

Regents Will Not Pay Up

By ANDY McGALL

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors may have to wait a long time before their $15,000 bill for overtime police services is paid by the University.

The money would be used to pay overtime for Alameda sheriff's deputies who were part of the police force present at the Vietnam Day marches on Oct. 15-16.

Frank Miller, assistant business and finance officer in Sprout Hall, refused to comment on the bill.

"I cannot comment on that at all," he said.

University Regent Donald McLaughlin said yesterday it might be illegal for the University to pay city authorities for police overtime during last month's Vietnam Day march to Oakland.

McLaughlin said, "The University is not allowed to pay city authorities for services normally given to state agencies."

"Even if we wanted to pay, we would have to consult our lawyers," he said.

"I'm inclined to think we wouldn't pay," he said, "but it's a matter that would have to go to the Regents."

While McLaughlin said payment of the bill might be illegal, there were others who thought the University should not have been billed at all.

ASUC President Jerry Goldstein said he "could not understand" why the University should pay for the police.

He called the idea of payment "an absurdity."

Goldstein objects to payment because "a lot of the people involved—possibly the vast major- (Continued on page 7)

VDC May Hold Legal March

The Vietnam Day Committee's chances of obtaining a parade permit for their Nov. 20 protest march were increased by a joint statement issued Tuesday by Oakland Mayor John Houlihan and Berkeley Mayor Wallace Johnson.

The Mayors' statement was greeted enthusiastically by both Berkeley Chancellor Roger Heyns and the VDC.

The mayors expressed their "dual concern" for protection of the "rights of others" and for "the right of the people peaceably to assemble," as stated in the First Amendment.

They called "reasonable" a proposed route through Berkeley and Oakland and a destination such as a "large vacant lot (for example 7th and Peralta in Oakland)."

The mayors indicated the march, if held, should be in the day-time and should involve a "minimal danger, inconvenience and cost to the general public."

The mayors said, "We share a firm belief of the right of each American citizen to talk and to walk. We also believe in his respecting the rights and the welfare of others."

"Both concepts can be achieved by reasonable men," the statement concluded.

Chancellor Heyns congratulated the mayors for "making clear that their communities are attempting to achieve the delicate balance between the lawful exercise of the right to protest and proper concern for the rights of others."

In a statement released yesterday afternoon, VDC said the mayors' statement showed "Mayor Houlihan had responded to the public outcry against the Oakland Wall."

The VDC statement called Houlihan's move a "victory for the anti-war movement and for the U.S. Constitution."

VDC decried the "silent acquiescence of a misinformed American public" in permitting the annihilation of the entire South Vietnamese people.

"The more discussion about and protest against this war, the greater the pressure from above to silence and condemn all opposition," the VDC statement said.

"When a country is actively engaged in suppressing the freedom of another people, civil liberties at home also fall by the wayside," the statement continued.

At a noon rally yesterday on the steps of Sproul Hall, Steve Hamilton of the VDC's anti-draft committee called for "responsible arguments" in an effort to acquaint the American people with the "truth about the war."

Steve Cherkoss of the May 2nd Movement, which is attempting to collect blood and medical supplies to send to North Vietnam, attacked "collaboration" between the University and the military, both in draft matters and in general research.

He demanded the University "stop finking on students and cooperating with the draft."

Hamilton said, "We're not fighting for freedom and democracy. We're fighting for American domination and nothing more."

"A lot of people have never heard a serious argument against (Continued on page 10)

Huge Turn-out Expected For Delegate Vote

Expecting a huge turnout, the ASUC Elections Committee has borrowed 100 extra voting booths from the Alameda County Registrar for the up-coming constitutional convention election.

According to Elections Council Chairman Richard Venning, the additional 100 booths will be used along with 30 owned by the ASUC.

In further anticipation of an "extremely large" election turnout Venning has ordered 20,000 ballots. The biggest election turnout was in spring 1964 when over 6,000 voted.

Venning said there are regularly three voting areas, but with the expected turnout ranging near 10,000 Elections Council has provided for four more areas.

In the five-day election (Nov. 15-19) the number of hours worked by poll workers will jump from 150 to a possible 950 hours, he said.

Also borrowed were a number of wide-slot ballot boxes in order to handle the larger IBM ballots, Venning added.

Hell's Angels Support War

LARKSPUR (AP)—The Northern California president of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club told a Redwood High School audience here yesterday the Hell's Angels will counter-demonstrate at all future anti-war demonstrations in the area.

Ralph Hubert Barger, 27, of Oakland, appearing in a black jersey with a skull and crossbones emblem on the back, had been invited to speak by an American government class teacher.

The Vietnam Day Committee, which plans a march protesting U.S. involvement in Vietnam Nov. 20, had also been invited, but declined.

"We'll counter-demonstrate whenever there's a demonstration," said Barger, 27. "But there's no need to fear us. We just like to get on our motorcycles and have a good time."

