Don't cry for me, dry your weary eyes,

I was only 18 years old, I didn't deserve to die.

Don't cry for me, dry your weeping tears,

My grandma always taught me to put my faith before my fears.

Don't cry for me, I am going home.

I'm with my grandma and this is where I belong.

Don't cry for me, just make sure you take care of my family and unborn son.

Always protect them and welcome them with open arms.

Those we love don't go away.

Even though I'm not here, I walk beside you all every day.

So, please don't cry for me, I'm still here unseen, unheard but always near.

So loves, so missed, so very dear.

Don't cry for me, instead remember my smile.

Never forget I'm watching over you all just continue to make me proud.

I love you Daquarrius Sanders
