A Special Day That Comes Around Once a Year

Mother's Day is a time we set aside to remember and thank the mothers who have given so much to us. If we are blessed to have our mothers still alive, we try to spend time with them, make a phone call, or send a gift. These gestures often seem small in the light of how much most of our mothers have done for us. But we make them just the same, simply because we need to show our gratitude and remembrance in some way.

Associated with Mother's Day, South Carolina Presbyterians have a long tradition of eagerly and generously supporting the PCSC Mother's Day Offering. Whether taken up during Sunday worship or mailed in individually, the Mother's Day Offering has been a special way of remembering and caring for older adults for over two generations.

Sometimes a person is blessed with a long life that outstrips what he or she diligently saved. As part of our ministry, PCSC has a long-standing commitment to ensure that seniors whose resources are depleted while living with us can remain with us. Imagine the peace of mind that one of them feels upon hearing that his or her needs have been provided for.

Our seniors are not the only ones blessed by this commitment. Their families are blessed to know that their loved ones will continue to be loved and looked after. Further, our staff members are blessed because they can continue to serve these seniors to whom they have grown so attached.

The cost of this commitment is significant. Last year, PCSC spent over $1.5 million on charitable care for seniors whose savings were exhausted. We expect to spend as much or more this year. That's why the Mother's Day Offering is so important. It is a key piece of the puzzle of how to fund this care. And it is an important way that Presbyterian churches, their members, and other individuals help share the burden of those who worked and served so well in their younger years. All of this is to say that providing charitable care is not just PCSC's ministry. Through the Mother's Day Offering and other generous contributions, it is a ministry of our churches and supporting individuals.

We hope that you will join with us in making a contribution through the Mother's Day Offering. If your church collects the offering, please be sure and participate on Sunday, May 10. If it does not participate, we hope that you will encourage participation next year. And if you would like to make a contribution to the Mother's Day Offering directly, you can make one using the envelope enclosed.

Mrs. Emma Louise Donald (E.L.C. Donald) is a graduate of Virginia Commonwealth University with a bachelor's degree in Fine Arts. Mrs. Donald began her career as the first public school art teacher in Darlington County in 1950, followed by spending several years as a commercial artist in New York City. Returning to the south, she embraced watercolor as her medium. She continued her art studies in Glasgow, Scotland, and the University of South Carolina.

One of the greatest strengths of Presbyterian Communities is the people who work here and the relationships that are formed, both with fellow team members and residents. These are long lasting and genuine friendships.

Within the past couple of months, this fact has been especially evident. On two consecutive Saturdays, memorial services were held – one for the former administrator of one of our Communities, whom we were honored to serve, and the other for a former administrator of two of our Communities.

The number of current and former team members attending these services was truly remarkable. Former employees of PCSC traveled across the state to be with friends and their families during a time of grief. Even with the sadness, everyone was glad to see each other and give hugs of support.

This network of people includes those who have been leaders at Presbyterian Communities for many years. Although some have retired, the connection is still strong and the commitment to each other is evident.

These relationships were formed through a common mission of serving residents at Presbyterian Communities. And I believe that is a major part of what makes this ministry strong and quite special. Today's team members and those who have previously served are connected to one other through their dedication to enrich the quality of life for seniors.

We see evidence of this often each and every day in our Communities with current employees. But when you witness former leaders and team members still just as committed to each other and the mission, it is a vivid reminder of the rich legacy those of us who work today have received from those who have worked in earlier years.

Some retired team members regularly gather for a meal together and are joined by current team members. The friendships are strong and common values are shared.

The continuity and commitment of capable and caring people throughout the years have strengthened this organization. The residents we serve have benefited from them.

We are indeed blessed to receive the legacy of such a compassionate and caring network of people, and to see it still in action today.

FOUNDATION NEWS

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Fant recently joined Presbytery Communities of SC as the new Director of Foundation Services and Church Relations. But while he is new to the management staff, he is not new to PCSC. At the end of last year, Franklin completed nine years of service on the PCSC Board of Trustees, which included serving on, as well as chairing, the Board's Finance and Audit Committees. "During my time on the Board, I was very gratified to witness and to participate in some remarkable developments in our ministry," he said. "PCSC is in a position of strength and is now poised to deepen and enhance its ministry to older adults across all five campuses. I am very grateful to those I served with on the Board over the years for all they have done to support and guide PCSC."

