

Evenings are for reflection and relaxation, for a debriefing of the day, and for planning the time ahead. Our show from 6 to 8 p.m. weeknights aims to bring you up to date on the most relevant issues of the day, then engage and enlighten as it entertains throughout the three hours. Whether you're on the drive home or settling in for dinner or the night, we explore subjects in depth and at length with experts, newsmakers and great storytellers in our community. We promise fun along the thoughtful way.

Recent Shows

Evenings With Kirk LaPointe - Daniel Pauly (Aug 22, 2017)

In recent weeks, we have devoted episodes of the show to talking about the impact of climate change on humanity; from flooding to food supply. Tonight, we take the discussion further by taking a look at how rising temperatures would impact fish in the ocean. Prof. Daniel Pauly joins Kirk to discuss his study on warmer waters would leave fish shrinking.

Kirk LaPointe

Blog

An appreciation of perspective

Kirk LaPointe - August 17, 2017

The new provincial government

Kirk LaPointe - July 13, 2017

Knowing when to lose

Kirk LaPointe - July 6, 2017

Listen to the full interview here <https://s3-us-west-2.amazonaws.com/legacy.searounds/TVRadio/2017/Roundhouse+Radio+-+August+23%2C+2017+-+Daniel+Pauly+on+shrinking+fish.wav>