

Detailed Summary of Dog and Cat Comprehensive Oral Health Visits

Our goal is to preserve teeth, extract only those that are hopelessly diseased or present a threat to your pet's health and comfort. During the comprehensive oral examination and treatment it is common to identify additional, unanticipated disease associated with your pet's teeth and oral cavity. Many conditions can and should be treated at the time of discovery; others may require follow-up appointments, anesthesia and surgery. Once your pet's mouth is restored to a healthy condition, we will advise you how to perform preventative home oral care.

---

Before the procedure

- ✓ Pre-surgical examination
- ✓ Treatment plan and associated cost discussion with owner
- ✓ Pre-anesthetic assessment

Your pet will receive the highest level of care and support available during their comprehensive oral treatment at Kitsap Veterinary Clinic. The list below insures the best level of safety and treatment. We do not offer lower cost oral health services achieved by cutting corners in safety, comfort or quality of care.

---

For the procedure

- Pre-anesthetic sedation
- Pre-anesthetic pain medication
- IV catheterization
- IV fluids
- Precision IV infusion pump
- Anesthesia- inhalant gas
- Electronic monitoring of vital signs
  - Electrocardiogram, Pulse Oximetry, Blood pressure, CO2 Measurement
- Licensed Veterinary Technician monitoring vital signs
- Temperature therapy: circulating warm water blanket to insulate and maintain body temp. and comfort
- Oral examination- while under anesthesia
- Oral charting of each tooth
- Intra- oral digital radiographs & interpretation of the whole mouth
- Teeth ultrasonic cleaning – above and below the gum line
- Teeth polishing
- Chlorhexidine oral rinse
- Pre and Post dentistry intra-oral close up digital photograph
- Patient recovery – with Licensed Veterinary Technician
- Patient discharge performed with Licensed Veterinary Technician describing procedure and individualized home care instructions
- Post dentistry phone call from one of our Technicians one day after patient arrives home
- Medical progress examination with doctor if necessary