Tables Katz Decision

Faculty Votes: Autonomy

By BRUNO BRANDLI

The Academic Senate voted yesterday to endorse its Committee on Senate Policy's proposals for campus autonomy and passed a motion to table any decision on the Katz case.

Endorsing the Policy Committee's recommendations on autonomy, the Senate authorized it "to prepare a policy statement on the extent and form of campus autonomy best suited to the long-term needs of the Berkeley campus."

Bernard L. Diamond, professor of criminology and law, raised the motion which deferred judgment on the Katz case pending a decision by the Chancellor's office.

Eli Katz, former University acting assistant professor, had been dismissed from this campus for allegedly refusing to answer questions concerning his past political activities.

Considerable debate was waged before the Policy Committee's proposals were endorsed by the Senate.

Several faculty members expressed apprehension either over the wording of the Committee's recommendations or the inclusion of specific proposals.

Associate professor of mathematics Richard Dudley sought to include in the Committee's report a proposal enabling the Academic Senate to confirm the appointment of a Chancellor.

Then a math professor expressed concern over the definition of autonomy which the Committee's report implied.

August Helmholtz, professor of physics, said, "I am apprehensive over the inclusion of the Byrne Committee report as one of the considerations by our committee."

Meeting to Air Alternatives to Rules Proposal

A "mass meeting of all members of the University Community" has been called to consider alternative proposals to the proposed rules governing student political activity.

The meeting has been called by four students: Bettina Aptheker, a junior in political science; Richard Saunders, a sophomore in Letters and Science; Susan Stein, a graduate in comparative literature; and Steve Weissman, a graduate in history.

It will be held at 4 p.m. in 155 Dwinelle next Tuesday.

The four students emphasized the meeting would consider not only their own proposal, but other proposals from students.

Saunders explained the "entire" University community instead of just students is invited to the meeting because the meeting will determine how the rules are to be made.

"And this affects everyone," he said.

A leaflet circulated by the students said they were primarily basing their meeting on the "principle that regulations to govern student political activity should be written by students."

At the meeting, the various proposals will be discussed and voted upon with each person present having one vote.

The proposal presented by John Searle, special assistant to the Chancellor on student organizations, will also be discussed and voted upon.

Mrs. Stein said they were trying to get Searle to present his proposal to the meeting.

Searle was unavailable for comment last night.

The student's proposal is printed in full below:

GREEK THEATRE OPERA . . . Jess Thomas is pictured as he will appear in Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" Sunday afternoon.

Wagner's 'Lohengrin' Coming to University

Richard Wagner's opera "Lohengrin" will be presented by the San Francisco Opera Company at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Hearst Greek theatre.

General admission is $4.50 for chairs on the floor of the theatre and $2.50 for the upper tiers. Student admission is $1.50 and $1. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union and the Committee for Arts and Lectures.

In case of rain, the performance will be given in the Berkeley Community Theatre and ticket holders will be admitted to the capacity of the auditorium.

Appearing in the title role will be tenor Jess Thomas. Also appearing will be Hildegard Hillebrecht, Annamaria Bessel, Chester Ludgin, and Thomas O'Leary. Horst Stein will conduct.

The Greek Theatre opera series started in 1957, and since then such works have been presented at "Aida," "Carmen," and "Falstaff."

Senate Backs Discount For ASUC Store

The ASUC Senate's Committee on the Store will formally propose a motion for a discount book store at tonight's Senate meeting.

The motion will request a discount of between 5%-10% on all textbooks, to begin in time for the next summer session. This discount will result in a revenue loss between $10,000 and $20,000 annually, according to Brian Turner, Slate veep-at-large.

The motion will be referred to the Finance Committee for one week before a vote is taken.

In other action, the Senate is expected to consider both a voting procedure for the Constitutional Convention and a referendum on the question of loyalty oaths.

The loyalty oath motion, proposed by Men's Co-op Representative Gary Feller of Slate, would request Polls Council to determine student opinion on the continued use of the Levering Act oath.

The results of the poll would be communicated to the Regents. According to Turner there is no reason to refer the motion on the discount store to the Finance Committee, "but it would probably make everyone feel better about it."

5000 Expected for VDC Night March

The work of the Vietnam Day Committee, which has dominated University political activity this fall, will climax this weekend.

The Committee expects 5,000 to 10,000 people to participate in a seven and one-half mile march from the University to the Oakland Army Terminal Friday night to protest American intervention in Vietnam.

Though "International Days of Protest" will extend far beyond the Bay Area, it will have been initiated by the Berkeley VDC.

From common aims and the desire for action, plans for the Oct. 15 and 16 International Days of Protest were formulated.

The biggest protest is expected to be in New York City, where Larry Loughlin, co-chairman of VDC estimates that 15,000 people will march down Fifth Ave.

Within the University system, protests are also planned at other University campuses. The Students for Free Political Action (SFPA) on the Santa Barbara campus plan an all night vigil "in sympathy with the planned activities of the VDC," according to Paul Taylor, chairman of SFPA.

The "days of protest" will begin with workshops and folksinging in the Lower Student Union Plaza Friday morning.

Paul Goodman, Saul Landau, Fanny Lou Hamer, Mike Myerson and Paul Jacobs will lead workshops on "The University in the Cold War," "The American Negro in the Vietnam War" and "The U.S. in Vietnam."

"Toward a New Theory of Imperialism" will be the topic for Friday afternoon's discussion featuring Franz Schurmann, Stanley Sheinbaum and Paul Ivory.

Dorm Survey Polls 15,000 On Housing

(Editor's note: The following is the first of a three part series on a report released yesterday on University housing.)

By ERIC SCOREDOS
The report, compiled by Real Estate Research Corporation is based primarily on a survey of 15,000 students randomly selected from University campuses. The survey was conducted by Field Research Associates during 1963 and 1964.

The survey polled about 7 per cent of the campus in a random selection from the 1963 Student Directory.

Runoffs to Continue For Frosh, Frats

ASUC election run-offs for fraternity representative and freshman class offices will continue today.

Polls are located at Dwinelle Plaza, Northgate and possibly the Law School Gate. The booths will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The race for fraternity rep has narrowed down to Page Van Loben Sels and Dave Shelbourne.

Ben Brown and Steve McGehee are in the running for class president.

Bill Rukeyser (Liberal) is running against Don Lively for vice-president.

Rhea Seddon and Gayle Mosley (Liberal) are running for the office of frosh secretary-treasurer.

Pakistani Consul General to Speak

M. RASHID AHMAD

M. Rashid Ahmad, Consul General of Pakistan, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today in 2000 LSB in the second of a series of consular officials speaking on issues relevant to their nations.

Ahmad joined the Pakistan Foreign Service in February 1950. From 1950 to 1961 he served on Pakistan Missions in Damascus, Bonn, New Delhi, Paris and Bangkok.

He was Director in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Karachi from April 1961 to July 1963. He was in the Embassy of Pakistan in Washington, D.C. from August 1963 to April 1965.

Ahmad holds the rank of Minister. He has been Consul General in San Francisco since April 1965.

The talk is sponsored by the Berkeley Campus Americans for Democratic Action.

