

Students question UC police methods in quelling crowd

By Kimberly Papillon

UC Berkeley police officers were unnecessarily brutal towards students outside of a dance sponsored by an African American fraternity Saturday night, according to several students who were present at the event.

A senior claimed that police officer Karen Alberts used her billy club to move the student away from the sidewalk outside of the Recreational Sports Facility after the doors to the dance had been closed.

"She was pushing me forward, I guess I didn't move fast enough so she took the billy club and jabbed me in the small of my back," said the student, who asked not to be identified. "There were people in front of me so I couldn't move any faster."

Alberts declined to comment when asked to respond to the student's account.

The dance, which was sponsored by the African American fraternity Alpha Phi Alpha, was attended by approximately 2,000 college students from California, Nevada and Arizona.

At 12:30 a.m. Sunday, the doors were closed, leaving a crowd of about 150 students outside the RSF. A police officer outside asked the crowd to move away from the doors.

But there was little progress, and eight uniformed officers were called to the scene. They formed a line and moved the crowd back to the sidewalk.

Approximately 30 minutes later, the police reformed the line and took out their billy clubs. One officer shouted "forward march," and the line began to move toward the remaining 75 students.

Five police cars and one paddy wagon lined both sides of Bancroft Way outside of the facility. As the students were moved away from the RSF, police blocked off traffic between Dana Street and Ellsworth Street.

Many students said they believed the police action was racially motivated.

"When white students go and get drunk and fight at the Bear's Lair and fraternity row the police don't block off the street and hit them with billy clubs," said Laurie Placide, a UC Berkeley junior. "We were being pushed back like cattle by an army."

Personnel contacted at the UC Berkeley police department yesterday said no officers were available for comment.

Lance Johnson, a UC Berkeley sophomore said, "They had more cops at this function than when people were smashing TVs out on Sproul."

Senior Mark Windross, who was outside of the doors when the incident occurred, said, "I think it was good to try to disperse the crowd at first. But the second time they moved us back there weren't very many people to move. I was waiting outside for my cousin. Most of us were probably waiting because our friends were inside of the party."

Joy Becton, a sophomore, said, "We weren't unruly or anything."

Jazz festival benefits Cal Camp, Equal Opportunity programs

The performing duo of Tuck and Patti wowed a crowd of 3,000 jazz-loving fans Saturday at the Hearst Greek Theater.

By Trevor Nelson

There was only one thing missing from Saturday's jazz festival at the Hearst Greek Theatre: the sun.

About 3,000 people turned out for the 22nd annual UC Berkeley Jazz Festival which included David Benoit and the Timeless All-Stars.

KJAZ radio station broadcast the concert live from 3 to 6 p.m.

"We put a lot of effort into making it sound good. It went really smooth," said Doug Irwin, the chief engineer at KJAZ.

Although James Casella, the publicity and promotions coordinator for the festival was a little disappointed with the turn-out, he said everything went really well.

"We pulled it all together. The broadcast is outstanding," Casella said at the concert.

Under cloudy but warm skies, jazz greats played from noon until 6 p.m.

Besides Benoit and the Timeless All-Stars, the festival featured Dianne Reeves, Mongo Santamaria, Tuck & Patti and the Turtle Island String Quartet.

"This is a festival with a history of diversity," Casella said of the racially mixed and stylistically varied line-up.

All proceeds from the student-run and student-financed festival will go to benefit Cal Camp and the Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action program at UC Berkeley.

"Hopefully, 40 percent to 60 percent of the proceeds will go to the camp," said John Lewis, one of the coordinators of Cal Camp, a student-sponsored summer camp for underprivileged children in the East Bay.

The festival used to be held on Memorial Day but was changed to accommodate students on the semester system, Casella said.

Returning to Memorial Day will draw a larger crowd, he said.

The concert had all the fixings for a lazy Saturday afternoon: jazz, picnics, some dancing and a peaceful atmosphere.

Despite the size of the crowd, David Benoit managed to take a request.

"What is it you want to hear?" he beckoned the crowd.

Other than a few drunks, Nancy Dunkle, a UC police officer, said there were no problems.

"This crowd is usually a little more subdued than the hard rock crowd," she said.

Although the festival ran into problems earlier with its sponsors, Casella said Cal Performances had given him no problems.

"I'd even go so far as to say they were helpful," he said.

Fusion reporting leaves public out in the cold

By Andrew Klingler

Press coverage of the internationally publicized cold fusion experiment was often muddled and confusing due to poor communication between reporters and scientists, a UC Berkeley journalism professor said last week.

Timothy Ferris spoke Wednesday to an audience of approximately 300 on campus, giving a detailed, often humorous history of cold fusion and the popular press.

Citing several examples in which the press attempted to grasp the sudden relevance of abstruse scientific phenomena, Ferris showed a tape of a McNeil/Lehrer interview with University of Utah researchers Stanley Pons and Martin Fleischmann. The announcer had so much trouble with the concept of "heavy water" that the scientists never managed to describe their experiment on air.

Ferris also quoted one columnist as saying, "physics is the only course I ever failed, and the one class I avoided taking all through college was chemistry." Ferris' examples left the audience, mostly scientists, in stitches over what he described as journalistic ignorance.

