

Day 11

Transmission: 31:21

Music - Daniel Schotsborg - Meta Level Green 1 & 2

As we continue this journey of Light activations, the level of Light you are integrating increases. Each day builds upon the other, as your systems reconfigure into higher levels of operation. The shifts you experience are intended to be subtle and gentle to your system, as anything else would be too disorienting.

This process is systematic and deliberate in the way it is being brought forth. This is the 6th installment in the series designed to recalibrate your entire Divine Vehicle, bringing you into the next level of expanded operation. This installment focuses heavily on the pineal gland. However, the pineal is only one aspect of an interracially expansive system, albeit an important one.

This activation focuses on upshifting your inner vision. Everyone experiences this in their own unique way. Frankly, we can never really know how someone else experiences anything. Your inner vision may actually be most powerfully experienced through visions, actual sight or images. However, your inner vision may be much more intuitive, with your strongest input being pure knowing. Each is as valid as the other.

Allow this activation to help you identify your strongest way of receiving Light information. Remove your ego or personality from the equation and surrender to your most natural way of perceiving. In other words, it is important to get out of your own way.... Breathe, surrender and allow yourself to experience the next level of perception. Don't try, just allow. Don't judge, just surrender. This is a natural evolution back into the original blueprint of operation. Remember... you are Light!
