

LUCKY STORES? . . . this was the scene yesterday at Lucky grocery store number 18 on Telegraph Avenue as Campus CORE began its shop-in against the firm's alleged discriminatory hiring policies.

Interspersed with the CORE shoppers were regular patrons of the store, struggling to complete their purchases over a welter of goods scattered around the checkstands.

Major Art Gallery Seen; Regent Decision to Come

The Board of Regents is considering the Berkeley campus as the site for one of the West's major art galleries.

Final decision will depend on the outcome of talks with potential donors. However hopes for a large-scale gallery have been boosted by a promise of some 45 paintings by American artist Hans Hofmann.

Hofmann's donation is expected to attract other contributions from the field of modern art. Hofmann is presenting his work to the University in gratitude for the help he once received from the late Worth Ryder, University professor of art.

The Gallery is planned for the central part of the block bounded by Bancroft Way, Durant and College Avenues, and Bowditch Street.

The Regents, meeting yesterday at UCLA, received a report which urged construction of a gallery which would "truly serve the University" and supplement galleries and museums in Oakland and San Francisco.

The author of the report is William M. Milliken, director of the Cleveland Art Museum, who surveyed prospects of the Berkeley campus.

Milliken told the Regents although the Berkeley campus has excellent music, drama, and library programs, it was "conspicuously lacking in comparison with other universities of your importance . . . in the visual arts."

At their meeting, the Regents also granted approval of $860,000 grant from the National Science Foundation for the construction of a modern nuclear research reactor on the Berkeley campus.

The total cost of the reactor facility is expected to be about $2,000,000. A contribution of $121,000 from the Atomic Energy Commission will provide for fabrication of the nuclear fuel. The remaining expenses will come from University funds.

New Tactics, Old Chaos In CORE Demonstration

BY JIM WILLWERTH

Gathering momentum by day—and costing local Lucky Store No. 18 some $50 by night in overtime pay and property destruction—CORE has developed new tactics to amplify its picket protest against discrimination.

The new harassment procedure is an off-shoot of "shopping-in," where demonstrators fill grocery carts and leave them—indiscriminately—in the store's aisles.

Since Lucky Manager Louis Mascola has locked all grocery carts in the back room, demonstrators brought their own shopping bags and boxes.

They line up at the checkstand, allow the groceries to be tabulated—and suddenly have no money.

Result: huge mounds of perishable groceries and cosmetics sitting on the checkstand with no place to go.

"It costs about $50 a night to clean up all the stuff," Manager Mascola said. He and four clerks remain until 2 a.m. each night to restock groceries and count destroyed property.

"We know what will happen now, so we don't check them out," Mascola said.

The demonstrators have reacted by refusing to move from the checkstand aisle.

Crowds of demonstrators jammed the market at Haste Street and Telegraph Avenue last night during the scheduled picketing hours between 4 and 6 p.m.

Outside, 100 CORE student pickets, carrying signs and singing with guitars, marched in a regimented circle line.

At one point Mascola was approached by a short demonstrator carrying a large shopping bag. It contained one walnut. The following conversation ensued:

"Sir, I am trying to buy something here and I have been refused service. Can you help me?"

Mascola: "Do you have money?"

"Yes."

"Then come with me to the cash register."

As the transaction proceeded, half a dozen demonstrators surrounded Mascola, each carrying one walnut in his hand and clamoring for service.

At the next checkstand, a Negro clerk was checking groceries for customers, who were forced to line up outside the designated register aisle. Six demonstrators with groceries were "waiting to be served."

To leave or enter the store, it was necessary to cross the moving picket lines—which offered no resistance—or walk down a space three feet wide between the store front and pickets.

One of the Berkeley police officers present was asked if anything could be done to untangle the crowded checkstands.

"What would you suggest?" he replied. "It's a legal matter."

A member of Lucky Store's regional personnel office told the Daily Californian yesterday that the "shop-in" practice—or its off-spring—is generally not used in all picketed stores.

Incidents, however, have been reported at other stores. One "shop-in" was reported to have disrupted business at the Lucky Store in San Francisco's Lakeshore Plaza.

Edward Berman, 21, a University math major and Campus CORE chairman, told the Daily Californian:

"Our purpose is to prevent business from proceeding in a store that has discriminatory practices in hiring. They have refused service to our people, and, therefore, we are putting our goods on the counter and waiting to be served."

And outside, the pickets were chanting, "What do we want? FREEDOM! When? NOW!"

All-U Meeting

General James N. Gavin, Regents Lecturer, and Ray Willsley, new head football coach, will speak next Thursday at the first University meeting of the spring term.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in Harmon Gym. All University exercises will be suspended at that time.

Chancellor Edward Strong will preside over the meeting and give a brief welcome to the newly registered students.

The principal speaker will be General Gavin. He will give an analysis of the political situation in France. Willsley will speak briefly and introduce his staff, assistant coaches Rocky Carzo, Jack Hart, Myrel Moore, Howard White, and Jim Cullom.

Music for the opening, closing and concert numbers will be played by the University Concert Band, conducted by Mr. James Berdahl.

Statement on Graphic Arts By Tregga

The following is a statement, made yesterday by Forrest Tregga, executive director of the ASUC, concerning the proposed sale of the ASUC Graphic Arts Department.

"It is obvious there is substantial misunderstanding about the projected sale of ASUC Graphic Arts. It should be understood that the intention is to exclude from the sale the basically student-oriented services which this ASUC unit has supplied.

"Specifically, after sale of the Graphic Arts equipment and other assets, the ASUC will retain the following services on the campus:

- "The equipment necessary to reproduce materials needed for activities, including sufficient mimeograph facilities.

- "The photographic service which provides such work for students and student organizations.

- "In addition, the easel poster service, not a part of Graphic Arts, will be continued as at present.

"Students can be assured that facilities for rendering these services to them will be retained when new Eshleman Hall is opened next fall."

Presidents At UCLA

President Lyndon Johnson and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez-Mateos will utilize their Charter Day appearance today at UCLA to begin a two-day good-will marathon.

The two leaders will meet at Los Angeles International Airport at 8:30 a.m. today in a half-hour welcome ceremony. From there the presidential parties will take four helicopters to UCLA.

After robing, the presidents will proceed to the stands before an expected crowd of 34,000 to 40,000 persons. The first ladies will be escorted to reserved seats in the stands.

UCLA Chancellor Murphy will welcome the presidents. After a greeting by Governor Edmund Brown, University President Clark Kerr will confer honorary Doctor of Law degrees upon the two presidents.

