NO. 28.

STANFORD WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

FIELD DAY MAY NOT BE HELD.

Cantwell and Decoto Fail to Agree on Any Terms.

Yesterday afternoon Track Manager Cantwell, representing Stanford University, and Decoto of California, met to endeavor to agree upon the place where the next annual intercollegiate field day shall be held. Affairs were so far from satisfactory to either party that today there is strong probability that no contest will be held unless one of the two universities can be induced to radically alter its position. The conference seems to have narrowed itself to one of two alternatives: whether the field day shall be held on the Stanford campus or whether the contest shall be utterly abandoned.

The joint committee of the two colleges consisting of Professors Bacon and Richardson and John Elliott of the Olympic Club, appointed some time ago for the arranging of the matter had been previously dissolved. John Elliott was next asked to serve as a single arbitrator in the discussion, but owing to the responsibilities of the position he declined to serve in such a capacity. The condition of matters yesterday afternoon, however, assumed a different aspect. Manager Decoto said that he was willing to leave the entire matter in the hands of the Stanford Faculty, the President of the University Club, or any others that these might select. Mr. Cantwell refused to listen to even such favorable terms of arbitration, and declared that unless the field day were held at Palo Alto, Stanford would, under no other conditions, enter the contest.

If the conference yesterday is an index to the general consensus of opinion at Stanford, it is hardly probable that the contest will be held this year as there seems no inclination on the part of upholders of the Cardinal to meet California on any middle ground.

Mr. E. F. Goodyear '92 has presented the University Library with a number of books from his private library.

The University Library will be closed tomorrow during both the day and the evening.

THE GREATER UNIVERSITY.

Mrs. Hearst Discusses the Completion of the Plans.

In an interview last Saturday Mrs. Hearst had the following to say with regard to the completion of the plans for the Greater University.

"The system by which the plans of M. Benard were chosen has proved very satisfactory. The jurors and those connected with their choice feel confident in M. Benard's ability. He is now engaged in Paris upon the final plans. These sketches are to be submitted to the proper authorities by the 1st of April, and his final plan is promised on or before the 1st of next October.

"It has been decided by the Board of Regents that the construction of the President's house shall be begun within two or three months. The mining building will be begun soon after. It is probable that stone and brick such as may be supplied from State institutions will be furnished free of labor expense. Considerable expense will be saved by employing architectural students to draw up the plans in detail.

"The buildings, in the plan selected, number about twenty-five. None of them are tall buildings, most of them are only two stories in height, with but few partitions and but little need for plumbing and painting. An average cost of $400,000 each building will doubtless be sufficient. The total cost, at a liberal estimate, would not exceed $15,000,000. As the topography of the grounds has been most carefully regarded, but slight expense will be incurred in making changes in the surface of the land.

"The cost of purchasing the small additional area of land that may be required by the plans is covered by the estimate of $15,000,000 for the entire cost.

"It is expected that the President's house, the mining building, the administration building, the auditorium, the library and gymnasium will be the first constructed, and it is hoped that these will be erected about as rapidly as the money for them can be judiciously expended. The erection of these buildings, together with the changes in the grounds necessary for the main entrance, will show in an adequate way what the finished plan will be. These buildings, it is thought, can be completed within the next ten years, and the whole plan should be fully executed in stone within the next twenty years."

SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES.

Subjects and Instructors For the Next Session.

The following courses of instruction have been announced for the next session of the University Summer School:

History and Political Science—"Spanish and French Colonial History and Policy," and "Civil Government in the United States," Bernard Moses, Ph. D., Professor History and Political Economy. "History of England," and "The Renaissance," Thomas R. Bacon, A. B., B. D., Professor of Modern European History. "History of the United States since 1850," and "Medieval Life and Institutions," Kendrick C. Babcock, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of History and Political Science.

Pedagogy—"School Hygiene," Fletcher B. Dresslar, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of the Science and Art of Teaching.

English—"Elementary Old English," and "Studies in Modern Prose; Structure and Style," Walter M. Hart, M.A., Instructor in Composition and Rhetoric; "Outlines of English Literature," and "History of American Literature," William D. Armes, M.L., Assistant Professor of English Literature.

Mathematics—"Introduction to Plane Analytic Geometry," "Modern Synthetic Geometry," and "Elements of Differential and Integral Calculus," Archie H. Pierce, M.A., Instructor in Mathematics.

Physics—Three laboratory courses equivalent respectively to the laboratory exercises in matriculation physics, the Freshman course, and the Sophomore course, and a course of informal lectures on electricity and magnetism, with experimental illustrations, E. R. Drew, B.S., Instructor in Physics; W. A. Sheldon, Assistant in Physics, and E. E. Hall, Assistant in Physics.

Chemistry—"Elementary Chemistry," "Inorganic Chemistry," "Qualitative Analysis," and "Organic Chemistry." The work in Chemistry will be in charge of Edmond O'Neill, Ph. B., Associate Professor of Organic and Physiological Chemistry; Edward Booth, Ph. B., Instructor in Chemistry; D. G. Aplin, B.S., Assistant in Chemistry; and J. A. Pearce, Assistant in Chemistry.

