Seeing What Others Don't See

by Dr. Jody Bowser, Senior Pastor

I love that even though there were setbacks, there was progress. And in the end, there was healing.

I'm going on record with my favorite movie of all time. It's Hoosiers.

I saw this movie in the fall of 1986, while a student at Fuller Theological Seminary out in Pasadena, California. It was my first semester at Fuller and my first autumn away from the Midwest. I remember how much I was missing fall in the Midwest—the smell of burning leaves, sweatshirts, trees changing colors, etc. It was my first experience living in a place with no change of season.

I also remember that I didn't know what the movie was about, other than the fact that it was set in Indiana (thank you, Captain Obvious!). The opening scene of the movie is of a car driving through rural Indiana farmland in the fall. I was immediately hooked. And at this point I will readily admit that I'm a sucker for David vs. Goliath true-story sports movies with happy endings (sorry for the spoiler alert on a 31 year-old movie).

But it was one of the sub-plots of the movie that I think I liked the best.

Everything in the movie revolves around a high school basketball team in this small town in Indiana. One of the boys on the team has a father who, unfortunately, is the town drunk. The Dad's nickname is "Shooter Flatch," most likely given to him back when he himself was a high school basketball player. It becomes clear that, in spite of the man's addiction, he has maintained a real interest in basketball and is actually quite knowledgeable about the game.

One afternoon at the town diner, the new coach in town, Coach Dale, meets Shooter Flatch. It's a sad scene because Shooter is obviously drunk and his son, terribly embarrassed by his Dad, has to basically escort him out of the restaurant.

A few scenes later though, Coach Dale pays Shooter a visit at his rundown shack of a home in the woods. The purpose of the visit couldn't have shocked Shooter more. Coach Dale came to ask him to consider being his assistant coach on two conditions: that Shooter agree to lay off the alcohol and that he come to practices and games cleaned up and presentable. Coach Dale saw in Shooter what nobody else in the town did, especially not his son, who was horrified at the thought of his dad embarrassing him more than he already did.

Shooter rose to the occasion and for the next month or two became a valuable and contributing member of the team until the scene you just knew was coming. Shooter came to a game drunk ... and caused a terrible raucous ... and left his son wanting to climb in a hole.

But despite the setback, something fundamental had changed for Shooter. He realized that he had value and worth. He realized that he could contribute and make a difference in the lives of other people. Most importantly, he had regained a measure of his son's respect. Instead of going back to his shack in the woods, Shooter checked himself into a hospital to dry out and overcome his addiction.

One of my favorite scenes in the movie is when the son visits Shooter at the hospital. They talk a little about basketball and how Shooter is committed to getting sober. Just before the son leaves, he says with tears in his eyes, "I love you, Dad."

All of this happens because, as I said, Coach Dale saw in Shooter what nobody else saw. He gave him respect when nobody else would. Now, before you think I'm also a sucker for Hollywood-styled "happily ever after" stories, hear me out. This is exactly what the Bible is all about. It's about God seeing in us what others don't see. It's about God so loving each and every one of us that He sent His only Son to die in our place. It's a story of redemption.

It's an invitation for each of us to join God in rescuing others. I love that Coach Dale didn't see Shooter for his mistakes, but for his possibilities. I love that he made the effort to go and visit Shooter where he lived. I love that even though there were setbacks, there was progress and in the end there was healing. I love that this isn't just a cheesy Hollywood storyline. It's real. God is truly in the business of changing lives. It's happening all around us. We can be a part of it when we're willing to join God in seeing what others fail to see.

Board of Administration Meeting Highlights

The Board of Administration met on Wednesday, January 11, 2017, in the Administrative Office Conference Room. Chairman Steve Shadle called the meeting to order at 7 p.m. and opened the meeting with devotions and prayer. Following are highlights from this meeting:

Senior Pastor's Report:

Pastor Jody Bowser shared that the staff appreciates the new office space. He is pleased with all the efforts that went into the services of the Christmas season. Tyler Roberts was commended for his work with the videos, his use of the new equipment and the development of people around him. There were approximately 2200 people in attendance on Christmas Eve with the offering for Network Ministries amounting to $15,000.

Looking ahead to next year, there will probably only be two worship styles on Christmas Eve—traditional in the sanctuary and contemporary in the Baker Center. Approximately 350 people worshipped at King Street on Christmas Day with many more viewing the Christmas at Home video that was produced in-house. Don Burkholder and Susanna Allen were commended for the work done on the Christmas postcards. Pastor Jody is thankful for Les Stine and his longtime ministry at King Street Church and stated that the retirement celebration went well.

