Research has shown that the human body was meant to last to the age of 120, yet statistics show that, on average, the human body is dying at age 76.

My question to you is, how long do you really want to live...with a quality of life? I'm not talking about a wheelchair, an attendant and a bladder bag! And question #2. What are you doing with your temple, your body today, to ensure that you live with a quality and quantity of life?

Understand that 1 out of every 3 people will die of cancer or heart disease! 40% of heart disease deaths, the first symptom that killed them was a heart attack.

How many would agree, by a raise of hands that we tend to judge our health by how we feel? Yet we can all have high blood pressure, blocked arteries, a tumor...all causing damage, yet we don't feel it.

Now do you think people who have died from heart disease or cancer, would do it differently, if they had the opportunity to prevent their death, by not waiting for that first symptom?

Many of you have checked off many symptoms on your "Got Subluxation" survey. Some of you are taking dangerous drugs, hoping it will go away. Yet those body signals are warning signs, and I guarantee that your body is in a state of malfunction, or disease and is not in a state of optimal health.

Our body communicates with us, telling us that it is having challenges with being healthy! Now I want to ask all of you, is your health enough of a priority, to find the cause of your problem or at least get rid of it. Or do you want to wait and hope that "it will go away"?
