

Here's how to know if you're affected:

Run a test webinar. Add YouTube url into Easywebinar. Register as an attendee have tab open to your countdown url and wait for redirect to live page. Be on YouTube Live/Google Hangouts and Live/Broadcasting. As long as you are Live and Broadcasting you then get redirected to live event page once timer reaches zero. Then if your Event video shows the following error, your account has been affected.

"Watch this video on YouTube. Playback on other websites has been disabled by the video owner"

If you see your test Live Stream, then all is well with your account. However, because YouTube is known to roll out changes to users in a graduated way, it may be that your account will be affected in the future. It doesn't hurt to follow the following steps now.

Not everyone will be affected but those that have had their Live Streaming come to an end recently this was the fix for it.

How to resolve the issue:

Once you see the error message above, you can click on the YouTube link to go directly to the YouTube Event. Under the video to edit the settings. Click the advanced tab.

Under "distribution settings" you might see a checkbox that reads "allow embedding" that is greyed out, with a message under it that reads "You cannot embed live streams. Learn more (a link)"

The screenshot displays the YouTube Creator Studio interface. On the left sidebar, the 'LIVE STREAMING' section is expanded, and the 'Events' option is highlighted with a red circle. A red arrow points from this circle to the 'Advanced settings' tab in the main content area. Another red arrow points from the 'Advanced settings' tab to the 'Distribution options' section, which is also circled in red. In this section, the 'Allow embedding' checkbox is greyed out, and a red arrow points to the 'Learn more' link below it. The main content area shows the 'give title' video settings page with various tabs like 'Basic info', 'Advanced settings', and 'Monetization'. The 'Advanced settings' tab is selected, showing options for Chat, License and rights ownership, Syndication, Caption certification, Promotions, and Age restrictions. The 'Distribution options' section is visible at the bottom of the main content area.

The Image below shows it approved which takes 24-48 hrs and monetization needs to be enabled at first to get to be able to Embed Live Streaming as shown in previous Image. Once it shows approved and it is enabled you can click on Edit of your event and go to advance settings to see if it went through and is no longer grayed out and now allows you to embed. (you can disable monetization later if you wish).

Click the link to Learn More, or visit <https://support.google.com/youtube/answer/2474026?hl=en> At that page you'll see that Google had changed their system and now required adsense enabled accounts to stream live embedded video. Simply follow the steps in that link to enable monetization for your account.

The screenshot shows the YouTube Help page for 'Introduction to live streaming'. The page has a red header with the text 'YouTube help' and 'Live streaming guide > YouTube live stream setup'. The main content area is white and contains the following sections:

- Introduction to live streaming

You can reach your audience live by taking advantage of live streaming on YouTube.

Before you get started with your live stream you need to do a few things:

  1. Confirm that your channel is verified and that you have no live stream restrictions in the last 90 days.
  2. Enable live streaming from Creator Studio tools -> Live Streaming.
- Start streaming

Once your channel is enabled, you have two options to start your live stream:

  - Stream now is a quick and easy way to go live. Start sending content and we'll automatically start and stop the stream for you at the right time.
  - Events gives you greater control of the live stream. You can preview before you go live, you have backup redundancy streams, and you can start and stop the stream when you want.
- A highlighted box (circled in red) contains the text: "If you want to embed your live stream on a site, make sure you have an approved AdSense account linked to your YouTube account."
- A link: "Learn more about setting up a live stream."
- A feedback section: "Was this article helpful?" with "YES" and "NO" buttons.

The right sidebar is red and titled 'YouTube live stream setup'. It contains a list of links:

- Introduction to live streaming
- Create a live stream
- Choose Ingestion Settings
- Set up your live streaming encoder
- Live encoder settings, bitrates and resolutions
- Preview, start and stop Events
- Live stream metrics
- YouTube live FAQs
- YouTube live in 360 degrees encoder settings
- Promote your live stream
- Streaming tips

At the bottom right, there is a red square icon with white symbols representing various media and production tools, with the text 'Boost production skills' below it.

This is a new requirement from what we can see, but luckily you can opt to turn off all ads after you have your account set up. Once this is done, you can turn monetization back off under Channel, Status and Features.

The screenshot shows the YouTube Help page for 'Enable paid content'. The page is titled 'Enable paid content' and includes a search bar at the top with the text 'Search YouTube Help'. The main content area is white and contains the following sections:

- Enable paid content: A heading followed by a paragraph: 'Before you can make your videos or channels available to only paying customers, you need to enable paid content for your YouTube account. Learn more about paid content.'
- Eligibility requirements: A section with the text 'To be eligible to create paid content, you must meet these requirements:' followed by a bulleted list:
  - You meet the criteria for YouTube partnership.
  - You have verified your account by phone.
  - You have an approved AdSense account linked to your YouTube account.
  - You own a channel with at least 1000 active subscribers.
  - You are located in one of the eligible locations.
- Eligible countries & regions: A link with a dropdown arrow.
- Steps to enable paid content: A section with the text 'Use these steps to enable the option to create paid videos or channels for your account.' followed by a numbered list:
  1. Log in to your YouTube account.
  2. In the top right, click your account icon > Creator Studio.
  3. In the left menu, click Channel > Status and features.
  4. Under "Features," go to Paid content and click Enable. This option is only available if you meet the eligibility requirements.
  5. Read the terms of the YouTube Paid Content Agreement, select the check boxes indicating that you agree to the terms, and click I accept.
- Warning box: A yellow box with a warning icon and text: 'If it says that your network needs to sign an agreement with YouTube, someone with Content Manager permissions needs to go to the Settings > Features page, click Enable, and sign the agreement. You can skip the remaining steps.'
- Was this article helpful?: A section with two buttons: 'YES' and 'NO'.

The right sidebar is red and contains a list of links under the heading 'Paid content':

- Introduction to paid content
- Enable paid content
- Upload paid content
- Create paid videos
- Create paid channels
- Create channel subscription offers
- Create video rental or purchase offers
- Apply content ratings
- Disable a paid channel

Below the sidebar is a red graphic with white icons representing various YouTube features and a link: 'Boost production skills'. Below this is a paragraph: 'Want to take your production skills to the next level while staying on a budget? Join our free production boot camp from Aug 2-23. Start today.'

At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with the text: '©2016 Google - Privacy Policy - Terms of Service' and a language selector: 'English'.
