

FCC Services Announces THE *Online Strategic Communications Program with Ryan Avery - Go From A Leader to THE Leader

FCC Services is pleased to offer a new online program to help leaders at any career stage improve their results by improving their communications skills – skills that are especially essential in times of crisis.

Featuring expertise from Ryan Avery, a widely acclaimed and highly evaluated FCC Services speaker, “Go From A Leader to THE Leader” will deliver accessible and distinct communication strategies to help you:

- Be THE Leader by demonstrating confidence to make strong business decisions.
- Develop THE Team by creating deeper connections to effectively develop and lead teams.
- Grow THE Organization by clearly communicating to maximize your influence.

“Improving your communications abilities is THE quickest way to advance your career and increase your leadership capabilities,” says Ryan.

The “Go From A Leader to THE Leader” program will launch Thursday, July 9th with 16 recorded weekly lessons running through the end of October. These lessons will be supported with a workbook to support implementing the tools tactics, and supplemented with a weekly facilitated video check-in. The four-month program will culminate with an in-person, full-day workshop with Ryan Avery in Denver on November 10th. Participants will earn certification as THE Strategic Communications Professional.

“The lessons embedded in this strategic program can be applied immediately to your challenges and communication tactics and will benefit anyone who wants to advance their communication skills and increase their confidence,” says Stephanie Barton, Vice President and Marketing and Strategic Account Management.

Registration is open through July 8th (space is limited, so we encourage you to register soon). For more information, contact Stephanie Barton at Stephanie.Barton@fccservices.com.
