The Altar...

The word "altar" derives from the Latin altare (from adolere - burn), and came to be used in the early Church to designate the table on which was placed the bread and wine for the Eucharist. The Greek language used the word thysiasterion (table of sacrifice) to designate an altar. Paul speaks of the "table of the Lord" (1 Corinthians 10:21), and it is at a table that Jesus foretells his death, giving us the sacrificial gift that we will celebrate in his memory until we assemble at the banquet in heaven.

The altar, then, is a symbol of Christ in the midst of the assembly of believers, a table dedicated for both the sacrifice and the paschal banquet.

The altar was a simple free-standing table for the first few centuries of Christian worship, but it was soon affected by changing styles in church architecture and a changing theology of Christian worship. Ornate architectural detail, a more elaborate liturgy performed largely by the clergy and the placing of the altar on the rear wall of the apse meant that the altar was no longer the table of the assembly. It was primarily the resting place for the bread and wine for the Eucharist, the missal, candles, prayer cards, flowers, and later, the tabernacle.

The Second Vatican Council (1962- 1965) revised the norms relating to the altar and used the earliest tradition of the Church as its guide. Following this lead, the United States Bishops' Committee on the Liturgy wrote: "The altar, the holy table, should be the most noble, the most beautifully designed and constructed table the community can provide. It is the common table of the assembly, a symbol of the Lord...standing free, approachable from every side." (Environment and Art in Catholic Worship, #71).

The altar must be a piece of furniture of such beauty that it honors the holy action that occurs there, of such stature that it is worthy of the mystery celebrated there, of such eloquent simplicity that it invites the people of God to participate in a most extraordinary gift of sacrificial love. The altar stands as a worthy symbol of Christ and a holy table where God's people are nourished for their pilgrimage to the Kingdom.

The Altar... part II

Have you ever noticed the priest and the deacon kiss the altar at the beginning and end of Mass? This graceful act highlights the significance of the altar as a central symbol of our worship life.

Apart from the introduction of the use of the vernacular at Mass, the change in the location of the altar - away from the back wall of the church and into the midst of the assembly - is probably the most obvious effect of the Second Vatican Council. This change allowed people to gather more easily around the altar. Two related changes were also mandated by the Council. In the pre-Vatican II liturgy, because the priest alone performed most of the liturgical functions, a long altar was needed so that the two readings could be proclaimed from opposite ends of the altar while remaining separate from the Eucharistic action, which took place in the center of the altar. Such an elongated table is no longer necessary. Secondly, because communion should be given from the sacrifice just enacted on the altar, the tabernacle was removed from the main altar. This maintains the integrity of both altar and tabernacle as sites of Christ's presence in the Church. We have grown in our awareness of Christ's presence in the gathered assembly, in the proclamation of the word, in the person of the priest, and in the Eucharistic elements of bread and wine.

We have been less attentive to the symbolic significance of the altar itself.

The Rite of Dedication of an Altar (which most often takes place during the dedication of the church in which the altar is located) gives us a glimpse of the significance of this symbol. In that rite, the altar is sprinkled with water, anointed with chrism and incensed by the bishop in a pattern much like our initiation rituals. It is then clothed with an altar cloth and adorned with lighted candles. These rituals leave no doubt that the altar is "the midpoint between heaven and earth." With the ancient images of Abraham's altar of sacrifice and the table of the Last Supper firmly rooted in our tradition, we encircle our parish altar, confident that God is present in our midst.

Historically, our altar at Saint Peter Church was one of the first permanent free-standing altars in the Archdiocese of Saint Louis. Our present church, designed by Joseph Murphy, the dean of Washington University's School of Architecture, was completed in 1953 and was one of the first modern churches after World War II. Monsignor Westhoff, the pastor of Saint Peter at that time, was a recognized leader in liturgical renewal in the Archdiocese and broke the current liturgical tradition at the time and designed our altar of Indiana limestone and black onyx marble to be free-standing instead of up against the back wall of the church. Interviewed by a reporter of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch at the time of the church's dedication in 1953, Monsignor pointed out the unique features of the new St. Peter Church and emphasized the free-standing altar saying "he hoped Church liturgical laws will change someday and the priest will stand at a free-standing altar facing the people." It was not for another thirteen years that the Second Vatican Council decreed in 1966 that all altars be free-standing and that the priest would face the people while presiding at Holy Mass. St. Peter Church was designed and built ahead of its time for sure because of the genius of Monsignor Westhoff and the forward thinking Archbishop of Saint Louis at the time, Joseph Cardinal Ritter. It is a source of pride for us today.

From the "Hooray and Halleluia "Department..."

