Privacy Policy

The Big Picture
We take privacy very seriously. Not only do we have a number of measures in place to ensure security, we continuously strive to improve what we do to ensure a safe user experience. If you have feedback on how we can improve, we are always open to suggestions.

Security
Information collected and/or retrieved by the Push Health website is encrypted via a Secure Socket Layer (SSL) connection to protect your information from unauthorized parties.

External Links
The Push Health website contains links to other websites. Push Health cannot verify the accuracy of the information on these sites and is not responsible for the content on them.

Medical Record Privacy
Only physicians and staff members of Push Health will have access to your Personal Health Information (PHI). Push Health will only release PHI to comply with legal requirements as set forth by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and other applicable state and federal laws. Upon disclosure of your PHI, we will attempt to contact you as permitted by regulations or judgments by a court of law to notify you of the release of your information.

User Information
Push Health collects anonymous information about visitors to our website. Information collected may include IP addresses, referring website, duration of stay, time/date, etc. This information is used to help us improve our functionality and the services that we offer to our visitors.

Changes to this Privacy Policy
This Privacy Policy may change from time to time. We will post any Privacy Policy changes on this page and, if the changes are significant, we will provide a more prominent notice. We will also keep prior versions of this Privacy Policy in an archive for your review.

Last updated July 7, 2013