The transition of pastoral care to Ron Cook has been good. The shift from 11:00 to 11:15 for the blended service seemed to go well and he expressed appreciation to Becky Hann and her volunteers for the additional time in supervising children. Pastor Jody is now on the Board of Directors of Huntington University and will be attending his first board meeting next week at the newly opened campus in Phoenix, Arizona. In this year of Transformation, he desires that God's Spirit really be at work in our lives. Over 1000 people receive our daily devotional emails. Pastor Jody shared three testimonials from people who have been blessed. He is currently working with the Local Outreach Co-mission and the Creative Team on ideas to engage and bless our community with the Gospel.

Executive Pastor's Report:

Pastor Don Baker shared the following information: There will be anointing for anyone desiring it during the services on January 29, classes for baptism will be held on February 5 and 12, with baptisms scheduled for February 26. Ash Wednesday services will be on March 1. Michaela Clapper began her full-time employment. Children and student ministry staff members are in discussion about splitting the co-mission. Network Ministries has expressed their gratitude for the Christmas Eve offering and the impact it will make.

Elders' Report:

Mike Wentz reported that the elders will be involved in the upcoming anointing service. He shared that the roles of an elder when he attends a co-mission meeting are to keep the mission and supporting values in mind as decisions are proposed and encourage co-missions to move in concert. A motion was approved for Adam Keath to become the chairman of the Elder Board some time during this calendar year, with Mike Wentz moving to the vice-chairman position.

Co-mission Reports:

• Adult Ministries – Andrea Adams shared that Wednesday evening classes restarted on January 4 and the Alpha Sunday School Class began on January 8 with Don Baker and Jay Brown serving as teachers. Over fifty people have already signed up to help with the Night to Shine event scheduled for February 10.

• Children and Youth – Sue Washabaugh reported that youth are helping in the Children's Department and many youth will be serving during Date Night and Night to Shine. Once a month the four-year-olds sing to the Burton Men's Sunday School Class. The Winter Slam will be the first weekend in February. The co-mission is discussing a possible Parents' Weekend in November.

• Finance – Ken Adams reviewed the King Street Church Financial Summary for December 2016. Outlining giving and expenses, he commented on areas of interest, including the fact that both giving and spending were above budget in December.

• Local Outreach – Tom Knepper shared with the board plans to conduct an Engage and Bless Week, tentatively scheduled for the week of June 4, 2017. The co-mission has identified twelve local ministries that our members could bless by volunteering. Further information and sign-up opportunities will be forthcoming.

• Missions – Scott Bert shared that the co-mission met on January 9 and spent time in corporate prayer for missions and missionaries. Updating the board on the Gerlachs, he stated that Brian and Emily will be attending a Pre-Departure Orientation in mid-February. Working with TEAM, King Street Church will sign the Certificate of Commissioning as their "sending church." The Gerlachs are zeroing in on their vision for ministry upon their return to Thailand and are considering neighborhood relational evangelism (Neighborhub) with their involvement at Cool Shade of Life Church.

• Personnel Relations – On behalf of the PRC, Eric Oyer presented a job description for a part-time Worship Arts Administrator. A motion to approve the job description, salary range and to authorize the creation of a search team for the purpose of filling this position passed. A motion to present Les Stine with a retirement gift was approved.

• Property – Alex Rohrbaugh updated the board on several things relative to the Administration Office: snow rails have been installed on the roof, signage for the front and side doors is being worked on, installation of protection cones for the north wall is pending and there are HVAC problems and plumbing issues. A motion to order blinds for the new windows in the KSC Ministry Center passed. Installation of lights for outside the sanctuary is on Glen Myers Electrical's schedule. The proposal for a gathering place/atrium is currently on hold, awaiting the county's decision on their possible expansion.

• Worship Arts – Chuck Schussler reported that the co-mission discussed both lessons learned over the Christmas season and possible changes in the Baker Center services. An art show is scheduled for March.

Administrative Report:

Ken Adams distributed listings of Board of Administration, Co-mission and Committee members. A motion to approve a housing allowance request from Ron Cook passed. Following motions, The Financial Resolution as presented by Ken and The Financial Support Personnel listing were approved. The final organ pipes will be removed from storage in the KSC Ministry Center on January 16. An open house of our new offices is being planned.