Pons and Fleischmann took the unusual step on March 23 of announcing at a press conference that they had achieved fusion at room temperature. The announcement was made before any academic journal had published the paper describing the experiment.

Lack of information

The confused press was not solely the fault of ignorant reporters, Ferris said. He repeatedly referred to the paucity of information released by the two researchers, which not only confused the press but left scientists and scientifically literate journalists such as himself unable to make any statements with certainty.

Ironically, during the McNeil/Lehrer interview, several groups of researchers around the country gathered around television screens to try to learn how to design their own experiments.

Ferris facetiously illustrated the explosion in cold fusion research which followed the announcement, from two groups of scientists to 1,000 in less than one month.

"If this rate of increase continues, by June first every man, woman and child on earth will be engaged in cold fusion experimentation," he said.

He also criticized the scientific establishment for taking an overly compartmentalized approach to the problem. Scientists tried to use chemical theories in order to accomplish fusion, which has traditionally been a problem of physics.

Ferris said that many of the mistakes in the rush to duplicate the original experiment happened because "the crucial elements were not available on any given team because they were not drawn from a wide enough group."

Ferris said that the discovery of

Grocery dispute 'down to the wire'

A tentative contract agreement was reached yesterday afternoon between union officials and Bay Area supermarkets, but it is uncertain whether that will prevent a strike by grocery clerks scheduled to begin this morning.

At press time, results of voting by rank-and-file members of all seven Bay Area locals were not available, and it was uncertain whether all of them would approve the negotiated settlement.

"We're hearing that at least one local is bad-mouthing it," said Linda Ashcraft of the Food Employer's Council of Local 870 of the United Food and Commercial Workers in Hayward.

The settlement was reached after 12 hours of non-stop negotiating from 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon until 3 a.m. yesterday morning, Ashcraft said. Details of the agreement are pending its ratification, she said.

"It'll probably go down to the wire," Ashcraft said yesterday evening.

Union officials could not be reached for comment yesterday.

Dansworx, a student dance troupe, will perform on Sproul Plaza this week.

Each one-hour show will feature six to seven dances. The performances, which begin at noon, will be held on lower Sproul Plaza Monday and Wednesday and on upper Sproul Plaza Tuesday.

Charles Jackson, a choreographer for Dansworx, said, "The performances should be very interesting. There's a wide variety . . . of styles: modern, funk, jazz, lyrical, everything."

Julie Firstenberg, president of Dansworx, said "(The performances) will be great. We have some really talented dancers this semester."

Dansworx was founded in 1986 by 10 Berkeley students who "wanted to provide students with a UC-based group and give them a chance to be in a dance troupe," said Firstenberg. Since then, the group's membership has grown to over 120 members.

The group tries to showcase many different types of dancing. "People will see that there are . . . different styles of dance other than modern, ballet, or the stuff they see on 'Fame,'" said Jackson.

Firstenberg said members of Dansworx include "people of all types, all majors, and all levels of experience."

"There are people in our group that could be professional dancers and were in professional troupes, people who had to decide whether to dance professionally or go to college," she said.

This week's performances are the culmination of months of practice, which began soon after auditions were held in the second week of the semester.

"It can get kind of demanding for a choreographer," said Jackson. Lisa Nagler and Becky Kahfman, for example, co-choreographed a dance

Students gear up for Cinco de Mayo week

By Cyril Kormos

The themes of Cinco de Mayo Week, which begins today, are "Unidos Venceremos" (united we conquer) and "Education through Celebration."

The Cinco de Mayo celebration commemorates the victory of Mexican forces over French invaders at Puebla on May 5, 1862. As a victory against colonialism, however, the day is of symbolic significance to non-Mexicans as well, Michael Sigala of Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan said.

"Self-determination is the key to Cinco de Mayo" he said, and as such the celebration is relevant to the entire student body.

Sigala headed the MEChA subcommittee that organized the week's activities.

The weeklong celebration will kick off with a noon lecture Monday by Jorge Castaneda in the Tan Oak Room titled "Limits to Friendship: U.S. and Mexico." It will end with a banquet, awards ceremony and dance which begin Friday at 5:30 p.m. in the Pauley Ballroom.

All events are free and open to the public.

Sigala said one of the week's highlights will be "Los Corridos de Chuy Negrete," which begins Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Heller Gallery. Negrete, who holds a doctorate from the University of Chicago, will present Mexican history from the Aztecs to the present through a song and a slide show.

On Thursday, the documentary, "Chicano Park," will be shown in 155 Dwinelle at 6 p.m.. The movie was co-produced by Marilyn Mulford and U.C. Berkeley Chicano Studies Professor Mario Barrera.

The film documents the struggle of a Chicano community in the suburbs of San Diego and the way they used "their culture and their history to educate themselves" and overcome obstacles, Mulford said.

Barrera noted that the spirit of "self-determination of this community" makes the documentary well-suited to the Cinco de Mayo celebration. The film will officially premiere in San Francisco at the York Theater on May 23.

The following is complete list of the week's events:

Monday: Noon lecture by Jorge Castaneda, "Limits to Friendship: U.S. and Mexico" in the Tan Oak Room. Exhibition opening, 4 p.m., Heller Gallery, Arte en Lucha/The Art of struggle.

Tuesday: Cinco de Mayo Comedy Night featuring Monica Garcia and Public Nuisance. The Chicano Secret Service will be master of ceremonies, 8 p.m., Bears Lair.

