

Day 9

Transmission: 29:32

Music: Sean Maher - Exoplanet

Becoming Boundless enables shifts in your outer reality. Shifts in your outer reality require change. Change often means that things currently within your reality, such as people or situations, begin to disappear. If we are to hold a new vibration and create a new reality for ourselves, we cannot expect our outer world to remain the same. It just isn't possible. The definition of shift is to change.

Embrace the new energy in your matrix. Set your intention to have anything and everything that is NOT in alignment with your highest potential removed from your reality WITH EASE AND GRACE. Celebrate and honor those people or situations which may cease to exist in your life, and boldly step into the new potential that is awaiting you.

The changes may be subtle or extreme, depending upon your level of alignment with your highest potential. They may come quickly or more slowly, based upon your willingness to embrace the shifts.

Breathe and relax into the music. You are tapping into new thought streams and energy, assisting you to manifest at an entirely new level. Dare to dream of the new confident and boundless YOU.
