Founded in 1905, Concordia University–Portland is an accredited, nonprofit, Christian university committed to sharing our Lutheran values of open discourse, intellectual inquiry, justice, compassion, diversity, and inclusion to prepare leaders for the transformation of society.

Concordia University’s College of Education is one of the most respected names in learning today, empowering educators who are resilient, serve with compassion, and impact lives beyond the classroom. We teach our students how to help their students find their voice. Part of an active, connected network of 20,000 College of Education alumni, Concordia-trained professionals continue to change the world, student by student.

If you’re passionate about next-generation learning, Concordia is the university leading the way and shaping the future of education.

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY’S MASTER OF EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Our MEd programs offer relevant curricula designed and taught by an engaging faculty that includes teachers, superintendents, and principals in the field. Our five-week classes can be accessed completely online—anytime, anywhere. That convenience paired with clearly defined coursework, realistic deadlines, and the ability to immediately apply what you learn in your classroom are what make our degree programs doable and ideal for your busy working lifestyle.

The potential career benefits—from higher pay to promotions—are second only to the reward of realizing the everlasting impact you’ll have on the lives of your students.

The MEd in Curriculum & Instruction core courses and capstone experience are the foundation for this program. You’ll receive individualized instruction that supports your professional and personal goals as you develop your skills as a high-impact educator.
The fully online MEd in Curriculum and Instruction: Educational Technology Leadership concentration from Concordia University–Portland prepares candidates for leadership roles implementing education technologies in PreK-12 classrooms. This program does more than deepen specific technology knowledge—candidates also gain the insights and skills to lead research on technology adaptation and best-use cases supporting curriculum enhancement, with an end goal of improved teaching and learning. The Educational Technology Leadership coursework also emphasizes the ability to think pedagogically about technology and develop sustainable proficiency in its use. Program graduates will also have the leadership skills to conduct training at the school or district levels, write community grants, and develop scaled implementation plans.

EDG 502
Developing Character Through the Curriculum
3 credits

This course will provide teachers with the resources and skills necessary to integrate character themes and character development into their school curriculum. Course provides a forum in which to discuss and develop one’s own moral perspectives on the basis of generally accepted criteria.

EDG 535
Theories of Teaching and Learning
3 credits

This course is designed to provide leaders with the latest psychological research about learning and guide them in exploring ways to directly apply these precepts to their current work setting. Topics include cognitive science, learning theory, and relevant teaching theories that utilize this information. The course fuses the latest biological and psychological understanding of how the brain learns so candidates can harness this knowledge and apply it directly to learning situations.

EDG 595
Community of Learners
3 credits

Course challenges candidates to confront the tremendous diversity in their current environment and develop strategies to build community in the midst of the social, ethnic, economic, and alternative lifestyle differences that permeate today’s 21st century workplace. Course stresses the critical importance of creating community in the workplace and illustrates how that community can generate an efficient, supportive, and positive workplace.

EDG 602
Contemporary Educational Thought
3 credits

Candidates identify, review, and analyze major trends and issues impacting the contemporary state and national educational scenes. Each class session provides students with an opportunity to evaluate the advantages and liabilities of current educational reforms and issues from the perspective of prevailing educational research as well as from their own personal beliefs and current work environment. Candidates will also consider how they can impact and influence change in their own workplace.

This course provides students with the basic competencies necessary to understand and evaluate the research of others, and to plan their own research with a minimum of assistance. This course includes the basics of both qualitative and quantitative research.

The Master of Education culminates with the choice of either EDGR 698-Action Research or EDGR 696-Practitioner Inquiry. Either option provides candidates with an understanding of the role of research in the field of education as a tool to solve problems and as a way to improve student learning.

Candidates will learn more about the action research methodology, complete final edits of the literature review, and design a complete action research proposal including data collection methods and analysis approaches. During this course, the proposal will not be implemented with students/participants. This design provides candidates with the requisite skills and means to pursue the transformative practice called Action Research in their classroom, school, district or other work environment.

Prerequisite: Successful completion of EDGR 601 Educational Research

Practitioner Inquiry focuses on the reflective acts of the candidate as an educator seeking to improve teaching practice.Premised on the self-study research methodological traditions, Practitioner Inquiry provides the opportunity to reflect on teaching practice and generate improvements based on classroom observation. Practitioner Inquiry is focused on the educator and her/his own practices, developing skills of inquiry, observation, reflection, and action in teachers.

Prerequisite: Successful completion of EDGR 601 Educational Research

International students enrolled in an online program will not be issued an I-20 from Concordia University-Portland and will not be eligible to receive an F-1 student visa to study in the United States.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

International students (anyone who is not a U.S. citizen or permanent resident) will need to fulfill the following requirements to be considered for admission into any of our online programs.

The same requirements as U.S. citizens/permanent residents, plus the following additions:

Proof of a bachelor’s or master’s degree that is recognized by the Ministry of Education from that country and that is equivalent to a bachelor’s or master’s degree in the United States.

Your university or college transcripts will need to be evaluated by an approved transcript evaluation partner to assess equivalence to a degree from the U.S.

Proof of English proficiency may be fulfilled by a required writing sample. The English proficiency requirement may be waived if a student attended their last two years of undergraduate schooling in the United States, Canada (English-speaking provinces), the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, and/or South Africa. Students born in one of these countries, yet educated elsewhere, are still required to satisfy the English proficiency requirement. If the writing sample does not prove a sufficient mastery of English, the student may be asked to submit scores from the TOEFL or ILETS exams.

International students enrolled in an online program will not be issued an I-20 from Concordia University-Portland and will not be eligible to receive an F-1 student visa to study in the United States.