Rules Com Filing

Filing for positions on the new campus rules committee will be open until tomorrow in 304 Eshleman Hall. All students are eligible to file. There will be three undergraduates and two graduates on the committee.

Campaigning for the election will take place from Nov. 6 to 10. The election itself will be held from Nov. 15 to 19.

Book Store Debate Put Off

At 12:37 a.m. Wednesday the ASUC Senate put off for a week consideration of a Slate motion to establish a discount store.

The action came after hours of debate on whether to continue a boycott of Crown-Zellerbach products established two weeks ago. More than 250 persons attended the meeting to hear the debate on the store.

The debate was postponed because of the late hour.

The store motion will be considered promptly at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, the Senate promised.

The Senate divided over the question of who to appoint to fill the Representative-at-Large position vacated by Dustin Miller of Slate when he resigned recently.

The Slate members maintained Miller had been elected on their platform and his place should be filled by someone running on that same platform.

When polarization between Slate and non-Slate members occurred and Slate candidate Henry Weinstein only got 13 of the necessary 15 votes the whole matter was postponed until next week.

Civil Disobedience Meet Today

University faculty will join civil rights leader Bayard Rustin and Dean Richard Wasserstrom of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama for a conference on "Civil Disobedience and the Democratic Tradition," today.

Main speakers and their topics are:

- Rustin, organizer of the 1963 Washington March — "Civil Disobedience in America Today — Some Judgements."

- Wasserstrom — "When, if ever, is breaking the law morally justifiable?"

- Caleb Foote, University professor of law and criminology — "Civil Disobedience and the Rule of Law in a Democracy."

The conference, sponsored by the Faculty Committee for the Study of Non-violence, Campus

Peace Center, and ASUC, will be from 3:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. in 2000 Life Sciences Building.

It will cost 50 cents or $1.50 for those wishing to participate in a dinner discussion.

Tickets are at the ASUC Box Office in the Student Union, Turn Towards Peace, 1730 Grove, or at the door.

The conference will start with a panel on "Where the Idea Comes From" at 3:30 p.m. Examining the traditions and experiences that aid in defining civil disobedience in the democratic tradition will be moderator, Reginald Zelnick, acting assisting professor of history; Henry May, professor of history; Sheldon Wolin, professor of political science; and Rustin.

Foote will speak at 4:45 p.m.

"Is there an irreconcilable conflict?" and "Under what conditions can civil disobedience be an instrument for the fulfillment of democratic values and an aid to the functioning of a democratic policy?" will be the topics of and Dean Richard Wasserstrom Michael Rogin, professor of political science, and William Kornhauser, professor of sociology.

From 5:50 p.m. to 7:50 p.m. discussion dinners will be held by Stiles Hall, American Baptist Foundation, Canterbury House, Wesley Foundation, Westminster House, Lutheran Campus Center, and Plymouth House. Conference participants will be able to have a discussion with speakers and each other.

Stricken Fans All Right Doctor Says

Rumors that students stricken in the recent epidemic are growing worse are false, a University physician said yesterday.

Dr. Irving Tabershaw, University environmental health director, said some students are ill a day or so longer, and a few suffer a slightly more severe reaction.

Bacteriologists conducting laboratory tests have gathered and prepared studies of materials taken from students and the orange juice sold at last Saturday's football game.

There is "no bug at this stage," said Dr. Tabershaw.

He added the sickness may be caused by some chemical rather (Continued on page 11)

FACULTY BEER NEAR?

BEER BOTTLE

They eat their bread and meat without beer at the Men's Faculty Club.

But some there aren't very happy about the policy.

Farrest McAbee, manager of the Club, said yesterday "the men here have always said, it's too bad we can't have some beer with our lunch."

The Men's Faculty Club is a corporation, owned by its faculty members of the club, so . . . reflecting its members wishes, the management applied for a beer license.

That was several months ago.

Since then, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department has "called several times to talk about the situation," Manager McAbee said.

He added he didn't think beer licenses usually took this long to (Continued on page 10)

Quarter System Departmental Troubles

(Editor's note: This is the third of a three part series on the upcoming shift to the quarter system by this campus.)

By BRUNO BRANDLI

"We feel it is simply abominable," said one faculty member about course offering changes under the quarter system.

Although his remark is not representative of all faculty members, it is a strong expression of doubts voiced by many of them. Quarter system courses will meet more frequently over a shorter time span than they currently do in the semester plan.

This means they will be sweeping faculty and students along about 50 per cent faster, according to Wallace Matson, associate professor of philosophy.

"In a philosophy course meeting twice a week under the present system, we usually have one section meeting to help clear up material covered in the lecture," he said.

"In the quarter system, the same class will have three lectures per week and still only one section meeting to cover material which is moving much faster," he added.

Matson said section meetings have often been inadequate even under the current plan and, consequently, "what is in many ways unsatisfactory now, will be even more so after the conversion."

The physics department faces the problem of having to restructure its curriculum to fit a shorter schedule without cutting back the broad scope of its present program.

"Our department has more essential requirements in the major than others do. These requirements cannot be limited by the quarter system," Eugene Commins, assistant professor of physics, said.