Faculty Senate Endorses Autonomy Report Slate Keeps 2 Senate Seats As New Appointments Named

By CAROL LIEBMAN

continued, "should not be used as a model or even be considered by the Committee. We should not lend the dignity of this body to it."
Committee Chairman Thomas Kent, professor of city planning, said their points were well taken but reiterated that the matter at hand was not to endorse or disclaim everything the Committee had proposed.

The Senate also voted to "establish a standing Committee on Student Affairs to enable the Division to consider student views, establish its own policies and advise the Chancellor concerning the changing role of students in the affairs of the University."
The body directed its "appropriate standing committees" to examine the "potential danger to the quality of education at Berkeley caused by the severe reduction in the number of Teaching Assistant positions."
Chancellor Roger W. Heyns had earlier addressed the Academic Senate giving an account of his activities and some "tentative" observations which followed from them.

On the subject of Teaching Assistants, the Chancellor said, "We are both concerned that in many areas these young men and women do not feel a sense of partnership with the faculty; they are not identified with us in our common task; they do not believe they are adequately supervised."

"We must improve both in the number of contacts we have with them and in the quality of these relationships," he added.
Heyns also referred to "observations" which Associate Professor Searle, special assistant to the Chancellor on student organizations, had made.
"He (Searle) stated that in his efforts to get compliance or to get suggestions concerning rule revision that there is a constant possibility that leadership of student groups will pass to those least committed to democratic processes," Heyns said.
"A great many students are often essentially uncommitted and politically neither sophisticated nor able," he added.
"We must, it seems to me, therefore, encourage the participation of our ablest students in student affairs," he said.

Val Mitchell and Bruce Henstell were appointed ASUC Senators Thursday to fill two Slate vacancies. Miss Mitchell and Henstell are both Slate members; in fact, they are the first Slate members ever appointed to the Senate.

Val Mitchell

"I was surprised" was new Com-muter - Independent Representative Val Mitchell's reaction to her appointment.
"I was impressed with the people at the Senate. They are concerned with devotion to the functioning of the Senate as an institution. They forgot factions for a time," she said.

Miss Mitchell's appointment is only for the semester. When asked if she would run for election to the post, she said the office may not exist if the Constitutional Convention acts before the elections.
If the Constitution is not changed, she said she didn't know if she would run.
In looking ahead to Senate action this year, she said it would handle many questions put off last year.
"This year could still be threatened unless the Constitutional Convention does its job. The ASUC is facing a crisis of legitimacy and is losing support every day."
"The Constitutional Convention will either intensify the problem or decrease it," she said.
Miss Mitchell also foresees Senate action on the proposed co-op bookstore and low-cost housing for students. Even though the ASUC is going through a period of major change this year, the Senate "shouldn't wait to help the students," she said.
Miss Mitchell has been a member of Slate for about a year.
"I'm in the Senate not strictly on my own. I'm there as I am, but the Slate label is there, too," she said. "On issues outside the Slate platform, I would probably agree with the official Slate position."
"I'm replacing another candidate elected by the voters. I will try to do what the voters would want," she said.
Political involvement is nothing new for Miss Mitchell, a sophomore in political science.
While attending Grant High School in Los Angeles, she was a member of the Young Democrats Club and CORE.

Bruce Henstell

Bruce Henstell wasn't surprised at his appointment to representative-at-large.
"My appointment wasn't a shoo-in, but it should have been. It was plainly a Slate seat. There was nothing to fear for the non-Slate Senate members, because my appointment didn't change the Senate balance of power," Henstell said.
Henstell was "very pleased" with the attitudes of both the Slate and non-Slate Senators Thursday night. "It portends well for the future," he said.
Henstell said he has been a member of Slate for two years, but not "fiscally" a member for some of the time.
He said he joined because he was in sympathy with their objectives.
"I'll vote simply according to my conscience," he continued. "Slate is seldom binding on its reps . . . There's never been a purge in Slate and there never would be."
Henstell said, "People resent ideas when there is only one party, especially if it has a name," but this feeling is going down.
He added Slate has been more solidified this year. Previously there have been two factions: those interested in campus politics and those interested in off-campus activism. They have merged this year, he said.
Henstell said this year's Senate will seriously discuss put-off projects that will come up again this year.
The ASUC's legal status of "unincorporated association" will be clarified this year, he said.
This action is especially important in ownership of property, he added. The particular "property" involved is the ASUC Store, Eshleman Office Building, and proposed ASUC low-rent student housing.
There is also a shortage of reading rooms in the library. This should be investigated, he added.
Henstell is a junior, majoring in history and cultural anthropology. His particular interest is Russian and Chinese studies.
A man of literary pursuits, Henstell is contributing editor for the "California Pelican." He is also city editor-at-large for the UCLA Daily Bruin.

Vienna Organist To Give Concert

Viennese organ artist and composer Anton Heiller will give a concert at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 18 in Hertz Hall.

Tickets for $1. or 50 cents for students, are being sold at the Student Union and Committee for Arts and Lectures box offices.

Born and trained in Vienna, Heiller is a former student of Paul Hindemith.

He was once choirmaster of the Municipal Opera House there, and now is on the faculty of the Vienna Academy of Music.

Viet Students To Speak Here

Five Vietnamese student leaders will participate in an ASUC sponsored meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Physical Sciences Laboratory.

The students will remain in the Bay area for about a week and then will spend three more weeks visiting other universities in the United States.

The primary purpose of their visit is to observe U.S. student activity and to ascertain U.S. student attitudes regarding Vietnam.

The students will be meeting with interested groups on campus, attending seminars, and generally observing student activities.

Educator Urges UC Grad Stress

SAN FRANCISCO, AP—Glenn S. Dumke, state college chancellor, warned a trustees committee yesterday, "We're going to be very careful to see that the University doesn't build an undergraduate empire."

The University recently announced plans for five new campuses around the state.

The California Master Plan for Higher Education calls for the state colleges to take the primary task of educating undergraduates with some graduate work while the university concentrates more on graduate and professional courses with some undergraduate work.

- You will see a documented film that includes actual interviews with Washington Congressmen who have taken the course.
- You will learn how we can help you to faster reading, improved comprehension, greater recall.

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Eighteen years ago Evelyn Wood, a Utah schoolteacher, made a startling discovery that led to the founding of Reading Dynamics. While working toward a master's degree, she handed a term paper to a professor and watched him read the 80 pages at 6,000 words per minute—with outstanding recall and comprehension. Determined to find the secret behind such rapid reading, she spent the next two years tracking down 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute. She studied their techniques, taught herself to read at these faster rates. Now, after years of experience in public schools and universities, she has made it possible for you to benefit from this great discovery.

IS IT SIMPLY A PROMOTION STUNT?

Over the past eleven years more than 200,000 graduates have been convinced that Reading Dynamics is a proven method. About Reading Dynamics' impact on our nation's legislators, Time Magazine said "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

SENATOR PROXMIRE Wisconsin "I must say that this is one of the most useful education experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."	SENATOR TALMADGE Georgia "It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."	MICHAEL LEVY, Pres. Standard Security Life "My normal relaxed reading is now at a rate approximately 4,000 words per minute. Even with the most difficult and technical reading material, I find that my speed exceeds 2,500 words per minute."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests.

