Embrace the Positive Potentials for 2017

Laarkmaa through Pia Orleane, PhD, and Cullen Baird Smith

Everyone wants predictions of the future in order to feel safe and comfortable. We cannot give you a rigid prediction or exact descriptions of what might or might not happen in your future, for your future is up to you. From our Pleiadian perspective, time does not exist. Making a prediction of something for your supposed future does not really look at what is going on right now, and the choices of each now create what comes next. However, we can see potentials for 2017. Human evolution is accelerating, and we know that you can feel it. Many, many things show you that the world is not the same. Most of you are constantly looking for signs and symbols to alert you that something new and better is on its way. Indeed, it is. But the world is going to have to go through a bit of chaos first. Like any birth process, chaos is involved before the new creation arrives.

We will give you the potentials we see for 2017, but they are just potentials because everything is influenced by your thoughts and choices. Thoughts are energy. The thoughts of each human on the planet contribute to what might actually happen because you cocreate your future through the thoughts you think.

Move through Chaos

You will most likely see and have greater contact with lightships and beings from other realms in 2017. The lightbeings here to help humanity evolve are just slightly outside of your normal vision now but will become clearer so that you will know we are here to support you and help you work with the universal energies that are coming to Earth at this time.

Since 2012, you have been hearing about a time of great shift on all levels. This is that time. In 2017, it is likely that Earth will have more earthquakes, more tsunamis, more hurricanes, more fires, more droughts, more floods, and more of all things that are part of the chaos that occurs when everything is reordering to create a new world. It might also be a time of economic collapse, which has already started. Circumstances will require you to be more cooperative and equitable with one another in 2017 in both economics and relationships.

The energies of the Divine Feminine insist that Earth return to a state of balance, which has always been intended for you. You will see in the birth process many more attributes of the Divine Feminine coming forth in all areas, including how you make exchanges with one another. That means you will say no when it is necessary and stand up for what is right. You will be involved with justice but at a different level — at an energetic level where you simply refuse to participate in activities that are not just or are not for the highest good of all. Your economy on this planet is currently based on greed and competition. As your economics begin to fall apart, you will need to find better ways to cooperate. The energies of the Divine Feminine are based on cooperation and abundance for all.

Twenty seventeen will lead you through chaos and scarcity to create exchanges that provide this much-needed abundance. We advise you to store enough water and food to last about six weeks to keep you comfortable during the transitions of 2017. There might be times when electricity or fuel is not available, so you need to be able to keep yourselves warm, and you need to have food and water in case trucks are unable to transport those goods to your local grocery store.

You might also have threats of war, but war is not likely to materialize right away. Those who have been controlling you will fight against many of the things that are coming to bring equality, balance, justice, peace, bliss, and a more harmonious world. Know that you can participate with the energies of peace and evolution by refusing to fight. Standing up and saying, “No, I will not participate in this,” is not the same thing as engaging in or supporting a war based on the old values of competition and control. Your country has long convinced you that wars are necessary for people to achieve freedom, but freedom is not achieved through war. Freedom is achieved through refusing to participate in values that support separation and greed. Freedom is achieved by supporting each other. Each of you reading this article knows that in your heart.

Earth Will Have Help from Other Realms

The truth is that you are moving into a time when it is absolutely essential to step away from living in fear. Instead, move into places where you are filled with love and have compassion for everyone. Stop judging one another, and accept things as they are while you simultaneously move toward necessary changes. Potentials for change in the spring of 2017 might bring much disruption in your normal circumstance. It could come in any form, for all forms are shifting in different ways right now. You might expect to see an increase in Earth activity, more economic decline, more governmental control, and more visitors from other realms to help you sort it all out. We are here with you, and we know that many, many people are becoming more aware and can see us more easily.

In the etheric realms, our colleagues and we are creating a rainbow bridge between Russia and the United States. On your third-dimensional level, there is much conflict between these two countries, but in the higher realms, there is no conflict. The rainbow bridge is being built across these two great countries for star nations to help you resolve your differences and find peace and communication. In 2017, you may see the manifestation of ships in certain sacred places in Russia and in the state of New Mexico. Those who are paying attention will see them. Others may need to broaden their thoughts about what they think they see, for ships will indeed arrive on your planet. It will no longer be necessary for you to ask your governments to disclose the truth about us. In 2017, governmental disclosure will no longer be required, for our presence will become very apparent. Pleiadians, Arcturians, Syrians, and other beings of love and light will weave their way through the human population to help you elevate your lightbodies as the planet moves closer to ascension.

