

Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road

And the sun has set for me

I want no rites in a gloom-filled room

Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little-but not too long and not with your head bowed low

Remember the love that we once shared

Miss me-but let me go

For this is a journey that we all must take

And each must go alone.

It's all part of the

Master's plan

A step on the road to home

When you are lonely and sick of heart

Go to the friends we know And bury your sorrows in do-ing good deeds

Miss me but let me go.

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrows, no more crying, neither shall there be anymore pain: For the former things are passed away”.

Revelations 21:4

Daisy Lee Spates was born on June 16, 1928 in Jacksonville, FL to the late Eartha Lee Spigner-Sims who was born in Orangeburg, S.C. and Ernest Sims who was born in Waycross, GA. Her parents were blessed with six children of which, Daisy Lee was the second child. Daisy Lee Spates passed away in Beneva Lakes Nursing Home in Sarasota, FL at the age of 93 due to natural causes. Daisy Lee married Edward “Boy” Spates, in their blessed union they had one child. Daisy Lee loved shopping and travelling.

Daisy attended Bethlehem Bible Church until her health began to fail. Daisy Lee retired from Children’s First in Sarasota, FL where she was employed for a a number of years. She enjoyed working with the children and holding the babies.

In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by her brothers, Patrick Sims, and Knolton Sims and her two sisters, Viola Sykes and Rutha Mae Sims.

Her memories will always be cherished by her son, Johnny “Boy” Spates (Catherine), stepchildren, George, John (Clem) and the late Edward “Bubble” (Janice) Speights. Ernest Sims, Jr. her only living sibling; grandchildren, Rashanda, Jacolbie Spates, Yowanda Spates, Shannon (Rod) and a host of nieces, nephews, greatchildren, other family members and friends; sister-in-law, Mrs. Emmeral Lati-mer, Her caregiver, Miss Brittany Chestnut.

Her Smile

*Though her smile is gone forever and her hand I cannot touch
I still have so many memories
Of the one I loved so much.*