Scribes Laud Mosher, AAWU Honors Radich

By DAVE BUSH
 SAN FRANCISCO — Jerry Mosher, Cal's flanker-back turned defensive terror, was honored by the Northern California Football Writers' Association as Back of the Week at the scribes' weekly gab-and-eat-fest at DiMaggio's here yesterday.

While Stanford's Al Wilburn got the nod from the writers as Lineman of the Week, linebacker

Steve Radich of the Golden Bears was tabbed by the AAWU as its top lineman while USC's Mike Garrett received the loop's Back of the Week citation.

Mosher, who last season was a starting flanker for the Bears and a prime target for the bullets of Craig Morton, gained the award for his savage defensive work against the Air Force. Cal's All-American candidate intercepted two passes, recovered an equal number of fumbles and made six unassisted tackles and four assisted stops.

John Reid, sports publicity director of Washington, Cal's foe this Saturday in Memorial Stadium, refused to be pessimistic despite the 34-0 trouncing the Huskies took at the hands of powerful Southern California.

"I'd have to say that USC was the finest football team ever to come into our stadium," Reid said. "They played a perfect football game." (This echoed a statement made earlier by Stanford coach John Ralston, whose Indians face the red-hot Trojans this weekend in L.A.)

"To get a true picture of the Washington offense you have to go back to the Ohio State game, which the Huskies lost on a last-minute field goal," Reid continued.

"In that game you saw a Wash-

Ralston: Indians Can Whip USC

SAN FRANCISCO, AP — Stanford coach John Ralston feels his Indians can beat the University of Southern California this Saturday even though Troy's ace half-back Mike Garrett will probably gain 135 to 150 yards.

"He's going to get his normal share," said Ralston of Garrett. "You can't cut him off completely. Better make sure the other three guys don't kill you."

Stanford plays USC at Los Angeles in the game which might well determine the West's Rose Bowl representative. Each team is 3-0-1 in the current football race. Last Saturday against two of the top teams in the Pacific Athletic Conference, USC whipped Washington 34-0 while Stanford edged Oregon 17-14.

Quarterback Dave Lewis was hobbled by a sore foot against Oregon and it was stepped on again in that game. The coach hopes his ace passer, who had to drop back more than usual last week, will be in better physical shape for the USC struggle.

The game will match the PAC total offense leader against its total defense leader. The Trojans have rolled for an average of 380 yards per game, while Stanford has held opponents to 208 yards.

Even more interesting will be the personal duel between Garrett and Lewis. They pace the PAC in all statistical departments except one.

Garrett leads scorers with seven touchdowns and runners with 647 yards. Lewis holds a six-yard bulge in total offense with 665 yards. Garrett is in second place.

Lewis also leads punters with a 44 yard average. Oregon's Steve Bunker paces receivers with 18 receptions for 355 yards and three touchdowns.

ington offense that was just starting to jell. We had had previous breakdowns in our offensive line but they were starting to smooth out. I've never seen Jim Owens (Washington head coach) more satisfied with a Husky performance in defeat."

Ray Willsey then took over the podium and echoed Reid's estimation of the Huskies. "Year in and year out Washington is able to play any team in the country on any Saturday and give a good showing."

Willsey pointed out, "Washington is always a team that hits very hard, and we pride ourselves on our ability to hit. Physically this should be a very demanding game."

Reflecting on last Saturday's 24-7 win over Air Force, Willsey called Mosher's effort one of the best he'd ever seen by a defensive back.

"I thought Ken Moulton played a very fine game," he added. "In fact the whole defense did a good job, keeping them away from the goal line until the last 56 seconds."

Great Moments Cal's Cage Kings of 1959-60

By VIC BEDOIAN

Although football still dominates the conversations of many people on campus, basketball season is not too far away. Let's digress for a while back to 1959-60, the year when the University of California achieved its greatest basketball glory, the NCAA championship.

Led by Pete Newell, now Director of Athletics, the Golden Bear hoopsters achieved one of the most inspiring rags-to-riches stories in the history of Cal sports.

Even though Cal had won the title the previous two years, they were not given much of the national limelight. This as usual fell upon teams in and around the Midwest, although the great USF fives of 1955-56 had recently won the Pacific Coast nationwide court acclaim. This, however, was Cal's year.

Pete Newell came to Berkeley in 1955 with a solid background of coaching experience and some very admirable credentials from USF and Michigan State. At USF he had taken an unheralded team to New York in 1949 and brought them back with the National Invitational Tournament crown. After a short stay at Michigan State, in which he put the Spartan teams on solid footing, he arrived at California.

Newell's first year ended with a dismal 1-11 PCC mark, but it took that long to build his type of team. From then on it was Cal all the way.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Bears had won two consecutive titles, Cal was not favored to wear the PCC crown in 1959. Instead it was the Washington Huskies who were picked. And indeed, who in their right minds would pick Cal?—they had lost three men, two guards and a forward, from the 1958 squad and had a host of inexperienced players. But the Bears were to prove the experts wrong.

Defense was the keynote of the Newell-coached teams and this team was no exception. They learned well the lessons which their mentor taught.

So well, in fact, that Cal topped the nation in defense that year, giving up an average of but 51.0 points per game. And teams were scoring just as much then as they do now.

It was a well-disciplined team in which teamwork received chief emphasis. There were no "Saturday heroes" on this team, they worked as a well-oiled unit. As Newell puts it, "Any one of the players could have been a star in his own right but they played as a team. If one of the boys was having a good night the others would feed him."

Depth was another asset to the team. There were 10 to 12 players who played in almost every game. Newell recalls, "In a game against Kansas State in December I was criticized for playing a lot of sophomores but it paid off by the end of the season."

On January 2 the Bears began conference play against Washington and won 54-43 with sensational guard Denny Fitzpatrick scoring 20 points and newcomer Darrall Imhoff playing a smothering defense. In the fifth game of the PCC season they lost a heartbreaker to Stanford in the final seconds, the last defeat they were to suffer that season. The next night was the turning point of the season, for the Bears shot a hot 54 per cent from the floor in smashing the Cards 67-46. They were led by the team leader Al Buch with 15, Fitzpatrick, 14, and Imhoff, 13 points.

The Bears came back from semester break with one more trial to face—a tough road trip down south. On February 6 they squeaked by inspired UCLA 60-58 with Imhoff and sophomore forward Bill McClintock, whom Newell called "an exceptional rebounder," coming down with 32 rebounds between them. After that no one could come close to them.

After winning the PCC title with a 14-2 record the Cal five met with the high-scoring Utah Utes. Playing the same type of ball they had played all year, the stifling full court press defense and deliberate ball control offense, they stopped the Utes 71-53. The next night California copped the Western Regional crown by smothering St. Mary's. Then it was on to Louisville and the NCAA tourney.

NEXT WEEK — The Tournament

AEPi and SAE Lead

By JAY BERNSTEIN

Alpha Epsilon Pi, with the swimming crown under its belt, and SAE, with the golf crown to its credit, lead the National League intramural standings with 110 after the first few weeks of competition. Close on their heels are TKE with 90 points, Pi Lambda Phi with 80, SAM with 80, Phi Delta Theta with 70, and ZBT with 70.

The American League has one true leader, that being the C-I's with 180 points. They have captured the swimming championship and a second place in the golf tournament. Putnam is a surprising second with 120 points, Boalt #1 third with 100, followed by Norton with 90, Bowles with 70, Ehrman with 70, and Griffiths with 70.