University dignitaries attending the Charter Day ceremonies include chancellors of all nine University campuses and the Board of Regents, who met at UCLA to attend the program.

PETER ODEGARD

Odegard Ill, But Improved

Peter H. Odegard, University professor of political science, is reported in good condition and improving after a heart operation Wednesday at the Stanford Hospital in Palo Alto.

The courses Odegard was teaching, Political Science 163 and 263, are being taught by several of his colleagues in the department.

Odegard, 62, has been at the University for 15 years. He was chairman of the political science department from 1948 to 1956.

Oski Dolls Seek Applicants For Training This Semester

Oski Dolls, the University hostesses, are now selecting 42 new members for the coming year.

Formed in 1957, the group greets visiting dignitaries, athletic teams, artists and foreign students. In addition, the girls regularly schedule their own events, usher at student events, and serve as the reception committee for the entire campus.

Individually, the Oski Dolls represent girls of as many different backgrounds, interests, abilities and majors as possible. Girls living both on and off campus are encouraged to try out, but, only three members of the same living group may be Oski Dolls at the same time.

Girls are judged on the basis of poise, intelligence, personality and appearance. Attitude and initiative toward the University are especially considered.

Oski Dolls serve for an entire year and will be selected by a panel of judges including former Oski Dolls, Californians, deans, professors, athletic coaches, ASUC officers, and University personnel.

Interested students may sign up in 410 Student Union.

Non-Picket Pickup Fails

Confusion in the Telegraph Avenue Lucky Store after the CORE picketing Tuesday contributed to the arrest of a student on shoplifting charges.

The student told Berkeley police she and her friends were talking about the pickets that had been in the store. She stated, "Since everything in the store was confusing, we wondered if someone could steal from the store without being caught."

According to the police, a 41 cent box of candy was taken without payment.

They went inside the store, she explained to the police, she took the candy, and they all walked to the door. "I started to pay for the candy," she said, "but I changed my mind and walked out."

The girl has been released on bail.

SC Conducts Frat. Hearings

Preliminary hearings were begun a week ago at the University of Southern California on what action to take against 20 members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity who broke up a wrestling match with a barrage of eggs and tomatoes.

The fraternity men bombarded wrestlers during the Brass Knuckles Championship at the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles.

Soon after the incident started, the Olympic security guard called the police but action had subsided before their arrival.

Acting Dean of Students Thomas Hull said he could not condone what the fraternity men did as a prank. "Everyone that has any pride in the university should demand better conduct from all students," he said.

More than 100 patrons were spotted with egg and tomato stains.

University Mineshaft Runs Under Donner Laboratory

The University own a mineshaft called Lawson Adit which extends more than 700 feet into the earth. Big deal.

Except that the mineshaft is less than 350 yards from the Campanile.

A reporter and photographer obtained permission to enter the mine accompanied by Mining Professor Lysle E. Shaffer and several mining students.

Inside the shaft, the side timbers—called lagging—and the overhead timbers were wet with droplets of water. The floor was muddy in many spots.

Schaffer explained that the mine originally gave practical experience to University mining students.

During World War II the WPA deepened the shaft to look at the Hayward fault which cuts into the mine.

The walls and roof of the mine are supported by three feet of reinforced concrete in the area under Donner Laboratory.

Deeper in the mine Shaffer indicated a part of the ceiling that was only one and a half feet below Galey road.

Today the mine is not used to give much practical mining experience, because of a shift in emphasis in the Department of Mining.

Graduates of the mining department do not become shift bosses in mining construction. "What we are concerned with here is turning out management boys," Schaffer stated.

"Here's something undergraduates don't know," Schaffer explained, "I have scholarships running out of my ears and I never can fill them."

The scholarships are marked for mining students only, and there are more scholarships than students to accept them.

Schaffer stated that mining students are "in competition with no one" for scholarships.

Uppsala Offers Summer Class

The University of Uppsala, Sweden, in conjunction with Long Beach State College is offering its second "International Summer Session" with courses in history, social studies, literature and Swedish this summer.

Jim Sistrunk, president of the student body at the 1963 Uppsala summer session, and Frank Nelson of Long Beach State College will discuss the program at 1 p.m. Wednesday in 183 Dwinelle Hall.

The program is open to all University students who have completed their freshman year and are in good academic standing. No knowledge of English is required for the program.

Students attending the June 20 to July 31 session are eligible for transportation at reduced rates. They will be housed in the ultra-modern "Student City" in Uppsala and eat their meals at the historic Vestgoeta Nation, a student club.

Bear Cagers Meet Huskies In Battle for Second

BY GREG PLANT

Rene Herrerias' Bears host Washington Saturday at 8 p.m. in Harmon Gym with a chance to grab sole possession of second place in the Big Six Conference—but they had better be sharp.

Cal can move up—if UCLA beats Stanford and the Bears win—but a loss to the Huskies could put the Berkeley cagers in serious trouble, within reach of the second division of the conference.

And the team that would most profit from a Cal loss is none other than the menacing Huskies. Washington is two games behind the Bears in AAWU standings with five games left. Earlier in the season they pulled a shocker by upsetting the Bears 59-53 at Seattle, after losing by two points the night before. This was accomplished by one of the greener teams in the AAWU, and by a team that lost all-Coast Dale Easley a year ago.

This loss has been filled somewhat by the playing of Clint Peeples, as important to the Huskies as Camden Wall is to the Bears. Peeples scored well against Wall and has impressed many people as a vastly improved young basketball center.

This loss has been filled somewhat by the playing of Clint Peeples, as important to the Huskies as Camden Wall is to the Bears. Peeples scored well against Wall and has impressed many people as a vastly improved young basketball center.

Charlie Hart is one of the few experienced players left over from the Easley-Ed Correll team of 1962-63. His best attribute is a playmaking ability, akin to UCLA's Walt Hazzard. Hart has been hampered by the inexperience of the companion guards around him, although he and his teammates handled California rather well that one night at Seattle.

Washington will have a definite height advantage—unless Herrerias plays Bear Chris Carpenter in place of forward Steve Smith—and should be able to keep the rebounding on an even keel. If they can control the defensive boards as UCLA did so effectively, Washington would hurt the Bears.

Perhaps the biggest element in the game Saturday will be, as it has been lately, the condition of Cal's big man, Camden Wall. The 6-10 center looked better against UCLA the second night than he has since last year's St. Mary's game, where he dominated the game until his leg gave way.

Big Cam outplayed Stanford's Tom Dose last weekend, to put together three good games in a row. Although his knee is still heavily taped, Cam is once again snaring the rebounds, leaping around the court to steal passes, and in general playing up to the potential he showed two years ago.