Franklin joins the management staff after concluding almost 11 years of service as the Pastor of Seven Oaks Presbyterian Church in Columbia, SC. "The decision to leave pastoral ministry was not an easy one," he shared, "but with prayer and reflection it became very clear to me that this was God's plan for the next phase of my ministry."

Franklin is very excited about the opportunity to serve PCSC, its residents, and supporting churches in his new capacity. "Presbyterian Communities has such a rich history of serving older adults and enhancing their lives," he said. "Both through church members and through my own family members, I have seen just how much blessing PCSC brings to its residents. And I know how much peace of mind our ministry gives to their families when they see how well we care for those they love."

Prior to entering the ministry, Franklin had a long and varied career in finance and accounting. He has worked in accounting and consulting for Arthur Andersen & Co. in Columbia and KPMG, LLP in Washington, DC. He has also served as Assistant Professor of Finance at the University of New Hampshire, and was a Visiting Scholar at the Securities and Exchange Commission where he worked in the Division of Economic Analysis. He holds a B.S. in Financial Management from Clemson University, a Ph. D. in finance from Florida State University, and an M. Div. from Columbia Theological Seminary.

A native of Columbia, Franklin is a cradle Presbyterian, having been baptized and raised at Shandon Presbyterian Church. He is married to the former Christi Harley of Spartanburg. They have three children: Mary Harley, a senior at Presbyterian College, Luke, a junior at Clemson, and Tate, a senior at Dutch Fork High School.

PCSC AMBASSADORS GATHER FOR 2015 MEETINGS

Presbyterian Communities' Ambassadors serve an important role as liaisons between PCSC and local congregations. Once a year in the Spring, PCSC holds a series of five meetings at our communities across the state to connect with our Ambassadors (one for each of the five presbyteries). This is a time when management staff update the Ambassadors on changes and improvements to PCSC's older adult ministry, as well as prepare them to promote the Mother's Day Offering in their churches.

This year, the meeting format was changed to gather feedback and ideas from the Ambassadors. After brief presentations from management, the Ambassadors enjoyed a delicious meal prepared by each community's dining services. PCSC personnel then engaged the Ambassadors in a casual, guided conversation as they dined together.

These conversations resulted in a number of new insights into how PCSC can best support the Ambassadors and communicate with churches and their members about our ministry. The new format was well-received, and everyone seemed to enjoy the two-way sharing of information. PCSC is grateful to our Ambassadors for taking the time to attend these meetings and for all they do to support the seniors in our communities.

VILLAGE AT SUMMERVILLE

What began two years ago, has now continued and grown as another group of 18 students from Trident Technical College came and worked with residents in the healthcare center as part of their Occupational Therapy Assistant Training Program. The students came for one week in groups of 2 to 4 with a set agenda and worked with residents doing activities like making story books, playing trivia, doing crafts and reminiscing! According to Joanne McAfee, Life Enrichment Coordinator, both residents and students get so much out of the interaction. Interestingly enough, some of the students have come to work at The Village at Summerville after completing the program!

Congratulations to Susan Rogers on the happy day of her retirement! On Monday, March 30, 2015 we celebrated her special moment remembering all her accomplishments and what an impact she has made here at The Village at Summerville. Susan served as Life Enrichment Director during her later years, but earlier served as our Unit Secretary for HCC 1, then as Social Services Assistant for our Assisted Living community Her journey began on January 1, 2001, meaning she has served the residents and staff for 14 years. We know that she will truly be missed by the residents and staff, but knowing that she will be beginning a new chapter in life we all truly wish her well and happiness!

FOOTHILLS

The Foothills Retirement Community rang out the old and rang in the new with a New Year' Eve party. Residents from all areas of the community and family members came together for a party extravaganza. They enjoyed music, food, and champagne, along with a kiss or two!

Myrta Hall from the Pride Unit recently accompanied Charlie (the Pride Unit's dog) on a trip to the vet, along with Brittney Grant (Life Enrichment). Mrs. Hall was so excited to go, as she was a dog breeder in her earlier years. She has a passion for animals, especially dogs. She petted every dog she saw and had a smile from ear to ear the entire time. Mrs. Hall took the lead as Charlie's "owner" and pointed out everything about his health. On the way home Mrs. Hall thanked Brittney for taking her. She also asked, "Do we have to go back right now?" It made Brittney so happy to know how much the trip brightened Mrs. Hall's day!

THE CHAPEL AT FOOTHILLS: HOW MUCH LONGER UNTIL WE GET THERE?