Last week's football action saw undefeated Theta Delta Chi continue its winning ways by trouncing hapless DU by a 30-0 count. Also remaining undefeated were AEPi with a 20-0 mauling of Alpha Chi Rho; Phi Epsilon Pi by clipping Kappa Sigma 28-8; Sigma No. 12-8 victors over a rugged Phi Kappa Tau squad; ZBT by upsetting TKE 14-10, and Psi U by virtue of a 26-0 victory over Pi Kappa Phi.

Sigma Chi kept its slate unblemished with a 28-8 conquest of AGO. Other National League action had these results: KA 4-0 over Delta Chi. Delta Tau Delta ripping AD Phi 28-0, Pi Alpha Phi being crushed by ATO 42-0, Alpha Sigma Phi defeating Chi Psi 28-6, and Pi Lambda Phi being mesmerized by Psi U 26-0.

American League action had Boalt #2 trouncing KXS 34-0, MBA edging I-House 16-6, Forestry upending NROTC 14-12, Bowles 28-0 conquerors of AF-ROTC, and Cloyne Court defeating Euclid by a 16-6 count. In a game decided by a post-game four down sequence, Barrington moved the ball eight yards to Oxford's six. The game ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

The intramural tennis season got under way last week also as Phi Kappa Psi easily handled Sigma Phi 49-5, TKE edged Fiji's 31-23, AGO nipped Delta Chi 33-21, Dekes trounced Chi Phi, 53-5, and Alpha Sigma Phi won over A Chi Rho 34-20. American League action showed Bowles victorious over Forestry 31-23, and Cloyne nipping Smyth 29-25.

Students Call Rules Meeting Radio KAL Asks FM Permit

 nary session be convened of all students, or all students and faculty (a point yet unclear) interested for the purpose of establishing workshops. Each workshop would take a particular aspect of the rules, e.g. due process, and rewrite that section.

(2) The workshops would meet over a period of time. They would prepare various position papers and allow for complete discussion in living groups, among the political organizations, etc. They would utilize the Daily Californian to air positions. They would hold rallies, disseminate leaflets, etc. In three weeks the workshops would reconvene and write up their final positions, again on the basis of one man, one vote, and with minority reports, if necessary.

(3) The plenary session would then be reconvened, with all workshop reports submitted, discussed, amended, (if necessary) and ratified (again on the basis of one man, one vote). Other proposals concerning any aspect of the rules may be made.

(4) The new regulations would include all time, place and manner regulations and, in addition, the procedures of implementation. The plenary would also adopt a schedule of penalties for violation of regulations. These penalties would be established on the principle of no academic penalties for non-academic violations.

Implementation of the rules:
 (The proposals of the plenary will be submitted to the University community for a campus wide referendum.)

C. Adjudication: (1) Conflict over the rules will be adjudicated by a tripartite disinterested committee, with final judicial authority.

(2) This tripartite committee will be composed of ten voting members (5 students elected at large, 4 faculty appointed by the Committee on Committees of the Academic Senate and one administrator appointed by the Chancellor) and a chairman who has had experience in either law or negotiations. This committee will have final authority over all matters brought before it (see below)—it will not be advisory to the Chancellor's office. It will have the power to impose only those penalties prescribed by the rules.

(3) Any question concerning the rules can be brought before the committee—violations of the rules, omissions in the rules, inappropriateness of penalties, etc. Any individual or group of individuals on the campus can bring before this committee a complaint against any individual or group of individuals.

No penalties will be imposed on a group or an individual until after the hearing is completed. In the case of a tie vote, the decision will be considered in favor of the defendant. The body of law within

The Chancellor's Radio Policy Board will meet today to discuss a proposal to allow radio KAL to apply for an FM license.

The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. in 300A Eshleman Hall.

While both the Riverside and Santa Barbara campuses are already operating FM stations, students on this campus have been unsuccessful in obtaining the necessary approval.

which decisions will be made shall include the December 8th agreement, and the Student Bill of Rights (including the due process clause).

If a proposal were drafted to day, it would then have to be approved by Chancellor Roger Heyns before presentation at the next Regents' meeting.

A favorable decision by the Regents would be followed by immediate application to the Federal Communications Commission for a radio KAL FM license, according to Jim Walsh, assistant manager of radio KAL.

Presently radio KAL operates an AM station serving the dorms and a few of the co-ops. As an FM station KAL's range would be extended to cover the entire campus community.

VDC Schedules Vietnam Panels

A pre-teach in-course, Vietnam IA, will be presented today through Thursday by the Vietnam Day Committee.

The course, open to both registered and non-registered students, will be a series of panel discussions on the social and political implications of the Vietnamese war.

"Vietnam and World Politics" will be discussed today by Martin Malia, professor of history, Daniel Lev, Southeast Asian Studies, and Paul Ivory, Chinese economics.

Tomorrow's panel will include Hal Draper, Independent Socialist Club, Malcolm Burnstein, FSM defense attorney, and Richard Abram. Their topic will be "Electoral Politics and Foreign Policy."

The classes will be held at 4 p.m. in 2000 Life Sciences Building.

On Friday "The Peace Movement and the Establishment" will be discussed by Steve Weisman, Vietnam Day Committee; Peter Scott, department of Speech, and Dan Simon, Committee to Oppose Koholan.

NSA Reps Meet

A meeting will be held for all delegates to the 1965 Summer National Students Association Congress at noon tomorrow in the Reps office, third floor, Eshleman Hall.

All persons who are interested in joining the campus NSA staff are also invited to attend the meeting.

March Climaxes VDC Work

 Palo Alto, and other Bay Area cities are expected to arrive at the campus prior to the march. They are expected to bring 1,000 marchers.

The march to the Oakland Army Terminal will start down Telegraph at 7:30 p.m. and enter the base four hours later on Maritime Street, which runs through the terminal.

The Committee plans a "sleep-out" on public land in the base, with movies, folksinging and discussions lasting all night.

From the base on Saturday morning, the teach-in will tell soldiers that under the 1945 London Treaty and the Nuremberg Codes they bear individual responsibility for committing war crimes, even if they are following orders from a superior of obeying national law," said a VDC publication.

The march may meet police resistance as soon as it leaves the campus, as the VDC has not received a permit for the march for either Oakland or Berkeley.

UC Board to Back JC Plan

A University of California Committee for the Peralta Colleges including "outstanding leaders of the academic community" was formed yesterday to work for a junior college school bond.

The announcement of the formation of the committee was made by Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats, Jr., chairman of Berkeley Citizens for the Peralta Colleges.

The co-chairmen of the new committee are Martin Meyerson, dean of the School of Environmental Design, and George J. Maslach, dean of the College of Engineering.

The committee will plan campus activities in order to support the bond issue, Staats said.

Members of the committee include:

Ernest Burness, chief buildings and grounds; Owen Chamberlain, professor of physics; Milton Cherrin, dean of the School of Social Welfare; Lincoln Constance, professor of botany; and Richard P. Hafner, Jr., public affairs officer.

Also on the committee are:

James Hart, professor of English; Samuel A. Schaaf, chairman of the department of mechanical engineering.