STEVE SMITH
Completes forward wall

If he doesn't let down Saturday, Wall could have a field day against the improved but still green Peeples. And if the Huskies put two men on him, there are other Bears who could handle the shooting chores.

California's Best?

Ruggers Begin UBC Series

BY LOWELL HICKEY

What may be the best California rugby team in modern rugby history takes on the University of British Columbia in the first of the four annual "World Cup" matches tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

The same two teams will meet

6 Frats Undeclared

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Tau, Phi Gamma Delta, Zeta Beta Tau, and Phi Sigma Kappa all kept their unblemished records intact in National League-dominated intramural action over the last two weeks.

Pi Kappa Alpha, winners of three recent games, and Kappa Alpha, by winning their round-robin league, also became primary contenders for the N.L. basketball title.

In a battle of the unbeaten, the PhiEpi five fell to the Phi Sigs, 26-10, in Wednesday night's action.

In the American League, Norton played inspired ball in upsetting Deutsch, 28-22. They thus earned a shot at Ehrman for the championship of one of the stronger round-robin leagues.

Today is the final day for sign-ups in spring doubles tournaments in tennis, handball, bowling, table tennis, badminton, and horseshoes, as well as two-man volleyball.

here again Monday afternoon and the series will end March 26 and 28 in Vancouver.

The "World Cup" is not as precious a trophy as the name might imply. Rather than being a prize for the rugby champion of the world, it is simply a trophy donated by the Vancouver World newspaper for the winner of the Cal-UBC series.

But the two schools do traditionally field the best rugby teams on the West Coast, and this year Cal, who is already 2-0, may be better than ever.

The amazing Tom Blanchfield continues to awe the rugby world with his dazzling play—in his first year of competition! He scored 16 points to lead the Bears to a 19-3 win over Oregon State and 14 points to pace the 23-0 shutout of Southern California.

Blanchfield has been switched from center three-quarters to wing to make room for freshman Lloyd Reist, another football halfback who has adapted rapidly to the English sport.

Reist made a 75-yard touchdown in the USC game, a very unusual feat in rugby.

Jim Anderson, who had been playing wing, will play prop tomorrow, the position vacated by Tom Brown who is ineligible due to academic difficulties. These changes will add speed to the backfield and Anderson will again be playing the position at which he is most experienced.

Other football players on the first team include linemen Stan Dzura, Jim Pinson and Loren Hawley, who has proved devastating on lineouts this season, and full-back Jerry Walter.

International stars playing for the Blue and Gold are New Zealanders Warren Moyes, hook; Bill Olsen, back row; John Whyte, first five-eighths and Steve Nesbit, second five-eighths, and South African scrum half Stan Geel.

The Bears won the Cup last year, so will be fighting to keep it.

Mauling, Punching Spectacular Due As Wrestlers, Boxers Face Tribe

A two-ring circus of California-Stanford violence and mayhem will hit Harmon gym at 7:15 tonight when the wrestling and boxing teams of both schools square off—at the same time, in the same place.

Wrestling mats will be placed near the boxing ring for the spectacular. But there will be enough action anywhere a spectator looks to keep him from shifting his eyes.

Although Cal wrestling coach George Uchida has turned out a bumper crop of good grapplers this year, Stanford coach Bill Leland claims he is bringing "the best Stanford wrestling team ever" into Harmon gym.

The fiercest match of the night will probably come at the very end, when Cal's John Garamendi faces Duncan Ross in the heavy-weight division.

Garamendi, guard for Cal's football team, has been beaten just once this year, on a close decision. Ross is described as one of Stanford's toughest wrestlers, so it will undoubtedly be an all-out match.

Boxing matches between the Bears and their Farm opponents always seem to have added a lot of hot fuel to the intensity of the traditional Cal-Stanford rivalry.

Should the bouts follow last year's battles, the evening will be a wild one.

California will carry a definite experience edge into the match. The Bears have four returning lettermen to Stanford's two.

In addition, this is Stanford's first bout of the year, while it will be the season's third evening of scrapping for Cal. In the important matches where novice faces novice, Cal will definitely have to be favored.

But in a rough-and-tumble evening, as tonight promises to be, anything will go.

Baseballers Favored to Garner Second, Third Wins

Winners by a score of 4-2 over San Francisco State in their first collegiate competition of the season Tuesday, coach George Wolfman's Bear baseballers are favored to remain unbeaten in games tomorrow and Saturday against USF and San Fernando Valley State College.

Both games will be played at Edwards Field, today at 3:15 and tomorrow at 2 p.m.

USF gave the Bears a stubborn argument last year, when Cal won two of three games between the two schools. The Dons registered a 4-0 victory at Edwards, sandwiched between Bear wins by 10-6 at Edwards and 5-0 at USF.

If they are to be troublesome again, however, the Dons will have to improve greatly over their recent performance against Stanford, when four USF errors helped the Indians to a 15-1 rout.

With last year's fine frosh team offering many excellent varsity candidates, coach Wolfman finds himself sorting out a fluctuating situation at nearly every position.

The pitching staff in particular is relatively young and of unsure quality, but the heavy pre-league schedule should provide an adequate testing ground.

Wolfman intends to use husky junior Ray Evans and sophomore Rich Nye against USF, and seniors Larry Colton and Bill Harrison against San Fernando Valley State. Steve Sternberg, John Lovett, and Joe Wierzbowski may also see action.

Wolfman said yesterday that he will continue to juggle his lineup, and one major move will probably put Tim Tarpley in right field, enabling co-captain Dave Myers to move to third base.

"Tarpley has shown good power at the plate," the coach explained.

Mike Epstein will probably be in left field again, with co-captain Bill Bowley moving in at first base. Wolfman was enthused over the early showing of his other flychaser, centerfielder Craig Mor-

"Craig is doing much better this year, now that his leg has healed. He is pivoting better and getting a quicker start both at the plate and in the field."

The coach also commended the performance thus far of sophomore third baseman John Shaw, a transfer from Long Beach City College.

Gymnasts Face Toughest Test, Meet San Fernando Tonight

Fresh on the heels of their decisive win (93-35) over Stanford Wednesday, California gymnasts are now flexing their muscles in anticipation of tonight's meet against San Fernando Valley State.

Gymnastics coach, Hal Frey, rates San Fernando "the toughest team we'll meet all season, but they will have to go some to beat us." Frey's boys are out to preserve an undefeated season, and are currently in the midst of their sixth consecutive undefeated season.

