungles of Vietnam."

"The world as it is in Asia is not a serene or peaceful place."

"Why are we in South Vietnam? We are there because we have a promise to keep. Since 1954 every American President has offered support to the people of South Vietnam. We have helped to build and we have helped to defend. Thus, over many years, we have made a national pledge to help South Vietnam defend its independence. And I intend to keep our promise."

"To disavow that pledge, to abandon this small and brave nation, to leave it at the mercy of its enemy, and to the terror that must follow, would be an unforgivable wrong."

"To leave Vietnam to its fate would shake the confidence of all these people in the value of American commitment, the value of America's word. The result would be increased unrest and instability, and even wider war."

"We are also there because there are great stakes in the balance. Let no one think for a moment that retreat from Vietnam would bring an end to conflict. It would only relocate the struggle in another country and then another. The general lesson of our time is that the appetite of aggression is never satisfied. To withdraw from one battlefield means only to prepare for the next. We must say in Southeast Asia, as we did in Europe, in the words of the Bible: 'Thou shalt shalt thou come, but no further.'"

"Our objective is the independence of South Vietnam and its freedom from attack. We want nothing for ourselves, only that the people of South Vietnam be allowed to guide their own country in their own way." (Italics added)

Buddy..Boyfriend..Brother?

Death isn't selective in war. And this isn't Grandpa's war. Or Dad's. It's yours. Today.

We have a gimmick to end war. It's as rational and sound as law and order--a world federal government built on enforceable world law.

Sound far out? Think about it.

[Form for membership in Student World, 1346 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036]
Senates Take Action
On Pass-Fail Change

Several actions concerning the pass-fail option are levied have been taken since the recent Academic Senate meeting.

The Academic Senate has altered the pass-fail system to grade on L'Anteater Francizes

by ANDRE FABE

Dada nasqué de la bouche du Roumain Tristan Tzara le 7 Octobre 1916. Cinquante ans plus tard, Dada sur- vivit, revit et nous offre aujourd'hui le même éclat d'esprit anarchiste. C'est à d'espirt est-il en train de se réunir spontanément ou organisé?

Il réunit les objecteurs de conscience, les non-sé- mistes, les vagabonds, les dé- pêchés pour qui la moindre, de toutes les formes de pensée ce n'est pas la doute. Ini- manes, les anarchistes, les poé- tes, qui se moquent de la mort. Combate la vie et lutte contre la laideur. Institution du jour.

As soon as you apply for an A colleges on student records.

The pass-fail option committee established by the ASUC-Senate submitted a recommendation to the Academic Senate that a special committee, including students and faculty, investigate the alternatives to the present pass-fail program (raising the minimum pass grade). However, the group later with- drew its motion since this commit- ttee was a duplication of the Edu- cation Policy committee of the Academic Senate.

Senators, instead, adopted an offi- cial Statement of the ASUC Sen- ate, to be presented to the Aca- demic Senate by representative Bob Currier.

This measure reads: "We sin- cerely commend your recent resolu- tion to record a "not passed," which would not be compared in with a student's grade-point aver- age. We do not want this course taken pass-fail.

We recommend the establish- ment of a student-faculty commit- tee which will investigate both alter- natives to the present pass-fail system and the entire problem of grading.

"In addition, we reaffirm our earlier position that a "C" mini- mum passing grade would effect- ively destroy the pass-fail pro- gram and urge you to comply with the state-wide policy of having "D" as the minimum passing grade.

Calender of Events

Thursday, April 13

Supreme Courts Candidates Meeting.

Academic Senate Meeting, FA 1646, 4 p.m.

Interfaith Graduates Group, "The Reality of the Undownloadable," Dr. Bernard Gelb, Chairman, Math Department, 4127 Senate, dinner 6:30, discussion, 7:30.

UCI Denominational Lecture, "Problems in the New Left," Tom Kahn, League for Industrial Democracy, Science Lecture Hall, 7-10 p.m.

Friday, April 14

Lecture, "In Search of a Particle," Dr. Friedrich Reines, UCI Dean of Physics and discoverer of the neutrino, FA 1646, 4 p.m.

