Song to the Moon

from "Rusalka"

Lyrics by Jaroslav Kvapil

Music by Antonin Dvorak

Sil-very moon in the deep sky
Far away your light is seen.
Over the world you wander wide,
Peering into human dwellings.
Oh moon, be still, stay a while, tell me, oh, where is my darling?

c| C | G | C | G | C | F | C |

G | C | G | C | Dm | Em/G | Dm | C |

Dm | Am | F | G/F | F | G/F | C/E | C |

C/G | G | G7 | G7/F | C/E | Dm | F | C/E |

C/E | F | C#dim7 | Dm | G | C |

C | Em | F | A | Am | Dm7 |

C/G | G7 | C | Am | Em | F |
while, tell me, oh, tell me, where is my darling?

Tell him, oh tell him, my silver moon, mine are the arms that would hold him. For a small while, yes, at least a little while tell him of me in his dream.

for a small while, yes, a little while tell him of me in his dream. Light his path, show him the way, light his way, tell him, oh tell him who awaits him here; light his path, show him the way, light his way, tell him, oh tell him who a - waits him here!

Human soul, may you dream of me, then a - wake with the me-mory! Silver moon, do not wane, do not wane!

Oh moon, do not wane!