

General Information and Initial Setup (Video)

On behalf of National Testing Network we welcome you to your licensing exam. You will perform a mock demonstration on a live model, completing all procedures except inserting a needle into the skin.

To remain in this exam, you and your model must follow exam rules.

- Do not tell your name or any information about your trainer or place of training to your rater.
- No reference materials, food, beverages, smoking, cell phones, or weapons are allowed.
- You may not leave the test site during the exam.
- You must request permission to go to the restroom and the exam timer does NOT STOP.
- Your rater may ask you to repeat a step or describe what you are doing, but is not allowed to guide you, answer questions, or exchange information regarding proper demonstration of a procedure.
- During the exam, you may have the instructions repeated a maximum of two times.
- Since this is a mock demonstration, you must tell your rater when there would be a stand or a wait time.
- You must actually perform the first handwashing. After that, just describe washing your hands again, whenever you would do so during the service. Each time you must describe all steps.
- Your rater cannot provide any additional supplies, equipment, or other items to you.
- If you drop anything on the floor, pick it up and discard it OR, if you are going to use it again in this service, properly follow required disinfection or sterilization protocols.
- Your model is the only person you may have present in the exam room.
- Your model must not provide any guidance regarding the service and should not speak unless necessary.
- All talking between you and your model should be limited. What is said must be related to the client relationship such as asking your model to move, providing infection control instructions and the giving of pre and post service information.
- If there is any unauthorized communication, or any inappropriate behavior or language by you or your model, your exam will end and you will not pass.

Clean up and Sanitation (Video)

The last part of your exam is to completely clear, clean and sanitize your area. That includes packaging all garbage to take with you. You may not leave disposable materials or anything else in the facility.

When you are ready to leave, inform your rater who will check your area and release you to leave. You will be evaluated on how clean you have left your area.

Your test administrators cannot answer questions about how you did on today's exam. Within one week, your exam results will be posted on your online account page and you can access them with your user name and password. The Exam Preparation Guide has information about how you get your license once you have passed.
