DESCRIPTION

In this CLE, we will briefly focus on the staggering statistics related to the rising student loan crisis in America. You will learn firsthand how Missouri attorneys have been personally affected. In addition, we will discuss our role as lawyers in the crisis and explain how lawyers should identify problems their clients might be having with student loans.

Finally, the program will provide a quick overview of the potential solutions that clients have in dealing with student loans, from bankruptcy, to administrative discharge, to graduated payment programs and loan forgiveness. Attendees will leave with a better understanding of the student loan crisis and the ways that lawyers can help student loan borrowers survive in times of crisis.
