Reflections on Readings for the
The Fourth Sunday in Lent

"Not As Man Sees Does God See"

Our readings for this Sunday are all about light vs. darkness, what God sees contrasted with what man cannot see, at least not without God's grace.

Our first reading (1 Samuel 16:1b,6-7,10-13)

continues our journey through Salvation history. This week, we hear of the anointing of young David as the future King of Israel. God saw what Samuel did not see. God looked into the heart and chose the ruddy youth David and anointed him to be the new King of Israel, the precursor of Jesus, king of heaven and earth. "The LORD said, 'There—anoint him, for this is the one!' Then Samuel, with the horn of oil in hand, anointed David in the presence of his brothers."

In our Epistle reading (Ephesians 5:8-14), St. Paul reminds us that we have had our spiritual sight restored in Christ Jesus through our Baptism – we are no longer in darkness but are "children of the light." That brings certain responsibilities and expectations. "Try to learn what is pleasing to the Lord. Take no part in the fruitless works of darkness; rather expose them. . . ."

Our Gospel reading (John 9:1-41) is the story of Jesus healing the man born blind. Jesus healed the man with spittle and dust (clay), similar to God at creation, who formed man from His spittle and the dust of the earth. This blind man, in his healing, walks a similar journey as last week's Gospel story of the Woman at the Well. First, they see Jesus as just "a man", then they see Jesus as "a prophet", finally, both see Jesus as "the Son of Man". Jesus said to the man born blind from birth, "Do you believe in the Son of Man? . . . He said, 'I do believe, Lord,' and he worshiped him." This is a story about spiritual blindness vs. physical blindness. The blind man sees, but the Pharisees, though they can see physically, are still blind spiritually.

Physical blindness in today's Gospel is a metaphor for spiritual blindness. Even though we see the world around us with our eyes, without God's grace, we are still in darkness. Grace gives the eyes of our soul the ability to see God, to know God, and to share God with others. As Saint Paul tells us, we must live as children of the light. "Awake, O sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will give you light."

The Idea of Solidarity in Catholic Social Teaching

The term Solidarity comes up often in Catholic Social Teaching. What do we mean by it? Saint Pope John Paul II tells us that solidarity is an ongoing commitment, the firm determination to commit oneself to the common good, with an option for the poor and vulnerable.<sup>1</sup>

The exercise of solidarity within a society comes when its members recognize one another as persons.<sup>2</sup> Those whose social position includes a greater share in resources and power should recognize their responsibility for those who are weaker and be prepared to share with them all they possess.<sup>3</sup> Those who are weaker should, for their part, actively seek the common good while asserting their basic human rights.

Given her Option for the Poor and Vulnerable, the Church feels called to stand by the side of the poor, hear their cries, discern the justice in their complaints, and help satisfy their needs, without losing sight of the common good of all the groups within society.

It is true that in every age, the Gospel of Jesus Christ and the truths of the Church's Social Teaching must be brought to bear on the situations of that age. It is left to the Church, in every age, to stand with the poor and vulnerable and insist on the fulfillment of the rights and responsibilities of both the powerful and the weak, toward the common good that assures the dignity of every person.

Solidarity is a Christian virtue and a necessary aspect of our identity as Children of God.

Peace,
 Fr. Tim

Listening and Fasting
Lent as a Time of Conversion

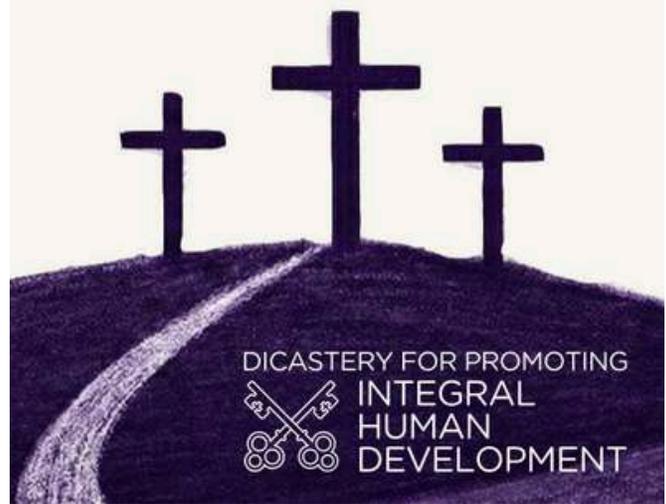

Message of Pope Leo XIV for Lent 2026

Lent calls us to walk as a community:

- On a "shared journey" with our parishes, families and ecclesial groups
- Where space is created for the voice of others
- So that our conversion may lead to better relationships and more authentic dialogue

"Let us strive to make our communities places where the cry of those who suffer finds welcome, and listening opens paths towards liberation."
