

VIBURNUM Summer Snowflake

VIBURNUM PLICATUM 'SUMMER SNOWFLAKE'

This reblooming beauty provides stunning color from spring to fall!

'Summer Snowflake' is an upright variety, that can reach heights of up to 8 feet. Pure white, lacecap-like flowers begin to bloom in spring, and continue sporadically through summer (hence the cultivar name), and frequently into early fall. The flowers and stunning burgundy autumn foliage may be simultaneously present, making for a vivid display in the garden! Discovered in Japan in the 1960's, by R. F. Michaud of Alpenglow Gardens, and introduced by the Canadian Ornamental Plant Foundation, 'Summer Snowflake' makes an excellent free-flowering screen or hedge. Equally bold when planted en masse, or as a stand-alone specimen.

- Repeat bloomer!
- Lacecap-like, pure white flowers from spring to early fall
- Evergreen shrub; mature size 8'H x 6'W
- Burgundy autumn foliage
- Leaves, flowers and fruits are smaller than those found on typical Viburnum tomentosum plants
- Zone 5