You will have help to move beyond the restrictions of the third dimension. Remember that your choices determine your ability to do this. Many of you wish to ascend and still be of service on this planet. These things are possible in 2017; that is the potential. But potentials only occur when you participate through active, conscious choices. Each of you must learn to make choices to participate through conscious thoughts, conscious actions, and a conscious diet that causes no harm to any other living being. Every choice you make moment by moment needs to be at a higher vibration. As you make these conscious choices and elevate your energy, you will be able to experience the interaction between yourselves and lightbeings from other dimensions. This is your choice and your opportunity. In 2017, the gates will open wide for contact to occur. And it will!

Your Decisions Will Have Greater Effects

An energy is also coming in 2017 to help you understand what is true and what is not. You must learn to be transparent with one another. Stop hiding things you are ashamed of. Learn to accept one another as you are and with love. Through that transparency, you can overcome those who try to control you because you will no longer be afraid someone will disapprove of you or deny you love. You will see that your fear has allowed others to control you. When you are transparent with each other, the fear of not being loved goes away. You will also be able to see through the tricks and games that have been used to control you by playing on your human fears. Your bonding in transparency creates a higher energy, one that cannot be controlled. All these things come through your willingness to consciously evolve.

The planet is only steps away from ascending into a light form. You will notice that some of you already live on parallel Earths. Sometimes you might feel very much in the third dimension where you must pay the bills and keep appointments. You must do the things that support your physical form. At other times, you will become more aware that you are moving into multidimensional reality. You are moving back and forth between the two. You need to get used to that in 2017 as you make your own decisions about how you will evolve. Choice is very important for humans right now. It always has been, but now your decisions carry more power than ever to achieve your goals. Whatever you choose now is amplified by the energies pouring in. You will notice more and more unusual things, but do not be afraid of them. Instead, be curious and delighted. What we see for 2017 is an accelerated form of chaos before you give birth to the new position you have longed for on your evolutionary journey.

Embrace Multidimensional Awareness

Many speak of evolving into the fifth dimension. We do not speak of that, for you are not limited to moving only into the fifth dimension. Instead, we ask you to open your hearts to all possibilities. It is possible to live in all dimensions simultaneously, as we do. Multidimensional awareness is what is coming your way. Do not limit yourself by thinking of ascending only to the fifth dimension. This is a linear, hierarchal way of thinking that moves you from the third to the fourth and to the fifth dimensions. Open your hearts, your awareness, and your thoughts to more possibilities.

Learn to think differently in 2017. Change your thoughts. Remove those old beliefs that no longer serve you, and open to curiosity about the true reality and what is happening now. Ask, "What am I feeling? Why am I feeling it? What can this mean?" Learn to have every thought come from a place of gratitude and curiosity rather than from a place of expectation or fear. Don't expect anything except change.

Change will bring you all that you need. When you have a trusting heart and you step into change with gratitude, you will find 2017 easier to navigate. If you are constantly afraid of what might or might not happen, you will have a more difficult birth process. So we tell you that we are with you and are sending love, as are all of our light brothers and sisters, and we support you from the energetic realms.

Disappointment on your part is always possible if you do not elevate your thinking or if you do not open your hearts and your eyes to see what is truly in front of you. You can choose to remain focused on the third-dimensional reality as it exists currently, hoping for change or being afraid that change will be uncomfortable. Or you can choose to open your eyes and see the true reality. It is up to you. So rather than predicting what is coming in 2017, we have shared with you the potentials available to you. The potentials are great for your expansion and for your communication with those who you have been waiting to communicate with you for a very long time. Remember that this potential is up to you!

We trust that you will be able to move through every challenge you have in 2017 to speed your evolutionary process. Your choices move you toward a rainbow body, that multidimensional form of human that has not yet walked Earth. You are the forerunners; you are the ones who will make it happen. Make it happen through your choices and your thoughts and by simply being love. Happy 2017. We love you. Good always. ●

Pia Orleane, PhD, and Cullen Baird Smith have accessed parallel realms of love and light since childhood. Both are interstellar communicators, and bringing forth the voice of Laarkmaa requires their combined energies. Two books of Laarkmaa's wisdom, Conversations with Laarkmaa and Remembering Who We Are, as well as information on personal sessions, are available at www.Laarkmaa.com. Pia offers readings for evolutionary guidance, which are available at www.PiaOrleane.com.
