Agency Overview

• Founded in 1966, Community Action Marin is the county’s official anti-poverty agency working to ensure that low-income people have the resources they need to become self-sufficient and thrive.

• SparkPoint Marin works under the Agency’s Economic Empowerment Program.

• Committed to equity and the values of Relationship, Unity, Service, and Inclusivity, the Agency operates ten (10) other programs for the most vulnerable in community.
Overview (cont’d.)

Serving over 4,000 households each year, some programs include:

1. Children’s Services
   - Our Child Development Programs offer high-quality care from infancy through 12 years of age
   - Head Start is a family development program promoting school readiness for children ages 3-5
   - Early Head Start serves pregnant women and families with infants and toddlers from birth to age 3.

2. Peer Mental Health & Family Partnership
   - Supports those with a mental illness and works with parents and family members caring for them
Economic Empowerment Program

- Provides free, high-touch financial, credit/debt, career, and housing coaching for low-income individuals and families
- Emergency Food Box Program, CalFresh application assistance, free tax preparation, energy assistance
- Special focus on adults aged 60-75 to serve the most vulnerable
- 30% of population served (n=158) is in this age bracket
- 37% of older adults served are people of color
- 56% have made at least 5% progress on income, savings, credit, and/or debt since 7/1/2018
- Customized services for older adults: Medicare and Social Security information
Economic Insecurity in Older Adults

- Increasing homelessness- in transition, staying with friends/family, sleeping in car
- Alcohol and substance abuse
- Mental health barriers- difficulty focusing and staying on task, depression, anxiety
- Physical health problems
- Limited or no ability to work
- Living on a fixed income
- Don’t have personal safety net to help them stabilize
- Do not want to ask for help because they are ashamed
Progress and Obstacles in Marin County

Progress

- Aging Action Initiative connects and convenes broad group of stakeholders
- Marin Community Foundation provides funding to organizations that design and implement strategies to mitigate poverty among older adults County of Marin Aging and Adult Services offers a robust set of support services for older adults
- Many other social service agencies provide assistance with housing, food, healthcare, etc.

Obstacles

- Fragmented service delivery system is difficult to navigate
- Many current policies do not support the well-being of older adults, e.g. Supplemental Security Income (Federal cash assistance program) CalFresh ban
- Mainstream culture does not appreciate older adults and honor them as valuable members of communities
Older Adult Subpopulations

- Compared to white counterparts, older adults of color did not benefit from wealth transfer from previous generations and therefore have fewer assets.

- Older women often relied on partners to manage finances and are left without understanding of personal finance when they die.

- Disabled older adults often have a more difficult time securing employment due to necessary work modifications.
How We Address Older Adult Poverty

- Community Action Marin’s Economic Empowerment Program not only provides services, but has also taken on role of resource navigator to increase access to available services
  - Team compiles basic information and assists clients with accessing services across the County: mental health, free healthcare, housing, food, legal, transportation

- Partnerships: Close collaboration with YWCA to ensure participants in the 50+ job training program have access to SparkPoint Marin services and vice versa through service integration

- Additional partners contribute funding, strategic planning and program design, and referrals: Aging Action Initiative, Homeward Bound of Marin, San Francisco-Marin Food Bank, United Way Bay Area, Goodwill, College of Marin, among others
Significant Challenges Ahead

- 48% cost of living increase in Marin County in the past 4 years (2014 - 2018) - Insight Center for Community Economic Development

- Low-income older adults (event those who own homes) are increasingly at-risk of becoming financially insecure due to rising costs of healthcare, food, transportation, etc.

- Older adults who rent face housing insecurity and currently have no protections (such as rent control)

- Social security or disability benefits alone do not provide enough to meet one’s basic needs

- Single adult in Marin County requires $5,158 monthly to cover living expenses according to California Family Economic Self-Sufficiency Standard. Standard measures the minimum income necessary to cover all of a non-elderly (under 65 years old) and non-disabled family’s basic expenses without public assistance
Bright Spots: Policy Wins

▶ Supplemental Security Income (SSI) ban for CalFresh program will be eliminated in summer 2019
▶ Older adults who receive SSI will now be able to apply for CalFresh benefits
▶ Eligible household of 2 could receive over $350 monthly in benefits
▶ California had been the only state in the nation to exclude SSI recipients from receiving CalFresh
▶ This new law will help reduce hunger and poverty among California’s senior population

▶ California Earned Income Tax Credit (Cal EITC) expanded to include workers above age 64 for the first time in 2019. This is a cash back tax credit that puts money into the pockets of California’s low-income working families and individuals.

WHAT EMPLOYERS ASK US FOR

- Communication & “Soft” Skills
  - Soft skills: most important skill for the majority of employers \(^{(1)}\)

- Vocational & Technical Training
  - Strong computer skills - now a requirement for most every job

- Experience & Reliability
  - Short learning curves & minimal training for new employees \(^{(2)}\)

WHAT OUR CLIENTS CAN DO

Method: Continuum of Response

To effect lasting change, the YWCA is committed to addressing the needs of women and girls via direct services in tandem with strategies of community issue education and public policy advocacy.
WHY ADVOCATE?

Can you IMAGINE a better world...

... for yourself?

What if employers saw skills before age or gender?

... for your family?

What if you could support your family on minimum wage?

... for your friends & neighbors?

What if we invested in equity and ending racism?
We face big challenges, and too often we face them alone. Together, we can make bold, exciting changes in our communities.