Botany—"Introduction to Plant Physiology and Morphology," and "The Living Plant and Its Environment," W. J. V. Osterhout, Ph.D., M.A., Instructor in Botany, and F. G. Kraus, Assistant in Botany.

THE PRESIDENT IN THE EAST.

Will Address Johns Hopkins University Tomorrow.

President Wheeler arrived in Washington Sunday and called upon Senator Perkins relative to securing an appropriation from Congress to aid the Commercial Museum in San Francisco. While at the capitol he met President McKinley. Yesterday he delivered the last of his lectures at Richmond College, Richmond, Virginia, and was tendered a reception there by the Faculty and Womens' Club.

Today President Wheeler will be in Washington again, and tomorrow he will spend in Baltimore where he will deliver the Washington's Birthday address at Johns Hopkins University.

From Baltimore President Wheeler will go directly to New York, and thence to Chicago. In the latter city on Tuesday evening, February 27th, he will address the Civic League on the "Present Educational Problems Facing the People of the United States." It is in Chicago also that the Conference of Universities with regard to the status to be required for higher degrees will be held, to which conference, as has before been announced, President Wheeler and Professor Leuschner are the delegates from California.

On March 1st President Wheeler will attend the National Convention of Superintendents of Schools, which is to be held in Chicago under the auspices of the National Educational Association, immediately after which he will return to Berkeley.

Notice to Seniors.

The burial of Fred O. Jacobs, a former member of the class of 1900, and a volunteer in the Red Cross Brigade,—who died while on his way to Manila, will take place Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the receiving vault at Mountain View Cemetery. The attendance of as many Seniors as possible is desired to honor the memory of our late classmate.

WILSIE M. MARTIN, President.

Meeting of the Whist Club.

There will be a meeting of the Whist Club on Friday at 11:15 in Room 17 for the transaction of business. At the last weekly meeting the best score was made by Paulsen '00 and Schoenfeld '02.

THE publication of the recently issued history of the Hearst Architectural Plans was an excellent conception both to disseminate information concerning the University and to serve as a slight testimonial to the munificence of Mrs. Hearst and the greatness of her beneficence. This history, be it hoped, will bring to the many who are interested in California a clear conception of the future splendor in which she is to be clothed. May it also reach many whom we would wish to have know us, but whose knowledge of us has been but misty. Above all may it add its moiety to the lustre which will ever surround the name of Mrs. Hearst. Renown for what she has done in planning for the University's future, future generations alone can give in full measure. We of the present day, this transient student body, hesitate even to open our lips in praise of an undertaking and an achievement so great. We say perhaps less than we would to say through a feeling that our utterances must be callow and halting in admiration of a competition which has spared no pains nor means to call together a concourse of the world's best skill—which has demanded the best achievement of the present as the only fitting legacy to the future. We of the present then would render credit to Mrs. Hearst to the extent of our ability, well knowing that with a wider vision the future will give renown in proportion.

University Cotillon.

The first meeting of the University Cotillon will be held at Hearst Hall on Monday evening, Feb. 26th.

The committee in charge is composed of Clinton R. Morse, John B. McNab, William A. S. Foster, William W. Mein, William K. White; Charles A. Pringle and Maxwell Taft.

The patroness of the occasion are Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, Mrs. Alfred H. Voorhies and Mrs. A. A. Moore.

Astronomy Lectures.

Astronomer W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory delivered a lecture yesterday before the class in Modern Astronomy on "Some Results Obtained from Measurements of Stellar Velocities in the Line of Sight." The accuracy reached at the Lick Observatory in this line of work surpasses everything of a like nature previously accomplished elsewhere. In this connection the discovery that Polaris, the North Star, represents a multiple system is of special interest to the popular mind.

This evening at 8 p. m., in the lecture room of the Students' Observatory, Professor Campbell will present an account of the recent "Lick Observatory Eclipse Expedition to India." From this expedition many valuable results concerning the solar chromosphere and corona have been obtained. The lecture is free to all and will be illustrated by stereopticon views.

PROMOTIONS RECOMMENDED.

Cadets Suggested for Sergeancies and Corporalcies.

The following Juniors have been recommended for promotion to sergeancies: From Co. E, J. C. Blair, C. G. Dall, N. C. Gregory; from Co. F, E. J. Wagor, H. Judell; from Co. G, Donner; from Co. H, W. S. Sessions, C. L. Bigelow, C. W. Place, H. D. Smith.

These new men must immediately prepare themselves to act as guides in platoon, company and battalion drill. No one will be recommended to the Commandant whose work on trial is unsatisfactory. Should any of these candidates or any of those sergeants now drilling in file-closers greatly excell those now acting as company guides, it will be recommended that they replace the last.

Prof. Leuschner's Trip East.

Professor Leuschner leaves Thursday morning for Chicago where he will join President Wheeler on the 26th inst. Together they will attend the conference of the representatives from the leading American universities on the Conferring of Higher Degrees to be held at Chicago on the 27th. During his stay in Chicago, Professor Leuschner will visit the Yerkes Observatory and then spend a few days at his old home in Detroit. After a trip to Washington, he expects to return to Berkeley about March 12th.