New Business:

Steve Shadle announced that over 200 people watched our services live each of the last two Sundays.

(These highlights are taken from minutes written by Mary Burkholder, Acting Recording Secretary for the Board of Administration. Board meetings are open to members of King Street Church. Unabridged copies of the minutes from the January meeting will be available at the church office after they are approved at the next meeting.)

Pastor Les Stine Retires

by Jeanne Amick
Administrative Assistant

Many of us came together on January 1 in the Baker Center for a farewell reception to honor the retirement of Lester F. Stine. He had been ministering at King Street since July 1, 1988.

Chambersburg is Les's hometown and he grew up attending St. James U.B. Church. He married Kathleen Marie Dice shortly after graduating from high school and began attending the church where Kathy attended, Otterbein U.B. Church in Greencastle.

Les, Kathy and Chris,

He enlisted in the U. S. Air Force (1968-

72) and completed his basic training in Biloxi, Mississippi. His daughter Jody was born there just after devastating Hurricane Camille in August 1969. Les and scores of others from the base were part of the clean-up of the area for months. He spent the majority of his military years at Benton Air Force Base in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania where his son, Chris, was born. When he completed his military service, he and his family returned to Chambersburg.

Les and Kathy, 1994

He was employed at Letterkenny Army Depot for 10 years and states the Lord began calling him into the ministry about 18 months before he and Kathy packed up and moved their family in order for Les to attend Huntington University. It was during his first semester that Kathy became the secretary to the Dean (Paul Feters, father of our current Bishop) of the graduate school and served in this position until they returned to Chambersburg.

Les received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Huntington College in 1987 and completed Graduate School in 1988. Following graduation he was assigned to King Street Church and was mentored by our Pastor Emeritus, Rev. Paul

Kathy and Les, 2006

Baker. He went on to complete his Master's degree in 1995 at The Evangelical School of Theology in Myerstown, PA (now Evangelical Seminary). He has returned each year since for continued education at numerous seminars.

Les says he will especially miss the people that he visited regularly and those that have been faithful in the Shepherd Ministry. His plans for retirement include bicycling his way to California—via the miles he puts on the bikes at Results Therapy and Fitness! He is looking forward to spending more time with his family and grandchildren. Pastor Les will be missed.

Farewell and Thanks

Twenty-eight and a half years at King Street. Where do we begin to tell you what a joy and privilege it has been to serve alongside of you for these many years? We knew some you before we came to King Street, but have come to know many more of you over the years. We have enjoyed worshipping, serving and fellowshiping with you. Many of the people with whom we served have gone to be with our Lord. But the ministries go on, involving different people over the years and others that will follow us.

It is difficult to decide when to retire and move on. Kathy and I will miss you and being part of your daily lives. Yet in some ways we will still be part of you as we continue to pray for you. We did not get to say goodbye to many of you on the 1st of January. We have not left the area. We will probably see you here and there. We still live where we have been for the last 21 years and would welcome anyone who would want to visit.

We also want to say "Thank you" to King Street Church. You have been good to us over the years and we have been blessed. Your cards, gifts and prayers have touched our hearts and we cherish your words of appreciation. We have been encouraged by your friendship and your love. As we enter this new chapter in our lives, we will always have fond memories of our time with you.

Blessings to each of you and to King Street Church,
Les & Kathy Stine

Recommended Books on Prayer

by Nancy Fritz
Prayer Ministry

How long has it been since you read a really good book on prayer?

What better time than winter to curl up in a corner with a good book!

Since KSC has completed our reading from Genesis to Revelation, and are now beginning the “transformation” process, 2017 would be an excellent time to consider boning up on our knowledge, interest and commitment to improve our prayer life. There’s a plethora of materials out there to help us. Here are a few I recommend.

Prayer, subtitled Communing with God in Everything. This is a collection of insights from A. W. Tozer, who lived from 1897 to 1963 and is compiled by W. L. Seaver. Titles in this book include Three ways to get what we want, What profit is prayer?, The power of silence and Does God always answer prayer? After each chapter you find two helpful sections: Exploring with Tozer and Reflect and Apply. Copyright: 2016. Publisher: Moody Bible Institute.

The Pocket Guide to Prayer by Gary Egeberg. This book offers practical suggestions and gentle encouragement for those just beginning to pray and for those who know it’s time to reexamine their prayer lives. It is informational and inspirational. The book is an excellent companion for newcomers on prayer. After each chapter there is a Pause, Ponder and Practice with helpful questions. This is an easy read. Copyright:1999. Publisher: Augsburg Fortress.