Mayor honors outstanding youth

By David DeGusta

Over 90 local secondary school students were honored for a wide-ranging list of achievements Thursday by the Mayor's Committee for the Appreciation of Excellence in Youth.

"This is one of the very happy times we have where we recognize and celebrate the achievement of our young people," said Berkeley Mayor Loni Hancock, who spoke at the awards ceremony.

The committee presented awards in seven areas: scholastic achievement, creative achievement (literary and visual), personal achievement, musical composition, volunteer service, and cultural transition.

The competition had two divisions: junior, for grades seven through eight, and senior, for grades nine to 12.

The top three placers in each category received U.S. Savings Bonds. Junior division winners were awarded $200, $100, and $75 for first through third places, respectively, while senior division winners walked away with $500, $200, and $100. The committee gave out almost $7,000 in award-money.

Founded in 1960, the committee is a volunteer organization that annually sponsors these awards. Most members are retired teachers "who feel a need to keep helping," said chair Murdis Corley.

The committee's goal is to promote and reward the achievements of young people, Corley said. "There are lots of kids who can do it if they are given a little push and some recognition."

"I've done a lot of stuff that I never got any recognition for," said Ronny Johnson, a St. Mary's College High School senior and winner in the visual creative arts category.

Johnson, whose entry was a denim jacket enhanced by his artwork, plans to continue in art and fashion. "This award makes me want to do better," he said.

Raymundo Hernandez, an eighth-grader at King Junior High School, received a certificate of excellence in volunteer services for tutoring first-grade students.

"I try to teach them like I would have liked to have been taught when I was that age," Hernandez said. "Then I get anxious to learn more myself."

Providing recognition for youth achievement is of great importance, said Hancock. "... the whole community realizes that we have to focus on our young people."

Bishop Leontine Kelly, the guest speaker at the awards ceremony, said marking the achievements of youth is vital "when you (students) are in a world that those of us who are older have never experienced, a world where elementary school students can get drugs."

Miguel Cabrera, an eighth grader at King Junior High School, tied for first place with Lu Sun, of The Crowden School, in the category of cultural transition.

Skinner, Hancock focus on the changing family

By Helen Machado
Staff Writer

Berkeley City Councilmember Nancy Skinner said at a "Family Action" forum Thursday that when she became pregnant as a graduate student here several years ago, the lack of support services forced her to drop out of school.

However, times have changed for Skinner. Now that her daughter is older and her position on the City Council is secure, she has returned to school and is expected to graduate in May.

Skinner, one of eight Bay Area leaders who spoke at the forum, said her experience was typical of the frustrations facing today's young professional mothers in a society that is increasingly "anti-family."

The forum was sponsored by the National Women's Political Caucus and addressed key issues facing the changing American family of the 1990s.

"Over the past 10 years, there has been a number of things that have happened which really have changed the economic picture of the family substantially," said Berkeley Mayor Loni Hancock. "And our institutions haven't changed at a corresponding rate."

Major economic shifts altering the family structure include the 8.3 percent decline in family income since 1973 and the decreased availability of high paying jobs, said Dion Aroner, the principal consultant for the state Assembly's Committee on Human Services.

Hancock said that following a divorce, the male's income usually increases

Soviets, in sojourn to Berkeley, prove that Cold War is no more

By Ralph Jennings

A bit of glasnost sprinkled on Berkeley last week, as 12 citizens of the Soviet Union mingled with about 80 Bay Area residents.

Participating in a program organized by the United Church of Christ, the Soviet visitors gathered Thursday night at Berkeley's First Congregational Church for a potluck dinner and a question-answer session, after taking a whirlwind tour of California.

The Soviet delegation expressed approval of state and people of California. The group also affirmed unanimously that the Soviet Union is adopting a more open government.

Boris Molshikov, a rock singer in a Moscow band, said he came to California to push his music and was encouraged by the acclaim it won.

"We will come back in October and we will have a tour of 22 concerts," Malshikov said. "People who live in California are the most friendly people in the world."

"Things like this really enhance chances for peace," he added.

Victor Kulbich, a Baptist minister from Kiev, echoed Malshikov's sentiment about interacting with Americans.

"It's a great experience to talk with one another," Kulbich said. "It's very touching to us that Americans show us peace, love and justice."

But, Kulbich added, "maybe our host does not show us some things. We understand that each country has some problems."

Ants Promann, manager of a food production plant in the Soviet republic of Estonia, said that the glasnost taking place now is "just the beginning."

As a factory manager, Promann said he wields clout in local politics. "If we do not trust the bureaucrats (of the Estonian republic), we pull the chair out from under him," he said.

Promann added that Estonians are pressuring the Soviet government to grant their republic more autonomy, and that meanwhile they are getting a lesson from the West.

"Thanks to Finnish TV, we are exposed to all the American senators," he said.

Kulbich, who lived near Chernobyl in 1985, when a nuclear reactor leaked radiation all over Europe, said he and others from Kiev want the Soviet Union and the United States to reduce nuclear weapons.

"We saw a lot of terrible incineration," Kulbich said. "For us after the Chernobyl accident, we realize we must eliminate nuclear power."

Americans at the gathering said talking with the Soviets gave them a chance to learn about the Soviet Union and compare it to the United States.

