Windflower

Anemones, commonly known as Chinese anemone, Japanese anemone or Windflower, are a lovely sight in the late summer or fall garden. Cup shaped, single to semi-double flowers, in shades of white or pink, form lovely rosettes around a ring of golden stamens. Flowers are carried high above mounded foliage on long, upright, wiry but graceful dark stems. One of the longest-blooming perennials in the garden, Anemones will provide weeks of color from late summer to early fall.

Pictured:

Anemone hupehensis* var. japonica 'Pamina'

Semi-double flowers of deep rose with a central ring of yellow stamens. A heavy bloomer, and one of the last of the fall anemones to flower. Best in partial shade and well-drained soil.

Anemone x hybrida* 'Whirlwind'

Exceptionally large (to 4" across), pure white, semi double flowers sway in the autumn breeze on tall, wiry stems.

Anemone tomentosa* 'Robustissima'

Soft, single pink flowers on a spreading anemone. Flowers late summer.

Anemone x hybrid* 'Lucky Charm'

New foliage is dark violet, but as it matures, tops turn dark green, and undersides turn to light violet. Stems are dark purple, almost black, while flower buds are medium violet. The flowers of 'Lucky Charm' are darker pink than September Charm, and provide excellent mid-to-late season flower color.

Anemone x hybrida* 'Wild Swan'

PP#23,132. An exceptional selection, offering prolific, pure white, cupped flowers, with a blue-violet reverse. Blooms are held high above dark green foliage. Excellent for dappled shade and woodland settings.

Not Pictured:

Anemone x hybrida* 'September Charm'

Loads of single rose-pink flowers in late summer. The slightly cupped petals, arranged around a center of yellow stamens, have an old-fashioned charm. Good cut flower for home use.

Anemone x hybrida* 'Honorine Jobert'

A multitude of pure white flowers on graceful, branching, upright stems, above an attractive mound of dark green foliage. Blooms 5+ weeks.