Praying the Prayers of the Bible by James Banks. Whether giving God thanks, asking for guidance or praying for daily needs, whether you want to worship God, or complain to Him, you’ll find helpful suggestions to begin using more Scripture in your prayers. If you’re discouraged, feel abandoned, weary, worn out, ready to give up, need strength to go on, want to ask for a blessing or intercede for others, this book is a helpful and valuable companion. Copyright: 2013. Publisher: Discovery House.

Before Amen by Max Lucado offers answers for those who are stymied, stuck, discouraged, bored or ready to give up in their prayer life experiences. This book is filled with simplicity, personal experiences and plenty of Max’s light humor. An excellent study guide is included, with questions and helpful suggestions prepared by Max’s daughter, Jenna Lucado Bishop. A delightful and easy to read resource. Copyright: 2014. Publisher: Thomas Nelson.

With Christ in the School Of Prayer by Andrew Murray. Written in 1885 this is now a classic. It’s just one of more than 200 excellent and time-tested books Murray wrote on prayer and spiritual growth. You only need to read the preface to be convinced that Murry thought, spoke and lived with the conviction that prayer is the highest part of the work God entrusts to us. A study guide follows each of the 31 chapters, ideal for personal application and/or group discussion. Copyright: 1983. Publisher: Zondervan.

PS: Here’s a hint. Any one of these books would make a great Valentine gift. Enjoy!

LIBRARY Nook

by Jeanne Amick
Administrative Assistant

For many at KSC, 2016 was an amazing journey through the Bible in the series, “The Gospel from Genesis to Revelation.” In moving forward for 2017, we have launched into continuing growth with our series “Transformation.”

This series encourages us to not only see ourselves growing and transforming into a greater likeness of Jesus, but also those around us. We have been encouraged to read through the Bible again this year and are providing the opportunity to have the daily readings sent to you electronically. With this in mind, I wanted to let you know that we have The Bible on both cassette and CD in our library. Although many of our congregation can access the Bible via their computers, laptops, tablets and even their smart phones, others cannot or prefer not to, instead finding a quiet place to listen to God’s Word or follow along in their Bible while it is being read. If this describes you, I encourage you to take a moment to visit and discover the treasures found in our library. There are two full bookcases of books, CDs, cassettes and videos to help you explore and understand more and more of the Bible. They are located in the Bible Studies section. The library is located on the lower level in Room M12 or you can log in to www.librarything.com with the user name `kingstreetchurch` and the password is `1ngstr33t`, both all lower case. Thank you and “Happy Reading!”

Quotes of the Week

Pastor Don Baker, December 18, speaking of the day he prayed to receive Christ:

I know this with absolute certainty;
I know what I experienced at that altar—
I knelt at war with my Creator; I rose
at peace
with God.

Attitude By Charles Swindoll

“The longer I live, the more I realize the impact of attitude on life. It will make or break a company... a church... a home. The remarkable thing is we have a choice every day regarding the attitude we will embrace for that day. We cannot change the inevitable. The only thing we can do is play on the one string we have, and that is our attitude... I am convinced that life is 10% what happens to me, and 90% how I react to it.”

From Pastor Jody’s message on Sunday,
December 25, “A Christmas Attitude”

“The Bible was not given for our information but our transformation.”

Once More Ministries Report

Once More Ministry would like to thank everyone for your prayers and generosity in 2016. Because of you, hundreds of families felt the love of Jesus Christ as they received a friendly greeting, a comforting shoulder and a chance to pray for concerns along with a blessing of essential toiletries.

As we enter 2017, we are again concentrating on bringing our inventory up to capacity. This is a constant concern because we deplete many items at each distribution.

We always accept any donations with a grateful and cheerful heart. As we see the bins start to fill with your donations coming in, our hearts leap for joy. At this time OMM is in need of

- toothpaste and razors
- fabric softener
- woman's deodorant
- feminine products.

We also ask for our greatest and constant need—your prayers for this ministry.

We wish everyone a blessed and grace filled 2017. Thanks be to God for filling your heart with love for all of our brothers and sisters of the community.

Special Ash Wednesday Service

Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of the Season of Lent. It is a season of penance and reflection which prepares us for Christ's Resurrection on Easter Sunday. We will observe the beginning of Lent with an Ash Wednesday Worship Service. This year it will be held in the Sanctuary at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, March 1 and will last approximately an hour.

