9 Page 3, after line 8 insert:

10 (I) Federal action to address environmental justice includes the 11 federal environmental protection agency's office of environmental justice,
12 originally established in 1992, and the assignment of EPA regional
13 liaisons to minority, Tribal, and low-income communities pursuant to 42
14 U.S.C. sec. 4370i;

15 (II) States have also addressed environmental justice, with the 16 National Law Review recently noting on October 30, 2020, that "the vast 17 majority of states now address [environmental justice] in some 18 fashion-via legislation, agency policy and guidance, or advisory 19 groups-with fewer than five failing to mention the concept at all";

20 (III) Environmental justice laws that promote outreach to and 21 facilitate feedback from disproportionately impacted communities and 22 require that agencies consider that feedback have been upheld by the 23 courts as a legitimate exercise of legislative authority, such as in Friends
24 of Buckingham v. State Air Pollution Control Bd., 947 F.3d 68 (4th Cir.
25 2020) (vacating the issuance of a permit due to the board's failure to 26 properly consider the permit's environmental justice impacts);".

27 Renumber succeeding subparagraphs accordingly.