Carl E. Schorske, professor of history; Wendell M. Stanley, director of biochemistry and molecular biology; and Katherine A. Towle, dean of students emerita.

Police Arrest Poster Paster

A member of SNCC, Bill Mader, was arrested yesterday putting up advertising handouts on the poles on Telegraph Avenue, he said.

Mader said he was arrested for "violating the city ordinance which prohibits putting up posters on public property." The handouts were for "SNCC Flicks," he said, and were being displayed on the aluminum poles on which traffic signals are mounted.

He said he knew of only one other person who had been arrested for putting up signs. This was during the summer.

'Spider' Friday

Spider Magazine is due to come out this Friday.

Copies will be sold from a table at Bancroft and Telegraph all day for 25 cents.

The magazine will feature an interview with four participants in the Watts riots and an article by Leo Huberman, editor of the Monthly Review.

Family Day to Draw 5,000

The third annual Family Day is expected to attract 5,000 relatives of undergraduates as well as returning alumni to the University campus on Saturday.

Family Day chairman Betsy

Ehm, Letters & Sciences junior said welcoming addresses by Chancellor Roger W. Heyns and Associated Students president Jerry Goldstein will be followed by lectures and tours.

The visitors will hear brief talks by Chancellor Heyns and Goldstein at 9 a.m. in the Lower Student Union Plaza. Lectures on geology, athletics, music and other subjects are scheduled in various buildings.

Oski Dolls, Californians and members of Prytanean and Panile will conduct campus tours.

Family Day guests will take reserve seating section seats for the California-Washington football game after luncheons to be served in residence halls, dining commons, and off-campus residences.

Kerr Supported

President Clark Kerr was praised last week by the academic senate of the state colleges for his stand against the Burns Report.

Kerr last Monday attacked the legislative report on Communist activity at the University for containing half-truths and distortions.

Honored Students

A meeting of all students holding Honors at Entrance will be held from 4:10 p.m. to 5 p.m. today in Pauley Ballroom.

Chancellor Roger Heyns, various faculty members, and other members of the University administration will greet those students attending. Certificates of Honors at Entrance, recognizing a freshman's superior high school academic achievement, will be presented.

This will be an informal affair sponsored by the Committee on Undergraduate Scholarships and Honors. Campus clothes will be appropriate attire.

An Appeal for

The People of Vietnam

There is a need to speak of the long-drawn agony which is overwhelming the voiceless men, women and children of South Vietnam. For the past twenty-five years they have been suffering through three wars. Their welfare and their future should constitute the beginning and the ending point of every consideration.

An eloquent plea was released to the United States press by a Buddhist leader in Saigon last February:

"Our people throughout the nation from the main city to the far village in the countryside have suffered all miseries, griefs and unhappiness. They have even lost their lives and properties.

"Most of the Vietnamese people do not like war to go on and wish the end of the war as soon as possible in order to stop the bloody scenes of their Vietnamese brothers killing one another."

American Friends Service Committee representatives, recently returned from an extended visit through the length and breadth of South Vietnam, confirm the truth of these moving words.

We of the AFSC reaffirm our belief that war is morally indefensible. We have said this of other wars and we say it now of this war. There is no possible action by one side which can lend justification to acts of mass violence being carried out by the other, whether the war be labeled one of national liberation or for the defense of freedom. The villagers of Vietnam suffer and die unaware of being liberated by anyone. They feel little stake in the outcome of this war.

There are now more than 600,000 uprooted persons in South Vietnam who have fled their homes to escape the violence that is being carried on by both sides. In addition, there are unknown numbers of victims of United States bombing in the North. More will be added across the land each day as the war continues.

To relieve the suffering of these victims of the war, whether in the North or South, the AFSC is now appealing for funds. Together with other public and private agencies we will seek to bring relief to the refugees in South Vietnam. There can be no frontiers to human need. Therefore, we also seek ways to bring aid to the victims of war in North Vietnam and in territories held by the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong). We do not know whether we shall be able to work in these areas, but we will try very hard to do so.

Much money will be needed, and we shall be glad to receive contributions from those who trust us to apply their gifts to the sufferers from the Vietnam war wherever they may be.

Humanitarian activity, however, does not absolve Americans, either as individuals or as citizens, from facing with searching candor the awful fact of the United States' involvement in war, and of what this is doing to the moral fiber of this nation, and indeed of mankind everywhere. We urge the United States to revise its policies in Southeast Asia so as not to rely on military force.

the American Friends Service Committee made a statement* on Indo-China which we find relevant today.

The American Friends Service Committee is profoundly disturbed with the pressures for United States military intervention in Indo-China. On the basis of long Quaker experience in international service we are convinced that nothing but disaster lies down this road. The destructiveness of modern war can produce nothing but hatred, even among those on whose behalf the fighting ostensibly is undertaken, and hatred is no foundation upon which freedom and democracy can be built.

We urge our fellow citizens to remember that a real victory for freedom in Indo-China, as elsewhere, depends upon winning the minds and hearts of the Indo-Chinese. This requires that America first understand that the legitimate yearnings of Asian peoples are for independence and for a better standard of life. These are the fundamental issues in the present raging Indo-Chinese revolution and they are not issues that can be met by military threats.

*These are the first two paragraphs.

WE APPEAL to each side to refrain from the horrors of bombing, the obliteration of villages, tortures, extortion, the use of press gangs and other atrocious acts

WE APPEAL to each side for a cease fire and the beginning of negotiations carried out with the aim of self-determination

WE APPEAL for the withdrawal of all armed forces and the acceptance by all of an international presence to maintain order and give protection

WE APPEAL for construction to take the place of destruction so that the beneficent forces of the United States and other nations may join together to create the greater world society

Today is the time for action. To delay may imperil the existence of all of us in the future, but the greater danger to our souls is now.

Hope for Autonomy

Now that the Berkeley campus of the University of California has reached one of its goals—enrollment of 27,500 students—some of its institutions need re-evaluation. This has been recognized by University President Clark Kerr, the Board of Regents, many students, and now the Academic Senate.

In the State of the Campus Message delivered by the Academic Senate's Committee on Senate Policy, an outline for further study leading to a recommendation on campus autonomy was presented yesterday.

The Senate's conception of autonomy differs from that of President Kerr. Kerr has asked for autonomy for the various chancellors under a common policy statement set by the Board of Regents. The Academic Senate, on the other hand, would like freedom for the campus to set its own policy, in an equal partnership between the Chancellor and the Academic Senate.

The Senate policy committee recognized that it would be difficult for the faculty to administer the campus—since teaching is its primary duty and administrative problems such as rule making belong to the administration. However, it would like a say in the administrative processes and it should have one.

Nevertheless, if the chancellor is hampered by the Board of Regents' policies, he can give neither the faculty nor the students a real voice.

Berkeley should be given its independence from the Regents not because the Regents are necessarily evil but because it has outgrown some of its need for central direction. This was recognized by the Academic Senate committee.

Berkeley is ahead of the other University campuses in number of students, educational quality, prestige, and enthusiasm of its community. It knows its own problems better than any outsider could, as the events of the last year have proved.

Once the Board of Regents realizes this, Berkeley will be free to go ahead even further. We hope the Academic Senate report, when finished will point so clearly to the advantages of autonomy that the Board will help us toward that end.

