

This series is easy to identify, with nearly all the figures having unique elements from one another. Some of the characters are packed (semi-randomly) with the parts in an inner plastic bag, but this won't affect your ability to identify the figures by feel. As always, ignore the common elements shared by all figures: the minifigure head, torso, and legs, along with the 3x4-stud stand plate. In many 60-figure boxes, each row of bags in the case contains 1 full set of 20 figures. However, the estimate of 3x of each character per case has also been found to differ with some cases.