Bill Gregory, Church of Christ program organizer, said that he had trouble explaining baseball to the Soviets when he took the group to an Oakland A's game.

"I would say, 'if the ball's outside the strike zone it's a ball,'" Gregory said. According to Gregory, the Soviets merely responded with "Oh."

"They said, 'so this is America's favorite game?'" he added.

Father Foster Freeman, senior minister of the First Congregational Church, said the opportunity to meet Soviet people was very educational.

"As the world goes, I'm not any more informed than anyone else," Freeman said, adding that dialogue with the Soviets increased his awareness of their country.

Media lacks credibility in science coverage

cold fusion is still uncertain, and that a final verdict has been hampered by Pons and Fleischmann's rush to press. He noted that at least one team, at Georgia Tech, had to retract their claim of producing fusion effects after discovering flaws in their measuring technique.

Skepticism that arose after Pons and Fleischmann's announcement was more than just professional irritation at their failure to go through the correct channels, according to Ferris. It was based on real concern about the validity of the method and a naturally conservative approach toward any new discovery.

From fame to shame

He contrasted this with the "heroes or villains" style of the popular media, and used a "mood graph" to show the rapidity with which Pons and Fleischmann had gone from heroes to villains and back again in the minds of the press and public.

"Fame is a double-edged sword, and you're never very far from the other edge," said Ferris, arguing that Pons and Fleischmann jeopardized their reputations and their ultimate scientific impact by announcing early. He said that the conservatism of the scientific establishment protects researchers who take risks.

"When Einstein was wrong, they didn't tear the epaulets from his shoulders," said Ferris. "The popular press doesn't have the same ethos."

Ferris noted that the discovery had been touted variously as "the greatest invention since the wheel," "more important than the discovery of fire," and "the greatest thing since sliced bread."

But he added that the scientists had already begun to see the downside of fame, quoting one commentator who characterized Stanley Pons as a nerd, "the kind of man you might not notice if he were the only person in an otherwise empty elevator."

Police tactics questioned

We were just college students at a social function. They just get scared when they see a lot of black people."

Paul White, a UC Berkeley senior said the police line was "unnecessary."

"It was just a case of the police overreacting to the situation," he said.

Rovan Walker, president of Alpha Phi Alpha, said the dance doors were closed to the people outside after someone reported that a man inside was smoking marijuana. Walker said that when he approached a police officer and asked him to escort the individual outside, the officer then called for more assistance.

"He walked about 30 feet down the atrium and refused to go any further until he had backup but all he could see was black people dancing," Walker said. "He said that we had let in known, hard-core drug dealers. I said if you knew they were hard-core drug dealers and you saw them why did you let them in?"

"They blew everything out of proportion because there were a lot of black people."

Local politicians focus on the family

while the woman's, especially if she has custody of the children, decreases sharply.

"Given the increase in divorce and the number of single parent households," Hancock said, "it is not surprising that two-thirds of the adults in poverty are women with children."

"Women are still making roughly 60 cents to every dollar earned by men," she said.

The disappearance of the "Ozzie and Harriet" family model, where one parent works outside the home while the other works full time in the home, is a structural change confronting the family, she said.

Hancock said by increasing the minimum wage and implementing "comparable worth" policies, women's incomes would be more on par with those of men.

The stress placed on a family in which both parents have full-time jobs is "turning out to be a more severe dislocation than we ever dreamed," that it was thought families were all about?"

By allowing both men and women "flex time" to alter their nine-to-five work hours, parents can spend extra hours with their children, Hancock said.

Barbara Lee, a former staffmember to Rep. Ron Dellums (D-Oakland), said there are unique problems facing African-American families because they often live in communities plagued by crime and drugs.

An African-American male has a one in 21 chance of being murdered by the age of 65, compared to a one in 131 chance for a white male, Lee said.

"We are living in a country where racism is a quiet killer and the lack of opportunity has created a deterioration of the black family," she said.

"We must all work in a multifaceted approach for social change so people from all social classes can live the kind of life that they deserve," she said.

Also speaking at the forum were Ying Lee Kelley, staffmember to Dellums; Susan Duncan, Peralta Community College trustee; Sheila Jordan, president of the Oakland school board; and Berkeley City Councilmember Ann Chandler.

"Who will remember the birthdays and have the time to notice if someone is a little depressed? Who will have the time to do the living that it was thought families were all about?"

Hancock said.

The lack of child-care facilities and time restrictions also present a problem for working parents, she said.

"Who will remember the birthdays and have the time to notice if someone is a little depressed?" she asked. "Who will have the time to do the living that took an estimated 90 to 100 hours of work.

But the work has its rewards, according to the dancers. "It's one of the best extracurricular activities on campus. You meet a lot of people. You are exposed to different types of choreography, and you get to perform on Sproul in front of thousands of people," Firstenberg said.

"Dansworx is fun, and it's a challenge to make the dance look good," said Kahfman.

The group is still growing and broadening its horizons. "Every semester it has jumped another step," said Firstenberg. Last semester the group developed a jazz-rock video featuring about 40 dancers.

Next semester, in addition to making another video, the group plans to perform in various San Francisco clubs, she said.

Performing outdoors on Sproul Plaza does pose a problem, said Firstenberg: "My biggest hope is that we won't get rained out."

