USER'S MANUAL

How to Adjust the Resistance

The ZONE TONER offers three different resistance levels to allow you to tailor the intensity of your exercise. The resistance level is adjusted by connecting or disconnecting the resistance bands.

To connect one of the resistance bands, first hold the slider at the top of the aluminum shaft as shown at the right. Next, firmly hold the knob on the end of a resistance band, pull the knob down, and fit the knob into the appropriate groove in the slider. To disconnect a resistance band, firmly hold the knob, pull the knob out of the groove in the slider, and rest the knob in the upper end of the aluminum shaft. IMPORTANT: Always keep at least one resistance band attached to the slider.

If you are just beginning an exercise program, connect only the left resistance band to the slider. This will give you the lowest resistance level. To select an intermediate resistance level, connect only the right resistance band. When you are ready for an advanced resistance level, connect both resistance bands.

Exercise Guidelines

The ZONE TONER offers a variety of exercises that tone your hips and thighs, abdominals and back, calves, arms, chest, and shoulders. The photographs in this manual show the proper form for each exercise.

To tailor the intensity of each exercise to the level that's right for you, simply change the resistance of the ZONE TONER or change the number of repetitions that you perform. Start with the lowest resistance level. When you can easily complete several repetitions of all exercises, move up to the next resistance level. Be careful to avoid overdoing it during the first few weeks of your exercise program. It is better to increase the number of repetitions you do than to increase the resistance of the ZONE TONER too quickly.

Always begin and end each workout with a few minutes of stretching. Stretching prepares the body for exercise by increasing the body temperature, heart rate, and circulation. After exercising, stretching allows the heart rate to return to normal and the muscles to cool down gradually. Stretching after exercise is also very effective for increasing flexibility.

Remember to keep plenty of water nearby as you exercise, and drink periodically to avoid dehydration. CAUTION: If you feel faint, dizzy, or short of breath at any time while exercising, stop immediately and begin cooling down.
