

Day 10

Transmission: 33:06

Music: Subterranean Journey - Sean Maher

Opening up more streams of Light consciousness, your connection to the Cosmic libraries of Gaia expands. You may feel a tremendous amount of energy flowing through you during this activation, or you may not. Either is perfect and appropriate, as your Higher Self is facilitating and guiding this process completely.

The ancient language you hear is unlocking codes within your matrix to allow the influx of information to anchor. This language is a combination of the spoken languages from the heightened civilizations who lived upon Gaia thousands of years ago, even prior to the last ice age. The song is more of a ceremonial act than anything else.

Notice how much easier it is to tap into the vastness of your Cosmic Essence. Spend some time in meditation and ask your Higher Self to give you specific information or memory to enhance your current waking reality ... perhaps something to improve your telepathy, your ESP, as we call it.

Most times the information is intangible, so pay attention to the little things that are shifting in your perception. The desire is to connect you to this information, not overload your systems. Subtle changes and new ways of Being are what enhance your ability to access the knowledge and wisdom.

Take care of your body, as always. It's as if you are getting plugged into a new superhighway of information.