Softball hopes not raisin in Fresno

By Vittorio Tafur
Staff Writer

In what has become an annual tradition, the Cal softball team had its spirit broken in Fresno.

The ninth-ranked Bears (32-22) were swept Sunday by No. 11 Fresno State, and as a consequence, may travel to Fresno again come playoff-time for the NCAA Regionals. Limited to two hits in both games, Cal went down 2-1 and 3-2.

The Bears, who were denied spots in the College World Series for the last two years by the Bulldogs, were hoping to avoid a similar fate this season.

Freshman Robyn Burgess, who has been sensational in place of Michele Granger, lost both games Sunday. She started the opener, and despite surrendering just six hits and two runs, was a victim of Cal's sputtering offense.

The Bears scored their only run off the Bulldogs' Terry Carpenter in the second inning. Burgess doubled, Judy Arciniega pinch-ran, Lidia Stiglich sacrificed her to third, and sophomore Christy Calderon singled to bring Arciniega home.

From that point on, Carpenter (26-5) didn't allow another hit.

Burgess (24-10) suffered the loss in the nightcap after coming on in relief of Erin Cassidy. After six innings, Cassidy left with the score tied, 2-2. Burgess kept things in check until the ninth inning.

Burgess led-off the inning by walking Carrie Dorris. Back-to-back singles, the last one punched through by Jill Polanco, plated Dorris.

Again, the Bears — make that Angie Jacobs — were held to two hits, but this time they went nuts and got two runs. Fresno State's Carrie Dever, whose pitching sent Cal home from the regionals last year, improved her record to 21-6.

The Bears did get on the board first in the second game. Lead-off hitter Marielle Vaughn was hit by a pitch to get the game underway. She went to second base courtesy of Val Altamirano's sacrifice and scored on Jacobs' single.

In the third, Vaughn walked, stole her 17th base of the season, advanced to third on Dever's error, and scored on Jacobs' second single.

The Bears close out the regular season Saturday against Arizona at Strawberry Field.

a junior, took first in the 200 in 24.57. Vidakovits high-jumped 5-8½ and three events later, she won the 400 intermediate hurdles in 63.04.

In doping the meet beforehand, Sandoval had picked Stanford to win by a point . . . The dual-meet win was Cal's first in Pac-10 competition. The Bears' record improves to 5-4, 1-3 in the Pac-10.

2 GSI/TA Training Conference Assistants:

50% employment for four/five months, for experienced GSIs/TAs to work with the Graduate Division/Graduate Assembly Committee to present the Fall GSI/TA Training Conference. Responsibilities include: setting up workshops, hiring and training the workshop leaders, designing and implementing the publicity and publications for the conference, and helping to settle scheduling and logistical problems. The Assistants are also responsible for conducting a thorough evaluation of the conference and for completing a written report assessing the strengths and weaknesses of each major component of the conference. ## WHY DO MORE CALIFORNIA STUDENTS COME TO US FOR STUDENT LOANS?

Because we do more than just talk about great service.

Other banks may claim to have quick service and a complete line of education loan programs. But compare their products and services to ours and you'll see why we're the lender more California students choose.

Service

Do you know where your student loans are? Seriously - many California banks use outside organizations to service their loans. The result - mass confusion. Where do you call with questions? Who do you send your payments to?

Marine Midland's Educational Funding Services uses a state of the art, in-house processing system...eliminating any unnecessary confusion. The result - fast, professional service by a concerned and caring staff.

Loan Alternatives

One sure way to measure a bank's commitment to education finance is to look at the number of different loan programs they offer.

Educational Funding Services offers not only the Stafford, SLS and PLUS loans...but MEDLOANS, a loan program for allopathic medical students...as well as an Alternative Loan Program for families with higher incomes.

Debt Management Assistance

You hear a lot of talk about students defaulting on their student loans. But did they get anything from their bank other than overdue notices?

At EFSI, we'll give you the tools and information you need to manage your debt, including:

- Graduated Repayment Options
- Loan Consolidation

So when you're asked which bank you want your student loan from... choose California's best:

PHYSICIAN SCIENTIST PROGRAM

The Physician Scientist Program at the University of Miami School of Medicine is an innovative M.D./Ph.D. program designed to provide both clinical and basic research training to individuals whose professional careers will be devoted to the study of human illness, and who will provide leadership in addressing basic science problems relevant to human health and disease. The Physician Scientist Program provides a flexible course of study which permits exceptionally gifted and dedicated college graduates to obtain both the M.D. and Ph.D degrees in a period of six to seven years.

Unique features of the program include:

- fully integrated graduate and medical training overseen by both a basic science mentor and a clinical advisor
- academic programs individually tailored to reflect each student's background and career aspirations
- an emphasis on problem solving to develop both research and diagnostic skills
- full tuition and stipend support for up to seven years.

"Cultural Traditions, Historical Experience, and Social Change —The Limits of Convergence"

Professor S. N. Eisenstadt
 Rose Isaacs Professor of Sociology
 The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Professor Eisenstadt has won international acclaim for his comparative studies of the institutions and histories of the world's major civilizations. In his lectures he will address the question of whether a "culture of modernism" is spreading throughout the world and whether this trend will lead to the convergence of societies and social structures, despite political and cultural differences.

