

Bonaire 2027

Jan 12 to 20

Join the Alberta Adventure Divers Travel Club at this tropical vacation

Diver pricing is: $1,995 US$

Diver rate exchange to CDN at day rate = approx. $2840 CDN$

Non-diver pricing is $1435 US$, approx. $2040 CDN

Featuring:

- 8 nights at Captain Don's Habitat - ocean view room, double occupancy.
- Breakfast & all you can eat BBQ on Mon.
- Free Nitrox, video/photo USB thumb drive with trip memories, custom sticker pack by Jen for logbooks, Alberta Adventure Divers collector card and luggage tag.
- 3 daily boat dives, unlimited shore dives.
- Roundtrip airport transfers.
- Total Diving Freedom: take a giant stride off the dock at any time and enjoy a dive.
- Non-diving activities: indulgent spa treatments, swimming pools, snorkeling.
- This is also a legendary birthday bash celebration for David & Jen!!!!

Not included:

Flights, marine park fee (approx. $40US), visitor entry tax (approx. $75/person) lunch and dinner except the Mon BBQ, dive equipment, gratuities/tips.

Travel and medical insurance (including diving) are strongly recommended.

Tec week: Tec divers, join Connie & David after for a week of diving beyond recreational dive limits.

Information & sign up at AlbertaDivers.ca,
go to the trips page

Contact Kevin or Connie at diver@albertadivers.ca or call 780-842-2882 for more information.

Why Diving in Bonaire Is Truly Special

Bonaire is considered the shore diving capital of the world. More than 50 shore diving sites ring the coastline. Unlimited shore diving, macro life, beginner-friendly dives and services that cater to advanced divers make this Caribbean charmer a true haven for total diver freedom. The way the island has cultivated and created this shore diving infrastructure is like no other, Bonaire is a part of the ABC (Aruba, Bonaire, Curacao) islands off the northern coast of Venezuela. Because of their unique position in the Leeward Antilles, these islands very rarely sustain a direct hit from hurricanes.

The people of Bonaire are so sure that it's an underwater gem, the government even printed "Divers Paradise" on the license plates. There's no doubt about it, this place was built for divers.

Bonaire's airport is called Flamingo Airport. That's because the island is home to over 10,000 of the pink birds. In addition to standing around on one leg, these birds use Bonaire as a breeding ground. There's even a flamingo sanctuary in the southern part of the island.

Bonaire is a highly protected environment. More than 20% of its total land mass and 100% of the waters surrounding Bonaire and Klein Bonaire are national parks and are therefore protected. For this reason, you'll need to pay a Nature Fee before diving in the Bonaire National Marine Park.

Bonaire used to be a part of the Netherlands Antilles, but in 2010 that country was dissolved. This left Bonaire as a special municipality of the country of the Netherlands along with Sint Eustatius and Saba.

The island offers so much to its guests and residents: whether you want to feed 700 donkeys, explore the flamingo-filled lakes, or fill your entire vacation with underwater views, Bonaire is a destination for everyone.

What to Know about Bonaire

*Language: Officially Dutch, but everyone also speaks English.

*Currency: U.S. dollar.

*Power: Same power plugs as Canada, voltage 230V

*Water Temp in Jan: 78 to 82°F/ 25 to 28°C

*Viz: 60 feet/18 meters or greater.