75 Millar Road, Haumoana

Some homes are defined by their floorplan. This one is defined by the way it feels.

Designed by architect Graham Linwood and built in earth block and timber, this home has a solidity and warmth that is immediately apparent. The walls have texture. The timber glows in the sun. Deep window reveals frame views across lawn, mature trees and rolling land, extending to the Ruahine and Kaweka ranges, Napier Hill and glimpses of the sea.

It feels grounded in the landscape, rather than simply placed upon it.
