

Rural Special Education Quarterly (RSEQ) is produced by the American Council on Rural Special Education (ACRES) and published by the Hammill Institute on Disabilities. RSEQ is the only national scholarly publication solely devoted to rural special education issues. The journal's purpose is to provide articles concerning federal laws and policy and other events relevant to rural individuals with disabilities, progressive service delivery systems, reviews of relevant conferences and publications, and resources for rural special educators. Manuscripts that have not been previously published and are not under review by any other publication are invited for review.

Types of Manuscripts

Manuscripts of five types with a distinctly rural focus may be submitted:

- 1. Research Reports: empirical or applied research with appropriate methods and significant findings
- 2. Program Descriptions: innovations in service delivery or personnel preparation, with evaluation data
- 3. Position Papers: discussions of current issues and trends, with literature review and recommendations
- 4. Practice in Action: helpful ideas and examples for direct implementation by practitioners
- 5. Viewpoints: discussion of "hot" topics to share personal perspectives and stimulate discussion

Review Process and Criteria

Submitted manuscripts are screened for appropriateness of topic and quality before being sent out for review. Manuscripts are reviewed by three experts in the field to determine originality, contribution to the field, and suitability for publication in RSEQ. The field review process takes approximately 3–4 months. Editors make final decisions concerning publication. During the review process inquiries may be addressed to the editor via email. RSEQ reserves the right to edit for clarity and readability. The publisher cannot accept responsibility for the correctness of information supplied or opinions expressed by authors. The mention of commercial products, their sources, or their use in connection with the material reported is not to be construed as either an actual or implied endorsement of such products by the American Council on Rural Special Education, the editor and editorial board, affiliates and sponsors, or the Hammill Institute on Disabilities.

Manuscript Preparation

Guidelines specified in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th edition, 2020) should be followed. Pay particular attention to the sections concerning guidelines for nonsexist language, avoiding ethnic bias, and referring to people with disabilities using person-first language. NOTE. Authors for Whom English Is a Second Language: It is highly recommended to have a colleague or copyeditor who is fluent in English review the manuscript before submission.

Page Counts

Must include title/abstract page, references, main text, and all table and figure pages. Research Reports, Program Descriptions, and Position Papers: 30 to 35 double-spaced pages; Practice in Action and Viewpoints: not to exceed 20 double-spaced pages).

Format

- 1. Title Page. Submit a separate title page file with (a) article title; (b) names of all authors with highest academic degree; (c) author affiliations with complete mailing addresses and e-mail addresses for all authors; and (d) any acknowledgments, financial disclosure information, author notes, or other text that could identify authors to reviewers.
- 2. Document. 8½ × 11 in. document; 1-in. margins; double-spacing, left alignment, Times New Roman, 12-pt. type for text. Include title & abstract. Text and table files must be Word text documents; no PDFs.
- 3. Abstract: An abstract of no more than 150 words should follow the title on the first page of the main text document.

- 4. Tables. Each table should start on a new page. Tables should be double-spaced; please use Word's table functions. Do not save as a picture.
- 5. Endnotes. Use endnotes sparingly. Number with Arabic numerals starting with 1 and continuing through the article. Example: (see Note 1). NO footnotes.

Figures

Figures should be separate files, with each figure on a new page or file. Figures must be black and white only and production-ready. Because most art will be reduced to fit, use bold type that is large enough to be reduced and still be readable, and make sure rules/tick marks are at least 1 pt. Acceptable electronic formats for art: TIFF, EPS, Word, or Excel. For scans/photos, download the SAGE Image Resolution Guidelines from the Instructions & Forms link at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rseq>.

Permissions

It is the author's responsibility to obtain written permission for material (e.g., figures, tables, extensive quotes) taken directly or adapted from another source. Payment of any fees the copyright holder may require is also the author's responsibility. Permissions often take a considerable amount of time to be granted, so start the request process early. Material taken from software or from the Internet also requires obtaining permission. Download a Permissions Request form from the Instructions & Forms link at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rseq>. Read granted permissions carefully to ensure the language is broad enough to allow publication in all formats, including electronic and print. Failure to obtain permission will result in removal of the item or the article.

Supplemental Material

Decisions regarding inclusion of supplemental material will be made by the editor as part of the article acceptance process. With the exception of videos and podcasts, supplemental files will be deposited to Figshare and assigned a DOI. Authors are responsible for the scientific accuracy and file functionality of all supplemental files; materials will not be copy-edited, typeset, or proofread. Additional information and guidelines are available for download from the Instructions and Forms link at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rseq>.