Track

After holding off Stanford's Dave Strang in the 1,500 meters, the stronger of his two events, Cal's David Ottaway came from behind to run a season best 1:51.2 in the 800 meters, edging Strang by .13 second.

And by a .01 second difference, Cal's Robert Wright held off Stanford's Scott Kozel in the 100 meters, after two other Bear sprinters had been disqualified.

But Burns' vote for Cal's most in-fluent individual performance went to Doug Henderson (14:28.26). In the 5,000 meters, Henderson outkicked the Cardinal's James Alborough (14:28.35) by .09 seconds.

"That was the clutch performance," said Burns, who disregarded his own jumping as "fun."

In capturing 12 of the 19 events, the Bears proved that despite injury and ailment — like those of Curtis Rogers (24-10) who took second in the long jump despite calcium deposits in his thigh — they weren't going to relinquish their stronghold on the Cardinal.

Football

Overall, it wasn't pretty. But the scrimmage, which marks the end of spring practice, unfurled several bright spots.

• Defensive tackle Joel Dickson has made a full recovery from his Oct. 2 gunshot wound. Dickson, who was shot in the stomach at The Bear's Lair after Cal defeated San Jose State, made his first appearance in a full-contact scrimmage, notching a sack and otherwise creating havoc in the offensive backfield.

"It felt pretty good," said Dickson, who didn't expect to participate in spring practice. "My stomach's been a little sore from the operation, but I'm getting closer to full strength."

Over the spring, Dickson has added about 15 pounds to an already imposing 6-3, 260-pound frame. But that hasn't slowed him down — he ran a 4.68 40-yard dash last Friday in practice.

• Taylor, one of the top returning quarterbacks in the nation, was in control despite playing behind a shaky offensive line.

"Troy is getting better and better," Snyder said. "He is so conscious of our offensive system."

Sort of like a mini-version of Joe Montana.

"Montana's my favorite player — he's probably the best ever," said Taylor, who is being touted as an All-American candidate. "I try to play that same style, taking what the defense gives you and being in control of the offense."

"I like the comparison with Joe Montana — not to put myself in the same category, though."

Not yet, anyways.

NOTICE OF DEATH OF MARJORIE G. SCHMIDT AND PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE
No. 235525-6

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Marjorie G. Schmidt.

A petition has been filed by Hastings Lee Schmidt in the Superior Court of Alameda County requesting that Hastings Lee Schmidt be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority allows the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain actions, however, the personal representative is required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to this petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held on May 16, 1989 at 9:30 am in Dept. 28, located at Administration Building, 1221 Oak Street, Oakland, CA 94612.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

DEPARTMENT OF
HEALTH SERVICES
BERKELEY LABORATORY
PROJECT SCH#88053109

Proposed Project and Extension of Review Period: Notice was previously given that a draft Environmental Impact Report for the Department of Health Services Berkeley Laboratory Consolidation and Relocation Expansion project was available, for a 45-day public review period.

The Department of Health Ser-

LEGAL NOTICES

ices is proposing to relocate two smaller East Bay laboratories to a newly constructed building at either 2151 Berkeley Way site or at the Richmond Field Station in the City of Richmond. The draft EIR analyzes four alternative development schemes for the proposed project at the two sites.

Based on a request received during a recent public hearing on the project, the Department of Health Services has acted to extend the public review period for the subject draft environmental impact report by 30 calendar days.

Revised Review period: Please be advised that the public review period has now been officially extended by 30 days in addition to the original 45-day review period. Written comments on this draft environmental impact report now must be received by 5:00pm on May 30, 1989 rather than April 30, 1989 at the above address. A public hearing was held on this report on April 13, 1989 as originally noticed. The Department does not plan to hold any additional public hearing on this draft environmental impact report.

Where Report Can Be Obtained:

Copies of the subject environmental impact report can be obtained by contacting Cher Daniels, Department of General Services, Office of Project Development and Management, 400 P Street, Suite 3460, Sacramento, California or by calling (916) 324-0207. Copies of the draft EIR can be reviewed at the local Berkeley and Richmond libraries. In addition, copies may be reviewed at the Department of Health Services Information Counter at 2151 Berkeley Way in Berkeley and at the University of California, Richmond Field Station, Building 175 at 1301 South 46th Street, Richmond, W36944

COMMISSION
OVERTIME WAGE
BOARD MEETING
MERCANTILE INDUSTRY
(ORDER 7-80)
June 8 and 9, 1989
San Francisco

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Labor Code Sections 1173 and 1178.5 and in accord with Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations 11530, et seq., that the Industrial Welfare Commission (IWC) has referred certain overtime issues to a wage board for the mercantile industry (IWC Order No. 7-80) for further study. This wage board will meet at 10 a.m. on June 8 and 9, 1989, at the State Building, 525 Golden Gate Avenue, Room 101, San Francisco.

PURPOSE

The wage board will discuss and make recommendations to the IWC on the following matters as they relate to the mercantile industry:

- 1) Modifying the administrative, executive, and professional exemption contained in Section 1 of IWC Order No. 7-80, consistent with the health or welfare of employees.
- 2) Modifying the overtime regulations contained in Section 3 of IWC Order No. 7-80, consistent with the health or welfare of employees.
- 3) Modifying Section 3 of the IWC Order 7-80 to require that agreements for alternative workweek arrangements contain certain protective conditions, consistent with the health or welfare of employees.