The space is set aside, the plans are drawn, and the bulk of the funds have been raised. So everyone associated with the Foothills Community is naturally asking, "How much longer until we can break ground on the new chapel?"

We are all thankful for the improvement in the economy. However, this blessing for our state has resulted in a downside for the chapel project, as it has caused construction costs to rise significantly. We have re-estimated the cost to build the new chapel at $901,000. Generous gifts continue to come in, following the lead gift of Mr. John Ford. As of April 9, pledges and contributions to the chapel totaled almost $842,000, leaving about $59,000 to be raised. We are happy to report that interest in the chapel remains high, and both staff and friends of PCSC continue to work towards making the chapel a reality.

Because we can't say for sure exactly when we will have raised the last few dollars, we can't say definitively when we will break ground. But we can say, "Not long, now!" If you would like to be a part of raising the worship space for the Foothills Community, you may send a donation or two-year pledge to the Management Services Offices address on the back page.

Naming opportunities still exist for the sound system with hearing loop ($20,000), landscaping ($10,000), 3 upholstered chancel chairs ($5,000 each), and the baptismal font ($2,500). Please contact Franklin Fant, Director of Foundations Services and Church Relations, at (888) 842-4855 if you have questions about the campaign for the chapel at Foothills.

FLORENCE COMMUNITY

Betty Rhame with Dr. Parks

Staff is an essential element to Presbyterian Communities. On Thursday, February 19, 2015, a retirement social was held for one of those essential elements from The Florence Community. The Reverend Dr. John Parks, the Community Chaplain for the last four years and the first Chaplin for The Florence Community, reached the milestone of retirement. Dr. Parks has been such an asset to the Community and will be greatly missed by both residents and staff. Residents and staff alike know that the Lord has a plan for John after his retirement. We dearly hope that plan includes traveling with his wife, hunting, fishing and much more. Congratulations, Dr. Parks on the next chapter in your life.

The Francis Marion University Softball Team hosted a Senior Prom for Senior Citizens from around the Florence area. The prom was held on the Francis Marion University Campus in the Smith University Center. Residents from the Florence Presbyterian Community enjoyed a night of dancing, reminiscing, making new friends, and snacking on yummy refreshments.

Residents and softball players alike shook a leg and enjoyed the night of music, fellowship, and fun. Thank you Francis Marion University softball players for a wonderful event!

First Presbyterian Church of Clinton hosted a Valentine's Day tea for the ladies at the Clinton Community. Pretty flowers, red hearts, sweet treats and great friends made for a wonderful combination! The room was buzzing with conversation and cheerful laughter as each attendee greeted old friends and met new acquaintances. A wide array of delicious scones, pastries, cucumber sandwiches, chocolate dipped strawberries and several special, life-long recipes of cheese straws and biscuits filled the trays for each lady's choosing. It was truly an intergenerational event as residents, Presbyterian College students, church members and young daughters came together to enjoy the afternoon.

MARDI GRAS

*Whose that behind
those Mardi Gras
glasses? Could it be Frazier Jackson?*

The Columbia Community celebrated Mardi Gras in a big way this year. A special meal was served to get us started with some down home, New Orleans-style food at lunch time. Then came the big parade led by guest entertainer, Bob Milcalski, playing "When the Saints Go Marching In" followed by Frazier Jackson steering the Mardi Gras float (decorated by residents) and a whole gang of Mardi Gras partyers. After a wine and cheese party with more music, laughter and fellowship, we were served the traditional pancake supper. A good time was had by all.

OASIS OF HOPE

Shandon Presbyterian Church hosted a tea at the Columbia Community in conjunction with Shandon's annual Preston Weekend for Spiritual Enrichment. This year's invited speaker for the Preston Weekend was Veeda Javaid, who is the Executive Director of the Presbyterian Education Board (PEB) of Pakistan. With a heritage that goes back over 150 years, the PEB of Pakistan seeks to provide high quality education to children of all religious backgrounds. The centerpiece of its ministry is the school system it operates, which ranges from primary through secondary levels.

During the tea, Mrs. Javaid met with Columbia Community residents and others in attendance and conversed with them about the work and ministry of the PEB. She shared stories of how she has seen God at work in the PEB schools and told of how its schools are recognized in Pakistan for the high quality of education they provide. Mrs. Javaid was accompanied by Mrs. Margy Trimble, who is a director of Friends of PEB, a US-based organization that supports and promotes the work of the PEB of Pakistan.