But the breadth requirements outside the physics major limit the department in the number of units it can assign to each physics course under the quarter system, he added.

Of the subsequent changes in course offerings, Commins said, "It's something we didn't want to do, but had to."

"We are using the opportunity to make a few changes we had intended to make anyway, changes to make the course material a little more unified and sensible," he added.

Ralph Rader, associate professor of English, said students in his field would "have to work a little more" under the quarter system.

"Our tendency has been to take the equivalent of a semester course into the quarter plan by upping the credit to five units," he said.

For example, the current English 1A-1B requirement covering two semesters will be satisfied in two quarters after the conversion, by meeting three times a week for one and a half hours.

"This is a much more flexible program. There will be more time for tutorial sessions and student guidance," he said.

Rader anticipated fewer lectures and fewer exams per course, which would leave the student with more time and "give him more of a chance for a real education."

Gene Brucker, associate profes-ser of history, explained, "In the past, many courses have been superficial which resulted in bad courses." The history quarter system courses as set up will be more meaningful, although not as broad in coverage, he said.

Rumanian Pianist Schachter To Perform In Hertz Hall

Alicia Schachter, a Rumanian pianist who won the Aspen Music Festival concerto competition in 1958, will perform a New Artist Concert at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Hertz Hall.

Tickets, 50 cents, are now on sale at the Student Union and in the Committee for Arts and Lectures box offices.

Included in the program will be: Sonata in A major, posthumous, by Schubert, and three pieces by Bach; Partita No. 6 in E minor, Four Duets (Klavierübung, part III), and Toccata in C minor.

The artist, who has toured the world with several European orchestras, was born in 1936 in Bucharest and began her public and radio appearances there at the age of nine. In 1948 she went to Argentine, where she continued studying and performing.

She later studied with Bruno Seidlhofer in Vienna, Pablo Casals in Zernatt, and Rudolf Serkin and Leonard Hure in the United States.

Jerry Bradley: Little Big Shot

By Leslie Lafayette

Last year in Cal's second game of the season a rather small, undistinguished flankerback wearing number 40 ran out onto the field and on his first varsity play caught a Craig Morton TD pass to put the Bears back into the Illinois game 20-14. After a successful on-sides kick, the same unknown sophomore leapt high in the end zone and snagged another pass which appeared, to the 52,000 elated spectators, to be the tying score.

But it wasn't, for Jerry Bradley's foot had touched the line.

Saturday against Penn State, number 40 did it again . . . but this time he made it count, outsmarting a combined 600 pounds of Penn State defensive backs for the football as the gun went off.

His heads-up play on that catch and the totals for the game (five catches, 87 yards) earned him Northern California Lineman of the Week honors. At five foot ten and 155 pounds Jerry has to be one of the smallest linemen ever to earn that honor. But as he remarked in an interview last year, "Six points are six points whether you weigh 150 or 250 pounds."

And Jerry's just the person to know. In his Bear career he has caught seven touchdown passes, which puts him into a tie for the UC career record for touchdown pass receptions with Jack Schraub, Jim Hanifan and Jerry Mosher. Right now he leads Cal's receivers with 17 catches for 242 yards and three touchdowns. Jerry's also running back kickoffs to the tune of a 24.4 yard average and leads Cal's punt returners with an 11.1 yard average.

Just how Jerry started playing football for Cal is an interesting story. He was here on a track scholarship (he ran a 9.5 century just after his high school graduation) but he was really a football player at heart.

He came in one day to see Coach Cullom, who could tell right away that he was no heavyweight, and announced his intention to play ball. When Cullom discovered just how speedy Bradley was, he welcomed him to the frosh team with open arms. Jerry played at flankerback, catching six passes for 97 yards and scoring five touchdowns. Jerry hails from Vallejo, where he attended Vallejo and Hogan High Schools.

How did he feel after catching that last-second pass?
"Tired. Everybody was running all over me. You should have seen me. I was a mess." He was a happy mess, he admitted.

Football and track are only two-thirds of Jerry's split sports personality. He made the trip to Australia this summer with the rugby team. Jerry likes rugby because "it's a more social game . . . football players like it as an off-season sport they can relax with." He liked Australia very much.

"The people were great," he smiled. "Of course, they didn't think we could play rugby—until we started playing." The team came home through Fiji and Tahiti, but Jerry didn't think much of Tahiti: "I had jungle fever all day."

As for outside interests, Jerry likes to watch the horses run down at Bay Meadows, "just for pleasure of course." Jerry entered Cal with an Alumni Scholarship and studies diligently at the Main Library.

"Actually, Paul Hoerber recommended it," he quipped. "He said it's great because of its atmosphere of intellectual excitement."

Jerry had some predictions to make on this weekend's games. "We'll beat SC," he said confidently. "I think we'll fool a few people." (That might be the understatement of the week.)

