For this pattern I used my Silver Reed SK840 standard electronic knitting machine. I used the ribber for welt, sleeve and neckband.

Pattern Summary

Gauge Swatch

- I did not make any gauge swatch because I wanted a large blouse no matter how it turned out. I let myself be surprised ☺ and I loved the result.

Tension dial - Tension 7, Stitch Dial 3

I used 3 strands of very thin (2 ply) nude color combed cotton yarn Nm 2/16.

I consider this blouse to be proper for Size S & M.

The blouse is knitted sideways, following this pattern: 3 working needles, 2 non-working needles (knit 3, slip 2). I knitted it Stockinet, not Slip. I simply put the needles in non-working position.

Legend:

- K – knit
- NWP – non-working position
- R – row
- LN – left needle
- RN- right needle
- Inc – increase
- Dec – decrease
- Sts – stitch
- LN_x on LN_y – transfer LN_x on LN_y

So the pattern is like this: K3, NWP2, K3, NWP2, ...

Garment Tutorial – Front and Back are identical !!!

The ribber's Half-Pitch Lever must be set to P 5.

On both main bed and ribber, set the stitch dial below 0. Set the carriage at right for Stockinet.

Cast-on for K1 P1 Rib on LN27..RN42 for tighter edge (Broken Toe Cast On).

Here is a video tutorial:

Set stitch dial to 3.

Knit 10 rows.

Transfer all the ribber stitches on the main bed. Now you have all LN27-RN42 needles in working position with stitches on them.

Knit 3 rows.

I explain only the rows on which there are actions to be made, if you do not see a row specified (like you will not see R3 specified), simply knit the row without any changes.

Set RC to 0.

R1: arrange the needles like this K1, NWP2, K3, NWP2, K3, , K3, NWP2, K1

For the NWP2, since the needles have already stitches on them, move each stitch on the adjacent needle (1 on the adjacent left needle, 1 on the adjacent right needle) to empty them and be able to set them in non-working position.

R2: inc 3 at left using e-wrap method (everytime there is more than 1 sts to increase use the e-wrap method !!!!)

R4: LN30 on LN 29, inc 2 at left

R5: LN31 on LN32, put needles LN30 and LN31 in non-working position; inc 3 at left and inc 1 at right.

R8: LN35 on LN34, inc 2 at left and 1 at right

R9: LN36 on LN37

R10: RN45 on RN44, inc 3 at left and 1 at right

Before the next row, all needles must be in working position having sts on them, so, for those empty on NWP, you simply move the heel of the sts from the adjacent needle onto them (like for Fashion Increase). You do this for all the remaining nwp needles.

R383: knit all

R384: knit all

R385: knit all

Before the next row, transfer every other sts on the ribber for K1 P1 rib.

Knit 10 rows.

Cast off.

End of the piece.

Neckband:

I put the piece back on the machine (with the wrong side facing you) with the part where is knitted the neckband (now the piece is not sideways). Do not stretch it, pick the stitches naturally. I used pretty much every other whole and in the end I had 88 sts on the machine. Transfer every other sts on the ribber for a K1 P1 rib.

Knit 30 rows.

Transfer all the ribber stitches to the main bed.

Knit one more row with stitch dial set to 8 and cast off.

Welt:

Put the piece back on the machine (with the bottom part, where is knitted the welt), wrong side facing you. Again, not not stretch. In the end I had 135 sts on the machine.

Follow the neckband instructions.

Knit the same the other piece.

Sew the pieces together and there you have the blouse.