Times Square Two: Journey Into the Past

of the Times Square Two took a Bear's Lair Cabaret audience into another era Friday night.

By BRUNO BRANDLI

Mike Mycroft and Andrew I. Dressed in antiquated pin-striped suits and sporting spats, the Two guitar-singers entertained in high vaudevillian fashion.

"We promise to sing a folk song," began Mycroft, "But before being able to present material to cultured society, I've had to edit some objectionable material."

"Some people, I understand, even use such words out of context," he added raising his eyebrows.

Possessing all the calm and self-assurance of classical musicians dabbling in folk art, they lapsed into a rendition of "No, John No." Andrew missed the edited material, began singing the bawdy version and the ensuing embarrassed coverup had the audience in stitches.

This pattern continued through the evening of song, dance, dialogue, and variety acts—Mike, the proprietor of Victorian manners and good taste, attempted to keep his composure and Andrew, less accomplished, threatened to throw a monkey wrench into the whole act with his faux pas, youthful enthusiasm and strident humour.

Their co-ordination and timing was amazing, whether sharing a guitar for an instrumental solo, jumping and dancing on the tiny stage, or exchanging patter while singing.

"It's just like it's almost an accident, but they work very hard at it," noted a friend of the Two.

Aside from the comic aspects of their acts, the Times Square Two are accomplished musicians. And their performance of musical material reflects a sensitivity for the varied selections they parody.

Their opening number, "Wish I Could Shimmy Like My Sister Kate," was an excellent ragtime instrumental and vocal duet. Mike's smooth, sublime vocalizing emulated the style of early commercial radio and record singers.

They remained straight faced while singing:

"She's more to be pitied than censored.

She's more to be helped than despised.

She's only a lassie who ventured,

On life's stormy path ill advised."

They take themselves as seriously off stage as they do on.

When asked what kind of music he personally enjoyed, Mike answered, "Light and heavy classical music, Gilbert and Sullivan."

Andrew said he learned some jazz guitar when he used to "frequent those horrible dives where colored people hang out. They've got natural rhythm."

Their promotional material had billed them as "appealing to hip type audiences."

'Filipiniana'

By DONNA HUDDLESTON

Leyte Filipiniana brought unpretentious folk dances, elaborate costumes, and an infectious naivete to Hertz Hall Saturday night and delighted the capacity audience.

The dance troupe, now on its first tour of the United States, is a product of the Philippine educational system, which emphasizes the development of the individual and of his relationship to the nation.

The company, composed of students in their late teens, began performing local dances to raise money for a new school. Their warm spontaneity has since made them widely known and admired.

It is unfortunate that the production was moved from Harmon Gym to Hertz Hall. The informal staging and the gaiety of the dancers themselves were inharmonious with the formal and rather austere setting of Hertz Hall.

Saturday night's performance was, nevertheless, a study in the casual. Musicians and singers formed a chorus in back of the dancers; they joked among themselves and wandered around the stage to produce a festive, if distracting, atmosphere. Simple background sets, cardboard but adequate, were in keeping with the unsophisticated tone of the entire program.

Four groups of dances, each reflecting part of the Philippine folk tradition were presented. Cartwheeling acrobatics, and slow circling steps performed in semi-darkness with lighted oil lamps enlivened the Rural Dances.

The most exciting moments came with the Dances of Pagan Tribes, which featured relentless drum rhythms and lines of snake-dancing girls in brilliantly colored native costumes.

The stately and somewhat restrained Spanish dances were less effective. The dances from the province of Leyte gave an enchanting depiction of a typical village day from a mime of the rice harvest to slap-stick chases. During the finale as dancers nimbly hopped between wooden poles rhythmically beaten together, the enthusiastic audience began tossing coins onto the stage.

The set changes were clumsy and most of the dancers lacked any degree of stage presence. But no one cared. Such youthful exuberance and grace were irresistible.

Jon Hendricks at the Trident—'Jazz, Singing, Atmosphere'

By PAUL De BARROS

Whatever you have planned for this Friday night, cancel it. Jon Hendricks is playing the Trident in Sausalito and if you're interested in jazz, singing, a beautiful atmosphere by the Bay, or just having fun, see him.

He plays nightly, except Mondays, when the Denny Zeitlin trio is there. The club is one of the best around, and cheap—$1 cover, no minimum, minors allowed.

The show lasts for a little over an hour, and is a display of Jon Hendricks' great ability to simulate with his voice various jazz instruments, as well as sing good jazz tunes. Friday night he sang two jazz standard ballads, "Stella By Starlight," and Thelonius Monk's tune, "Round Midnight."

But the "real" Hendricks came out in his extended version of Oscar Pettiford's "Swingin' Til the Girls Come Home." He put a drumstick to his lips and whistled six choruses of flute solo. Too much.

Then he switched to imitating bass players. His voice sounds amazingly like the resonant tones of a bass. First, you hear Paul Chambers walking up and down the blues, and then the versatility of Ray Brown. Then he played (sang) a couple of Mingus triple-stops, screamed at the audience and walked off the stage yelling at his musicians.

He came back though, to the delighted audience, and gave a great imitation of Clark Terry's "Incoherent Blues." Clark and Jon did the same tune together at Monterey this year.

Jon is working with a trio, two of whom are local musicians: Flip Nunez, piano, John Heard, bass, and a new drummer from New York, Clarence Beskin. In the past year Hendricks has used Jerry Granelli for a drummer, and Noel Jukes on sax. Neither of these groups are or will be very permanent.

In the past, Jon was involved in the renowned, Lambert-Hendricks-Ross jazz trio, which got going in about 1958. Annie Ross left in '62, and the group continued to sing for a year and a half with an Indian singer named Bavan until '64 when they all split. Jon then formed a group called "Jon Hendricks, Inc." which performed last year at Monterey, but that group also folded.

In the past nine years, Jon Hendricks has gained a reputation as the best lyricist in jazz, and has become a well-loved spokesman for the music. He puts words to jazz lines, and to famous solos, one of the most famous being Coltrane's "Cousin Mary." He has also written a tribute to Charlie Parker called "Yardbird Suite."

He has taken residence now in Sausalito, and will work in and out of the Trident probably all year. He will perform at least once this year at the University, and hopefully twice. Saturday he goes to London for a week, so catch him quick. He's a gas.

LETTERS TO THE ICE BOX

VDC Violation

To the Icebox:

I hope that the Daily Cal misquoted the statement issued by the representatives of the VDC, FSU, SDS, YSA, GCC, and the SAL. The statement that I hope was misquoted is the following: "We recognize that according to the provisional rules now in effect the VDC bulletin board was in violation." However, since the provisional rules were not formulated by students and faculty, we feel no obligation to obey them."

The reasons that I hope this statement was misquoted is that: (1) It was formulated by a group of presumably level-headed, intelligent, mature college students. (2) These representatives are University of California students who are supposed to be the more intelligent students of the nation. (3) These representatives are the leaders of their political groups and their actions and ideas greatly influence the actions of the members of these political groups. I am, however, prepared that this statement was not misquoted. Giving thanks to the VDC etc. representatives who have made me aware of the grave injustices I have been doing to myself by trying to obey the provisional rules set forth by Chancellor Heyns, I have formulated my own set of rules. Tomorrow, I am going to buy a gun and kill a person who I do not especially like. . . . May anarchy soon prevail on this campus.