As for the UCLA-Washington game: "I predict Washington will stomp UCLA. I'd stake my life on it." Jerry also feels that Cal will have a winning season this year, the first in a long time. "We'll beat Oregon and Stanford," he remarked. "Especially Stanford. Did you see what Washington did to them?"

A spirited person, Jerry was upset at the Senate plan to cut out spirit activities from the ASUC budget.

"The band and the other spirit organizations mean a lot to the team," he said seriously. "As for me, I can't play without a band," he added with a sly smile. "I might have to transfer next year!"

My lawyer friends have "persuaded" me to announce that Boalt #1 defeated the Maltys 20-14, but there'll be a rematch on that and it should be a good one. As for now I'm not making any predictions except one: Gremmies won't go over too well at the game this Saturday.

Soccer Bears Win Two in Five Days

By ABRAXAS

The Soccer Bears won their second game in five days when they beat San Jose State 2-1 last night.

Right-wing Harry Frere scored both Cal's goals in the second and third quarters, respectively.

Coach Bob DiGrazia said after the game: "I think this was the best game we have played so far this season. Both the offense and the defense worked really effectively."

Bear Cubs Go For Victory Against SC

By STEVE MULLENNIEX

Freshman efforts for a winning season will be on the line Saturday morning when the Cubs host the USC Frosh at 10 a.m. in Memorial Stadium.

With two games remaining Coach Jim Collum's charges are 1-2, defeating San Francisco State 28-0 while losing to the UCLA frosh 26-18 and the Stanford "papooses" 28-15. The visitors have dropped their only game of the season to Stanford, 24-13.

Despite the record, USC may prove to be the toughest team on the schedule. Their offensive line is bigger than the USC Varsity at a 6'3" and 239-pounds average, and they have had plenty of time to learn from their mistakes against Stanford. Steve Sogge will call the Troybabes' plays from his QB spot.

Saturday's stand out Mark Woods will lead the Cub's starting backfield of Rich Aschenbrenner at fullback and the team's leading ground-gainers of Joe Richards and Erich French at the halfback positions.

While "It's not winning or losing, but how you play the game that counts" is being forgotten by the Varsity, freshman football is played on this premise, for in Coach Collum's words, "Our prime function is to develop varsity football players." But a will to win is part of a team's development, and the maturing Cubs are anxious to cash in their talents against USC. Collum concluded, "USC is a strong football team, and we'll be ready for them."

Mike Garrett this Saturday when the University of Southern California invades Memorial Stadium, but chances are that there'll be some surprises sprung by some of the lesser-known Trojans in that battle.

Garrett, of course, is the key performer for USC, a fantastic performer who has gained 895 yards rushing in six games this season and stands to break Morley Drury's 1927 record of 1163 yards gained in a season.

Already, the 5-9, 185 pound senior has become the leading rusher in USC history with 2676 career yards. Garrett is of the "All-American" image, an all-around performer who rates with the best of his team in receiving, blocking, and tackling, as well as running.

However, the Trojan story in 1965 is not all Garrett, as a number of other USC gridgers have played important roles in the team's 4-1-1 effort thus far.

Coach John McKay's squad boasts an all-senior line on offense, which has provided the blocking for one of the top rushing attacks in the nation. The Trojans rank second only behind Nebraska with a 2477 yards per game average on the ground.

Garrett's 895 rushing yards and eight touchdowns are nicely complemented by Rod Sherman, who has also been effective from his right halfback post with five touchdowns.

The Trojans also have two of the leading ends on the coast in Dave Moton and John Thomas, although they do not go too strongly with an aerial attack.

Quarterbacking the Southlanders is junior Troy Winslow, who has turned in a respectable job at a position in which the Trojans figured to be weak this year. Winslow has completed 40 of 67 passes so far for 451 yards.

On defense, the line is rated quick and agile, and was extremely successful in shutting out Washington and Stanford on successive weekends before the Trojans dropped a 28-7 decision to Notre Dame two weeks ago. Line-

Boalt 1, Psi U, AEPi, Norton All-Winners

Boalt No. 1 gained a first place berth in the playoffs Tuesday afternoon at Kleeberger Field as they defeated Boalt's No. 2 squad 22-20. The game was actually closer than the score indicates, if that is possible. With the game tied at 14-14, and with a little over a minute remaining on the clock, Boalt No. 1 marched confidently to the end zone and converted the extra points.

The number two team, feeling it was not out of the contest yet, had the ball on its own twenty with only 30 seconds remaining. Coupling two completed passes with a pass interference call (on Boalt No. 1's defensive unit), Boalt No. 2 scored in but 20 seconds. The game was decided when they failed to make the conversion.

In another important American League encounter, Norton edged Putnam 20-18 to gain a shot at Deutsch for their league championship and another first place berth.

Meanwhile, the National League playoffs began in the second place bracket as Psi U eliminated a fine Phi Sigma Kappa squad 14-0 Tuesday night at Strawberry Canyon. The win enables the Psi Upsilon squad to meet Alpha Epsilon Pi next Monday. AEPi won its initial playoff encounter on Monday as they outclassed the Fijis 22-6.

