Steve Morehouse, formally the High School Relations Counselor for College of San Mateo, will once again be administering a Career and Educational Planning Inventory for local high school juniors.

This assessment tool (with same day results) will help students explore interests and career fields, while discovering how these two key elements connect with college majors, degrees, and various segments of higher education.

An additional copy of the results will also be provided for students interested in sharing the information with their high school counselor for future planning.

Plan for a minimum of 60 minutes for this workshop. For additional information, call (650) 773-4594 or go to morehouse8@aol.com