Friday One O'Clock Concert, FA 1646, 1 p.m.

Student Repertory Theater, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," 6-10 p.m.

Clifdad Dance, Common, 9 p.m.

Saturday, April 15

Non-Academic Staff Dinner Dance, 7 p.m., El Toro

Costa Computer Dance, Common, 8 p.m., 75 cents.

Student Repertory Theater, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," 8:10 p.m.

National Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam March on San Francisco and rally.

Sunday, April 16

Student Repertory Theater, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," 8:10 p.m.

Monday, April 17

Campus beginning for Supreme Court office.

Tuesday, April 18

Public Lecture, "Peace Through International Cultural Relations," Hon. Robert Cecil, C.M.G., FA 1646, 6 p.m.

Unclassified Ads

Need a room or roommate? Room Mate Service, fee $7. 532-1189.

Room Wanted: Preferred UNCLASSIFIED.

Need a room or roommate? Room Mate Service, fee $7. 532-1189.

Room Wanted: Preferred UNCLASSIFIED.

Need a room or roommate? Room Mate Service, fee $7. 532-1189.

Room Wanted: Preferred UNCLASSIFIED.

Need a room or roommate? Room Mate Service, fee $7. 532-1189.

Room Wanted: Preferred UNCLASSIFIED.
Additions to mesa court will provide 300 more housing spaces. Verano Place will double its present capacity.

Aptaker Debate Causes Wruchos

The appearance of Bertha Aptaker, OCI senior and an avowed Communist, on the University of Redlands campus may cause the student body president and 22 students to be suspended.

The young activist was invited to debate an honors student from Redlands on the Vietnam issue. Her appearance was sponsored by a group of U of R students.

Her sponsors were members of a recently formed all-hoc committee protesting a University closed speech policy. Miss Aptaker's presence violated a ruling which bars American Communists from speaking on the campus.

Although the debate between Miss Aptaker and David Kramer took place before an orderly crowd, Student Body President Don Stillman has said that disciplinary action may be taken against the sponsors.

"The possibility of suspension exists," said Stillman. "We wanted to bring her here to have an intellectual discussion. We know we were violating a policy, but we did it because we believed in an open debate of all ideas."

Stillman emphasized that the all-hoc committee does not necessarily agree with Miss Aptaker's political views, and the fact that she was invited to speak "doesn't mean the University or students advocate Communism," the president continued.

He also stated that the invitation was issued responsibly, and not as a definite attempt to cause disruption.

Miss Aptaker's visit to Redlands was part of a recently formed ad hoc committee's campaign to end the war in Vietnam.

Senior Receives Hon. Mention

Senior Virginia Schneider has been awarded an honorable mention from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. She is the first OCI student to receive such an award.

Miss Schneider was nominated from the history department to participate in the national competition, which presents grants for graduate study. After having submitted an official application, she was among 35% of the total applicants to be personally interviewed by Foundation representatives.

Henry Good Meyer, chairman of the Department of History pointed out that competition was very "tight." Since Miss Schneider was not only the first OCI student to participate in the competition, but also the first to be recognized, Mr. Meyer stated that her award was "a great honor to herself and to the history department."

A.S.U.C.

