

Remedial and Special Education (RASE) is devoted to the discussion of issues involving the education of persons for whom typical instruction is not effective. Emphasis is on research, systematic reviews, and discussion papers that have compelling implications for the practice of remedial and special education. Published bimonthly.

Types of Manuscripts

Topics appropriate for the journal include, but are not limited to, definition, identification, assessment, characteristics, management, and instruction of underachieving and exceptional children, youth, and adults; related services; family involvement; service delivery systems; legislation; litigation; and professional standards and training. Manuscripts should have clear and explicit implications for educational policy or practice. The following types of articles are considered for publication:

- Original research studies, including experimental (group and single-subject methodologies), quasi-experimental, descriptive (e.g., observational studies, surveys), correlational, and qualitative designs. Length: 20–30 typed, double-spaced pages, including references, tables, figures, and an abstract.
- Literature reviews, including meta-analyses, best-evidence syntheses, and other systematic reviews of the literature. Length: 25–40 typewritten, double-spaced pages, including references, tables, figures, and an abstract
- Conceptual, policy, or position papers. Length: 20–30 typewritten, double-spaced pages, including references, tables, figures, and abstract.

Acceptance Criteria

Submitted manuscripts are screened for (a) appropriateness of content, (b) adherence to guidelines outlined in the APA Publication Manual, (c) page length limits (specified above), and (d) clear implications for special education policy and practice. If these criteria are met, the manuscript is assigned to an editor or associate editor. Each manuscript is reviewed by at least two evaluators with expertise related to the content and/or methodology of the manuscript. When reviews are returned, the editor assigned to the manuscript carefully considers reviewers' comments, independently evaluates the manuscript, and makes an editorial decision to: accept, accept pending revisions, request a revision subject to re-review, or reject. Our goal is to provide an initial decision within 90 days. Authors receive anonymous copies of reviewers' comments. Reviewers are informed of the final decision and are provided with blinded copies of all reviewers' comments. Major criteria for publication are quality of the writing, methodology, implications for practice/policy, and overall importance to the field. Manuscripts addressing topics already closely aligned with articles recently published (or forth-coming) in RASE will not be prioritized. All research studies must provide a clear indication that IRB approval was obtained and human participant protections enforced.

Manuscript Preparation

Manuscripts should be prepared according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed., 2020). Manuscripts should adhere to the following formatting guidelines:

1. Title Page. Submit a separate title page file with (a) article title; (b) names of all authors; (c) author affiliations, complete mailing address for contact author, e-mail addresses of all authors; and (d) any acknowledgments, financial disclosure information, author notes, or other text that could identify authors to reviewers.

2. Format. 8½ × 11 in. document; 1-in. margins; double-spacing, left alignment, Times New Roman, 12-pt. type for text. Include title & abstract. Text and table files must be Word text documents; no PDFs.
3. Tables. Each table should start on a new page. Tables should be double-spaced; please use Word's table functions.
4. Endnotes. Use endnotes sparingly. Number with Arabic numerals starting with 1 and continuing through the article. Example: (see Note 1). NO footnotes.

Authors for Whom English is a Second Language. It is highly recommended to have a colleague or copyeditor who is fluent in English review the manuscript before submission.

Figures. Figures should be separate files, with each figure on a new page or file. Figures must be black and white only and production-ready. Because most art will be reduced to fit, use bold type that is large enough to be reduced and still be readable, and make sure rules/tick marks are at least 1 pt. Acceptable electronic formats for art: TIFF, EPS, Word, or Excel. For scans/photos, download the SAGE Image Resolution Guidelines from the Instructions & Forms link at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rase>. If loading Excel files causes problems, copy/paste them into a Word document.

Permissions. It is the author's responsibility to obtain written permission for material (e.g., figures, tables, extensive quotes) taken directly or adapted from another source. Payment of any fees the copyright holder may require is also the author's responsibility. Permissions often take a considerable amount of time to be granted, so start the request process early. Material taken from software or from the Internet also requires obtaining permission. Download a Permissions Request form from the Instructions & Forms link at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rase>. Read permissions carefully to ensure the language is broad enough to allow publication in all formats, including electronic and print. Failure to obtain permission will result in removal of the item or the article.

Supplemental Material. Decisions regarding inclusion of supplemental material will be made by the editor as part of the article acceptance process. With the exception of videos and podcasts, supplemental files will be deposited to Figshare and assigned a DOI. Authors are responsible for the scientific accuracy and file functionality of all supplemental files; materials will not be copyedited, typeset, or proofread. Additional information and guidelines are available for download from the Instructions and Forms link (<https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rase>).
