Welsh, Carson, Anderson & Stowe to Acquire Green Street Advisors from Golden Gate Capital

Newport Beach, CA and San Francisco, CA – June 3, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Welsh, Carson, Anderson & Stowe ("WCAS") has signed a definitive agreement with Golden Gate Capital ("GGC") to acquire Green Street Advisors, the premier provider of research, data and analytics to the commercial real estate industry in North America and Europe. Management will re-invest a portion of their proceeds to retain a meaningful ongoing interest in the Company. Financial terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

WCAS's acquisition of Green Street Advisors aligns well with the firm's long history of investing in market-leading technology and information services companies. WCAS is excited to partner with management to pursue a strategy of accelerating organic growth, investing in product innovation and strategically pursuing M&A. This strategy builds on Green Street's 30+ years of market leadership and successful history of product expansion initiatives, including the release of Real Estate Analytics, focused on private real estate markets, in 2014 and Green Street Atlas, a mapping and analytics platform, in 2017.

With their partnership, we intend to accelerate investments in product innovation, data, sales and customer success to better serve our current customers, further penetrate existing end markets and expand into adjacent end markets. This is an exciting time for Green Street as we transition into our next growth phase. At the same time, we want to express our appreciation to GGC. We are proud of the accomplishments throughout our partnership and grateful for their stewardship and support.

Christopher J. Hooper, General Partner at WCAS, said, "The WCAS team is thrilled to partner with Green Street's management team, which has successfully built a market-leading provider of data-driven research providing actionable insights to the most sophisticated investors and market participants in the commercial real estate industry.