Tonight, Strawberry Canyon will be the scene of another interesting game involving SAE and Phi Kappa Sigma.

'The World of My America'

Negro actress Pauline Meyers will present a one-woman show, "The World of My America" from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Wheeler Auditorium.

Tickets will be sold at the door, or may be purchased at the ASUC Box Office in the Student Union. Admission is $1.25 for students, and $1.75 general admission.

The performance is sponsored by the College Panhellenic Association to help raise the $1,500 the association gives in scholarships each year.

Miss Myers is a 30-year veteran of stage, screen, and television. Her Broadway performances include "The Naked Genius," "The Willow and I," and "Take A Giant Step."

In her dramatic presentation she will portray the Negro's present and past cultural attitudes.

The first act is the reading of poems by Langston Hughes which concern different types of women. The second is sermons and addresses of Sojourner Truth, an American Negro abolitionist. The third act is dialect readings from Paul Laurence Dunbar.

Peralta JC Buys UC Land

Surprise was registered by the Peralta Junior College District at the University Regents' acceptance, with little discussion, of the district's offer to buy 45 acres of University land in Alameda for $2.5 million.

According to Thomas Cottingim, Peralta administrative assistant, the land will be used for a community junior college.

Plans for a trade of the property, located at Webster St. and Atlantic Ave., with the U.S. Navy for its Savo Island Housing Project on Grove St. were to be discussed at the Regents meeting October 24. The Grove St. land was to be used for married student housing.

However, when offered cash for the land, the Regents accepted the offer almost immediately, said Cottingim.

No University officials were available for comment yesterday on the sale.

Cottingim said the Regents perhaps accepted the offer over the Savo Island trade because Peralta would pay cash.

The Peralta Board met with Richard Hartsook, University real estate officer, to begin negotiations for the sale yesterday.

The land was designated by a site committee set up by the Alameda City Council as an appropriate place for the college.

The college will offer a full range of instruction for 3,500 students, with expansion planned for an additional 4,500 to 5,000 students.

Talk on Austrian Librarianship Ikeya-Seki

"Austria—Its Libraries and Librarianship" will be the topic of J. Periam Danton, at 8 p.m. today in 109 Morgan Hall.

The talks will be the first in a series of lectures for librarians. Enrollment is $6, $4 for students. Other talks will be Nov. 11 and 18.

Information about the program may be obtained from the Letter and Science extension, TH 5-6000, ext. 4141.

The other speakers and their topics are: Raymond K. Wakerling, head of technical information at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, "A.E.C. Information Dissemination Abroad," and Donald T. Clark, University librarian at the Santa Cruz campus, "Book Buying and Begging in the South Pacific."

Elusive Comet Still Visible

By BOB GILLETTE
Science Writer

Far from being burned out the elusive Ikeyo-Seki comet may still be seen by eagle-eyed early risers, it was learned yesterday.

Disappointing on its pass behind the sun as it may have been to would-be comet hunters, this was no fault of the comet, according to Leland Cunningham, associate professor of astronomy.

He placed the blame on the murky state of the Bay Area atmosphere.

"Many have already seen it in the pre-dawn eastern sky and may continue to do so until around Saturday, when the moon will begin to interfere," he said.

"One has to get above the fog in the back of the Berkeley Hills, around Inspiration Point, near Grizzly Peak Boulevard to see it."

In the final analysis, scientists agree this most recent comet has actually been the most spectacular in recent memory.

But Cunningham stressed this enthusiasm was founded on the fact that it lived up to all its expectations, permitting an unprecedented variety and quality of information to be gathered. But contrary to what many newspapers implied, it provided no startling or inexplicable discoveries.

Cunningham expressed concern over the popular idea that the comet had been revealed to be an extremely "hot" body.

He pointed out that a reported temperature of 4500 Centigrade was only an apparent, or in the jargon of astronomers, "formal" temperature of a very low density gas. It by no means represented the sort of heat measurable by a thermometer.

Observations made on Ikeda-Seki have in fact been mainly on the thin, orange peel-like mantle of highly charged gases which envelope the comet's frozen core, not on the core itself.

Analysis of the light emitted by the mantle, which boils off the comet's core, and the tail it forms, indicates that this diaphanous veil consists of vaporized metals such as sodium, iron, nickel, chromium, and potassium. These are in addition to simple hydrocarbons and the deadly gas, cy-anogen (CN) substances long believed to exist in comets.

But if modern technology has permitted scientists to accumulate unprecedented quantities of data on Ikeya-Seki, it has also snowed them with the sheer task of unraveling it all, and weaving from it some workable hypotheses on the nature and origins of comets.

However, Cunningham expressed the hope that some of the information gleaned in past weeks will be ready for presentation before the massive, 6000-scientist American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS) convention. This will be held on campus during the Christmas holidays.

Until that time, the individual research projects of University astronomers remain in limbo. Astronomical facilities continue to run on an ad hoc basis.

