RETREAT & RESILIENCE AT THE GETTYSBURG LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE

Leverage the lessons you learned during your first session at Gettysburg and integrate new knowledge of Lee's Retreat to Virginia and Lincoln's Visit to Gettysburg and their courses of action. Position your leadership style to guide both people and processes during times of intense challenge and adversity.

Key Program Objectives Include:

- Recognizing the strategic purpose and power of retreat
- Recalibrating decisions and actions after tactical setback
- Maintaining courage and communications to fuel resiliency
- Applying a Clausewitz strategy to reduce downtime
- Regaining momentum and renewed sense of purpose
- Embracing the Level 5 paradox of personal humility/professional will
- Embarking on "The Unfinished Business"

PROGRAM MODULES & CASE STUDIES

DAY A: LEE'S RETREAT

Case Study:

General Robert E. Lee had every reason to be optimistic at mid-day on July 3, 1863. But tides turned quickly, and the following day would find him writing these words in his Order for Retreat: "The commanding general earnestly exhorts each corps commander to see that every officer exerts the utmost vigilance, steadiness, and boldness during the whole march." What determines leadership excellence when setbacks occur?

MODULE:

This exploration of Leadership in Adversity begins where your first Gettysburg Leadership Experience ended, with a walk back across the same land that Lee thought had been secured. It uses Lee's decision and direction to order his troops back as a springboard to discuss the value of retreat following failure, and how leaders can use that time best to affect follower morale and ultimate mission. It advances with a contemporary look at the insights of 19th Century military strategist General Carl Clausewitz (Vom Kriege, On War). And it provides a "riding Reflection" as you visit the site where the Army of Northern Virginia paused to regain strength and strategy.

DAY B: LINCOLN & LEVEL 5 LEADERSHIP

Case Study:

When President Abraham Lincoln was briefed on the Battle of Gettysburg and General Lee's successful retreat to save his remaining troops, he wrote a letter to Major General Meade stating: "Again, my dear general, I do not believe you appreciate the magnitude of the misfortune involved in Lee's escape. He was within your easy grasp, and to have closed upon him would, in connection with our other late successes, have ended the war. As it is, the war will be prolonged indefinitely." The letter was never posted.

MODULE:

This second day of RETREAT & RESILIENCE speaks to the heart of Level 5 Leadership: how enduring greatness is forged when personal humility and professional will are fired in the heat of challenge. This paradox yields rewards—and surprises—beyond what was initially envisioned. Was Lincoln a Level 5 Leader? What strengths were revealed in the aftermath of Gettysburg? How were the next leaders identified? And how can we apply lessons from that time of turmoil to prepare and guide our own enterprises for the unanticipated? In short, how can we move with strength and strategy into "The Unfinished Work"?

PROGRAM INFORMATION

CPE Credits

FCC Services is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors. State boards of accountancy have final authority on the acceptance of individual courses for CPE credit.

Complaints regarding registered sponsors may be submitted to the National Registry of CPE

Sponsors through its website: www.learningmarket.org.

CPAs requiring continuing education credits are required to sign in on the Sign-In sheet located at the back of each session room to receive CPE credits for that session. You must also complete and sign a Request for CPE Credits Form, available at the conference registration desk. CPEs can be awarded in the following categories (all sessions offered as Group-Live delivery method):

• Personal Development	15.2 CPEs
Total CPEs*	15.2 CPEs

*The total number of CPEs you receive for a session depends on you signing in for each session on the Sign-In Sheet. If you don't sign in for each session, you will not receive CPE credits for that session.

Attire/Footwear

Attire is Battlefield Casual (jeans and sneakers) during the program and Business Casual for the group dinner. Pickett's Charge is a one mile walk through often muddy fields. If anyone is unable to walk this distance, they may ride on the bus with an instructor to narrate, and meet the group at The Angle for conclusion.