San Fernando Valley is also undefeated in dual competition this season, but tasted defeat in a Christmas tournament which the Bear gymnasts won.

This tournament was the only occasion on which the two teams have met, and the final outcome of that meet is not really an accurate indication of what may happen tonight, according to Frey.

Two of San Fernando's top men were injured and unable to compete in that meet.

The smogsters, competing as a team, won the California State College championship last year. Two of their team members, Dave Smith and Larry Robinson, placed in last year's NCAA finals.

Restricted Bike Riding Campaign a Success According to University Police Survey

The campus police campaign to have bike riders obey the prohibitions against riding in certain areas of the campus looks like a probable success.

A survey taken from the steps of Sproul Hall between 1:20 and 2:15 p.m. Monday showed that most students are cooperating and obeying the regulations. Bikes must be walked in the area from the Bancroft and Telegraph entrance to the campus to north of the main library, and from the west side of Dwinelle Hall to the east of South Hall.

Of 73 bicycles and three baby carriages which passed Sproul during the 45-minute period, 45 riders walked their bikes and 28 rode. Only two near-accidents occurred.

A similar survey was taken last November during a 15-minute period. Thirty-seven bicycles passed through Dwinelle Plaza and only seven of the riders walked their bikes.

In an effort to cut down the number of accidents involving bicycles on campus, University police are checking at various intervals during the day for students riding through restricted areas.

They request that students riding in the areas dismount and a spokesman said most students are cooperating so far.

These spot checks will continue throughout the semester. Campus police request all cyclists to cooperate to help eliminate the risk of dangerous accidents occurring in crowded central campus areas.

Beatle Ringo May Enter APhiO's Ugly Man Contest

The Beatles are coming (yeah, yeah, yeah) all six of them: four Norton Beatles, one Photo Club Beatle and one Beatle Beatle. And it's all because of the Ugly Man Contest.

The traditional contest is conducted annually by the University's chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, to benefit Cal Camp and the World University Service.

The entrance of the Beatle Beatles into competition depends upon the consent of Beatle Ringo Starr. Cunningham and Ehrman residence halls sent a joint telegram to England asking permission to enter the British Beatle in the contest.

The Norton Beatles are composed of four rabid beetle fans, outfitted in a manner similar to the Beatles, who pantomime to Beatle records.

The Photo Club's Beatles are real beatles — with hair. Club President Bob Lewis promised that jars of the beatles will be loosed in the halls of all the girls' residences.

Part of APhiO's publicity is an "ugly poster" contest. Posters — 20 by 40 inches—depicting anything "ugly" may be submitted to 105 Eshleman Hall until Feb. 28.

Nine other entrants include Lynn Simms, sponsored by Kappa Delta; Brutus Epsilon III, Tau Kappa Delta; Bruce M. Showner, Chateau de Longpre; Alden Slevers, Landscape Design Club; The Box, sponsored by the Pelican, and Ronald Quick, the Masonic Club.

Co-ops Hold Dance Tomorrow

Public Service Program Combines Study and Work

Students who are interested in a career in the public service and who will receive their B.A. in June are offered an opportunity to apply for fellowships to study at three universities. Each fellowship is valued at $3,000.

Beginning this June, fellows will serve a three-months' internship with a governmental agency in Alabama, Kentucky, or Tennessee such as the TVA, the Marshall Space Flight Center, a city, or a department in one of the state governments. In the 1964-65 school session, they will take graduate courses at the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Completion of the twelve-months training period entitles fellows to a certificate in public administration. The student can be awarded a master's degree at either of the three universities upon completion of requirements.

For information and applications, students should write to Coleman B. Ransone, Educational Director, Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer 1, University, Alabama.

The deadline for submitting application is March 2, 1964.

Abstract Most Significant

U.S. Art Restless, Varied

"American art is restless, fluid, experimental, constantly moving in new directions, constantly setting up counter-reactions and inducing cross-fertilizations," according to John I. H. Baur, curator of the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York.

"It would be astonishing if out of all this passionate searching, only one path had creative merit."

Baur spoke Tuesday at a University Extension lecture. "Sources and Trends," a study of American post-war art.

Baur labels abstract expressionism the most significant of schools that have flourished since the war; its influence has reached the whole art world.

Abstract expressionists have demanded absolute freedom from convention in subject and aesthetic portrayal. De Kooning gave a pure definition of abstract expressionism when asked why the women he portrayed had such large breasts; "The women of my paintings have large breasts because my hand moves naturally in wide curves."

Abstract expressionism, in finding its freedom from conventions, expressionism is based on the influence of the dominant artists in the school. The linear gesture, developed by Jackson Pollock, the expressive brush stroke of Hans Hofmann, and the amorphous shapes of Gorky are important aspects of abstract expressionist art.

In shunning "subjects," abstract expressionism has limited itself from human relations and nature. In recent years abstract expressionism has drifted more and more to studies of subjects rather than "self," Baur explained. Most of the older, conservative abstract expressionists believe their work now is an abstraction with nature as its subject.

Abstract expressionism's history has not yet been written, according to Baur. The task will be difficult, for many of the major works are either undated or are still in the individual artists' private collections. Innovation, characterizing abstract expressionism, also makes coherence difficult to establish.

Pop art, "the rambunctious child of the sixties," Baur interprets as either a negative reaction to abstract expressionism or a positive and valuable interpretation made its own conventions. Baur said. The "vocabulary" of abstraction of our modern experience.

Pop art, where common objects such as bathroom sinks, snow shovels and the contents of a waste basket are arranged to create an artistic effect, walks an aesthetic tightrope, Baur said. Some kind of creative process transforms non-art objects into art, yet the objects used must not be so changed that they lose their identity, he added.

"Pop art has given us a lot of foolish paintings, but so have abstract expressionism and all major movements in the Twentieth Century," Baur said.

Paralleling the new major movements in art are individual artists still painting in older theoretically dead schools. They are successful still, Baur explained, because they are the best in their mode.

Regionalists, thought to be dead, are excellently represented by Hopper, Marin, and Wyeth. Phillip Evergood has kept social conscience art very much alive, and Jack Levine, a young artist, has given it a new burst of youth. Kay Sage, whom Baur considers the best native-born American surrealist, is painting today.

Architects Need Help— Extra Girls Invited to Dance

Architecture Association solved its problem, but now disaster is imminent.

The spring Welcome Dance Friday night will last from 8:30-12:30 p.m., up at the Strawberry Recreational Center.

Although there has usually been a chronic shortage of girls at its functions, there will be an excess of 75 gals this time.

