Healthcare Executive Survey examines reasons why few women make it to key leadership roles.

80% of healthcare workers are women, yet only 20% of women hold key leadership positions*.

63% say there is more opportunity for women to advance in healthcare than 5 years ago.

59% say greater gender parity in leadership would lead to greater profits.

64% say greater gender parity in leadership would lead to less employee turnover.

64% say women leadership programs at their organization are fair, poor or non-existent.

IN AN INDUSTRY DOMINATED BY WOMEN, WHY ISN'T HEALTHCARE LEADING THE WAY IN FEMALE LEADERSHIP?

Learn More

About Korn Ferry
Korn Ferry is a global organizational consulting firm. We help clients design and execute organizational strategies, designs, and solutions to best compete with, and outperform, their competition.

© Korn Ferry 2019. All rights reserved.