—Jim Ashcraft
Sen., Civil Engineering

More Phones

If we assume that the main purpose of the University is to provide an education for its students, then we must agree that those actions which contribute nothing towards a student's education should be minimized. This brings me to a problem which has plagued me, and I am sure other students and faculty members, that of trying to find a convenient campus phone.

Many times I have needed to talk to a professor and upon walking to his office found him to be elsewhere, even at times in the building I was in originally. This may seem like a trivial problem, however when you consider that the Berkeley Campus is over 435 acres and that even the main part of campus is over 175 acres all of this walking can waste much time and do little else than provide the student with some exercise.

At this time there are only two phones on campus expressly for the convenience of students. One is at the Student Union, the other is at Eshelman. I am asking that you use the power of your office to secure the installation of restricted campus locals for student use in the lobbies of all major buildings on campus. The cost of these locals is only $3.50 a month and even the 40 or so that would be needed would hardly make a dent in the mammoth budget of the University. If the cost is compared to the utility of the service this becomes a very desirable service for the University to perform.

Pelicans Hit Stands Wednesday To Defend 'Number One' Title

By LELA ZIFF

Seven thousand copies of the Pelican will go on sale Wednesday. "Passed from hand to hand to hand, there will in actuality still be only 7,000 Pelicans, but 21,000 people will want them," according to managing editor Nancy Lawler.

Pelican was recently voted the number one college humor magazine in a national poll of college humor magazines conducted by Voo Doo, the humor magazine of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Pelican Editor Bob Wieder explained, "We have long laid claim to that title, and someone has finally seen fit to bestow it upon us."

Past editor Dick Corten went on to relate the history behind Pelican's achievement.

"Earle C. Anthony was the first dirty old man of the Pelican. In 1903 he started the thing on a bet that he couldn't publish a humor magazine to last a semester. So he won.

He went on to begin a chain of gas stations which were to become the Standard Oil Company of California and a string of radio stations which include Los Angeles' KFI."

Corten continued, "In 1957 Anthony built Pelican's present home at a cost of $100,000," last year's editor said.

Corten said it cost $100,000 because it was started during the summer and Anthony wanted to have it done for the Big Game. He had to pay everybody overtime.

Bob Wieder described the format of the magazine: "We're funny. There's going to be a big change in the magazine this semester. We're going to do more nono's. Print the unprintable. Reveal the unrevealable. Unscrew the unscrutable."

"We're going to bull-dog a whole herd of sacred cattle," Wieder said. "We're going to deal with subjects which in the past weren't supposed to be dealt with. We're going away from the old style of talking naughties because the old naughties have become too commonplace."

Wieder also discussed the theme of the coming issue:

"This is the survival issue, written from the view of an apartment dweller who doesn't give that much of a damn about the University. We're not going to take the University seriously anymore. We're going to ignore it and write stuff that would be applicable to all universities."

Former editor Dick Cortin interrupted, "The rah rah is dead, or at best disillusioned."

Wieder continued, "About the first issue specifically, there will be a fantastically penetrating and compelling study of the decline and fall of the printed word in San Francisco journalism."

"There will be an article on the preferred method of getting out of Vietnam before you get into Vietnam. You can put out the fire on your draft card, Gus, you've got a double hernia," Wieder sang.

"Another article," he continued, "will be on how to survive in the University—dorms, sororities, fraternities, classes, food—which is really going to upset everybody."

"We also have a touch of James Bond, a beautiful Miss Pelly, a smattering of Joel Beek (voted the nation's number one magazine cartoonist), and a series of critical and highly enlightening sorties into the morass of campus politics."

Indian Meeting

U.C. Students Association of India will hold a coffee hour to welcome new students from India, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Stiles Hall Auditorium (2400 Bancroft Way). Election of new officers for the academic year 1965-1966 will also be held in the same evening.

Moreover, donations collected for the victims of the recent conflict in India will also be presented to the Consul General of India. All Student members have been requested to participate in the meeting.

Campus Progressive Labor Slates Film Satire on South

"Gone Are the Days," the screen adaptation of the Broadway play "Purlie Victorious" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Wheeler Auditorium.

Admission is 75 cents. The movie, sponsored by Campus Progressive Labor, is a satire on the state of the South and of the stereotyped "Uncle Tom" Negro. Ossie Davis, Ruby Dee and Godfrey Cambridge star in the cast.

On the same program is "Moon-bird," a fantasy about two boys on an expedition to capture an extraordinary mythical bird. This cartoon, made by John Hubley, won an Academy Award.

University friends of the Socialist Labor Party are urged to attend a very brief meeting TODAY at 1:15 p.m. in the lobby of Oxford Hall, 2140 Oxford.

Irving Stone to Host Wednesday

Novelist Irving Stone will visit the Sather Gate Book Shop from 12:30 p.m. through the afternoon tomorrow.

Stone, author of "Lust for Life," "The Agony and the Ecstasy," and most recently "Those Who Love," will discuss his work with anyone who is interested and auto-

A graduate of the University in 1923, Stone received his M.A. from USC the following year. He returned to the University as an economics instructor from 1924 to 1926.

"Those Who Love," his newest book is a fictionalized biography of Abigail and John Adams.

Picket to Back Farm Strikers

Various student political organizations will picket a distillery in San Francisco tomorrow to protest alleged unfair labor practices against farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley.

Members of the Student Committee for Agricultural Labor, Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, Citizens for Farm Labor, and Berkeley CORE will picket the Schenely Distilleries at 3 p.m.

There will be a car pool leaving at 2 p.m. from Stiles Hall.

Farm workers in the Delano area are striking the vineyards of Schenely and 30 other growers, according to Richard Boyden of SCAL.

Mr. T. B. Kittredge '12, assistant in history, will speak on the Belgian situation today.

1950

Monroe Deutsch, provost emeritus of the University, said yesterday the "sign the loyalty oath or get out" order of the Regents, the subsequent firing of "disobedient" faculty members was one of the most outrageous incidents in University history.

1960

"Let us get on with the business of our society," Henry Cabot Lodge told his Hearst Greek Theatre audience yesterday.

He defined this "business" as "the achievement of true equality for its own sake in American society."

The Academic Senate protested yesterday the right of the Board of Regents to make decisions involving academic matters.

Pelly to Peruse Pulchritude

The Pelican, campus humor magazine, will hold a beauty contest Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 18 and 19 to select a campus representative for the California Maid of Cotton Pageant.

The preliminary judging for the contest will be 2 p.m. Monday in the Pelican building. The final judging has been tentatively scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in 155 Dwinelle Hall.

The representative from the Berkeley campus will compete for the title of 1966 California Maid of Cotton on Nov. 12 and 13 in Fresno.

Linda Laureano, promotions manager of the campus contest said applications are being sent out to living groups and must be returned to the Pelican building or 204 Eshleman by 4 p.m. Friday. Further information and applications are available in 204 Eshleman or 849-1220, extension 3802.

The winner of the state title will receive a $1,000 scholarship, a cotton wardrobe, and tour expenses. She will also represent California in the National Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis, Tennessee on Dec. 28 and 29.