We are grateful to have had this opportunity to hear about the PEB and Mrs. Javaid's work in Pakistan. We pray God continues to work through her and her organization.

IN OUR THOUGHTS AND PRAYERS

Presbyterian Communities of South Carolina remembers two former Administrators who recently passed away.

Upon retirement from the U.S. Air Force, Colonel Lykes Henderson returned home to Clinton, and served as the Administrator of Frampton Hall. He then led both Frampton Hall and the Clinton Community. Mr. Henderson died on August 30, 2014. His wife, Susan, and a sister, Carolyn, both live at the Clinton Community.

The Reverend Dr. Walter Hickman first came to Presbyterian Communities to serve as the Administrator of the Florence Community. He then relocated to serve as the Administrator of The Village at Summerville. Dr. Hickman died on February 2, 2015. His wife, Joyce, is living in Summerville, and his son, Walt, is the Administrator of the Florence Community.

Both Mr. Henderson and Dr. Hickman provided strong leadership and excellent service to the residents and to this organization.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

Heather Liafsha, RN, MHA, CMC has joined Presbyterian Communities of SC in the Management Services Office as the Director of Residential Services. In this new role, Heather will work closely with all departments in the organization and serve as the focal point for compliance, quality of care enhancement, performance improvement activities, and operational and financial performance of the Residential Assisted Living and Vital Living programs.

Heather has over 26 years in the nursing field, with most of that time spent focusing on and specializing in senior care. She received her BSN from Spalding University in Louisville, KY, and her Master's Degree in Health Administration from the University of South Carolina. Heather owned Homecare Solutions Unlimited, a private in-home care company, for seven years before selling it to move on to other endeavors. Heather is also nationally certified as a Professional Geriatric Care Manager. She has worked in hospice, specialty infusion, orthopedics, and most recently in Health Regulations with DHEC. She has been a community leader, serving on the advisory boards of the South Carolina Women's Business Center and South University Health Management Program. In 2008, Heather was recognized by the Columbia Business Journal as one of Columbia's Top 20 under 40. This coveted award recognizes the best and brightest young business leaders in the Midlands.

"I am thrilled to be a part of Presbyterian Communities of SC where I can continue to pursue my passion of delivering high quality care to our seniors through our Vital Living Home Care Services and Residential Assisted Living programs," she states.

Born and raised in New Albany, Indiana, Heather has lived in South Carolina for the last 18 years. She currently lives in Lexington, SC with her 13 year old twins, Hailey and Hayden, and several dogs, cats, and fish.

BUILDING PROGRESS REPORTS

Presbyterian Communities continues to add accommodations through construction to meet increased demand. Building projects are moving steadily along at two communities, and planning work is being done to make ready for construction at a third community.

Florence: Great progress has been made toward the completion of the new, skilled nursing addition. 25 new residences (private rooms with private baths) will be added to serve those needing post-acute/rehabilitation services. This also represents a wonderful opportunity to serve the larger Florence area, since Medicare services will be available for both residents and non-residents alike.

The structure of the new wing is in place and the Medicare application has been made. Work continues to paint the walls, install flooring, and hang lighting. If things continue to progress according to plan, these new residences should be ready for occupancy by mid-summer.

Foothills: Work to construct a new, 12-residence independent living addition is in earlier stages, but is moving along. Grading of the site is finished. The underground electrical and plumbing work has also been completed and the slab was just poured in April.

These 1 and 2 bedroom units have been designed with open floor plans and a complete set of amenities, including full kitchens, washers and dryers, covered patios, and balconies. Custom packages are also available to allow new residents to upgrade their selected apartment.

We are looking for these apartments to be available for move-in during the fourth quarter of 2015.

A number of people have already made deposits on these apartments giving them "right of first refusal." If you would like to get more information about these residences or inquire about making your own deposit, please call Donna Owens at (866) 315-4724.

The next project in line at Foothills is to build a new memory care unit. Approval to build has been given by DHEC, and PCSC is in the process of arranging terms and specifications with the contractor.

Summerville: Redevelopment planning continues at The Village at Summerville, which includes expanding onto new land adjacent to the current facilities. In our continuing work with consultants and financial advisors, it became clear that a new, 90-accommodation health care building represented The Village's greatest present need. We have thus moved this piece of the redevelopment to the top of the list. Once this is in place, the current healthcare building will be torn down to make way for new memory care residences. We also continue to explore expansion opportunities for independent living at Summerville.
