LendingOne ANNOUNCES LAUNCH OF CORRESPONDENT PROGRAM AT LENDIT USA CONFERENCE

New York, NY, March 6, 2017--LendingOne announced today, at a LendIt USA gathering of 5,000 fintech and lending executives in New York City, that it has launched a unique correspondent loan program targeting fix/flip lenders.

LendingOne now offers other private lenders the ability to leverage LendingOne's technology and pricing to offer more competitive terms to their borrowers. Originators and their staff will have full access to LendingOne's new white-labeled loan origination and servicing management system. The loan-pricing module allows originators to retrieve instant rate quotes, as well as secured access to the loan-management system, where they can upload loan documentation and provide their borrowers with a portal to manage renovation draw requests. LendingOne provides originators with advanced technology to streamline all aspects of the loan-underwriting, closing, and servicing processes.

"By signing into the originator's secure account on our platform, originators will be better able to compete in today's competitive rate environment for fix/flip loans without the need for any of their own capital and subordinating a portion of the loan," LendingOne CEO Bill Green said. "By table-funding 100% of the loan, private lenders can continue to grow their business without capital constraints," Green added.

"Providing lenders with a white-labeled, fully electronic draw-management system ensures that the lender maintains its relationship with the borrower, while allowing LendingOne to be in full control to administer draws compliant with their current guidelines," said Jaime Arouh, LendingOne's Vice President of Capital Markets.