All began when they decided to prevent the usual lack of female dancers. They invited girls from Mills, Holy Names and other colleges after promises and compromises.

Now, they realize that there will be an excess of 75 girls.

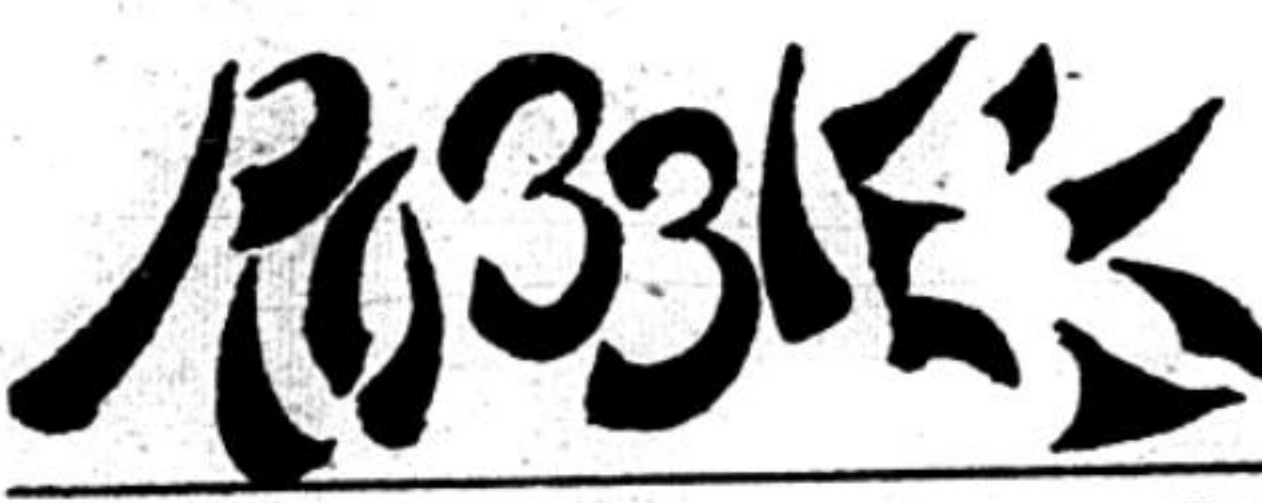

The dance is promising however. Lots of girls, music provided by Pete Dutton and refreshments. Admission is $1 a couple or 50 cents stag.

GO BEARS

The popular Hungry i is featuring a new singing star named John Gary. He holds the U.S. underwater endurance record for salt water endurance: he stayed submerged in face mask and aqualung for forty-one hours. He has powerful lungs. Gary will sing many of his popular songs from his albums. Minors are welcome at the Hungry i. Another folk singer appearing in the Bay Area is Bob Dylan. At the Berkeley Community theatre this Saturday night will appear the young man who has made a big name for himself. Depicting a country boy, Dylan will present his own warm style in a concert.

The Psycho—this is a new spot in the East Bay. I'm sure all Bears will agree that Oakland and Berkeley need more night life, and now at the opening of Jack London Square is The Psycho, including dancing on Friday and Saturday nights, and a big bang on Thursday night. This weekend offers on Sunday night another terrific movie shown by the ASUC. For only half a dollar Bears can see the classic "Mourning Becomes Electra." Another movie that has been around for many weeks, and still draws crowds is "Fellini's 8 1/2". Still at the Elmwood Theatre, and held over again, the photography is excellent and the story is quite challenging to one's mind—even that of a BEAR.

An interesting new restaurant is about to open only yards from campus. This is the Dynasty Restaurant on Northside opposite Giovanni's. With authentic Mandarin Chinese dishes, The Dynasty offers a large variety of excellent meals. They promise to open on Tuesday, February 25th, especially if Cassius Clay beats Sonny Liston that night. The big fight should last longer than the last one, but I'm sure most Bears won't be studying until the final bell. Have a good weekend.

Arts and Lecture Committee Presents Classic Film

"3000 Years Under the Sea," story of the oldest shipwreck ever found, will be shown Monday (Feb. 24) at 4:30 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. in Wheeler Auditorium. Stanton Waterman, well-known diving photographer, will narrate the film personally.

The film will show some of the classic islands of the Aegean and the discovery of the "City of the Dead," a forgotten segment of the Turkish coast. A special Aegean folk music score accompanies the film.

Sponsored by the U.C. Committee on Arts and Lectures, admission is 85 cents for the afternoon showing, and $1 for the evening showing.

Satellite Lectures Scheduled

Since 1957 about 150 U.S. satellite and space probes have gained a wide variety of data. The results of these probes will be evaluated in the University Extension lecture program entitled, "Space Physics."

Sixteen weekly lectures are scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday evenings in the NASA Ames Research Center auditorium.

The lectures, intended primarily for engineers and scientists, will provide a comprehensive summary and analysis of experimental results in major areas of research.

Further information about the series may be obtained from Engineering and Sciences Extension, Thornwall 5-6000, extension 4151.

The speakers include senior engineers, specialists at the Space Technology Laboratories, NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center and Jet Propulsion Laboratory, and University faculty members.

Talk on Renaissance Medicine

The Chancellor of the University Medical Center in San Francisco will give an illustrated lecture on "Origins of Renaissance Medicine" at noon Monday in West Pauley Ballroom, Student Union.

J. B. deC. M. Saunders earned his medical degree at the University of Edinburgh in 1925 and has since made distinguished contributions to research and scholarship in the fields of anatomy, medical history, surgery and the mechanics of locomotion.

Dr. Saunders joined the faculty of the Medical Center in 1931 and became the chief administrative official there in 1958. His title was recently changed from "dean" to "chancellor" to conform with usage on other campuses.