Jesus calls his followers to publicly declare their faith through baptism. The next opportunity at King Street will be Sunday, February 26. In order to participate, you must attend one of the preparation meetings being held February 5 or 12, at 9:30 a.m., 10:45 a.m. or 12:15 p.m. in M17.

Gospel Hymn Sing!

Sunday, February 5 at 4:00 p.m. in the Sanctuary

Hosted by the King Street Church Worship Arts Ministry

by Susanna Allen Communication Assistant

It is said that at the beginning of a sermon, the great Reformer Martin Luther held up a Bible and said, “This is the Gospel.” And then in the other hand he held up a hymnal and continued: “And this is how we remember it.”

It is undeniable that many hymns contain a potent dose of theology and Scripture. Others would praise the act of singing for its singular power to minister to the soul. Jonathan Edwards, a revival preacher during the Great Awakening, said, “The best, most beautiful, and most perfect way we have of expressing a sweet concord of mind to each other is by music.”

His thoughts fall in line with the command of Ephesians 5:18-19: “Be filled with the Spirit, addressing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord with your heart.”

But perhaps the quote that best illustrates our hopes with the upcoming event, Gospel Hymn Sing!, is one by John Piper. In an interview transcribed on his website, www.desiringgod.org (“John Piper’s Favorite Hymn”), Piper discusses his love of the hymns. He says: “During my 33 years of pastoring Bethlehem Baptist Church, many of the highest and the sweetest moments of my life were spent standing at the front pew singing with all my heart as the crescendo of the people’s praise broke over my head like a wave of joy and hope. God ministered to me in those moments, ministered to my marriage in those moments, ministered to my relationships more deeply at those times,

I believe, than any other time I am aware of. That is saying a lot, and I am saying it carefully.”

It is our hope and prayer that those who attend the Gospel Hymn Sing! on Sunday, February 5, will experience this same kind of encouraging impact in their lives! We pray that it will be a nurturing time, one where we can relax and enjoy the beautiful music and be inspired by each other. The service will focus on God’s command for His people to sing. In a casual, family-style environment, we will pick up our United Brethren Hymnbooks and sing to the Lord!

Pastor Steve Flint especially wants to facilitate those who wish to sing in four-part harmony. He and others will lead the parts of alto, tenor, and bass. Steve says, “I think there is a richness to song when it breaks into harmony.”

He continues, “This event is going to be a church family get-together. We are going to sing the songs that we love, that have encouraged us in our faith and will hopefully inspire us again.”

Steve says he plans to offer a time when those attending can suggest a personal favorite for everyone to sing. There will also be an opportunity to offer a testimony for how a song helped you in your journey of following Christ or encouraged you in your faith.

Gospel Hymn Sing! will last about an hour. Come and be part of this special church family event, and let’s sing!

Many ladies in our congregation have been blessed by the Bible studies of Priscilla Shirer, most recently The Armor of God. Priscilla has also written Discerning the Voice of God, God is Able, and two New York Times Bestsellers: The Resolution for Women and Fervent: A Woman's Battle Plan for Serious Specific and Strategic Prayer.

Last year our ladies went to see Priscilla live, and it was a dynamic day of learning! Now, she is coming to King Street Church ... via simulcast!

Over 100,000 women in churches across the country are expected to participate in this one-day inspirational event! Sessions will focus on the power of prayer and learning to study God's Word for yourself. Anthony Evans will lead worship. Priscilla will also facilitate prayer experiences to engage women in prayer both for themselves and one another.

Priscilla's trademark teaching is founded on expository teaching and the unparalleled power of prayer. She doesn't hand out sugar-coated truths or half-hearted declarations; instead, you'll experience whole-hearted teaching to inspire and challenge you to step into God's plan for your life. Invite any lady you know who might need some spiritual encouragement. We have really enjoyed hosting many ladies from other churches at the Beth Moore Simulcasts in September, and we would love to see many sisters-in-Christ from the community join us for this event as well.

Haiti Barnabas Team Report

by Ellen Gigliotti

Haiti Barnabas Team Member

The Haiti Barnabas Team had a highly successful trip to our partner church in Arcahaie in November, which was characterized by worship arts classes, more ESL instruction, teacher training and some construction tasks. They were also able to visit some of the churches in the Les Cayes region, which was hardest hit by Hurricane Matthew, and take them resources from the King Street congregation.