A few qualifications for candidates are:

- Between the ages of 19 and 25 inclusive, as of Dec. 29, 1965.
- At least 5 feet 6 inches without shoes.
- Born in a cotton producing state.
- Never have been married.

Focus on Trinidad

One of the world's most remarkable societies — a cultural and racial melting pot whose population is drawn from every major culture area on earth—will be the subject of a University Extension conference and travel-study program this Fall.

The focus of the program is Trinidad, the southern most island of the West Indies.

Trinidad is unique in the degree to which each group has kept its own identity while contributing to the development of a rich local culture.

Yarbrough

Glenn Yarbrough will appear at Harmon Gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Admission is $3 for the general public, and $2 for students.

Tickets are now on sale at the ASUC Box Office, Campus Records, Breuner's in Oakland, Berkeley, and Richmond; and the Downtown Center Box Office in San Francisco.

He is currently on a concert tour of 60 colleges and universities.

Housing Gripes Poll Probes Dorms

with their residence, reasons for changing their residence, their rent, transportation to campus, and who influenced their choice of residence. There were further questions asked to married couples and to people living at home.

The students rated the want of freedom twice as high as any other reason for leaving their former residence. Better food and studying conditions were the next two highest rated, the survey reflected.

As for what makes student housing satisfactory, comfort-quietness was rated 30.8 out of a possible 100 for the men or about twice as much as all other items.

Most non-students — including those in University housing — were relatively well-satisfied by their housing accommodations of fall 1963. However, the proportion of dissatisfied was higher among University housing residents than among occupants of non-University housing at all campuses," the report said.

"Few students remain in the residence halls beyond the lower division," the report said. "Dissatisfaction in the residence halls is most pronounced during the sophomore year."

The University Residence halls are rated highest by the freshmen of which 75.7 per cent are satisfied. Sixty-six and a half per cent of the sophomores are satisfied with the dorms as were 68.4 per cent of the upper classmen.

The dormitory residents were most enthusiastic about the proximity of the halls to campus. The majority of residents voted the halls excellent or good on all items — comfort, congeniality, freedom, proximity, cost—except Quiet which was voted fair.

"About 50 per cent of all students felt that cost in the residence halls were competitive or higher than private single student housing," the report stated.

The report concludes that if dormitory fees are raised 80 dollars, "25 per cent of the upper division men and 10 per cent of the upper division women will move to private quarters."

The report said, "from the fall 1960 to fall 1967 the University housing fee will have risen 29.2 per cent if the proposed increases are carried out." This comes to an average increase of 4.2 per cent a year.

Therefore, "Some students now enrolled at campuses distant from where their parents live may have to shift campuses in order to live at home while attending college."

The report said, "Some students will be prevented from attending the University all together by the increase in housing costs, and therefore will fail to receive a higher education."

(Tomorrow: The Report's evaluation of the present University housing policy.)

UCLA Students Blast Rules

Student leaders at UCLA are protesting the limitations imposed upon student government by the new time, place, and manner regulations issued last week by U.C.L.A. Chancellor Franklin Murphy.

Chiefly criticized is the clause: "Student governments at UCLA may not take official positions on non-University related issues."

ASUCLA President Bob Glasser said, "It's up to the student body to decide whether or not its student government should speak for it."

At a Student Legislative Council meeting Thursday, ASUCLA Vice President Dave Clark introduced a resolution that the students themselves should decide whether the ASUCLA should take positions on non-campus related issues (or off-campus, for example Selma).

Clark said, "the most important issue is our freedom. It's more important that we be the ones to decide."

Clark himself opposes ASUCLA taking positions on off campus matters.

The new UCLA rules were issued in accordance with the University-wide Rules, issued on July 1, 1965, by Clark Kerr and countersigned by the chancellors at each of the nine campuses.

The University-wide Rules provide that chancellors should issue regulations applying to their particular campus.

The University-wide Rules prohibit student governments from taking positions on issues not "directly related to the University and its operations." The statewide rules do allow "student governments with voluntary membership to take positions on non-University related issues."

Membership in the ASUCLA is automatic upon registration for both undergraduates and graduates. Thus membership in student government at UCLA is termed compulsory, as it is here, although only for undergraduates.

Murphy's regulations are adapted from the University-wide Rules.

Graduate Students Association

President Joel Peck said it is legally untenable to maintain that student government positions on non-campus issues involve University endorsement.

Joe Maizlish, history representative to the GSA Council, criticized, the new regulations fail to heed the advice of the Byrne Report.

The Byrne Report was published last spring as the result of a study of the University by the Forbes Committee. The Regents ordered the study, which was headed by Jerome Byrne, a Los Angeles lawyer.

The report said student governments should "be permitted to take and announce positions on issues of importance to membership within or outside the University, provided that the membership wishes to commit that power to its governing board, the vote on the issue is announced, and the announcement identifies the group, disclaiming authority to speak for the University."

National Students Association representative Jim Berland said there are other things he would like to see changed.

Frosh-Sophs Battle Today

The traditional frosh-soph brawl will take place at 3 p.m. Friday at Kleeberger Field.

Before the construction of the "Big C" on the eastern hills of the Berkeley campus, the freshman class would claim their rights each fall by marking their class numerals on the hillside.

While the freshmen tried to deny their position, the sophomore class surges up the hill determined to remove the numerals.

When the "Big C" was built by the classes of 1907 and 1908, the actual Soph-Brawl began as a tradition which still exists.

This event has always included tug-o-war, assorted races, and a concluding relay from different places on campus to paint the "Big C" with the respective class colors.

The brawl ends with the winning class president painting the president of the losing class.

1. Talking to yourself?

Rehearsing a speech. I'm running for President of the Student Council.

2. Angela's idea?

She says it will help me develop a sense of responsibility.

3. What's your platform?

Do I need one?

4. You have to give people a reason for voting for you.

How about "A chicken in every pot"?

5. Already been used.

"Tippecanoe and Tyler too"?

6. Look, if you want to show Angela you're responsible, why not sign up for Living Insurance from Equitable. It's one of the most responsible things you can do—because Living Insurance will give your wife and kids solid protection.

"I would rather be right than President."

Italians Believe in Columbus

NEW YORK (AP) — Italian-American leaders were furious yesterday at Yale University's findings that a Scandinavian Viking, not Italy's Christopher Columbus, discovered America.

"This is very serious," declared John N. La Corte, president of the Italian Historical Society. He told a gathering of about 600 Columbus rosters, "They're trying to change history."

He said Yale would come to regret its claim that Columbus was a giovanni-come-lately to the new world, and that it actually was discovered by the Viking adventurer, Leif Ericson.

The New Haven, Conn., institution Sunday announced a newly discovered map, from North European sources, showing a crude sketch of North America in 1490, which was 52 years before Columbus made his voyage.

La Corte told a pre-Columbus Day observance in Brooklyn he plans to marshal the forces of the Vatican library, the National Geographic Society, and call a conference of world historians to dispute Yale's conclusions.

Meanwhile, Yale librarian James Tanis said the ancient map is "the most exciting single acquisition of the Yale library in modern times" and that it would go on display on Columbus Day—Tuesday.

The map bears a legend in Latin saying that Leif Ericson made a voyage west and south of Greenland and discovered a fertile land with is designated "Vinland" on the ancient drawing.