I recently received news from St. Louis University High School that the school had eight National Merit Semi-Finalists. Wow! That's great! Here is a statistic that I really like...three of the eight are from St. Peter: Michael Krausz, Luke Missey, and Brendan McLaughlin.

In addition seven young men from St. Peter were recently inducted in SLUH's National Honor Society: Jack Figge, Louis Cornett, Joseph LaBarge, Flynn O'Connell, Sam Orlando, James Saadi, and Luke Missey.

Way to go, guys! You make St. Peter Parish proud of your accomplishments in academic excellence.

And I am not finished yet, folks! We received word this past week from Ursuline Academy that Renee Chauvin, our Assistant Principal at St. Peter School, is one of the recipients of Ursuline Academy's Serviam Award. Renee graduated from Ursuline in 1989. The Serviam Award reflects the motto of the Ursuline Sisters and the School. It is given to alumnae recognized for service and dedication to their communities especially this year during this time of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Congratulations and God's fullest blessing upon Renee Chauvin for her work among us and her receiving this honor.

Helping our Neighbors in Need

The pandemic provides a great opportunity for us to remember the three pillars of the St. Vincent de Paul Society: Spirituality, Friendship, and Service. Let us remember our St. Peter Vincenians and our Neighbors in Need in our prayers. Let us be a friend to the lonely, the sick and the suffering. Let us serve our Neighbors to the best of our ability. Many have benefitted from the halt on evictions, but we worry what will happen when the moratorium is lifted. Let's do our best to help our Neighbors remain in their homes.

Your donations to St Vincent de Paul are greatly appreciated at this very critical time.

LIVE THE LITURGY

Inspiration for the week

Come to the feast! God calls us to participate in the banquet of life, a banquet that can fill and satisfy us like no other. It is a spiritual feast where we find inner refreshment and satisfy the thirst and hunger of our souls. Do you want to come? Every human being receives an invitation; no one is excluded. There is no charge and an abundant table is set. Some will blatantly refuse. They see no merit in attending and feel that they can fill their needs in other ways. Others will simply ignore the invitation. Maybe they are too consumed with other matters they feel are more important at the time. Still others may even get angry and feel deep resentment for even being asked, resorting to acts of violence in protest of the very presence of the feast. In spite of this, many will also come. They will be the good and the bad, the lost and the lonely, and the ones who understand. They know love when they see it. When they go to the feast, they will rejoice and be glad as they will have found the God for whom they looked!

*The word
and dwelt among us.*

GOSPEL MEDITATION

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

God gives us an invitation to have an abundant life. The banquet is ready, and the tables are set. Come! There is so much to attend to in the everydayness of our lives. We have plans, after all. There is never enough time and so much that needs to be done. There is work, children, and grandchildren, paying the bills, planning for retirement, figuring out the details of our next vacation, making sure we are on top of our game with work, planning social engagements, answering emails, texts, and getting our latest pictures on Facebook. There is always something. What is this about some banquet?

I need another party and commitment like a hole in the head. I can't manage what I already have, and someone is asking me to do more! Seriously? I saw the invitation; I think it came in the mail the other day. Did I leave it on the table? Oh wait, it may have gotten thrown away. I can't remember. In any case, I'm managing things pretty well on my own, I think. Thanks for thinking of me, but no thanks. My life is only as good as I make it and I have to be sure that all is in order! Oh, another invitation came today! This guy's being persistent. Now, I'm getting angry. I wish he would just leave me alone and stop with this invitation nonsense.

I woke up feeling a bit unsettled this morning. The kids have left the house, the grandchildren are busy with their lives, my retirement fund is losing ground, I'm worried about my health, folks have moved away, and I find myself alone. I am unhappy. I remember getting an invitation some time ago to a banquet promising new life and life in abundance. Did I miss something? I think I may have. I am finally discovering that life is not about me and my world. I think I've ignored the God who made me and the God who is the reason for my life, my hope, and my joy. It's always been about me. I have not really discovered Eternal Love.

Is the invitation still open? Can I come to the banquet? I think I'd like to come.

WORLD MISSION SUNDAY 2020
THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE FAITH
OCTOBER 18, 2020

Next weekend is World Mission Sunday. We are called through our Baptism to be part of the Church’s missionary efforts, through prayer, self-sacrifice, and support of the Mission Church through material aid.

This year, Pope Francis asks us to respond to that call, saying, “Here I Am, Send Me!” To “send” ourselves, we can:

- PRAY for the Church’s worldwide missionary work.
- OFFER financial HELP and CHARITY through the collection by using the Society for the Propagation of the Faith envelope found in your weekly contribution packet. This collection helps vulnerable communities throughout Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands.
