CPE Credits

FCC Services is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors. State boards of accountancy have final authority on the acceptance of individual courses for CPE credit.

Complaints regarding registered sponsors may be submitted to the National Registry of CPE

Sponsors through its website: www.learningmarket.org.

CPAs requiring continuing education credits are required to sign in on the Sign-In sheet located at the back of each session room to receive CPE credits for that session. You must also complete and sign a Request for CPE Credits Form, available at the conference registration desk. CPEs can be awarded in the following categories (all sessions offered as Group-Live delivery method):

• Personal Development	31.8 CPEs
Total CPEs*	31.8 CPEs

*The total number of CPEs you receive for a session depends on you signing in for each session on the Sign-In Sheet. If you don't sign in for each session, you will not receive CPE credits for that session.

Attire/Footwear: Attire is Battlefield Casual (jeans and sneakers) during the program and Business Casual for the group dinner. More details will be coming closer to the event in a Welcome Center from the facilitator.

AGENDA

To ensure an optimum learning experience, we suggest you obtain copies of the following material and view them prior to arriving to the event. Read The Killer Angels by Michael Shaara and/or watch Gettysburg (a movie starring Martin Sheen, Jeff Daniels and Tom Berenger). The book or movie can be obtained from your local library or purchased in physical copy or downloaded from a variety of online sources (Amazon, iTunes, Books A Million, Walmart, etc.).

PROGRAM MODULES & CASE STUDIES

MODULE: SEIZE YOUR STRATEGIC ADVANTAGE

Seize your strategic advantage. General John Buford and General John Reynolds leveraged higher-elevation landscape and other assets to maximize their Day 1 position. How can you claim your “high ground?”

Case Study: The High Ground

General John Buford of the Union Cavalry was the first to see General Robert E. Lee has led the Army of Northern Virginia into Pennsylvania. Recognizing the strategic advantage within reach, he orchestrated a staged sequence of “fight and drop back.” At the close of Day One, the Union line was indeed back, suggesting a victory for the South. But Buford’s initial strategy allowed the Union Army to set up a defensive line on the other side of Gettysburg—the high ground. Some insist his foresight and execution won the battle of Gettysburg.

MODULE: THE POWER OF FOLLOWERSHIP; THE DUAL ROLE OF THE LEADER AND FOLLOWER

Find the power in followership. Unlike his counterparts, General Daniel E. Sickles defied direct orders, setting in motion a cascade of negative consequences for Union forces at Gettysburg. When you must follow as well as lead, how do you align with both people and purpose?

Case Study: The Peach Orchard

General Dan Sickles at Gettysburg shows us a type of “followership” which greatly weakened the Union position on Day Two because of his independent action to move his division to another position on the battlefield. The model of “followership” that is used helps participants understand both themselves as followers and how to develop the kinds of followers we need in complex organizations.

MODULE: THE PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

Beware the blind spots of success. After a string of victories and leadership changes, Day 3—one of the most hotly debated points in Gettysburg history—proved a turning point for the Confederates. How can you maintain focus when success sparks powerful momentum?

Case Study: Lee and Longstreet at the Moment of Decision

One of the most important tasks a leader must master is decision making in the midst of change. Using Day 3 of the battle and the discussions that lead to the fateful Pickett’s Charge as the backdrop, this case study focuses participants on the potential pitfalls of success and how to gather information before the moment of decision.

FACULTY

Chuck Burkell

Instructor/Guide

He serves as a Consultant to FCC Services in support of The Gettysburg Leadership Experience Program. He is a Licensed Battlefield Guide at the Gettysburg National Military Park and has personally guided hundreds of executives and managers on the Battlefield during Staff Rides and other educational programs. Chuck has a Masters of Business Administration (MBA) Degree from Mt. St. Mary's University and a BS in Technical Education from the University of Akron. He and his wife Mary Jo reside within one mile of the Gettysburg National Military Park.

Chuck has served as Associate Professor for Mt. St. Mary's University within their Graduate Program of Business and as a supporting faculty member at the Kennedy School of Government – Harvard University within The Art & Practice of Leadership Development Program. He has authored numerous journal articles, case studies, leadership curricula, and other publications. He co-designed the Adaptive Leadership Instrument with Cambridge Leadership Associates, a multi-rater leadership development assessment tool.

Jeff Harding

Guide

Mr. Jeffrey J. Harding currently works as a Licensed Battlefield Guide at Gettysburg National Military Park where he has led thousands of visitors on tours of the battlefield during his 18-year career as a battlefield guide. He also works as a freelance historian and has published a number of articles on various aspects of the United States Civil War and World War II (WWII). Mr. Harding recently retired from a 33-year career as a civilian employee of the Department of the Navy, where he served as a Professional Development Officer, Command Historian, and Maritime Analyst for the Nimitz Operational Intelligence Center (NOIC) and the Office of Naval Intelligence.

During his career with the Navy, Mr. Harding created, managed, and taught numerous ground-breaking professional development programs, most notably the "Nimitz Immersion Indoctrination Program." This extremely successful onboarding program served to inspire and motivate new employees through a focused study of the leadership of FADM Chester W. Nimitz. Mr. Harding delivered a keynote speech highlighting FADM Nimitz's leadership during a commemorative event held aboard the USS Missouri Memorial marking the 68th anniversary of the end of WWII. Mr. Harding earned numerous awards and accolades over the course of his career including the Department of Navy's distinguished Meritorious Civilian Service Medal and he was honored as a selectee to the NOIC "Hall of Fame."

Mr. Harding's educational background includes a BA in Media and Communications with a concentration in U.S. History from the University of Maryland. His professional education includes attending the Disney Institute's Business Excellence program where he studied leadership, culture, service, brand, and innovation.