There is no regret or complaint, however. For in mounting this massive invasion of Ikeya-Seki's privacy, scientists have capitalized on what Cunningham called, "By far a once in a life time experience."

Stanford Blood Drive for VC

STANFORD (AP) — Competition simmered yesterday at Stanford over blood donations and which side in Vietnam should get them.

The pro-U.S. Vietnam policy group said after two days of efforts it had collected 253 pledges of blood for American and South Vietnamese soldiers and civilians.

The anti-U.S. policy Medical Aid Committee said in a like period it had collected 52 blood pledges and $180 for North Vietnamese civilians and those in South Vietnam under Communist control.

Speaking for the anti-group Stuart McRae, a student M.A.C. leader, qualified the aims of his organization, saying:

"Our intentions are humanitarian and conscientious. We do not support either the policy or tactics of the Viet Cong."

He said his group is writing the International Red Cross in Geneva to see if a guarantee could be obtained that M.A.C. aid would go only to civilians.

In San Francisco, retired Gen. James F. Collins, president of the American Red Cross, told a news conference Tuesday he felt

CI's Dine With Faculty Fellows

Besides the Faculty Fellows Program in living groups, members of the Commuter-Independent Association eat with professors on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The C-I project was organized last spring. Meetings are informal.

C-I chairman Kathy Cifra said guests are welcome to see what the club is like. Dining groups are kept to around fifteen people, according to member Larry Pritchard.

Dues of $26 per semester pay for one dinner a week. This week the group meets at the Heidelberg Inn. The Chancellor's office has a fund to pay for the faculty member's meals.

Regular faculty fellows from departments of criminology and sociology attend every other week. Special guests are invited in the intervening weeks. Deans on campus from foreign universities may dine with the group next week.

Jewish Music

Hillel Foundation's winter concert of Jewish music will be presented on Nov. 14, not Nov. 7 as previously announced.

The concert, to begin at 8 p.m. at 2736 Bancroft Way, will feature Cantor Simon G. Cohen of Temple Beth Abraham, Oakland, and his wife Eleanor. They will sing a selection of Jewish music from many countries and segments of Jewish life.

Tickets for the event are $1.25 for the public and 75 cents for Hillel members.

"medical aid for the enemy" was illegal and that such drives were not likely to succeed anyway.

Collins, former Army commander-in-chief in the Pacific, retired last year after 37 years in the Army. He said he was "embarrassed as an American" that students would want to send aid "over to the other side."

It's my understanding," he said,

"that the Treasury Department, under the aiding the enemy provisions, has ruled that it's a violation of federal law for anyone to send money or blood, directly or indirectly, to the Viet Cong or North Vietnam."

He was not asked and did not say whether the absence of a formally declared state of war might affect this situation.

Bayard Rustin to Speak at Civil Disobedience Meet

(Continued from page 1) venes, Carl Schorske, special assistant to the Chancellor and professor of history, will make a few introductory remarks.

Wasserstrom will deliver his speech at 8 p.m.

Rustin will end the list of speakers at 9 p.m. At 10:15 a summation will be made and at 10:30 the conference will adjourn.

Martin Malia, professor of history, and chairman of the Faculty Committee expressed hope that Berkeley Police Chief, Captain William Beale, Oakland Police Chief Edward Toothman and Alameda County District Attorney Frank Coakley will attend the conference.

Beale said, yesterday, "I hope to be able to attend" but it depends on developments tonight.

"I would go to see what I could learn," he added. "I would be most interested in what the speakers have to say."

Toothman said he could not attend because he has another en-

Coakley was unavailable for comment last night.

"Whether or not it started on University property is irrelevant," he said.

Goldstein said, "When parades were held of a less political nature, we were not charged for police protection."

Calling the overtime bill "a way to pressure the University," Goldstein said he hopes it will not even consider paying the money.

He said paying the bill would be like billing Oakland and Berkeley for citizens arrested on campus by the campus police.

Vietnam Day Committee member Mike Delacor agreed the University should not pay for the police present at the VDC march.

"The march was a combined community-University action and the University should not be held responsible for it," he said.

There were lots of other groups there, he said. He mentioned out-of-town peace groups, families and other citizens.

Nakamura was referring to the many activities Weinstein has participated in: soccer, softball, track intramurals, track manager, and in other campus activities.

ASUC President Jerry Goldstein agreed Weinstein would have gotten the necessary votes if he had not been a Slate candidate.

Many people voted against Weinstein on the basis of his Slate sponsorship, rather than his qualifications, Goldstein averred.

Continents Once Joined In Huge Supercontinent

Brazilian and United States scientists are working together under a National Science Foundation (NSF) grant to the University to test a hypothesis that all Southern Hemisphere continents were once joined together as a vast "supercontinent."

A new research institution unique to Latin America, the Geochronology Laboratory of the University of Sao Paulo, is a partner with the University on the project.

Supporters of the continental drift hypothesis say the huge continent, called Gondwanaland, split and its pieces "drifted" to their present locations. The idea is an old one, originally based on the similarities in the shape of parts of the continents of South America and Africa, and now getting a support from contemporary advances, particularly in the field of rock magnetism.