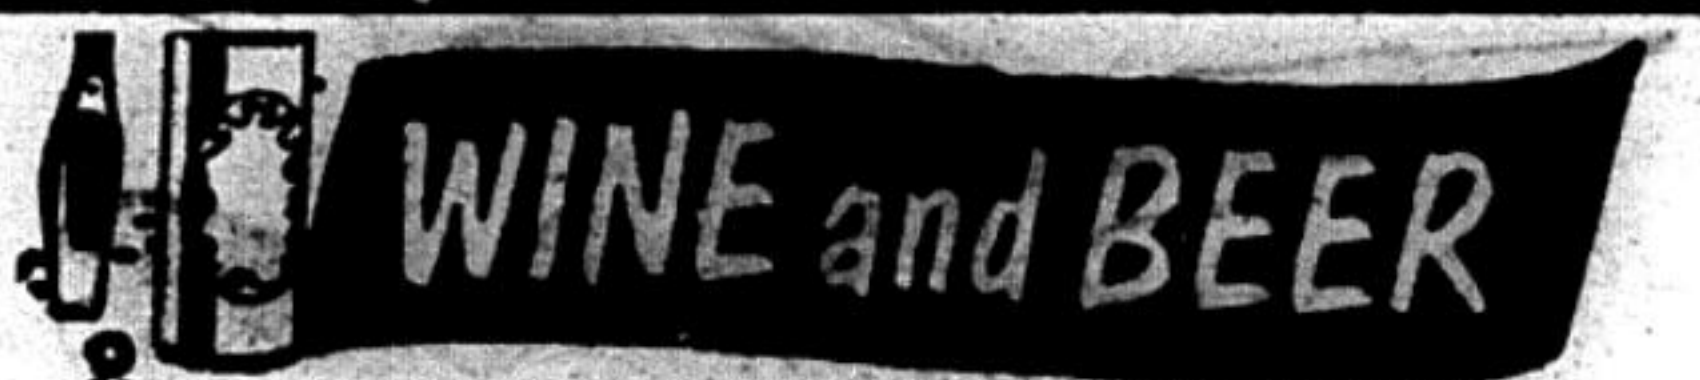

He has written several books on medical history, including "Leonardo da Vinci on the Human Body" and "The Transitions from Ancient Egyptian to Greek Medicine."

Dr. Saunders is presently Professor of anatomy, Chairman of the Department of Medical History and Bibliography, and University Librarian at the Medical Center, in addition to chancellor.

The moderator of the forum will be Berkeley Chancellor Edward W. Strong. Honor Students Society will sponsor the lecture.

SALUTE: DICK PACK

Dick Pack (B.S., Business Technology, 1961) has made a significant contribution to every job Mountain States Telephone has assigned him.

He was directed to study the effectiveness of new policies on inventory control. So sound were his recommendations that they were passed up the line and considered for use throughout the State of Idaho.

Five months after joining the company, Dick was named Manager of the Weiser, Idaho, exchange. He ran his own shop well and, as a result, was promoted to Unit Manager in Twin Falls. Then, a special honor: enrollment in the company's course at Northwestern University.

Dick's ability and reputation for quick starting will take him far with Mountain States Telephone.

Dick Pack, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Move to the Stadium

When the late President Kennedy spoke at Berkeley's Charter Day two years ago, 90,000 people jammed Memorial Stadium to hear him.

This year United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and United States Ambassador to the UN, Adlai Stevenson, are scheduled to speak at Charter Day in the Hearst Greek Theatre which seats only 10,000 people.

A University official said students are apathetic toward Charter Day ceremonies, and the University is hesitant to move to Memorial Stadium for fear the speakers will not attract a full crowd.

The University's hesitation to subject the speakers to a less than capacity crowd is understandable; empty seats put a damper on the ceremonies regardless of how many people attend. But we believe the University is underestimating student and faculty interest in the speakers and what they represent.

It is true, well-known speakers such as former German Chancellor Conrad Adenauer and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have spoken in previous years in the Greek Theatre and there were enough seats for all who wished to attend. However, the United Nations' increasing stature in a world beset by conflicts has stimulated interest in the organization's activities and leaders. The quality of the speakers, added to a general increased interest of students in world affairs and an expanded University enrollment should insure that substantially more than 10,000 persons will want to hear U Thant and Adlai Stevenson.

Of the Greek Theatre's 10,000 seats, about 5,000 seats will be reserved for students. Only one out of five students will be able to attend. The remaining seats will go to faculty members, University personnel, important alumni and public officials. Any seats left over will be available to the general public.

The University administration has stated it will move Charter Day to the stadium if the demand for tickets indicates a substantially larger audience than the Greek Theatre can hold. The crowd estimate will be made from the ticket demands of the faculty and University personnel, as students are admitted with their registration cards without tickets.

Students should serve notice on the University that they are interested in hearing the United Nations' leaders and express their hopes the ceremonies will be held in an area large enough for all to attend. Although the speeches will be piped to campus buildings, the grandeur of the academic procession can only be seen first hand.

If more than 10,000 seats but less than the capacity of Memorial Stadium is needed, a backdrop can be provided to cut off part of the stadium. The University will also be providing a community service by allowing more of the general public to attend Charter Day.

It will cost more than $20,000 to move Charter Day to Memorial Stadium, but that amount of money is spent every June for graduation rituals. The University is willing to move—the students and faculty must provide the initiative.

February Was Never Like This

Mary McGowan

When you and I were growing up in the vast, dry southern wastes of this state, February was never like this.

Coming from country where even the most conscientiously cared for lawns always turned brown, and where trees were uniformly of dusty gray-green varieties, Berkeley lawns of real grass—not Bermuda—were amazing. And the coming of spring was little short of a miracle.

Maybe it was the contrast with the rain and occasional frost of the winter. But the wet weather was itself something special. At home a shower was cause for celebration; when you were a child you had put on your bathing suit when it rained, and frolicked in the shower like people in colder regions play in the first snowfall.

It took a while to get over feeling sinful when you took a shower because you were wasting water if you stayed under the spray more than two minutes.

So, it couldn't have been the contrast that made the first spring so very wonderful.

Remember that first spring, when the air was charged with a different, growing feeling. You woke up one morning to see San Francisco glittering whitely against a blue sky and a bluer bay. And you realized that this was clear air, unsmoggy and fresh.

The rains had stopped—for a while at least. The sun came out to dry the pavement and encourage the Japanese cherry trees and the weeds growing on the hills above the campus.

When you saw the great expanse of lawn on campus you could barely repress an urge to roll down one of the slopes from sheer good spirits, to get as close as you could to the growing, miraculous greenness of the grass, breathing in the dark, damp smell of wet earth.

The cherries blossomed, lining the residential areas with pink. The flowers on tulip trees unfolded until the purple centers were revealed. The white flowering fruit trees whose name you never could remember looked as if their branches were strung with popcorn, so white and closely clustered were their flowers.

And the yellow acacia trees sent down their sweet smell, their fuzzy flowers matching the daffodils the lined gardens and bloomed helter skelter in the ivy by the Greek Theatre.

The world begun again that spring. You knew that you would never again count the start of a New Year from January 1, that it would always come with the quickening of the spring. And it has.

LETTERS TO THE ICE BOX

Utopia Again

To the Ice Box:

I am very sorry that Mr. Liu did not understand my reasons for sneering at the so-called Co-op utopia. I am equally sorry that he sees anything wrong in seeking utopia in campus living.

