Reflections

Mrs. Nancy Hampton Claybrooks Richardson was born on July 6, 1941 to the late Charles Hampton and the late Lillian Smith Hampton Easley in Brentwood, Tennessee. She entered eternal peace and rest on November 18, 2022, while at home with family. Nancy was preceded in death by husband Thomas A. Claybrooks, Sr. and son Thomas Jr. parents, Lillian Hampton Easley and Charles Hampton, also, siblings, William H. Hampton, John I., Robert C. and Larry D. Easley.

Nancy was born in Brentwood, Tennessee and educate in the Williamson County Public School System. She was a graduate of the class of 1959 Franklin Training School. She later attended Tennessee State University where she was a high stepping majorette with the TSU Aristocrat of Bands.

Nancy loved children and always wanted them to succeed in school. She would often as them, "do you know your ABC's or etme hear you count". Secretly she would say "I can't stand to see no dumb kids". Nancy was also a member of the Fifth Sunday Club where she served as secretary and later treasurer. She was also the organizations Photographer.

Nancy began her professional career at Gay-Lea Christian Nursery School in Nashville, Tennessee. Years later she returned to the Williamson County School System where she was the Library Assistant at Scales Elementary School in Brentwood. She was also elected County wide Employee of the Year.

She was active member of Greater Pleasant View Baptist Church. Over the years she served as a choir member, vacation Bible School and the Mother's Board. In he spare time she loved to read the newspaper and work cross word puzzles. But most of all she loved her family.

With fond memories she leaves a very devoted husband, Nathaniel Richardson, Franklin, Tennessee; daughters, Stephanie Hockless, Nashville, Tennessee and Carmen Claybrooks, Nashville, Tennessee; son, Albert Claybrooks, Nashville, Tennessee; step daughters; Vikilyn Thompson, Joanne Richardson, Natalie (Richard) Blair, Sarita (Robert) Joseph and Thelma (Stanley) Washington; granddaughters, Shannon Sawyers and Brandy Claybrooks; grandchildren, great grandchildren; sisters, Jean Reed, Emma (James) Witherspoon and Doris (Terry) Richardson; a host of nieces, nephew, cousins and friends.
