 - (ii) street front fencing on lots specified in (i) above shall be of similar materials to the dwelling;
 - (iii) where the secondary road frontage is fenced on the boundary in (i) above, such fencing shall be finished at least 1.0 metre behind the main building line;
 - (iv) approval of fence design may be declined at the Covenantee's sole discretion if the planned fencing is seen to potentially cause detriment to the subdivision;

At all times such fencing shall comply with the District Plan rules.
 - b) on boundaries fronting a reserve or waterway that has not received specific design approval of the Covenantee. Such fences shall use the design as specified by the Covenantee. Approval

15. Permit any rubbish, including Builders waste materials to accumulate or to be placed upon the Burdened Land or any adjoining land or permit grass or weeds to grow to a height exceeding 150mm. The Covenantee shall have the right to remove any building materials from the Burdened Land or any adjoining site or to maintain the Burdened Land in a reasonable condition, which in the Covenantee's sole discretion, if left in its current state, may be detrimental to the subdivision with the reasonable costs to be met by Covenantor, payable on demand.
16. Permit the erection of any sign on the Burdened Land other than a professionally sign written and installed sign marketing the Burdened Land for sale. The Covenantee will only permit the erection of signage indicating a business if such signage is acceptable in the sole discretion of the Covenantee and the prior written consent of the Covenantee is obtained by the Covenantor. The Covenantee shall have the right to remove any sign, which in its sole discretion is unacceptable without prior warning.
17. Permit the dwelling to be used as a show home without the prior written consent of the Covenantee. The Covenantee shall retain sole discretion over the number of dwellings to be used for show homes purposes. This Clause shall expire and be of no further effect on 31st December 2029.

General Covenants:

19. In the event that the Covenantor disagrees with an exercise of discretion by the Covenantee under clause 8 above then the matter shall be referred to an architect nominated by the Covenantee. The consent of the Covenantee shall be deemed to be given if such architect certifies that the proposed buildings and improvements on the Burdened Land are appropriate and suitable for a high quality residential subdivision and will not have any adverse effect on the other lots.
20. The Covenantee shall neither be required nor be liable to enforce such above covenants.
21. The Covenantor (including the Covenantor's successors in title and subsequent assignees) covenant with the Covenantee (including any subsidiary or associated company of the Covenantee or successor or assigns to the Covenantee that they will not oppose, object to, frustrate or take any action, or encourage or cause others to oppose, object to, frustrate or take any action, that might in any way prevent or hinder the Covenantee from progressing and completing the Covenantee's Falcon's Landing development plans and/or effecting any zone change and/or subdivision and/or resource consents needed to generally give effect to the Falcon's Landing development. This covenant by the Covenantor applies (without limitation) to any Resource Consent application, Environment Court application or Territorial Authority Building Consent application or other necessary consent process involving, such development, and the benefit of this covenant also applies to any adjoining or neighbouring property the Covenantee may own or subsequently purchase to progress such development.

ⁱⁱ The Covenantee retains the right to approve fencing within 3.0m of the road frontage due to the irregular shape, size or orientation of the Burdened Land. For the removal of doubt, the word 'road' includes right of way and access lot or any lot to vest in the Selwyn District Council.

ⁱⁱⁱ The Covenantee may at their sole discretion approve solid fencing greater than 50% of the frontage of any reserve lot if such increase is required for privacy or design purposes.

Key things to know about sale and purchase agreements

- A sale and purchase agreement is a legally binding contract between you and the other party involved in buying or selling a property.
- You must sign a written sale and purchase agreement to buy or sell a property.
- You need to read and understand the sale and purchase agreement before you sign it.
- Even if a standard sale and purchase agreement is being used, you should always get legal advice before you sign the agreement and throughout the buying and selling process.
- You can negotiate some of the terms and conditions in a sale and purchase agreement.
- You can include additional clauses, such as what to do if there are special circumstances. Your lawyer plays an important role in providing advice on what the sale and purchase agreement should say.
- A sale and purchase agreement becomes unconditional once all the conditions are met.
- In most cases, the real estate professional is working for the seller of the property, but they must treat the buyer fairly.
- If your real estate professional or anyone related to them wants to buy your property, they must get your written consent to do this. They must also give you a valuation of your property by an independent registered valuer.
- The sale and purchase agreement is only available in English. You may need assistance interpreting it if English is not your primary language.

What a sale and purchase agreement is

A sale and purchase agreement is a legally binding contract between you and the other party involved in buying or selling a property. It sets out all the details, terms and conditions of the sale. This includes things such as the price, any chattels being sold with the property, whether the buyer needs to sell another property first or needs a property inspection and the settlement date.

A sale and purchase agreement provides certainty to both the buyer and the seller about what will happen when.

What's in a sale and purchase agreement

Your sale and purchase agreement should include the following things.

Basic details of the sale

Different sale methods like tender or auction might mean the sale and purchase agreement can look different, but all sale and purchase agreements should contain:

- the names of the people buying and selling the property
- the address of the property
- the type of title, for example, freehold or leasehold
- the price
- any deposit the buyer must pay
- any chattels being sold with the property, for example, whiteware or curtains
- any specific conditions you or the other party want fulfilled
- how many working days you have to fulfil your conditions (if there are any conditions)
- the settlement date (the date the buyer pays the rest of the amount for the property, which is usually also the day they can move in)
- the rate of interest the buyer must pay on any overdue payments (such as being late on paying the deposit or the remaining amount at the settlement date).