Mr. Liu was amazed at my squawking about a living group that was on the University approved list. That is exactly why I am "squawking"—not because of the "room without a rug, a kitchen without a dishwasher or a bedroom that is not luxurious."

As I said in my previous letter, those things are certainly no detriment to a desired living group atmosphere. But for girls' co-ops, with which I assume that Mr. Liu is somewhat less familiar than I, such physical conditions are almost irrelevant in the face of lockout restrictions, room inspections, and autocratic dinner customs.

I hope that some students can see, as I did, when I first moved into the co-ops, a kind of ideal living situation which does not use ivory liquid for its dishwashing. It would be nice to think that a girls' living group in which the rules and regulations are not completely incompatible with the principles of the University Students Co-operative Association will not always be merely a "utopia" to be discussed in letters to the Daily Californian.

No Tokenism

To the Ice Box:

Lowell Hickey must have been fearless indeed to brave the picket line and interview the Lucky Store manager Sunday. It's a shame he didn't have the courage to talk with any of the ferocious CORE demonstrators, however, else he may have learned something and given his editorial (Tues., Feb. 18) a semblance of responsibility by at least alluding to opposing arguments.

For instance, he would have learned that CORE's action is not

'America' True to Publicity

BY PAM OSBORNE

It is rare when a film lives up to its publicity. "Cleopatra," "Spartacus," and "The Victors" all arrived with a maximum of studio praise and promise. And now Elia Kazan's production of "America, America" emerges into view after months of consistent but low-keyed advertising.

Review

It differs from the others in that "America" lacks the commercial luster that has become the essential ingredient in Hollywood exports. Instead, the film reflects the techniques of producer-director-writer Kazan and not the slick machinery of Warner Bros.

The Turkish oppression serves as the background for a young Greek's (Stathis Giallelis) desires and difficulties in getting to America. He begins his journey away from his family as a naive young man. Time after time he is victimized by those who would seek to awaken him from his American dream.

Having survived overwhelming defeat, he meets a girl with wealthy parents. Here the transition takes place from the innocent victim to the beguiling opportunist. Following this encounter, the weathered Greek uses any method available to him to get to America. One cannot help feeling that his eventual arrival is a well-deserved one.

This is Giallelis' first exposure to American audiences and he proves equal to the task. That his character transitions are weak is not his fault; he handles them with dexterity.

His future roles will, however, be limited. Giallelis is not the leading man type; even in his later scenes he comes across as an intense but cuddly little boy.

The majority of filming was done in Greece and most of the cast was recruited from abroad. This will undoubtedly limit the box office success of "America," since most of the film-going public attends films with familiar names on the marquee.

In "America," Kazan recalls the past as told to him by his family. Kazan, himself a Greek, introduces the film in these terms—the last remnants of a childhood memory.

Kazan's touch is evident in every scene as he builds them as fastidiously as if he were constructing a Greek temple. There is a naturalness in every character portrayal, a kind of mellifluous drama not usually found in epic productions.

The camera work is typically Kazan—unobtrusively observing, catapulting the audience into all the frustration and squalor.

directed against Lucky Store No. 18 in particular, but is part of a project involving all Bay Area CORE chapters and Lucky Stores. CORE is protesting Lucky's racially unbalanced employment pattern (23 Negroes out of 1600 employees as of last September) and its failure to improve significantly on this after agreeing with CORE to do so (18 Negroes out of 320 employees hired in the past few months.) This is but a token improvement, and Lucky is apparently unwilling to go beyond it or even to discuss it further. Hence the protest action.

No, Mr. Hickey, the CORE demonstrators were not just out to "soak up the sun." They may have had smiles on their faces, but they were and are dead serious in their purpose: to eliminate every vestige of racial discrimination in Berkeley, in California, and in America.

We shall overcome!

Picket Praise

To the Ice Box:

This is in response to Mr. Hickey's editorial of February 18, criticizing the CORE picketing of Lucky Store No. 18 at Haste and Telegraph.

Mr. Hickey first condemns CORE because he says the presence of approximately 100 pickets made pedestrian traffic difficult and snarled up automobile traffic. It is a fact, however, that automobile traffic was not snarled, though a few people did slow down to look. Mr. Hickey asserts that the pickets clearly violated Berkeley City Ordinance 2795, which makes unlawful blocking a sidewalk or entrance, an assertion which the Berkeley City Police clearly disagreed with, and intimates that if the police had been doing their duty they would have arrested the pickets. This is a typical southern racist tactic, throwing CORE demonstrators in jail for the alleged breaking of some insignificant city ordinance, while completely ignoring the moral issues involved.

It is true, however, that foot traffic in front of Lucky's was made more difficult by the pickets. This is unavoidable. However, I was on the picket line from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday and considered it to be a very well-monitored picket line, especially considering the fact that there were about 100 people in a fairly small area. So did the Berkeley Police, who cooperated with the CORE monitors and who arrested no one. It was no more difficult to get into, out of, or past Lucky Store than to get through Dwinelle Plaza at noon or into the front door of the Emporium during the Christmas shopping rush. It seems more difficult because it is one thing to be jostled in Dwinelle Plaza and quite another to be jostled by a picket who you imagine looks upon you as being immoral for not joining the picket line or as the scum of the earth for crossing it. I suggest that it is not so much the physical presence of the pickets that bothers people like Mr. Hickey, but the moral presence that accompanies their physical presence.

Mr. Hickey raises the second point that Lucky Store No. 18 employs two Negroes out of a total employment of nine. Now the dispute between CORE and Lucky Stores is not over the employment pattern in individual stores so much as in the Bay Area Lucky chain as a whole. The regional agreement which Lucky Stores made three months ago with CORE and then broke was for Lucky Stores as a whole and not for each store individually. The fact is that by their own report, Lucky has hired only 18 Negroes out of 320 new employees in the past three months. In a comparable period Safeway hired 25 per cent Negroes and 40 per cent non-whites among its new employees, after signing a similar agreement with CORE.

Mr. Hickey makes the third point that the people in the picket line were demonstrating with no realization of what they were doing. This is an out and out lie. First of all, CORE was passing out leaflets which summarized the history of the negotiations with Lucky Stores and also outlined in general the compelling social reasons for ending discrimination in employment. We in the picket line and many passers-by read this leaflet; evidently Mr. Hickey did not. Furthermore, I would estimate that at least half the people in the picket line have been directly or indirectly associated with the Civil Rights Movement

Informed?

We don't think so!