King Street Pastor Steven Flint accompanied the team this time, and led very well-received worship arts training in both Arcahaie and Port-au-Prince. There is very little training of any sort available in Haiti, and the people working with Pastor Flint were delighted to be able to learn more about worshipping and how to better serve their congregations as worship leaders. In addition to about 150 participants in Port-au-Prince, nine pastors attended, and all focused on the themes of Romans 11:33-36 and 12:1.

Sue Marshall, a retired King Street teacher and trainer, was able to observe the teachers in the Arcahaie school and then provide several sessions of training for them. Many teachers in Haiti have only a basic education themselves and the mode of teaching often focuses on rote repetition. Sue was able to help them learn other ways of working with their students, including accommodating different students' learning styles, enhancing the physical environment in the schools, and the idea of including more of the balanced life concept—that the whole child can benefit from school, mentally, physically, spiritually and socially. In April, when the team returns, she will be expanding on these ideas and this training, including some work with the teachers who teach the very littlest students.

When the team visited the Les Cayes district, they met with several of the pastors whose churches had been devastated, and who had many church members who were without homes because of the hurricane. They were able to provide encouragement, a monetary gift from King Street and a letter from Pastor Jody Bowser of love and concern. More money has been made available to the Haitian superintendent, Pastor Oliam Richard, to continue the help in this needy area.

Although the church and school buildings are mostly finished, outside pargeting still is being done and some other things are still in process. The King Street team was able to construct 27 new desks (each of which will seat four to five students) and four bookcases for the school.

The team also had the opportunity to visit with a Haitian university providing several areas of advanced education. The Arcahaie school now has eight grades, a new director and many improvements that will continue to bless the students. Pastor Massillon was delighted that the team has come back to help provide much-needed training for the church, and said that this is the first time he's ever heard of that happening. He said he is very happy with the level of support, love, brotherhood and involvement with King Street and that our partnership left him speechless.

Outside the church in Arcahaie

The King Street Haiti Barnabas Team plans another trip to Arcahaie April 1-8, 2017 to continue teacher training and desk and other construction. In addition, the team will be planning training in parenting and early childhood education. Pastor Jay Brown is planning to accompany the team and he will be helping to train Pastor Massillon's church staff. They also hope to participate in a baptism service in the Arcahaie church.

EXCERPTS FROM A RECENT COMMUNICATION

Update from the Gerlachs

December 23, 2016

(Bryan and Emily are presently in the area and have a goal to return to Thailand this summer.)

Home for the Holidays

Although it's not easy having our hearts in two places at once, we are so grateful that this holiday season will be spent with family and friends in the U.S. We will be missing our Thai family and friends as they celebrate the birth of our Savior on the other side of the world!

God continues to challenge us as we look to Him in this time of waiting. It seems fitting that this theme of "waiting" is on our hearts in this Advent season as we look forward to and "wait" for the celebration of Jesus entering our world. He came into the world in God's timing and many missed his entrance. Just as many didn't expect the King of Kings to enter the world as a tiny baby in the middle of the night, we didn't expect all that would ensue as we gave our lives to Him and chose to follow our call into ministry. But His timing IS perfect and we look to Jesus to light our path, as he came to be the light of the world.

Ministry in Thailand

One of the TEAM ministries in Chiang Mai is called the "Neighborhub." The members of this community center and relational ministry are committed to pouring into the lives of Thai people through meaningful Christ-centered relationships. They do this through a variety of ministries, including English teaching, sports, and "Family Time," a weekly gathering around the table for food, fellowship, and worship.

Opportunities to Serve at Home

Bryan has enjoyed teaching piano lessons with NETwork Ministries. NETwork is an urban youth ministry in Chambersburg that offers after school programs and other activities for children and teens who are vulnerable.

Emily is thrilled to have the opportunity to lead a "creative journaling" class as group therapy with She's Somebody's Daughter. This ministry offers a community of love and hope for women who have been affected by exploitation.

Prayer and Praise:

- Need for Housing—our house sitting situation in Chambersburg will come to an end in mid-March and we are in search of housing for the remainder of our time in the U.S.

- Financial support—Our support is increasing! Praise God, we are at about 80% of our goal and have been able to go on "salary" with TEAM! This is a huge answer to prayer. We will need to be at 100% before we can return to Thailand.

- Vision for a ministry plan with our new team and sending church. We are steadily working on this with TEAM and King Street Church. We would appreciate continued prayers as we seek the Lord for guidance.