WRITTEN STATEMENTS FROM THE PUBLIC:

Any interested person may submit written information related to the above matters for consideration by the wage board. So that wage board members receive statements for study before the board meets, please submit written material as early as possible, preferably by May 25, 1989.

In order to provide copies of your statement to each wage board member, each commissioner, and staff, the IWC requests twenty-five (25) copies of each statement. The IWC recognizes that providing multiple copies of each written statement may be a hardship for some persons, so IWC staff may copy statements as deemed feasible. THE IWC HAS NO FACILITIES FOR COPYING BOOKLETS, VOLUMINOUS DOCUMENTS, OR OTHER BOUND MATERIALS.

Statements should be mailed to: Industrial Welfare Commission, P.O. Box 603, San Francisco, CA 94101, or delivery may be made at: Industrial Welfare Commission, 525 Golden Gate Avenue, Fifth Floor, San Francisco, CA 94102.

Although members of the public may attend and observe wage board proceedings, oral presentations from the public shall not be accepted. The IWC will review the report and recommendations of the wage board holding public hearings on proposals to revise Order 7-80.

Double trouble for baseball in split

By Michael Wolgelenter
Staff Writer

After the Cal baseball team's 9-1 victory over UCLA Thursday, Brad DeJardin made a comment that, at the time, didn't seem particularly ominous.

"In the last three weeks, the double play has been missing," he said. "We boot the double play ball and that opens the door for four or five runs."

DeJardin's analysis rang true in the third inning of Friday's game. Normally sure-handed second baseman Darryl Vice couldn't handle a sure double-play bouncer off the bat of the Bruins' Mike Lewis. UCLA went on to score six runs off Cal pitcher Jon Zuber (2-1) and held on for an 11-10 victory.

Saturday, the Bears (33-22, 9-18 in the Pac-10 South) rebounded for a solid 8-3 triumph over the Bruins on the strength of a strong pitching performance from Mark Juhas (6-4). UCLA (21-26, 10-17) starter Scott Schanz (2-10) went the distance, and as a reward, set the school record for most losses in a season.

Sunday, in front of a national television audience courtesy of ESPN, the Bears pulled out an impressive 6-3 win at Washington State's Bailey Field. Junior Willy Warrecker (4-3) pitched the first complete game of his career, and his strikeout of Jim Connor with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth tied his career-high (eight). Kevin Brown hit his third homer of the week in the second (his sixth overall) to give Cal a 1-0 lead that it would never relinquish.

The Cougars (30-14) and Bears meet again today at 10 a.m. (ESPN) as Cal attempts to keep its fading playoff hopes alive.

In Friday's game, the Bears took the two-steps-backward, one-step-forward approach to baseball. Needless to say, Cal came up short.

After Vice's error in the third, the Bruins took a 3-2 lead after a two-run double by Robbie Kataroff and a run-scoring single from John Dolak.

Struggling, Zuber (the second of seven Cal pitchers) served up a batting-practice fastball to Mannie Adams, who pounced on the pitch for his first homer of the year, giving UCLA a 6-2 lead.

"It's like things have gone all season," said Cal head coach Bob Milano. "We make one error, and they jump all over it."

In the fifth, Vice hit his second straight RBI double to close the gap to 6-5. But after Dolak's homer in the eighth, UCLA led, 11-5.

With two out and Dan Cholowsky on first, the Bears rallied in the bottom half of the inning against Bruin reliever Dave Zancanaro (5-4). Todd Mayo hit a sinking liner that squirted past center fielder David Keating and rolled all the way to the wall, allowing both Cholowsky and Mayo to score.

Vice followed with a walk and DeJardin singled, and then Brown powdered a Zancanaro fastball over the wall in right center (No. 5) to suddenly bring Cal to within 11-10.

Cal's Derek Stark singled to lead off the ninth, but pinch-runner Jeff Kent was thrown out trying to steal.

"I screwed it up," said Milano. "I was thinking bunt, but when I saw the infielders crashing, I decided we might be able to slip one through. When Cholowsky flew out (for the first out of the inning), we had to get the runner to second. I gambled with the hit-and-run, and Kent gets thrown out."

Saturday, the Bears opened up a 5-0 lead in the second inning, the final two on a two-run single by DeJardin.

Mark Juhas took over from there. Although he allowed three walks in the first two innings and threw four wild pitches, he was able to go 8 1/2 effective innings (three runs, all earned, six hits, six strikeouts) in his best outing in a month.

Track teams run past Stanford in Big Meet

Newest relay team kicks up its heels

By Vittorio Tafur
Staff Writer

Freshman Andreen Alvarenga, who doesn't run the 400-meter relay, found out Monday that she'd be competing in the event at a meet Saturday.

Sophomore Laurie Smith is a hurdler. She runs better over obstacles.

Smith and Alvarenga teamed up with Stacy Rogers and Mona Simmons to set a school record in the 400-meter relay during the Big Meet at Stanford. Their time of 45.2 gave the Bears a 19-13 lead, en route to a 86-59 pasting of the Cardinal.

"I was amazed," said Alvarenga, who ran the last leg of the race. "I don't know what happened. We just all ran well... we ran fast."