Cal Flights - Summer 1967

Europe

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Flight No.</th>
<th>Airline</th>
<th>Seats Available</th>
<th>From/to</th>
<th>Going date</th>
<th>Returning date</th>
<th>Fare</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Lufthansa</td>
<td>Sold Out</td>
<td>S.F./Paris</td>
<td>June 22</td>
<td>London/S.F.</td>
<td>$476.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Lufthansa</td>
<td>5 S.F., Frankfurt</td>
<td>June 19</td>
<td>S.F./Frankfurt</td>
<td>$494.50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>BOAC/Gantas</td>
<td>Sold Out</td>
<td>S.F./London</td>
<td>June 28</td>
<td>London/S.F.</td>
<td>$456.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>Air France</td>
<td>50 Oak. or L.A./Paris</td>
<td>June 22</td>
<td>Paris/Oak. or L.A.</td>
<td>$476.50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>Sold Out</td>
<td>N.Y./Paris</td>
<td>June 20</td>
<td>London/N.Y.</td>
<td>$265.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>30 N.Y., Zurich</td>
<td>June 21</td>
<td>Paris/N.Y.</td>
<td>$283.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>35 N.Y., Frankfurt</td>
<td>June 21</td>
<td>Paris/N.Y.</td>
<td>$265.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>5 N.Y.</td>
<td>June 21</td>
<td>London/N.Y.</td>
<td>$265.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>5 N.Y.</td>
<td>June 26</td>
<td>London/N.Y.</td>
<td>$265.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>TWA</td>
<td>15 N.Y./Paris</td>
<td>June 27</td>
<td>London/N.Y.</td>
<td>$265.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Cal Flights is a non-profit service of the Associated Students of the University of California, Berkeley, to provide members of the University community with low-cost air transportation to and from Europe during the summer months.

New low fares have been established by the major airlines for groups of 50 or more passengers travelling together to and from Europe between April 1 and October 31. Travel will be on regularly scheduled jet flights, not charter flights. No one-way flights are available. All passengers must pay a full fare, except that children under 2 and under 12 pay only half-fare and occupy their own seat. Infants under 2 occupy the same seat as their parent and pay these fares: to London — $24.50; to Paris — $26.50; to Frankfurt or Zurich — $28.30. In addition, A.S.U.C. charges each passenger a non-refundable $10 fee to cover administrative costs. No insurance is provided by the A.S.U.C. The fare for flight 6 includes a round-trip connecting flight between Oakland and Los Angeles.

These flights are open to all students, faculty, and staff members of any campus of the University of California. The spouse, children, and parents living in the same household as the eligible person may also participate, providing they accompany the eligible student, faculty member, or staff member.

The required deposit, including A.S.U.C.'s $10 administrative fee, is $50 per person ($25 for infants under 2), payable only by check or money order to "A.S.U.C. Cal Flights." The balance must be paid prior to April 15 to "Travel Service, Inc." 235 West MacArthur Blvd., Suite 440, Oakland; OL 3-0000, the travel agency assisting A.S.U.C. in handling the group of flights. Travel Service, Inc. will mail your ticket to you by May 20. Switching flights or reselling tickets is not permitted.

If you have any questions, please call us on weekdays, between 12:15 and 2, at TH B-4800, ext. 2229 or 4504; or, write A.S.U.C. Cal Flights, 509 Eshleman Hall, Berkeley.

Old House

(Continued from Page 1) The house seems to be slowing any formal action. Because of its obvious lack of architectural harmony with other campus structures, some administrators feel that it should be placed in an inconspicuous area.

Chancellor Aldrich feels that an appropriate location would be just beyond Verano Place. With future uses in mind, he has suggested this place since it may be the center of campus activity in the coming years.

Other members of the staff, such as Carroll Turbett, and some ARUC officers have suggested the small area adjacent to the FES building, the other side of the bridge. This location answers present needs, since it is near the Administrative Office, the Administration building and the area that presently is the "center of campus activity."

The problem of moving the massive structure is matter of concern also. Because of its size, the house could not be moved on Peninsula streets. It would have to be sectioned, floated on barges across the channel to Pacific Coast Highway and moved by vehicle from there.

The cost of reassembling the structure on campus would involve carpenters to rejoin the sections, replumbing, revarnishing and probably redesigning. Furnishings would also have to be purchased.

In addition to its nine bedrooms, the house has a large kitchen and pantry, two large living rooms (one of which can be used as a dining area), four fireplaces, eight bathrooms and an 80 square foot veranda. The spiral-lit house has a large picture window on the second story and is presently surrounded by numerous trees and bushes.

Senators

(Continued from Page 1) student body and future candidates, that the Student Senate, as presently constituted, is essentially irrele-
Ruggers Close Season At Catalina

UCI's Rugby Club closed out their season competition at the California Invitational Rugby Tournament, winning two of four contests.

The Catalina tourney is an annual event in which the best 15 teams in California are invited. Also included in this year's competition was Brown, the most powerful college rugby team on the Eastern seaboard.

