

Tribute

This one cuts deep and nothing makes sense right now; our hearts are shattered in a million pieces; our minds running a hundred miles, just thinking about your infectious smile.

Thirty-three is such a young and tender age; life...for you was just beginning to bloom and kick into stride; you were in your winning season and this caught us all off guard; how does one mourn when they are forever scarred?

While we won't question God, we weep for Quintiana; we will keep your daughter lifted in prayer always and let her know that she is loved; she'll yearn for you most definitely but we will keep her close and remind her of the two angels about that loved her most.

Beyond the sky, you are united with your mom to share all the things you never got the chance; we are hurt to our cores that you are with Sylvia to share all the things that only a mom would be privy.

Sleep on Ericka Patrice Pee; your soul is set free and now you can be who God called you to be, my sweet girl.

I'm Free

*Don't grieve for me for now I'm free,
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took His hand when I heard Him call:
I turned my back and left it all.
I could not stay another day
To laugh, to love, to work or play.
Tasks left undone must stay that way;
I found my place at the close of day.
If my parting has left a void
Then fill it with remembered joys.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss,
Ah yes, these things I too shall miss.
Be not burdened with times of sorrow:
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full, I savoured much;
Good friends, good times, a loved ones touch.
Perhaps my life seemed all too brief:
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your heart and share with me;
God wanted me now, He set me free.*