Their time was fast enough to beat Stanford's relay team by a full two seconds. The Cal school record of 46.06 set in 1979 was also left in the dust, as Saturday was the first time the Bears have qualified a 4x100 team for the NCAA Championships.

"I didn't even have any idea they would do so well," said Cal head coach Tony Sandoval. "Anytime you insert two new people in a precision event, it usually takes time."

Well, with Mina Hutchins and Denise Ervin out with hamstring injuries, Smith and Alvarenga, who captured the 400 with a time of 55-flat, only had Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to practice.

"Laurie ran the 4x100 last year and Andreen — we pressed her into running at the last moment," Sandoval said. "I just hoped we'd be close. It just goes to show how much the girls can do when they set their hearts to it."

Simmons and Rogers had opened the meet with a 1-2 finish in the long jump to put Cal up 8-1. Rogers' leap of 19 feet-7 1/4 inches was a season-best mark.

The Cardinal, led by three-time All-American Patty Purpur's throw of 52-0 3/4, then swept the shot put to go ahead 10-8. It was Stanford's only lead of the day. Sabrina Han subsequently won the 3,000 in 9:44.45 to set the stage for the 400-meter relay: California 14, Stanford 13.

"The 400 relay had a ripple effect on the rest of the meet," Sandoval explained. "Besides putting us up 19-13, Chryste Gaines hurt her hamstring and was forced to pull out of the 100 and 200."

Stanford's Gaines, a freshman, was the No. 1 high school sprinter in the nation the last two years. Without Gaines to worry about, Cal finished 1-3 in the 100 and 1-2 in the 200.

Along with the 400-meter relay, the other "Big" surprise of the day was the javelin competition. Sophomore Laura Baker, rested from basketball season, took second with a hurl of 134-1. Her second-place throw marked the starting guard's debut as a Cal track and field athlete.

TRACK NOTES: Simmons and Beth Vidakovits were two-event winners for Cal. Besides winning the long jump with a leap of 20-3 3/4, Simmons,

Burns drums up some action in Big win

By Todd Diamond
Staff Writer

When the issue at hand is the 95th Big Meet, nothing else matters. Not even a little thing like surgery 24 hours earlier.

It might be considered heroic that Brent Burns of the Cal men's track team came back from ear drum surgery Friday to score five points with a victory in the pole vault Saturday at Stanford Stadium, as the Bears defeated the Cardinal, 85-78.

But once Burns had finished vaulting, Cal still "needed every point we could get." So Burns continued to the high jump — an event he has only done twice in the last three years — where he promptly jumped a personal best 6-6 1/4 for third place and one more point for the Bears.

Sure, it's just another track meet.

While certainly the most heroic, Burns' performance was not even one of the most dramatic, as the Bears recorded their 18th straight victory over the Cardinal.

Three Bears stumble in Pac-10 tennis semifinals

Cal's Sharon Fletcher, known primarily for her doubles play, reached the semifinals in singles this past weekend in the Pac-10 Tennis Championships in Ojai.

After getting by UCLA's Iwalani McCalla in the quarterfinals (7-5 in the third set), the senior lost in the semis to Sandra Birch of Stanford, 6-3, 6-0.

Alissa Finerman and Lisa Albano were the other two Cal women to reach the second round. Finerman ran into Stanford's Tami Whitlinger, the top-ranked player in the nation, and lost 6-2, 6-1. Albano went down in three sets in the round-of-16.

On the men's side, the doubles team of Kurt Streeter and Carl Chang also lost in the semifinals. The Bears' No. 3 team was beaten by UCLA's No. 1 team of Patrick Galbraith and Brian Garrow, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

The same team of Galbraith and Garrow sent Cal's Doug Eisenman and Matt Lucena packing in the second round with a 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 decision.

Ted Scherman reached Sunday's singles final in the Open division with a 1-6, 7-6 (14-12), 6-2 marathon win over UCLA's Matt Quinney.

Sharon Fletcher

Blue-Gold scrimmage

Defense takes offense

By Danny Kadah
Staff Writer

In between yawns, the crowd at the annual Blue-Gold football scrimmage could probably surmise that the California defense is ahead of the offense.

The defense, clad in Gold, trounced the Blue, 41-11, Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Forty-one to 11? Yeah, it was a pretty strange scoring system.

In addition to the usual scoring, the offense got one point for consecutive first downs and a point for each ensuing first down. But to give the defense some incentive and to make it interesting for the fans (yeah, right), the Gold was awarded three points for a turnover, one for a sack, one for stopping a drive on downs, and two for a stop inside the 35-yard-line.

Despite the effort of quarterback Troy Taylor — 11-of-17, 120 yards and a 46-yard TD pass to Michael Smith — the Gold controlled the scrimmage from the outset.

"The defense has been ahead of the offense virtually the entire spring," Cal head coach Bruce Snyder said. "But I don't think this really indicates what kind of team we have."

He should hope not. When Taylor wasn't in the contest, the offense looked like a vaudeville show. Passes looked like fallen skeets, the simple center exchange became more complicated than the stock exchange, linemen on both sides got dance fever before the snap.

In all, it looked, well, like spring football.

At one point, quarterback Tim McIlwain lost a fumble and, on the very next play, fired an interception.

Later, cornerback Doug Parrish made like Warrior forward Rod Higgins, nailing back-to-back threes for the Gold with interceptions on consecutive plays.