According to team captain Tony Joyce, Irvine's ruggers established themselves as "one of the up-and-coming teams in California rugby as a result of the tournament play."

For the first game, Irvine drew against San Francisco. Irvine lost to San Francisco 24-31.

Facing San Diego State in their final game, Irvine dropped one of this year's competition on a high note, winning 6-3. The ruggers suffered their only tournament injury in this highly contested match. Rob Mitchell broke his nose and arm.

The club's second game was played against Westminster's Rugby Club and ended in a 9-9 deadlock. The tie was broken by a kick-off easily won by Irvine's Joyce, four kicks to two.

The Ruggers then faced UCLA, who had embarrassed the club early in the season, 31-11. Much improved, Irvine again lost, but by only a penalty kick, 6-3.

Facing San Diego State in their final game, Irvine closed out one of this year's competition on a high note, winning 6-3. The ruggers suffered their only tournament injury in this highly contested match.

After last Friday's meet with Cal State LA, was cancelled because of rain, the netters hosted both Cal Western and Air Force on Saturday and won both matches, 7-3 and 5-2 respectively.

After racking up three straight victories in four days, Coach Myron McNamara's tennis team traveled south tomorrow for a match with UCSD.

UCI Sailors Finish Series With Two Weekend Meets

Irvine's sailing team winds up PCIYRA eliminations competition this weekend with regattas on both Saturday and Sunday in the North Lido Channel.

Saturday's competition, hosted by UCLA, will begin at 11 a.m. as will Sunday's, hosted by UCSD. Between 15 and 17 schools will participate in each regatta.

The ten 20-minute races are held in the Newport Archers Marina, near the Berkshire Restaurant at the intersection of Newport and 101, at the extreme west end of the Lido Channel.

The Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association six weekend series regattas serve to narrow the field of competition to six schools for the Pacific Coast Regatta to be held next weekend.

The winner of that regatta will be state PCIYRA champion.

In 1967, the club and ended in a 9-9 deadlock, but was won by UCI team captain Tony Joyce in a tie-breaking kickoff, 4-3.

Netters Win Three; Meet UCSD Tomorrow

The team has won 10 of 14 matches thus far, losing to Stanford, Cal, Redlands, and Long Beach State. According to Mc- Namara, the team is looking forward to both to the Ojai Valley In- tercollegiates late in the month and the NCAA small college championships in June.

"I think we've got a chance to take the small college division in both of these meets," McNamara said.

Netters Win Three; Meet UCSD Tomorrow

The team has won 10 of 14 matches thus far, losing to Stanford, Cal, Redlands, and Long Beach State. According to Mc- Namara, the team is looking forward to both to the Ojai Valley In- tercollegiates late in the month and the NCAA small college championships in June.

"I think we've got a chance to take the small college division in both of these meets," McNamara said.

An Outstanding Value In Life Insurance

$10,000.00 for only $3750

FOR STUDENTS ONLY between ages 5 & 25

Available through your American Mutual Life Representative LEE EMANUEL

For Information, Write or Call 1629 Coriander Drive Costa Mesa 540-4849

SUMMER LANGUAGE INSTITUTE

FRENCH GERMAN RUSSIAN SPANISH

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

SANTA CRUZ, CA

SUMMER SESSIONS

June 26 - Sept. 1, 1967

Living - Learning language programs for beginning students.

Intensive ten-week summer sessions for beginning and intermediate students.

For further information, please write:

Mr. George M. Benigno

SUMMER LANGUAGE INSTITUTE

University of California

Santa Cruz

Santa Cruz, California 95060

Magical Music Stores is offering their stereo tape deck for $10.00 off their regular low discount price of $39.95. This machine is nationally advertised as such for $49.95. Now yours for only $29.95. Come in and hear the largest selection of tapes in the Southland.

MAGICAL MUSIC STORES

1234 East 17th Street, Santa Ana

Telephone 542-3094

OPEN DAILY — EXCEPT MONDAY

$1000 OFF SPECIAL STUDENT DISCOUNT