General obligations and conditions you have to comply with

The sale and purchase agreement includes general obligations and conditions that you will need to comply with. For example, these may include:

- access rights – what access the buyer can have to inspect the property before settlement day
- insurance – to make sure the property remains insured until the settlement date and outline what will happen if any damage occurs before settlement day
- default by the buyer – the buyer may have to compensate the seller if they don't settle on time, for example, with interest payments
- default by the seller – the seller may have to compensate the buyer if they don't settle on time, for example, by paying accommodation costs
- eligibility to buy property in New Zealand – people who have migrated to New Zealand may not be permitted to immediately buy property or may need to get consent from the Overseas Investment Office.

Your lawyer will explain these clauses to you.

Check...

Always check your sale and purchase agreement with a lawyer before signing.

Buying or selling a property where the owner isn't able to participate, like a mortgagee sale or deceased estate, can mean the real estate professional has limited information about the property. It pays to allow for this when deciding what conditions the buyer and seller might need.

Remember...

Before you sign a sale and purchase agreement, whether you're the buyer or the seller, the real estate professional must give you a copy of this guide. They must also ask you to confirm in writing that you've received it.

Specific conditions a buyer may include

Some buyers will present an unconditional offer, which means there are no specific conditions to be fulfilled. Some buyers will include one or more conditions (that must be fulfilled by a specified date) in their offer such as:

- title search – this is done by the buyer's lawyer to check who the legal owner of the property is and to see if there are any other interests over the property such as caveats or easements
- finance – this refers to the buyer arranging payment, often requiring bank approval for a mortgage or loan
- valuation report – a bank may require the buyer to obtain a valuation of the property (an estimate of the property's worth on the current market) before they agree to a loan
- Land Information Memorandum (LIM) – provided by the local council, this report provides information about the property such as rates, building permits and consents, drainage, planning and other important information
- property inspection – a buyer paying for an inspection provides an independent overview of the condition of the property rather than relying on an inspection that has been arranged by the seller

- engineer's or surveyor's report – similar to the above but more focused on the entire section and the structure of the property
- sale of another home – the buyer may need to sell their own home in order to buy another.

The real estate professional helps the buyer and the seller to include the conditions they each want. Even though the real estate professional works for the seller, they also have to deal fairly and honestly with the buyer. While they're not expected to discover hidden defects, they can't withhold information and must tell the buyer about any known defects with the property. If a buyer needs time to check a property for defects, including a property inspection condition may be important.

What happens after you sign the sale and purchase agreement

Signing the sale and purchase agreement is not the end of the sale or purchase process.

Both parties work through the conditions until the agreement is unconditional

A conditional agreement means the sale and purchase agreement has one or more conditions that must be met by a specified date and before the sale goes through.

The buyer pays the deposit. Depending on what the sale and purchase agreement says, the buyer may pay the deposit when they sign the agreement or when the agreement becomes unconditional. If the deposit is made to the real estate agency, it must be held in their agency's trust account for 10 working days before it can be released to the seller.

An agreement for sale and purchase commits you to buy or sell

Once you've signed the sale and purchase agreement and any conditions set out in it have been met, you must complete the sale or purchase of the property.

The length of time between the conditions being met and the settlement date varies. Settlement periods can be lengthy if the property hasn't been built yet or the sale and purchase agreement includes conditions for one party to buy or sell another property. The real estate professional has obligations to keep you informed of important updates that come up during this time.

Pre-settlement inspection

This is the chance for the buyer to check the property and chattels are in the same condition they were when the sale and purchase agreement was signed and to check that the seller has met any conditions, for example, there is no damage to walls or chattels haven't been removed from the property.

It's important to raise any concerns you find at the pre-settlement inspection with your lawyer and the real estate professional as soon as possible to allow enough time for an issue to be resolved. If it's less than 24 hours before settlement, the vendor may not be obligated to set things right.

Payment of a commission

Once the sale is complete, the seller pays the real estate professional for their services. The real estate agency usually takes the commission from the deposit they're holding in their trust account. The seller should make sure the deposit is enough to cover the commission. The real estate professional cannot ask the buyer to pay for their services if they have been engaged by the seller.

The buyer pays the rest

The buyer pays the remainder of the amount for the property on the day of settlement, usually through their lawyer.

Buying a tenanted property

If the property is tenanted, the agreement for sale and purchase should specify this. It may also contain a specific date for possession that may differ from the settlement date.

If the buyer requires the property to be sold with 'vacant possession', it is the seller's responsibility to give the tenant notice to vacate in accordance with the tenant's legal rights.

It is recommended that you seek legal advice if you are buying a property that is currently tenanted.

What happens if you have a problem

If something has gone wrong, first discuss your concern with the real estate professional or their manager. All agencies must have in-house procedures for resolving complaints.

If you can't resolve the issue with the real estate agency or you don't feel comfortable discussing it with them, you can contact the Real Estate Authority (REA). We can help in a number of ways if your complaint is about the real estate professional. For example, we can help you and the real estate professional or agency to resolve the issue and remind them of their obligations under the Real Estate Agents Act 2008. When you contact us, we'll work with you to help you decide the best thing to do.