Strong arguments against continental drift also continue to be presented.

Huge ASUC Vote Expected

need of poll workers to service the 130 booths.

Venning said he was going to send sign-up sheets for poll workers to the various living groups.

If the needed poll workers do not turn up, Venning said he will have to go back to the ASUC Senate and ask for money to pay workers.

On Tuesday evening, however, the Senate turned down a recommendation from the ASUC Financial Committee to pay poll attendants.

Venning said he might also suggest that one month discount cards for the ASUC store be given to poll workers.

The Engineering Council is going to man four booths: two in the Engineering Quad and two at North Gate. Venning voiced a hope that more groups would follow their lead.

"The difficulty this semester is the Senate is calling so many special elections it's hard to get workers," he said.

According to ASUC President Jerry Goldstein there will most likely be another election for the ratification of the new constitution.

Graduate students, if included as members of the Association in the new constitution, will be allowed to vote for ratification.

Students interested in working on the polls may sign up in the Functional Services Board office on the third floor of Eshleman Hall.

During election week the polls will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There will be seven poll locations.

Rafferty Asks Rioters' Dismissal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Max Rafferty, California's superintendent of public instruction, says young rioters should be removed from the University to make room for "thousands of students who would like to enter to get an education."

Rafferty told a meeting of the Los Angeles County Young Republicans Tuesday night that the ringleaders of riots the past year at Berkeley were "odd, hairy people, exuding a visible aura of unwashed disinhibition." He said "the purpose of higher education is pursuit of truth, not to bring about a new social order." Rafferty said that as a director of the University "I will resist coercion, regardless of the obscene or unwashed way in which it manifests itself."

Citizenship Challenge to VDC from NYC

The Vietnam Day Committee was yesterday challenged by an eastern university to see how much they know about U.S. citizenship.

The challenge was issued by the student body president of Manhattan College in New York.

He offered to compare the scores of 25 pro-Vietnam war students from Manhattan on a nationwide television "citizenship test" with the scores of 25 VDC members from Berkeley.

VDC co-chairman Jerry Rubin said his group would probably not accept the challenge.

He called it "ridiculous."

Dennis O'Brien, the student body president, challenged VDC because "the anti-Vietnam demonstrations have been called civil disobedience. Can we carry dissent this far?" he said, according to a Columbia Broadcasting System spokesman.

The test involves setting up everyday situations in which a citizen's rights or responsibilities are questioned.

VDC Hails Joint Statement: 'Peace Movement Victory'

Barry Weisberg of the Students for a Democratic Society asked: if "students should not be allowed to work . . . to bring about a better society without facing a jail sentence if they choose not to go into another country in the name of democracy?"

"Until last week," Weisberg added, "the draft affected mainly only the poor people and black people—those who could not get into college."

"Now it is starting to hit us," he said.

Faculty Men Request Beer For Meals

McAbee's feeling about the license's future was a careful blend of caution and optimism.

He expressed fear the license might be hurt by the Club's on-campus sale, but he hopes it will be issued.

Students are not the "usual" patrons of the Faculty Club, since it can serve only its members: faculty, University personnel, researchers, who apply for membership, and their personal guests.

Therefore, the on-campus location wouldn't mean that students were being sold the amber liquid, he said.

Even if students packed the faculty club at lunch hours, the rule flatly prohibiting liquor sales in eating establishments patronized by large numbers of students was declared unconstitutional several years ago.

A spokesman for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department said, not in connection with the Faculty Club application, that on-sale beer (four per cent alcohol) licenses are not limited in number.

They are generally issued unless the applicant is located within about 600 feet of a church or school playground. But even if the applicant fails to exceed the 600 feet limit, he can appeal to obtain a license.

It is highly possible even though McAbee is doubtful about the beer proposal's success that the Men's Faculty Club, begun 63 years ago by a cluster of professors who needed a convenient place to eat, may finally be able to serve the suds.

McAbee wasn't quite sure what the Women's Faculty Club reaction to the Beer Movement.

"If they get thirsty enough, maybe they will come over and buy a little beer," he suggested.

Cosmic Glue

Mysterious forces hold the planets in orbit and charged particles within the nucleus. The more deeply the secrets of the cosmos are probed, the more amazing become those strange interplays between energy and matter which give rise to the entire visible universe. No mere static world originating by chance, the whole show is planned and ordered, and dynamically sustained by the force and power of a living God.

"In many separate revelations—each of which set forth a portion of the truth—and in different ways God spoke to our forefathers in and by the prophets. But in the last of these days he has spoken to us in the Person of a Son, whom he appointed heir and lawful Owner of all things, also by and through whom he created the worlds and the reaches of space and the ages of time—that is, he made, produced, built, operated and arranged them in order. Jesus Christ is the sole expression of the glory of God—the Light-Being, the outshining of the divine—and he is the perfect imprint and very image of God's nature, upholding and maintaining and guiding and propelling the universe by his mighty word of power. When he had by offering himself accomplished our cleansing of sins and riddance of guilt, he sat down at the right hand of the divine Majesty on high" (Hebrews 1:1-3).