—not if you're like so many students we've talked with lately. It's OK to be armed with conclusions, but a few basic facts from the original source is the American Way of evaluating our problems. Or as George Washington said, "Truth will ultimately prevail where there is pains taken to bring it to light."

So if your mind isn't yet "made up" and can tolerate a few more of the facts, visit THE AMERICAN OPINION LIBRARY, 904 San Pablo Ave., Albany, California, Tel. 524-4424, DISTRIBUTORS OF JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY MATERIALS.

Ignored When You Talk?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your request to: Conversation, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 2981, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

DON'T BOTHER TO CARRY AN EXTRA SUPPLY.

New Carefree* tampons promise so much more protection—you can leave the extras at home!

The principle of this superior protection is simple, natural. Most old-style tampons flatten, thin out, elongate when moisture strikes. This shape simply cannot cover the area of flow properly. Thus embarrassing accidents occur.

But a Carefree tampon (firmly compressed so it needs no rigid applicator) expands into a natural, round shape that conforms to your own body's structure, responds to your own body's needs. It gives you more comfort than any tampon or napkin ever developed.

Actual use tests proved that the new Carefree tampon absorbs, without leakage, 73% more than the leading tampon—starts to absorb more quickly than any other.

Better protection—longer protection. That's why you can leave that extra supply at home.

*Because Carefree is far more absorbent, there is no need for a Carefree super size. If you are using tampons for the first time, you may wish to try Carefree Slim (the smaller size).

African-Israeli Organizations Sponsoring Program Saturday

The second annual African-Israeli night sponsored by the Student Zionist Organization, the Israeli Student Organization and the African Students Organization will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday in the I-House auditorium.

The program will be presented in two parts, a film, panel discussion and refreshments, followed by folk-dancing demonstrations and general folk dancing. A 50 cent donation will be collected at the door to cover expenses.

Graphic Arts

To the Ice Box:

Congratulations are in order for Miss Mar's forthright editorial concerning the planned sale of the ASUC Graphic Arts Department. We concur with her sentiments wholeheartedly.

Each semester every undergraduate student at this University is taxed in the amount of $5.50 for ASUC membership. We who have questioned the propriety or necessity of the tax have been informed that what we are paying for are the numerous services which are of direct value to the students. These services make the tax a less objectionable burden. However, when an organization whose primary function is admittedly the service of the student community begins to make its decisions on criteria of financial profitability rather than of service, we feel absolutely no desire to extend involuntary support to this organization. Graphic Arts is clearly a service to our campus community, and its sale cannot be condoned for the sake of a Senate over-concerned with false economies and with sympathy for the University's office space problems. If the ASUC has become a financial enterprise, then we wish the right to sell our shares of stock.

Students Offered Summer U.N. Internships

The Institute of International Studies is offering three United Nations internships for the summer of 1964.

They consist of two United Nations Secretariat and one United Nations Special Fund internships. The former will be available from August 3-28 and the latter will run during July and August.

Participants will be able to study intensively the principles, purposes and activities of the United Nations and its related agencies.

Briefings and group discussions will be held with senior members of the Secretariat, and selected documents and publications will be available for study.

In addition, students will work individually with UN staff members, to be determined by their respective fields of study. They may also participate in relevant individual research projects.

One American and one non-American student will be chosen for the United Nations Secretariat internships.

The two United Nations Secretariat internships will be chosen from seniors between the ages of 20 and 25, who are registered in the following departments: agriculture, anthropology, architecture, business administration, city and regional planning, economics, education, geography, history, journalism, law, philosophy, political science, psychology, social welfare, and sociology.

The United Nations Special Fund internship is competitive among graduate students who are registered in the above departments.

To cover travel and expenses in New York, internships for the United Nations Secretariat will provide $600 for each interne. Internships for the United Nations Special Fund will provide $1,000.

Application forms and further information may be obtained at the Bureau of International Relations, Room 207, 2250 Piedmont Avenue. Applications must be received by 5:30 p.m., Monday, March 9, 1964. A nominating board will post their decisions by March 19.

Canal Cuts County in Half

Panamanian Student Explains Reasons For Turmoil Between the Two Nations

The "rational" Americans are unable to grasp the largely patriotic and emotional reasons why the Panamanians want to nationalize the Panama Canal.

This was the theme of an hour long talk which Juan Scott, a Panamanian and a University agricultural economics major, delivered to the Consejo de los Americas yesterday.

The Panamanians, he said, feel a great pride in their nation. This is hurt when they see a foreign flag raised on soil which once belonged to them, and realize that their country is cut in two by a ten-mile-wide strip of land controlled by a foreign power, he added.

Furthermore, Scott said, the bigotry and paternalism displayed by U.S. Officials, policemen and "zonians" is an affront to the people of Panama.

Not only do the Panamanians consider it insulting to see the "zonians" living "like kings and queens" while they are in poverty, but, Scott says, the Panamanians are subject to economic discrimination.

The Panamanians receive lower wages than the Americans for the same type of work, Scott says. In addition, they receive only $2 million out of the canal's $56 million annual revenue.

Scott also attacked the American idea that Teddy Roosevelt "made" Panama with his big stick.

American intervention did no more than prevent bloodshed in the Panamanian struggle for independence. The Panamanians had been independent three times between 1821 and 1841, and could have won their independence by themselves again, he said.

"It is my philosophy," he said, "that you can't keep the people of a country under oppression unless the people themselves are willing to submit to it."

Scott attacked the 1903 Panama Canal treaty as invalid because it was extracted under duress. Furthermore, he said, it contains a alization of the canal could not be possible.

Voting for Rep. Continues Today

Voting in the primary election for men's residence hall representative to the ASUC Senate continues today. The polling booths are located in the residence halls' dinner lines.

The candidates are Mike Adams, Bowles Hall; Roger Lamm, Priestley Hall, and Lou Bluestein, Griffiths Hall. A run-off election, if necessary, will be held on Monday and Tuesday.

C-I Board Rep. Applications Due

Today is the last day to sign up for Commuter Independent Board area Representative. Applications and further information concerning interviews and responsibilities of the post are available in 405 Student Union.

perpetuity clause which is invalid under international law.

He said he saw no reason why the nationalization or internationalization of the canal no longer serves any useful military purpose for the United States, Scott said. America holds it for purely commercial reasons.

Scott said he was certain the Panamanians have the technical skill to operate the canal. Contrary to what is widely believed in the United States, the economy of Panama is not dependent on the American presence in the Canal Zone, he added.

Scott remarked the Panamanians do not care about the economic benefits which might come from the nationalization of the canal. He would be happy, he said, if the Americans just filled in the canal and left.