It is not surprising to learn that the Bible speaks about and understands the forces of the atom and the sustenance of the universe. In fact, the New Testament speaks ahead about a day when the nuclear fires latent in the matter all around us will be unloosed: "The Lord is not slow about His promise as some count slowness, but is forbearing toward you, not wishing that any should perish but that all should reach repentance. But the Day of the Lord will come like a thief, and then the heavens will pass away with a loud noise, and the elements will be unloosed with fire, and the earth and the works that are upon it will be burned up" (2 Peter 3:9-10).

Nothing is more relevant in our atomic age than your personal relationship with the God of the atom, the Lord Jesus Christ, whose vital energies sustain the cosmos.

Received by faith and known to millions, He is a personal God who meets and saves men on an individual basis, as He has always done. Why not find out today? Why be left out?

Cause of Epidemic Still Unclear

than a bug or virus, although at this time, there is "no known chemical" suspected.

The only clear fact established at this time is that the "time of onset of the sickness was 27 to 28 hours," after it hit, he said.

A University spokesman said 1000 sick cases have been reported.

In the last twenty-four hours, 14 cases have been hospitalized and another six have been seen as out-patients. The spokesman said these cases are merely delayed reactions.

He noted a similar problem occurred in 1958. Of the 11 cases involved, almost 100 had attended a football game.

"In 1958, the epidemiological evidence was that all the victims had drunk a similar orange drink but not the same brand that was sold here last Saturday," the spokesman said.

As for a current general picture, "things are quieting down," said Dr. Henry Bruyn, director of student health services.

COMING SOON . . . The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Zubin Mehta will perform next Thursday in Harmon Gym.

LA Philharmonic to Perform

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra and its young conductor, Zubin Mehta, will give a concert at 8:45 p.m. Nov. 11 in Harmon Gymnasium.

This will be the first concert in the orchestra's Bay Area tour this fall. It will be the first performance by an orchestra visiting the campus in more than seven years.

General admission tickets for $4, $3 and $2.50, and student tickets for $1.50 are now on sale at the CAL and Student Union box offices.

The program will include these four works:

"Media's Meditation and Dance of Vengeance," by Barber. The form of the suite is approximately that of a Greek tragedy, with intervals like a chorus commenting on the action of the story. It is based on the story by Euripides.

"Sinfonia Concertante for Four Solo Winds," by Mozart. The soloists will be Bert Gassman, oboe; Kalman Bloch, clarinet; Sinclair Lott, horn; and Frederick Moritz, bassoon. It was written by the 22-year-old composer during a visit to Paris.

"Don Juan," by Strauss. This tone poem version of the venerable Spanish fable of the inveterate rake was composed in 1888.

"Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2," by Ravel, based on a classical romance depicting love, separation and reunion.

The conductor, Mehta, who is only age 29, is a rare phenomenon in music circles. He is the youngest director in the 46-year history of the Los Angeles orchestra.

Semi-Nude Model In Pelican

A shirt-clad Miss Pelly (who was almost nude), a Pelican Pot Party, and a feature on Marvel Comic-Books will highlight next Wednesday's edition of "The Pelican," campus humor magazine.

A major problem this month was the last-minute loss of the first-time nude girl who adorns the "Pelican's" midsection.

The staff got off the skinny at the last minute, however, and got a new, but draped, subject.

"For the first time in 63 years," Pelican Editor Bob Wieder said, "we were going to feature a nude Miss Pelly."

"This would have set a precedent in college magazines."

But word began to get out, and sudden "personal problems" forced the subject of the photos to withdraw her consent.

"Without that we could get our pants sued off," Wieder explained.

The "nude" photographer was gravely shaken up when he heard the news, Wieder recalled. But the staff was able to find a new Miss Pelly, even though a rush job, promises to "measure up to last time's," Wieder sighed.

Asked if "Pelican" still intended to run a nude Miss Pelly, Wieder warned, "We intend to become gradually more 'informal' in the Miss Pelly feature."

"We are leading up to the May issue which will be a 'Playboy' parody," he said.

The price of this "Far-Out Issue" will be 30 cents rather than the usual 25.

The nickel price rise is due to rising costs, he said.

"We're in trouble due to our visual improvements this year. We are running two to three times as much photography and art work as in the past."

"Even though all 7000 issues of last month's 'Pelican' were sold in five hours, we still lost money."

In defense of the price increase, Wieder said, "We're running 48 pages at 30 cents while every other magazine in the country runs less than 40 pages and charges 30 cents or more."

And they aren't even number one!"

(Last summer Pelican was voted "number one" humor magazine in the country in a poll conducted by another college.)

Daily Cal Meets Today

The Daily Californian staff will meet at 4 p.m. today in 600 Eshleman Hall. All members are required to attend. There will be a night editors meeting immediately following.
